rejoice when the glad news came that the saloons in Bartholomew county must go! We believe that the temperance sentiment made by the W. C. T. U. made this election possible, and we shall go steadily on with our work until we have entire prohibition.—Mrs. Jennie Guffey, press Supt., Hartsville W. C. T. U.

Miami County Campaign.

The county was organized in response to County Chairman's call by mass meetings being held in every community, committees appointed on arrangements, Sunday school children were drilled in temperance songs and marched wearing badges saying vote dry for me, and carrying banners with inscriptions such as vote for us, vote dry, remember Wayne county, vote saloons out send drunks to Richmond. Probably the most effective thing done was the space purchased in the Peru Morning Journal (daily), where there was every day information from the drys, as to the progress of the work, and some reports of the work of the saloons during those very days of campaign effort, and some telling cartoons one: wil he vote for the saloon or for mother and the baby. Mr. Fraum, Rohrer, DeFoe, and Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, Mrs. Daisy Barr were some of the speakers who helped by speaking for the drys.—Margaret Bundy.

Tippicanoe County.—It is with much regret that we give the result of the election in Tippicanoe county yesterday, which went "wet" by a majority of 793. The result was a surprise generally, as the "wet" leaders themselves did not look for such a margin. The "dry" workers, when the polls closed last evening and the counting of ballots began, confidently expected to carry the county by not less than 1,500 majority. The "drys" are badly disappointed and the "wets" are jubilant, but the citizens who took no part in the campaign, are glad it is over. Everett B. Vawter, chairman of the county Option League, said the result was a very great and painful surprise to him. I guess the people want the saloons. That immense interest was taken in the outcome of the election was evident from the large crowd of people on the streets last evening. The newspaper offices were kept busy from the time the polls closed till nearly 10 o'clock answering telephone calls. There was no celebration by the "wets," although there was great rejoicing at headquarters. At the "dry" headquarters the first returns were not regarded as disastrous, but when the city precincts began to report and the figures were compared with those from the rural districts it was seen there was little hope of victory. The "drys" think their defeat attributable to so many being blinded into thinking the taxes would be increased and the stand the business men of the city took with the Tax Payers League.—Mrs. Lillian F. Hall, 1913 Echo St., Co. Press Supt.

Tippicanoe Effective Campaign.

The "wet" campaign was very successfully conducted both by the Taxpayers' League and the saloon men's independent organization. The work of Stephen J. Hannagan as leader of the saloon men's society was most effective and many think that but for the efficient work of the Second ward councilman the result would have been different. He outlined all the policies of the saloon men's organization and had charge of the canvass both in the city and country. The Taxpayers' League was a great factor in the campaign. The leaders all worked hard and G. R. MacDowell, of Danville, Ill., organizer of the league, directed its campaign effectively. Mr. MacDowell departed today for his home in Danville. He said the majority was much larger than he expected. He also conducted the business men's campaign in the Cass county local option election.—Exchange.

Seymour.—Mrs. Retta Jones, state W. C. T. U. worker, was greeted by a large audience at the women's meeting held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday at 7:30 o'clock. She presented facts and figures in her address, claiming and proving the right of women to protect their homes from the liquor traffic. All present were both entertained and instructed. The local option worker had arranged for a meeting for men only on same evening otherwise Mrs. Jones would have had as many gentlemen as ladies to hear her. She attended county institute of W. C. T. U. April 23rd Browns-town, Ind. A large number of W. C. T. U. members and ladies interestd in the good of our city met at the call of President, Mrs. W. F. Pfaffenberger, at the home of Mrs. Howard Brown. Methodist and Presbyterian ministers and other gentlemen were present. It was decided to serve lunch at each precinct, also hold a prayer service all day in Presbyterian church beginning 5 a. m. different leaders every hour. These were well attended, and the ringing of the bell encouraged both men and women as they worked all day. When result of county, dry, was known, all church bells were rung.

Later.—In response to general invitation from W. C. T. U., to all interested, a large and very enthusiastic meeting of ladies was held in beautiful home of Mrs. Ida Miller. The regular program was omitted, and reports of those who served lunch at the different precincts on election day, together with praise and thanksgiving filled the hour. We rejoiced together. Two crusaders, Mrs. Elizabeth Keller, and Mrs. S. H. Huffman, favored us with their presence, both are members of our union. The local option workers of Seymour asked the ladies to be present near the booths and on the streets on election day and believe they were an advantage. Everywhere the best of order was observed. Seymour W. C. T. U. went on record as thanking God for the manly men, who gave time, strength and money for speakers to aid the cause, and the rural voter for making success possible in county.

Seymour:—Jackson county local option campaign was fiercely fought. A leading republican business man and an equally well known democrat worked together a whole month. The Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Christian ministers worked unitedly. The best speakers possible were obtained. Hon Seaborn Wright of Georgia, Mr. Fanning the Irish orator, Mrs. Jones, Rev. Shumaker. The Hon. W. Brannon, mayor of Xenia, Ohio, spoke of conditions as they now exist in his own and other "dry" towns in Ohio. Men think that he made votes. Daily and weekly newspapers were kept well filled with columns of temperance facts and figures supplied by an experienced writer. Every thing possible was done to arouse and inform voters of city and county. Politics were eliminated, it was saloon against the home and was a hard fought battle. Seymour went wet, it was the country vote that saved the county.—L. C. VanHorn.

Hamilton County:—"Dry" with a majority of 2,188. The county was well organized. All the ministers were asked to preach sermons and urge the men to go and vote, and a few speakers came from other counties. Much was done by local talent. The editors did a good deal by publishing special editions, showing the misery and crime of the saloon and giving statistics of the cost of just one trial in this county. These were sent to every voter in the county. You must know that Hamilton county is not as hard a county to work as some others, it has no large cities.—Dollie Stalker.

At Deputy and vicinity several medal contests have been held through the efforts of Mrs. Minnie Harrod. The young people and children rendering most excellently their recitations and adding much by singing solos and duets. A silver gray contest is being planned by Mrs. Gudgel to be held in the near future. We rejoice and praise God that the suspense of the local option election was turned to success for the dries in Jefferson county April 30 by 106 majority.—Sarah Robertson.

Clinton County:—Spring convention was held in the M. E. church at Kirklin. An interesting and instructive program was carried out and a great many helpful plans were discussed. All the Kirklin ministers were present, as was Rev. Riley of Mulberry, they helped in planning our work. The special music under the auspices of the Kirklin union was greatly enjoyed by all. The church was decorated with pot plants and flags and appropriate mottos. We held a matron's contest at night and a large enthusiastic audience greeted the speakers. Mrs. Ella Hopp of Kirklin, received the medal. The following poem was composed and read by Mrs. Mary E. Ulm, president of the Kirk-lin union, and is affectionately dedicated to our county president, Mrs. Carrie Brinkhoff:

Have you heard the news my comrades?

Have you heard the glad new cry?

The people have decided,
And Frankfort has gone dry.

And Clinton, dear old Clinton,

At last has heard the call;
She has buckled on her armor,
Says King Alcohol shall fall.

See the great white ribbon army!

With its banner waving high,
It is marching out to battle
To make its homeland dry.

With the white and golden banner
Bathed so oft with tears and prayers
They are going to give their children
The heritage that is theirs.

A home in a free-born country,
Where Demon Drink no longer rules;
Where the father's hard earned wages,
Help support the church and school.

They have been in this great conflict,
Over thirty long, sad years—
But the foe is now retreating,
And their victory appears.

Yes, victory for our dear state,
Like a Goddess she proudly stands—
Reviewing her grand armies,
The noble, brave, white-ribbon bands.

And so the war goes ever onward
Tho' sorely pressed by every foe—
But the Great Commander has decreed it,
And the last saloon shall go.

O, ye brewers! cease your warfare,
All in vain your frenzied cry—
For our God of battle has decided,
And the nation is going dry.

Jennings County Election Campaign.

The local option movement in Jennings county was launched by a mass meeting held in North Vernon, February 13, 1909. About one hundred voters from over the county were present. At this meeting the organization for the campaign was effected. A democrat was elected as county president, a democrat for county treasurer and a republican for secretary. Care was taken to make the movement non-partisan. Each township was organized into a committee of several who were to organize and push the movement in their respective townships. A literature committee was elected to use the three county papers for publishing the "dry" side of the movement. Hon. Charles Robinson made a ten days trip over the county making addresses. The Protestant ministers were all in hearty accord and gave their whole soul and efforts to the work of making about twelve speeches over the county. Hon. J. F. Meek, of Coshocton, was engaged to deliver two speeches in North Vernon on the last Sunday before the election which was March 30. The literature committee used the mails in sending out hundreds of letters filled with the best of temperance arguments. Of course much work was done at the polls both in the towns and in the country. Everything went off very peacefully. No arrests were made. The county went 520 majority for the "drys." The W. C. T. U. organized the children for singing and marching. The various ladies' organizations of the four churches served lunch at the four precincts of North Vernon, each church in charge of one precinct.

Morgan County is still dry. Some good lawyers are helping the temperance forces to fight the liquor men who are trying through technicality of law to secure a license.

Noble County:—The county option work in Noble county was the result of being thoroughly organized. In the county and by townships, committees were appointed to secure speakers. The ministers of all churches worked faithfully. Special literature was published for the occasion; the press also assisted by giving large space for temperance news. Those who assisted in the work from outside the county were Judge Blair of Ohio, Judge B. F. Deal of Goshen, and Mr. Fred Rohrer of Berne. A special and very interesting feature of the work was the stereopticon views given by Dr. N. W. Tracy and wife.

Washington County went dry by a majority of twelve hundred and ninety. Every township voted dry. We had remonstrated the saloon out and was well organized. Our people saw the difference between 1904 and 1908 the last year we had a saloon, there were 136 arrests for drunks costing the county $399.80. 1908 no saloon, 22 arrests, costing county $48.80. They realized in this one item alone the county was out $351 in 1904 over 1908. This is only one item, they fully realized what it would be, if it extended to all departments. Our local papers were in sympathy with us, and kept the subject before the people. Anti-Saloon League State Supt. W. C. Helt, of Evansville, was with us and gave three addresses, the rest were made by local talent. Our ladies went before the commissioners and had them put the election off until after the institute. In the meantime we were busy—gave a public entertainment, had all the boys and girls we could get in it. The day of the election at six a. m., the church bells rang and all whistles blew. Badges "vote for me," were pinned on the children, and they went around the square singing "vote for the boys and the girls." We had an all-day prayer meeting; we used very little literature as both our papers are strong for temperance, and did lots of good work for us. Yours to count on—Fannie B. Ellis.

THE FOLLOWING IS A COPY OF THE POST CARD USED IN KOSCIUSKO COUNTY:

Dear Sir:

The most important election in the history of our county will be held Thursday, April 29, and the question of whether saloons shall be allowed to return to the county will rest entirely with you. This vote will be our first chance and in all probability the last one we will have on this question, and we cannot too strongly urge upon you the importance of your voting early, and in order that your vote may count for the best interests of ourselves and future generations, be sure your ticket is marked as shown on opposite side of this card. To vote dry, mark an X in the square containing the word "YES."

PRESS POINTERS.

All copy for publication should be either type written or written in a plain bold hand. Lines closely and finely written are hard to read.

Proper names should be plainly written, for their spelling can not be guessed.

On a program or in a news item for publication Mrs. Brown or Rev. Johnson is too indefinite. The first name or initials should always be given. On a W. C. T. U. program the name of the county or state officer with address should always be given. The name of the church where the minister officiates and his address should be given. For example: Mrs. J. J. Brown, County Supt. Mercy,

Mapleton.

Rev. John B. Johnson,
Pastor First Baptist Church,
Greencastle.

Spoken words reach only a limited number of people.

Items or reports of W. C. T. U. meetings published in a newspaper may reach one thousand or more persons.

Important indeed it is to have our W. C. T. U.

work "written up" for the papers, so that the community may always be reminded of our purposes and our constant efforts.

Chrisney, Ind. Postmaster writes that he has W. C. T. U. mail for Mrs. E. C. Mater "unclaimed." He asks for advice. The annual report for the Indiana W. C. T. U. contains a county and local union official directory; if for any reason there is a mistake, or change in an address it should be announced through The Message. The postmaster should be informed of correct address. "Be careful in little things."

FIELD NEWS

The Lafayette W. C. T. U. was entertained by Mrs. L. S. Smith at her home—the St. Paul M. E. parsonage, on Friday evening, May 7th. This was a woman suffrage meeting and the other unions of the city with husbands and friends were invited to attend. The rooms thrown together were attractive with many bouquets of spring flowers and carnations, and they were filled to their utmost capacity with members and friends.

Mrs. L. S. Smith conducted the devotional service and Prof. Gunn sang, "Reconciled to God." Miss Addie Borum read a well prepared paper: "Taxation without Representation." The Jester family sang good prohibition songs. Rev. O. R. McKay gave the address of the evening: "The Political Status of Women of Today." This was an excellent resume of women's environments and privileges—showing a great advance in betterment of conditions. Rev. McKay believes that the Constitution rightfully interpreted gives to woman the ballot. Rev. Groves, pastor of the U. B. church, spoke briefly but feelingly about our ignominious defeat by the "wets." It is a humiliation and inexpressible grief that our eighteen hundred university boys must run the gauntlet of one hundred and five—or more—saloons for two more years! Rev. I. J. Bassett, of West Side M. E. church spoke in high commendation of woman's standing in schools and colleges and her ability to grasp and execute equally if not superior to the "brethren"—so fitted, he declared, to teach, preach, vote or do whatever his hands find to do. Rev. L. S. Smith spoke briefly also. There was instrumental music by Paul Smith, cornetist, and Mrs. Goldsmith. Several new members were received and a social hour followed during which ice cream and cake were served. Miss Eliza F. Baker, president, presided.—Mrs. H. H. Moore, local president.

Hebron, Porter County.—An institute was not held this Spring but May 1st called Mrs. Stanley to come and help us, being on the eve of our local option election, which will probably come off this month. Mrs. Stanley spoke Saturday night in the U. P. church and gave "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" Then Sunday in the p. m. in the Christian church. In the evening she spoke in the M. E. (the largest church in town) at a union service of the churches. Many were turned away for lack of room. Mrs. Stanley interested all, and awakened much thought on the part of the voters. We gained many members for our union through her efforts and we feel wonderfully benefited by her stay among us.

Fort Wayne.—The Frances Willard Union of this place is doing faithful work along all temperance lines. Previous to Lord's day week, or the week of prayer for Sabbath Observance, we sent a letter to be read at the meeting of the ministerial association, and saw personally or wrote to the superintendents of Sabbath schools of the 23 evangelical churches, asking ministers and superintendents to observe the week of prayer. Also sent notices to the daily papers, and at our regular meeting special prayers were offered for Sabbath Observance. We earnestly request the prayers of all the sisters that in the coming local option election in Allen county right may triumph.—(Mrs.) K. E. Merriam.

Wells County Institute was held May 4 and 5, in Bluffton. Belated farm work and house cleaning some sickness etc. caused a much lighter attendance than last year. The institute was under the very efficient leadership of Mrs. Rose Pearce. She was at her best and fully demonstrated the fact that she is very conversant with the work as well as very much interested in the work for the work's sake. The county president who had been ailing for two weeks suffered intensely throughout the entire session, therefore, could not be to leader or the institute what she should or would have been. The program arranged by the state was followed as closely as possible. Besides this several topics were discussed by Mrs. Pearce. Mrs. Black presented the L. T. L. work; Mrs. D. T. Smith spoke on "The White Slave Trade;" Mrs. Goodin on "The Latest Findings of Science regarding the Effects of Alcohol on the Human System;" Mrs. Ellingham on "The Advantages of Municipal Suffrage for Women;" Rev. A. H. Brand on "The Work of the Church Temperance Committee;" Mr. G. L. Saunders on "The Christian Press Against the Brewer and Distiller;" Rev. W. W. Martin on "Constitutional Prohibition and its Advantages;" Mr. C. S. Brineman on "The Need of a Law for the Protection of Prohibition Territory;" and Mrs. A. B. Cline on "How Rum, Opium and the Cigarette Impede Missionary Work." During the day sessions, the audiences were treated to some good musical numbers and interesting readings vocal solos by Miss Florence Bishop and Miss Lora Bolenbaugh, a piano solo by Miss Mary Kerwood, a recitation by Master Asa Abshire and a reading by Mrs. Stafford. At the gold medal contest held the evening of the 4th, Mrs. McCullick of Keystone won the medal. There were six contestants. The music for the evening consisted of a solo by Miss Chloe Hiester, a duet by Mr. Harry and Miss Golda Archbold and a piano solo by Miss Mildred Studebaker. On the evening of the 5th Mrs. Pearce gave an address which should have called together a packed house. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet, a duet by Mr. Burket and Miss Bolenbaugh and a solo by Mr. Burket. Mrs. J. E. Reynolds gave a reading.

The Madison County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at Anderson First M. E. church May 6 and 7, with Mrs. Retta Jones as leader. The Rev. Susie Magnor conducted the opening devotions, reading II Peter, 2. Mrs. Tilman Hobson, president of Anderson union extended a very hearty welcome in her gentle, earnest manner to which Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, state vice president, responded. She said: "It seems as if we have suddenly been lifted up and let down in a new world." The state officers who were present during our meetings were Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, vice president; Mrs. Rose Pearce, recording secretary; Miss Clara Sears, treasurer; Miss Mary Woodard corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Josephine Walmer, organizer. Mrs. Cheteeen Smith, wife of the pastor of the First M. E. church, sang "Face to Face," early in the meeting. The evening was given to a debate on "Woman Suffrage," Mrs. Stanley and Mrs. Walmer speaking on the affirmative and Miss Woodard and Mrs. Jones on the negative. The merits of the arguments were decided by a rising vote of 32 to 5 in favor of the affirmative. Special music by Ladies Quartette of the Christian church was an enjoyable feature of the evening. Mrs. J. C. Black gave an excellent talk on "What Can Be Done for Temperance by Young People's Church Societies." She showed that by the enthusiasm, zeal and consecration of the leader is measured what may be done. Mrs. Walmer spoke on "Mission of the W. C. T. U. in Reaching Out and Arousing the Masses." Rev. Grafton of the Christian church had for his subject, "The Power of the Pulpit." Mrs. Pearce, "The Power of the Press;" "Training for Efficiency in Methods of Work" was a subject well handled by Miss Clara Sears. The closing number on the program was a symposium, "The March of Temperance Reform Across the Continent." The divisions: (a), Prohibition Victories in the South; (b), Passing of the Saloon in the North, How and When; (c), History and results of local option the principles involved; were excellently given by Mrs. M. F. Wood of Summitville. Rev. Densmore of Anderson and Rev. E. E. Tripper of Summitville M. E. church. It was the best institute held in Madison county. The interest and enthusiasm was great. For want of space we must omit the substances of the good speeches that were made on all subjects although to do so is very difficult.—Mrs. Elizabeth Pelle, county superintendent of Institute.

The Howard County Executive and quarterly superintendents' meeting was held at Friend's church, Greentown, May 13. An executive session was held in the morning. Plans were discussed for increasing membership and organizing new unions. In the afternoon the presentation of the object and work of the following departments by their respective county superintendents was very interesting. The discussion was helpful and inspiring. There were present about forty members of five unions.

The Whitley County Institute was held in Columbia City, April 29-30, with Mrs. Emma D. Gandy, county president in the chair, and Mrs. Rose Pearce, leader. On account of severe storms the attendance was small. The institute program was given in full and many good thoughts and suggestions were given by those on the program. Two new members for the local union were secured, also one subscriber for the Union Signal. Special music was furnished by Columbia City citizens which consisted of solo, Ladies Quartet, Male Quartet, Boys' orchestra and a chorus choir. This added much to the interest of the institute. A silver medal contest was held on the second evening. Miss Lura Fogel of Columbia City won the medal.

Esther Union Pike township, held a mass meeting at the Bethel M. E. church. Mrs. Elizabeth T. Stanley, state vice-president and lecturer, gave a recital Saturday eve, a thrilling story entitled, "Who killed Joe's Baby?" The service was both interesting and pathetic. Sunday morning her subject was, "The Modern Jericho," taking as the basis for her remarks Luke 10, 30-35. Her address was both humorous and touching, therefore creating much interest in the work. At the close of the morning service eleven joined the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Stanley pinning the white ribbon on each of them. The subject in the evening was, "The Coming Victory." The address was well delivered to an appreciative audience. The church was beautifully decorated with white crepe paper, flags, and a few choice flowers and ferns, and just back of the speaker hung "Old Glory" with the letters W. C. T. U. on it. The offering was $15.17. Esther Union was organized May 10, 1908, with a membership of 30. Twenty-one active and 9 honorary members. We now have 32 active and thirteen honorary members.—Grace M. Calvin.

Connersville.—For years without a W. C. T. U. efforts to organize by state officers were discouraged by residents for a decade or more. Notwithstanding this city has long been the home of Miss Margaret Dixon, who is remembered as having been identified with our state work. Mrs. Mary F. Huxtable moved to Connersville and after the work of a year she sent for Miss Mary Woodard, state corresponding secretary, and they organized April 24, 1906, a union with sixteen charter members. Mrs. Huxtable says: God had wonderfully blessed us and added to our number. We now have four active union and keep things stirring all over the county. Now have county organization with a good paid membership. Such a record surely will inspire other women who move into unorganized territory to do some genuine missionary work. No white ribboner can afford now to be inactive but must help to hasten the day of absolute victory for state-wide prohibition.

Liberty.—The W. C. T. U. presented a fine picture of Miss Frances E. Willard to the high school. Prof. Records is a great favorite with the people. He and his wife both belong to the W. C. T. U.

In the Elkhart Central Union the department of Sabbath observance has recently gained prominence under the supervision of its aggressive head, Mrs. J. E. Richards. Two special meetings are recorded, the first taking the form of an entertainment and social, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wertz, on Friday evening, April 16. A clever invitation was given the public through the city papers which aroused the curiosity of readers. The catchy points were the "S. O." entertainment, "S. O." committee, "S. O." program, "S. O." address, "S. O." numbers, "S. O." refreshments and "S. O." offering. The "S. O." affair was a decided success. The first speaker, Attorney C. C. Raymer, recited in a most instructive manner the "Indiana Sunday Laws," and made comparisons with the laws of former years. An address by Miss Margaret Wilson, on the subject of "Sunday Social Functions," elicited the strictest attention. She reviewed the various forms of Sunday amusements and pictured the contrast between places where the Sabbath was desecrated and where it was observed. Miss Wilson reminded her hearers of the fact that the liquor dealer, the man who poses as the laboring man's best friend and who uses his influence for a wide-open Sunday for the "benefit" of the working class, is a typical agent of Sabbath breaking and a grafter for his own till—hence, the laboring man's enemy. Every argument and historical fact has proved the social craze to be the cause of the downfall of many nations. Rev. Seldon L. Roberts of Goshen, considered in a scholarly way the topic, "The Teachings of Jesus Concerning the Sabbath." Mrs. I. H. Church sang, "Oh, Sabbath Day of Rest," and Miss Luce pleased with piano selections. The program was followed by a delightful social period when refreshments were served consisting of fruit salad and whipped cream, coffee and several kinds of cake. Among the number present were twelve people from Goshen. The Sabbath Observance superintendent arranged another delightful program which was given at the home of Mrs. Ford Overlease on Friday afternoon, April 20. The meeting opened with singing, "Oh Sabbath 'Tis of Thee" and after scripture reading and prayer, an address was given by Rev. S. Griffith Buckner, pastor of the First Christian church. The arguments produced by Rev. Buckner proved that "Christians are responsible in a great measure, for much of Sabbath desecration. He said that many Christians look upon the Sabbath as a day of pious inactivity or idleness while the teachings of Jesus are just the opposite, proving that Sunday should be a day of activity in the right direction. He also gave suggestions showing how Sunday should be made a practical rest day. The key-note that Rev. Buckner left with his hearers was "Let us make Sunday a 'busy, rest' day." "Where We Are Drifting" and "Observing the Sabbath" were other subjects under consideration. A temperance reading entitled "An Old Man's Story" was touchingly rendered by Mrs. Geo. Miller. The voice solos by Miss Myrtle Moore and Mrs. Payson Schwin were both inspiring and most appropriate for the occasion. A quiz on the Sabbath Observance department was conducted which was both interesting and instructive. After singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" the meeting closed with the W. C. T. U. benediction.—Iva Wood Parker.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has just suspended eight engineers for indulgence in intoxicants when off duty. It has also summoned eighteen others to explain their presence in saloons on similar occasions. The railroad officials rightfully assume that a man who frequents drinking places when not at work is liable to take his engine with a befuddled brain, and they wisely refuse to keep men in their employ who are taking these risks. This is practical temperance regulation and a due regard for the safety of patrons.

Mrs. Amelia B. Ward of Peru writes on May 11.—Tonight's paper conveyed the startling information, that our fellow townsman J. O. Cole, the owner and manager of the Peru brewery for more than forty years, has ceased to make beer and blown out for good and always. We are told that on Saturday evening there was emptied into the brewery branch and the Wabash river, 70 barrels of new beer. Report says he has closed up for all time. Is not that good? Who would have thought it would come so soon. Mr. Cole was offered $50,000 for this brewery plant only a few months ago. He couldn't then "see the handwriting on the wall". But he says he does now. The Lord be praised.

Columbus, Ohio, Messenger says: "We are not trying to put the saloon keepers out of business so much as we are trying to put ourselves out of the saloon business. The saloons do not belong to the saloon keepers. They are creatures of the law. Respectable people are sharing in the profits of the saloon keeper. The good people of Columbus wouldn't tolerate the saloons fifteen minutes were it not for the $250,000 taxes paid by the liquor men. Yet the people of this city pay annually $6,000,000 to get back only $250,000. They capitalize the desires of their children for liquor to make money and lose it instead. What a spectacle it is to hear strong men say, 'We can't enforce our local option laws,' and to see them afraid of the liquor men! They need more of the spirit of their daddies of the 60's, who overthrew slavery and would not tolerate the nullification of law."

Indianapolis Frances Willard Union met with Mrs. Hathaway in her beautiful new home. The new county president, Mrs. Kinser, was present and entered into the business and social interests in a very friendly way. Every officer and superintendent present had a report of work done. Two beautiful selections concerning the life of Miss Frances Willard were read. Several persons added tributes to her beautiful character. After repeating the "Mizpah" with joined hands, dear Mrs. Scott offered prayer.—Mrs. McDermid.

Noble County—A very profitable institute was held in Noble county a few weeks ago under the auspices of Kendallville, the one local union in the county, which is worthy of special mention. After the devotional exercise, appointing of committees, conferences of officers and members, an address of welcome was given by Mrs. N. B. McPherson, followed by a question box. The Union Signal and Crusader Monthly was presented and subscriptions taken. In the evening the L. T. L. took part in the service with songs and recitations. The Baptist Male quartet sang a few selections and Mrs. Josephine Walmer gave a stirring address. The next day the following topics were discussed: "The Two-fold Mission of the W. C. T. U. Institute;" (a), Training for Efficiency in Methods of Work; (b), Reaching and Arousing the Masses. Organized Christian Work for Temperance, (a) The work of the Church Temperance Committee; (b), What can be done for Temperance by the Young People's Societies; (c), The Importance of Sunday School Quarterly Temperance Lesson; (d), Co-operation with Missionary Societies, How Opium, Rum and Cigarettes Impede Missionary Efforts; (e), The Powers of the Pulpit used aggressively against the Liquor Traffic; (f), The Christian Press Against the Brewery and Distiller. A view of the temperance wave in the South and the passing of the saloon in the north was enthusiastically received. A medal contest, the second evening, closed the institute.

The Jackson County W. C. T. U. held an institute at Brownstown. The morning was spent in a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Tovey, where dinner was served by the Brownstown W. C. T. U. The afternoon meeting was held at the Christian church. Devotional service was led by Mrs. Josephine Vermillion, Mrs. Retta Jones of Alexandria then gave an interesting and profitable talk upon "The Do Everything Policy." Dr. May of Crothersville discussed "Medical Temperance." Symposium: "The March of the Temperance Reform Across the Continent," was given by Mesdames Lewis, Carpenter and Short. In the evening Mrs. Retta Jones gave an address on "Prohibition From the Bible Standpoint." The talk was well received and as we were then in the midst of a hot local option campaign we feel that much good was done. Mrs. Jones also spoke at the Rockford M. E. church Thursday afternoon and Sunday night at Seymour Presbyterian church on Thursday night.—Dora Deppert, secretary pro tem.

Monroe County enjoyed an excellent Temperance Rally (institute) the first and second of April held in Stinesville. Our county president, Mrs. J. L. Litten was untiring in her efforts to make it a grand success, and was well rewarded. We are very happy that it could have been held in our little village, and feel that it has been a help to our local union. On account of "tiger" cases in Bloomington on those dates, several of our program were not able to be present, but others rallied to the front, and the work went on smoothly. We miss our dear Mrs. Siebenthal very much since she has been confined to her home on account of sickness, and trust that she will soon recover. The first evening Mrs. Stanley spoke to a STATE LOYAL T. LEGION CONVENTION.

Dear Co-Workers:

The Fifteenth Annual Convention of the Senior Loyal Temperance Legion of Indiana, will be held at the Locust Street Methodist Church, Greencastle, Indiana, July 6-8, 1909. The main lines of the Vandalia and Big Four railroads run through Greencastle, also the Monon. There is hourly Interurban service east and west. All L. T. L. graduates are entitled to a vote in the convention and all who desire to come will be most royally welcomed and entertained. We especially invite the members and friends of the Womans Christian Temperance Union to come and help us in our efforts to spread Temperance sentiment.

Loyally,
DE ETTE WALKER,

full house and a very appreciative audience; there is no doubt but that her lectures made "right" votes in the coming county local option election. The song "We'll make the map all white," was sung as a solo and the audience joined in on the refrain, the song leaflets having previously been passed. Mrs. Stanley's parody, which was much more appropriate was substituted for those on the leaflets. On the second evening a gold medal contest was held. Twenty-four dollars was taken in at the door. Miss Leona Krebs was awarded the medal on "Put Yourself in His Place." The class consisted of seven young ladies and all spoke well. The other titles were: "The Soberhat," "Little Tim," "Old Soapy," "An Old Woman's Complaint," and "Who Killed Joe's Baby." We are now arranging a silver medal contest for young ladies to be held at a near-by country school house. The neighborhood is to furnish the organ, and house and to assist with the music and the proceeds will be equally divided after expenses are paid. Everything looks encouraging for a "dry" vote in the election and we feel like marching on.—Mrs. K. Hoadley, press superintendent.

Allen County—The Boston W. C. T. U.—Excellent meetings have been held all year, meetings every two (2) weeks with scarcely a break the year round. Good programs have been prepared for these meetings. Our local superintendents each having the management of one meeting in the interest of her department. These meetings have been full of interest and very profitable. An excellent Frances E. Willard memorial meeting was held. The literature superintendent meeting was of special interest as was also the one held by Sabbath Observance Supt. The last meeting in charge of Medical Temperance Supt. Mrs. Bertha Youse, will be of great benefit we hope. The different patent medicines received their just dues and were held in a good light. This is just what is needed to show the fallacy of patent medicines. Good literature on this subject was distributed. The program closing with a recitation "The Reformer Reformed." rendered in a pleasing manner by little Miss Luella Youse. A penny social was held May the first. This was very satisfactory considering the bad weather and we think of trying this form of supper again, when more of our country women can attend.—Mrs. Florence Barnhart.

Ray—A parlor meeting of the union was held with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bohner in their beautiful country home. About seventy-five were present and enjoyed a very interesting program in charge of Mesdames Elnora and Pearl McNaughton and Blanche Hillard. The Junior Loyal Temperance Legion was represented by Misses Bessie McTaggart and Rachel Bohner, who gave musical selections and recitations. Mrs. Theodore McNaughton, county superintendent of anti-narcotics spoke with enthusiasm on the effect of cigarettes on the growing boy. Mrs. McTaggart, president of the union, spoke on the awful effects of cigarettes on an eight-year-old boy whom she knew. Mr. Alex. Thompson spoke concerning more effective laws. Rev. Smith paid tribute to the power and influence of the W. C. T. U. Mr. Rollo Thompson of the Senior L. T. L., read a splendid paper on the subject of tobacco. Miss Cora Stewart gave a recitation, Miss Bessie Kibbee pleased with solos. Miss Glen Schelley of Tremont gave a humorous reading. An anti-cigarette petition was circulated. At the close of the program refreshments were served by the hostess. Rev. Smith in a very pleasing manner made a plea for honorary members. R. C. McNaughton and Alex. Thompson both joined and Rev. Smith renewed his membership.

The city expenses arising from policing made necessary by saloons, court costs, etc., that will be saved since the county is dry will swell the entire saving considerably, so you can readily see that the taxes will be decreased instead of increased.

The Churubusco W. C. T. U. gave a reception in honor of the members received since September at the home of Mrs. Emma Pressler. The following program was given. Instrumental music, by Miss Marvel Smith; song "Some Glad Day," union; invocation, Mrs. Lucy Hyndman; roll call, secretary; responses, Scripture quotations by members; welcome address president of union; responses, Prof. Colburn, superintendent of Churubusco schools; duet, Mr. and Mrs. Reichelderfer; declaration of W. C. T. U. principles, Mrs. Emma Pressler; instrumental music, Miss Mary Harris; recitation, The Picture in the Cup, Miss Mary Keene; instrumental music, Miss Alta Fogel. After the program a social hour was enjoyed. The old members furnished and served refreshments to all. There were about seventy members and friends present.—Pess Supt.

Our Promoted Comrades

Mr. Webster Pressle, a devoted and loyal honorary member of the Mooresville W. C. T. U., has been promoted to the glory land. We deeply feel our loss and extend our deepest sympathy to his bereaved wife, Mrs. Julia Pressle.

Mrs. Susan Sherman Warner, died at her home in Crown Point in her 82nd year. Mrs. Warner was the oldest member of the W. C. T. U. in Crown Point. Her life on earth had been one of helpfulness to others and loving service to Christ. She was a neighbor whose kind acts endeared her to the community, while her intellectual gifts made her a leader. She was buried from the M. E. church on Friday, May 7, 1909.—Mrs. Elizabeth Glover.

Columbia City union lost a faithful member when Mrs. M. J. Meeks was promoted to her heavenly home. She was always an earnest worker in the various departments of temperance work. She was a woman of strong convictions and fearless in proclaiming them. True to her convictions, she never wavered, but in her modest way, added the most loyal support. Loved by every member, her vacant place brings deep grief to her co-workers. She leaves with us a rich legacy of good works and noble principles. We rejoice that she lived to see the great substantial temperance wave sweep over the world.—Mrs. H. F. Lancaster, Press Supt.

MRS. CORNELIA TEMPLETON JEWETT.

The Illinois Woman's Press association will have at its head for the ensuing year a real, live managing editor. Mrs. Cornelia Templeton Jewett of Evanston, managing editor of the Union Signal, the official organ of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the most widely circulated weekly paper owned and published exclusively by women, was elected president of the association at the annual meeting in the Crerar library on Thursday. Mrs. Jewett began her career at a compositor's case on a country newspaper in Wisconsin.—Chicago Daily Tribune, Saturday, June 5, 1909.

INDIANA.

"Dry" and "Wet" Conditions.

Local option elections have been held in seventy-four counties. Of these sixty-two voted "dry" and twelve went "wet." Of the remaining eighteen counties in the state, eight—Brown, Dekalb, Johnson, Scott, Steuben, Union, Warren and Wells—are "dry" by remonstrance, and ten—Marion, Lake, St. Joseph, Allen, Vigo, Knox, Dearborn, Dubois, Perry and Vanderburg—are "wet." These "wet" counties contain the largest cities of the state—Indianapolis, Evansville, Ft. Wayne, Terre Haute, South Bend—all brewery and saloon strongholds.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear Sisters: At the State Executive in April it was decided that the State Superintendents report must be in the hands of our State Recording Secretary by September 20th. I wish to call your attention to The Recommendations from the Board of Superintendents which were accepted at our last convention. They are found on page 23 in State minutes, and are of great importance to YOU. Read them and abide by them.

THE MISSION OF THE FLOWERS.

God sends the flowers
To brighten the hours
That would be filled with pain.
They tell of the love
Of our Father above,
And bring to us Heavenly gain.
Oft we have heard,
From God's own Word,
How He cares for the flowers,
Sends sun and rain
That strength they may gain,
And grow through light and showers.

The lilies white
So pure and bright,
Furnished lessons long ago.
Our Saviour taught
The truths they brought,

We welcome spring,
For it will bring
The flowers to us once more.
We remember then
God's promise again:
To care for us as before.

But there are some,
Who can not come
Out in the fields so fair.
Like birds in a cage,
They are kept in by age,
Or affliction binds them there.

Many, who roam
Away from home
Are cheered by gifts of flowers.
Memories they bring,
That softly cling,
Reminders of childhood's hours.

Oh, do not tarry!
But let us carry
The flowers on their mission.
Like sunbeams bright,
They scatter light,
To sad hearts bring a vision.

CLOSES ON SUNDAY.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 9.—For the first time in its history the National Tube Works of McKeesport closed today, giving 1,200 men a Sunday with their families. This step Superintendent W. A. Cornelius of the National plant declares is the forerunner of a movement which before it ends, will close on Sunday every property of the United States Steel Corporation, of which the National Tube Works is a component part, on Sunday.

The step incidentally is the direct result of the acquirement of religion recently by Superintendent Cornelius. For years the superintendent has been a man whose only thought in life was business and he almost lived at the works. Recently he became a regular church member and it is declared that his minister persuaded him to see the head officials of the Steel Corporation and require them to close all their plants on Sundays.

Step for Civic Righteousness.

Last week Mr. Cornelius went to New York, where he had a conference with the high officials of the corporation, with the result that he returned home with the Sunday-closing order in his pocket.

"This," said Mr. Cornelius today, "is simply another step in the battle for civic righteousness going on all over the country and in which I am interested."

At 6 o'clock this morning several watchmen were stationed at the $10,000,000 plant of the National Tube Company, with instructions to arrest any employe who attempted to desecrate the Sabbath by working, and to register a complaint against him for trespassing.

It is estimated that the Sunday closing law will cost the Steel Corporation, at the McKeesport plant alone, at least $30,000 each Sunday, and it will cost the men on an average of $3.00 a day each. However, the men are only too willing to stand the financial loss for the sake of the holiday.

The general Sunday closing order which will affect all the plants of the corporation probably will be issued this week.—Indianapolis News.

Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton of Richmond, our dear state evangelist, is passing through deep waters. Her husband, Dr. Houghton, died on June 4th after a long and painful illness. Dr. Houghton was prominent in the medical profession for many years. In his death the W. C. T. U. and the great temperance reform has lost a valuable friend and helper. The sympathy of the white ribbon sisterhood of Indiana is extended to Mrs. Houghton, our sweet spirited loving comrade, in these days of bereavement.

Attend the State convention of the Loyal Temperance Legion at Greencastle, July 6, 7, 8, 9. Parents, go and take your young son and daughter. Board can be secured at reasonable rates for all who are not delegates.

Parents, the investment that you make in the character of your son or daughter will yield a paying per cent. Arrange to take your young son or daughter to Greencastle to attend the State Loyal Temperance Legion convention July 6, 7, 8, 9.

De Pauw University is located at Greencastle. Parents who are thinking of sending their young sons or daughters to De Pauw this Fall should take them to Greencastle to attend the State Loyal Temperance Legion convention.

The De Pauw summer school will be in session. This will give parents and young people the opportunity to meet Pres. Francis McConnell and members of the faculty, also to make such investigation concerning the school as may be desired.

LITERATURE.

For years The Message has urged the Local Unions of Indiana to try and distribute our Department leaflets. Unions that have spent judiciously as much as five dollars in a year for such literature and had it wisely distributed have been "very much alive."

Unions whose membership read The Union Signal (our National official organ), and distribute much literature are the Unions that are doing the best and most permanent work.

Hereunto is attached a list of addresses where good literature can be secured at cheap prices. If individual members desire to help the temperance cause they can do so by getting a few hundred leaflets and having them distributed.

LOCAL OPTION.

Madison County. Praise God from whom all blessings flow,—Madison County voted "dry" on May 26. The vote will put out of business 107 saloons. On August 24, the entire city and county will see the last dram shop closed. The traffic in boys and girls will cease—the traffic of blood—the destroyer of homes—the breaker of hearts, and so many vices we dare not mention.

The whole county is rejoicing with us in this God-given victory. The people organized and worked and prayed, night and day. The women stood shoulder to shoulder to the help of the Lord against the mighty. On Tuesday one week before the election, the W. C. T. U. called a "Union Prayer Service." Every church responded. A leader was appointed for each hour. The meeting was opened at 6 a. m. and was continued with unabated interest until 9 p. m. with the large auditorium full of interested prayerful people. On Tuesday, the day before the election, another prayer service was held from 2 until 5 in the afternoon. A most delightful waiting on the Lord was this meeting, held at the Central Christian Church. On Wednesday morning election day, it was raining now and then, the clouds would rift and one could almost see the sun shine. Although the clouds dripped all day long, God gave us a "dry victory."

On Saturday afternoon before the election occurred one of the most imposing demonstrations the city of Anderson ever witnessed. A parade three miles long marched through the streets, carrying banners, with the inscriptions "Saloons Must Go," "In the Balance"—little children on one side of a pair of large scales, and a beer keg on the other. Of course the children overbalanced. "Choosing His Company,"—a young man looking on a company of young men, some reading, and some playing cards and drinking. And a carriage with a banner on the outside, "The Crusade Mothers," was among the impressive and interesting sights. It took one hour and a quarter for this procession, composed of church societies, Sunday schools, and the W. C. T. U. to pass one point. Perkinsville and Lapel sent large delegations—just overflowing with enthusiasm. Bands, and banners, helped to make this great pageant under the leadership of our King Emmanuel.

On the evening of the 26th, after the victory was assured, the Captain of the Salvation Army, marched through the streets, with drums and Old Glory, waiving so proudly, followed by a host of men, real voters, singing "Glory, Glory Halleluyah, Our God is Marching On."

I wish that I could have given a more minute description of this wonderful campaign for "God and Home, and Native Land," but suffice it to say, the enthusiasm, earnestness and devotion has never been equalled in Madison county. Alexandria and Elwood both had great demonstrations. I want to say that Mrs. Vayhinger, our own beloved W. C. T. U. State President, and a Mrs. Warner of Muncie, came on Sunday afternoon and addressed a mass meeting of women, and on the following Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Vayhinger returned and organized the women, and from that time on day and night, interest never abated until the polls closed at 6 o'clock p. m. May 26—and victory came. And in His name, His banner o'er us we are marching on, until every brewery, every distillery and every dram shop is swept from our own beloved America.

Anderson, Ind.

Posey County. Mrs. Kroft spoke at a parlor meeting in Poseyville in afternoon of May 4, and in the evening at the M. E. Church to a large audience. May 5 Mrs. Kroft spoke in the evening at the M. E. Church at New Harmony. On account of a heavy downpour of rain the audience was not very large. Mrs. Kroft's work in Posey County was appreciated very much. Notwithstanding the efforts of the Temperance forces they were defeated and the county went "wet."

Posey County. Mrs. Lon Rogers, of Poseyville, writes, "We feel a little blue over the election. Posey County went 'wet' by 1,450 majority, so I feel like our plans were a failure, but we are going right on and expect eventually to win. I think our temperance workers in Posey were a little too quiet. Our speakers were Rev. Ashby of Mt. Vernon, Rev. Shumaker and Rev. Wm. Biddle of Princeton, Mr. Frank Werking of Mt. Vernon and Dr. Gaung. Mrs. Kroft was brought into the county and spoke at Mt. Vernon, Poseyville, Griffin and New Harmony. I think there was very little if any, literature used in the county campaign. Poseyville W. C. T. U. served free lunch on election day to all voters."

Lawrence County W. C. T. U., as an organization had little to do with our victory. The good men at the head of the Temperance forces thought that a "still hunt" was the thing needed for Lawrence County, and it proved to be successful as our majority of 1,500 bears witness. There was only one mass meeting held. On Sunday afternoon previous to the election all of our ministers took part, and Mrs. W. G. Batt gave her reading that she gave at state convention when she won the diamond medal. There was a committee of men appointed to visit and talk privately with every voter in each township of the county about whom there was a question of a doubt. The only thing that made us apprehensive, was that so many Republicans were "sore" over Watson's defeat and had vowed that the local option was a Democratic move that they would not support it, etc., etc. It proved however in our case to be all talk and sensible men did not listen to it.—Mrs. J. R. Mathes.

STATE TRUSTEES MEETING AT INDIANAPOLIS.

The Board of Trustees met at the Bertha Ballard June 15, 1909.

Much business was brought forward and plans made for the continued advancement of the general work.

The Richmond Yearly Meeting of Friends will this year be held earlier than usual, and in view of this fact, it was decided that Indiana W. C. T. U. State convention meet October 1st to 5th.

This will give the National Delegates more time to make their preparations for attending the National Convention and will also give the State officers the much needed extra time to finish up the business which follows the State convention.

Muncie is the place of meeting for 1909 and the convention church will be High Street M. E. Convention will open at 9 a. m. October 1st.

Executive meeting will be held in same church at 7:30 p. m. September 30.

County Presidents are urged to reach Muncie on the afternoon of the latter date, that they may be assigned their places of entertainment and be on hand to attend the first executive meeting. It is desired by all that the convention of 1909 shall be the best ever held in Indiana.

We earnestly ask the co-operation and help of all the women in the State, as only by united effort can success be assured.

Plans were made for special convention music and this year special attention and time will be given to the children's work.

Mrs. Vayhinger and Miss Sears were in Muncie on June 14, to confer with, and help the women in making their plans, and Miss Sears will return and present the work in some of the churches. A more detailed report of Convention Program will be given at a later date.

The report from Hadley Industrial School was most encouraging. The crops on the farm are looking fine, the garden promises a plentiful supply of vegetables for summer and winter use, and there will be a fairly good crop of some kinds of fruit. What is needed now is that the Unions over the state will remember the school by sending in their cash gifts that the current expenses may be met.

We are all rejoicing in the expected return of business prosperity, and in the promise of an abundant harvest of all kinds.

Shall we not remember the School and as a thank offering send a gift?

State Recording Secretary.

Read and work out the following suggestions:

By being tactful you will be able to secure one of the largest, best, most influential homes in your town in which to have the meeting. Do not let every one know that it is to be an "anti-Cigaret" social, but call it an "A. C." social. Remember to carry out the Anti-Cigaret idea wherever possible.

On round pieces of white paper 4, 5 or 6 inches in diameter, write the following invitation: "You are cordially invited to attend the 'A. C.' social given under the auspices of the 'A. C.' department of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. ———, St. ———, evening at 7:30 o'clock. An 'A. C.' program will be rendered, 'A. C.' refreshments served, and an 'A. C.' collection taken."

Be sure and advertise thoroughly in the papers. Ask a pretty writer to assist you and send out 75 or 100 or as many of these invitations as you think best, ten days before the time for social. These invitations are to be sent to adults whom you think would be most likely to attend.

Decorate the rooms with white or white and brown in imitation of the cigaret. Bunting, crepe paper, paper bells and flowers may be used. Try to have one room prettily decorated if not all.

Select two or three congenial young ladies to act on the reception committee—they to be dressed in white or white and brown.

Ask some ribbon dealer to donate 10 yards of white silk ribbon one-half inch wide. If one store would not give you 10 yards, perhaps two would give you five yards apiece. Then get the letters "A. C." printed in brown ink on this ribbon so that you can cut it into two inch lengths. It would be very nice to pin these on the guests as they arrive and they can keep them as souvenirs. While the guests are arriving it might be well to have good instrumental music.

Before the program suppose you have one game. Have a time-keeper and give ten minutes to see who can make the largest number of words from the letters found in the word, "Anti-Cigaret." For instance—rat, tie, rag, gate, eat, tag, cigar, etc. A white stick of candy might be given as a prize. Have plenty of paper and pencils and everything in readiness.

The Anti-Narcotic superintendent or the local president, should be in charge of the following program:

1, Instrumental music; 2, Scriptural reading; 3, Prayer; 4, Recitation; 5, paper—"Cigarets;" 6, "The Effect of Cigarets Upon School Work;" 7, Music; 8, "The Evils of the Cigaret;" 9, Recitation; 10, "The Requirements of the Anti-Cigaret Law, its Weak Points, How Strengthen it, how Enforce it;" 11, "The Purpose of the Anti-Narcotic Dept. of the L. T. L.;" 12, Song—"The Cigaret Must Go;" 13, Benediction.

Send ten cents to Ruby L. Gilbert, 131-137 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., for the Anti-Cigaret speaker and you will find some splendid recitations. Ask some doctor to read a five minutes paper on "Cigarets." Ask the Supt. of schools or some teacher to give a five minute talk on No. 6. Ask a minister to give a ten minute talk on No.

THE MESSAGE

The World's W. C. T. U. convention, 1910, will be held June 4 to 11, in Glasgow, Scotland.

July 4th will be celebrated with fire works and the results will no doubt be a long list of "causalities." W. C. T. U. homes should provide attractions for the children. Mothers and sisters who desire to make a change can do so if they have sufficient strength of character. Mothers who yield to children's entreaties against their best judgment always have cause for regret. With mother and father a little picnic, a fishing party or a bathing party will be enjoyed by all normal children. Few parents give much of their time to their children. A "Fourth" spent with the children without fireworks can be made delightful and happy.

L. T. L. STATE CONVENTION.

We are going to have the grandest convention in the history of Indiana L. T. L., at Greencastle this year. Everybody is coming! You can not afford to miss it. We want every county whether it has a legion or not, to send at least on W. C. T. U. representative. The L. T. L. superintendents appointed by the W. C. T. U. all over Indiana are members of our executive committee and they should all be present. We have a place on the program for you. We want each county to sound a note of victory or give some demonstration as was done in the W. C. T. U. convention. Be sure to send your superintendent. You think we are small. Just come and see what we can do—then watch the L. T. L.'s spring up next year. Your presence will mean inspiration and help to us.

Our program will be of unusual interest. We expect to have with us such men as Dr. McConnell, president of De Pauw University, Senator Tilden, Ex-Senator Moore, also women of prominence, Mrs. Martha T. Helm, of Japan, widow of the late Mr. Verling Helm, Miss Margaret Wintinger, National L. T. L. Secretary, and some of our State W. C. T. U. officers will be at the convention too.

The fare from Indianapolis to Greencastle is $1.30 round trip, via interurban and about 30 cents more via Vandalia or Big Four. The interurban is within two blocks of the convention church. Free entertainment will be furnished to all visitors. Send names at once to Mrs. Mary G. Webb, 110 Hanna St. Loyal, Ind.

BETHENA VANDAMENT,

Posey County Institute was held at the M. E. church Mt. Vernon, May 3rd, with Mrs. Ella Kroft leader. A conference of officers and members with County President was held, a review was given of work mapped out by national, state and county unions, and it was planned for pushing the work and doing everything possible in department and general temperance work. In the afternoon Mrs. R. Sarles president of Mt. Vernon union "welcomed" the convention. A very interesting paper was read on the effect of alcohol on the human system by Mrs. Horace Byrd. Mrs. T. Ketchall of Poseyville read a paper on the need of a Law concerning the shipment of liquor into prohibition territory, which was very instructive. Symposium topic—the March of the Temperance Reform Across the Continent, by Rev. McFarland. Mr. Frank Werking, Revs. Ashby and Dr. Welch of Mt. Vernon followed by a talk on the general work of the W. C. T. U. by the teacher, Mrs. Kroft. After adjournment the ladies of Mt. Vernon union served cream and cake to all present. In the evening Mrs. Kroft delivered a splendid address which was timely and convincing. For all the meetings there was excellent music. Miss Inez Williams sang in the afternoon and in the evening Prof. Brugeman of Mt. Vernon gave a fine violin selection and the Ladies Quartette pleased the audience with their singing. The members of the quartette are Mesdames McFarland and McElhanney, and the Misses Cook and Krutzing. A reading by Miss Brown was greatly enjoyed. Posey county white ribboners are brave and true. Some of the best people in the world live in this garden spot of Indiana, but just now the curse of the liquor traffic is upon us. God will give us the victory some day. We will work and wait.

Indianapolis, Meridian W. C. T. U.—President's day was observed by our union, June 2nd. All past presidents and presidents of the various unions of the county were special guests. Those who were present enjoyed an excellent program. Mrs. A. J. Clark read an exceptionally fine paper. The facts were gleaned from personal experiences. She presented the subject of Local Option and kindred subjects in a comprehensive manner. Each past president responded to roll call with a thought from her experiences as president of a growing union. Five new names were presented by Mrs. Heath, making a total of sixteen names with their dollar dues as new members by Mrs. Heath, this year. Mrs. Reynold's completed arrangements for going to the workhouse, Flower Mission Day, June 9th. Mrs. Arthur Baxter as hostess assisted by the visiting committee served cream and cake. July 7th, Mrs. Mary Tarlton, 2115 College ave., will be hostess for our next guest meeting. All are cordially invited to all meetings.

Later—Flower Mission day observed by Meridian union going to workhouse and City hospital, June 9th and distributed 350 bouquets and scripture cards. About forty participated and one new member secured.

NETTIE COHEN,

Press Supt.

The Madison W. C. T. U. is at present in a flourishing condition. A contest for an increased membership ending June 8th, resulted as follows: Twenty new members for side A and forty-one for side B, making in all sixty-one accessions. The entire enrollment is now two hundred regular members and twenty-seven honorary members, and the outlook for the success in its work for the coming year is truly promising.

The LaFayette W. C. T. U. annual memorial service was held Sunday afternoon, June 6th, at the Second Presbyterian church and was largely attended. The principal address was made by Mrs. Ella Stewart, of Chicago, and she spoke on "Principles for Which Helen M. Gougar Most Worked." She dwelt mainly upon the work that women have accomplished within the past few centuries and paid a fitting tribute to the memory of Mrs. Gougar, who, she said, had been a potent factor in the uplifting of womankind. She said that although Mrs. Gougar is gone, still her influence remains and that it was largely through her efforts that woman had gained the right to be designated as a free American citizen. Mrs. Stewart discussed woman suffrage and the influence for good that it would bring to the American republic. She said that woman's ideals are lofty and that her vote would tend to make governmental conditions likewise.

Tippecanoe County—The Frances Willard W. C. T. U. held a delightful reception at the home of Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Rippetoe on Congress street, in honor of its new members being fourteen in number. There was a large attendance nearly all the members of the union being present. During the evening the following program was given: Song, by the members; prayer, Rev. Rippetoe; address, County President Mrs. Budge; vocal solo, Miss Jester; piano duet, Miss Brand and Mrs. McCarthy; reading, Miss Lois Jackman; vocal solo, Horace Kurtz. At the conclusion of the program, ice cream and cake was served. The annual flower mission meeting of the LaFayette W. C. T. U. was held with Mrs. Lyda Grove of Elizabeth street, and was a most interesting and enjoyable affair. Miss Eliza Baker presided and the devotional service was led by Mrs. Arthur L. Green. Mrs. C. C. Robinson read an excellent paper. At the close of the program a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The many flowers brought by the members were made into bouquets and sent to the sick. The death of Mrs. Nancy C. Marks, occurred May 21, at the family residence, 1001 Salem street. Mrs. Marks was a pioneer member of St. Paul's M. E. church and was a very active worker in all of its organizations until ill health prevented. She was a member of the Woman's Relief Corps and for the past two years had been a member of Central W. C. T. U. Although unable to be with us much, she was a strong advocate of the temperance cause. She was a refined and accomplished woman and her gracious manner won her many true friends. She was greatly devoted to her home and family.

Warrick County.—It is with a glad heart we tell our dear sisters of the victory here last Thursday. With a dry majority of 218 we invite the saloons to leave our little city. June 17 will be a day long remembered in Boonville. While the men voted the women prayed. Beginning at 6 a. m., with a different leader every hour until 6 p. m. the women of Boonville met at the Presbyterian church in an all day prayer-meeting. Never in the history of the town were Christian women so united and earnest as they have been in this campaign against King Alcohol. Never were such earnest prayers sent to God asking deliverance from this curse. The women have been quite a factor in the fight. They organized themselves and appointed ladies to train the children and teach them temperance songs. Met together and made banners, with appropriate mottoes and the evening before the election marched through the streets in a grand parade; marching to the court house square where a program of song and recitation was rendered by the children, after which the men were invited to listen to an excellent address by Mr. Barney, a state worker from Indianapolis. This exercise concluded the campaign. The election went off quietly, with very little disturbance. When the results seemed so encouraging the ladies agreed to come to the church in the evening for a praise meeting, and such a meeting! Praises were sung, prayed and shouted, and God given the glory for victory.—Mrs. Robt. Wilkinson, Press Cor.

Spencer W. C. T. U. held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Emma Morgan. Subject, "Why do boys go wrong?" Leader Mrs. Dr. Rice. Subject was well handled. Many of the mothers joined in the discussion which followed and very much interest in the subject was manifested. One mother's experience was that she was left to fight life's battles alone, when her baby and only boy was a few months old. She assumed the whole responsibility of rearing her boy for God's glory. Her account of seventeen years' experience was given with trembling voice and wet eyes. It stirred and inspired others to try harder to be true mothers. Our meeting was indeed good. As a union we are not coming up to our aspirations in work but our members are earnest, good Christian women, recognized as such by the town of Spencer—some times in eulogy and some times in objections to our work. God bless the white-ribbon band of this nation. Our own pastor of the M. E. church, Rev. Thomas, gives the W. C. T. U. much credit for the reform that is taking place at this time. He says that he has voted for Prohibition for twenty-five years. He comes here from Missouri. A God-given man to Spencer—he is fearless in presenting the truth.

Dearborn County Institute was held this year in Aurora, Mrs. Retta Jones leader. Each local union in the county was represented by delegates who brought good reports of work done during the last half year. Mrs. Jones proved a very efficient and pleasing leader. The gold medal contest was fairly well attended. There were seven contestants, the medal being awarded to Miss Mary Mason of Guilford, on "The Bridal Wine Cup." There was an increase in attendance and interest the second day. Several gentlemen from different parts of the county were on the program and added materially to the success of the institute. Six members were gained for Aurora union. Mrs. Jones will return to our county for a week's work beginning June 17.

Moore's Hill union went to the county asylum for the poor on Sunday, June 6, taking with them ice cream and cake for the inmates. They were accompanied by the M. E. minister, Rev. D. P. Holt, who conducted religious services on the lawn.—(Mrs.) A. E. Rynerson, Co. Press Supt.

Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler of South Bend, state superintendent of Sabbath Observance, goes before many Christian organizations with a chart talk on her department and a strong plea for the united aggressive work of Christians against the desecration of the Sabbath day. Special attention should be given this most important subject by every organization which claims to be Christian. What are we doing? Our State must be covered with copies of our Sunday laws and leaflets on the subject of Sabbath Observance. Every woman who has a conviction concerning God's commandment for the Sabbath should buy and distribute leaflets, get sermons preached or arrange special meetings.

Westfield Union observed Flower Mission Day by nine ladies visiting the jail at Noblesville in which three men are now confined, two of them on account of drink. Scripture reading, prayer and song were offered after which they were given flowers. From there they went to the county poor farm. There were 22 women and twenty-three men as inmates. A short religious service was held and then baskets of flowers were given. This was a bright day for the women here. One remarked that it was on Monday one year Tuesday the next and Wednesday this year when they received flowers. Thus showing that they remembered the days, and telling us to be sure and come next year, which would be on Thursday. We were shown over the institution by the inmates; who took great pride in showing their clean rooms. The next day we had a meeting with a program at the home of Mattie Kellum, then visited the Indiana Receiving Home for Children, where we were given a warm welcome by the matron. The children sang songs and Mrs. Minerva Hubbard spoke words of comfort and cheer to these little ones whose lives have been so dreary. The sick in our town were also remembered by visits and flowers.—Ella Briles.

Seymour.—Mrs. L. C. Van Horn writes that the president, Mrs. Paffenberger, has been seriously ill and is in the hospital.

Meridian Union (Indianapolis) observed Flower Mission Day distributing flowers and Scripture text cards at the workhouse and city hospital. At the workhouse the religious service was led by Mr. Huston, of the Wheeler Rescue Mission, with Mrs. Knode at the organ. After a song service in which the men heartily participated, Mrs. Eliza Davis read the XXXIVth Psalm and offered an earnest prayer for the salvation of these men. Rev. C. L. Harper, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church, N. Indianapolis, made an address on the theme, "A Rose to the Living." At the conclusion of this address Rev. Harper exhibited a large map of Indiana showing the wet and dry territory. Reference to the dry portions of the state elicited hearty applause from the men. Miss Florence Sayer and Miss Mabel Brown then sang "My Lord and I." This was followed by a talk on the "Life of Jennie Cassaday," by Mrs. Martha Gipe. "All Around the World" was sung and a closing prayer offered by Mrs. Dowler of the Rescue Mission. 41 ladies were present at the service, several from the Esther Union came laden with beautiful flowers. After the service at the workhouse a number of women distributed flowers and text cards at the city hospital. In all, 350 bouquets and 275 text cards were distributed with the prayer that some heart might be cheered and some life be made better by this mission of love.—Ella D. Oakes, Sec.

Greensburg.—A party of twelve members and friends of the Greensburg Union accompanied by our efficient county president, Miss Mary Gray, visited Letts Corner on the evening of May 22, for the double purpose of holding an oratorical medal contest and organizing a new union. A splendid contest was held by a class of five girls. The medal was awarded to Miss Rowena Davis of Westport. A union of eight members was organized, and a full set of officers elected. For this Decatur county rejoices.—(Mrs.) Nettie T. Parker.

THE MESSAGE

8. Ask a lawyer to speak 15 minutes on No. 10. The L. T. L. leader, superintendent or some well informed person give five minutes on No. 11. A chorus of boys could sing spiritedly—"The Cigaret Must Go." This song can be secured from Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, 115 Walnut St., Riverside, Cal., for 2 cents a copy.

At close of program take collection, then pass paper and pencils and give five minutes to see who can write the greatest number of words containing the letters a c. Now for refreshments remember to carry out the Anti-Cigaret idea. Make round napkins 12 inches in diameter from plain wrapping manilla paper. Paste on each napkin one or more items on the cigaret. These can be found in the "Crusader Monthly." Let the waiters wear white aprons and caps trimmed with brown ribbon. Serve coffee, cocoa or milk, round sandwiches, pickles, and small round cakes. You might serve coffee or cocoa and round white wafers and round brown ginger snaps. W. C. T. U. members will be glad to furnish refreshments. Send to Miss Gilbert for some of the best leaflets, wrap them in white tissue paper, tie with brown baby ribbon and give each guest a roll as they are leaving. Just before serving refreshments it would be a good time to ask every one to sign the Anti-Cigaret and Anti-Tobacco pledges.

Dear Sisters: Now that it is vacation time for many of our young people, let us grasp the golden opportunity, and try to interest them in this great department. Please hold an "Anti-Cigaret" social and send me an account of it. Most sincerely,

IWA WOOD PARKER, State Supt.
Elkhart, Ind.

REPORT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

Superintendents and local presidents be sure and give these questions special attention:
Give Number of Local Superintendents.....
How many special Dep't Meetings held?.....
How many pages of Department literature have been used?

Have you Physical Education in the schools?....
What is the sentiment of your community on this question in regard to a compulsory State Law for Public Schools?

Please mail such report filled out by September 15, to the State Superintendent, Mrs. C. C. Thomas, 3426 S. Boots St., Marion, Ind.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

My Dear Superintendents, I wish to remind you of the importance of getting ready for the final report for the year, which must reach me by the 15th of September. I will send out to you right soon the report blanks, with a little pamphlet containing the National report of our Department furnished me by our National Superintendent, with a desire that it may be placed in the hands of every superintendent of this Department in the state. Will the county presidents who have no county superintendents of C. C., please take the responsibility of reporting to me work done. I hope you have used the report blank printed in my "Plan of Work," sent to you early in the year, and that a full report by that means will be furnished. With the great awakening along the line of this department I desire and expect a splendid report, so you see I have a well grounded Hope. Faithfully yours,

GERTRUDE FULTON,
State Supt. C. C.
422 East Main St., Portland, Ind.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Dear Co-Workers: I hope you are keeping record of meetings held in the interests of Peace. Whether they be public or social meetings; and that you are teaching peace to the children, through the Loyal Legion, and through Sabbath and public school exercises. And ask your pastors to preach for peace now and then.

In the Messenger of Peace for June you may read Miss Anna B. Eckstein's account of her Peace Petition; and I hope—or wish I could hope—that every county in Indiana would sign and send to her at least one petition blank. A letter with directions and explanation, accompanies the petition. Again, I would urge that superintendents in each Union take and read the Messenger of Peace. It will bring you in close touch with the work, and will many times over pay the small cost of the paper.

We have duly celebrated the 18th of May, Hague Peace Day. Now I wish to give you the suggestions of a sister-worker in Maine, which may be helpful to us:

"Oppose the movement to put rifle shooting into schools. No nation should tax its people to teach its boys the art of killing. Teach the boys and girls to make friends rather than to kill supposed enemies. Do not allow toy guns or soldiers, nor playing at killing. Get your neighborhood to redeem the Fourth of July. Substitute beautiful pageants for dangerous sports, and courtly entertainment for lawlessness." Last year we expended on army, navy and pensions more than two-thirds of our government appropriations. Suppose even one-half of this two-thirds had been expended in national improvements—good roads, school buildings, homes for the worthy poor, and such institutions, how vastly better off would our whole country be. Let us get the people to "think on these things." Yours for the best.

H. LAVINIA BAILY, Supt.
Richmond, Ind.

MISS IDA MIX,
Kokomo, Ind., State Sec'y Loyal Tem. Legion.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

My Dear Co-Workers:

I hope to meet everyone of you at Greencastle July 6, 7, 8, and 9, in our State convention. The first session commences Tuesday evening at 7:30 but every delegate is expected to arrive in the afternoon, so that they can be settled in their rooms, and ready for the reception that follows after the evening session. Do not come on a late car if you can possibly avoid it.

We want every boy and girl who graduates this year to be in the graduates' march on Wednesday evening.

Almost every W. C. T. U. over the state has an L. T. L. secretary, who is a member of our executive committee. It is your place to attend this convention, and help us with suggestions, and your presence. If every secretary would come, the L. T. L. work over the state would be on a boom, this coming year. The officers of each Legion should be present if at all possible, especially the President.

We would like each county to have some new songs and yells ready for us at any time. Be sure you all know the state yell.

We would like every alumnus present for the picnic Friday. We want you to be ready with pencil and note book, to take down notes on everything. If several from one legion are present, have each report some special feature of the convention when you get back home.

We are planning for a grand convention. You can't afford to miss it. We can't afford to have you miss it. Every session will be full of interest. We are to have with us our National Secretary, Miss Wintinger; Miss Austin of Chicago, our state W. C. T. U. President, vice-President, Treasurer, Editor of Message, Mrs. Helm late of Japan, President McConnell of De Pauw, Senators Tilden and Moore, and others. So with these excellent numbers, how can you afford to stay away? Friday will be given over to track meet, the picnic and sight seeing. There will be speeches, games and a good time.

I hope by this time all dues have been collected, and together with your reports, you have sent them in to the proper persons. Remember a pennant will be given to the Legion doing best work in each department.

Please send in the names of all legioners who have died during the past year to Miss Lola J. Overman, Fairmount, who has charge of our memorial service.

A letter came too late for the June "Joy Bells" requesting you to send Crusader Monthly reports to 1623 North F. street, Elwood, as Mr. Howard O. Barr, our agent, has returned home. A banner will be given to the largest graduates class; a blanket to the largest delegation in convention. See Joy Bells for other prizes for special work in departments. Let every county W. C. T. U. President see that her county is represented by some one to give us a two minute speech on the Temperance work in her county during the past year. Lovingly yours for the best convention ever held in Indiana.

IDA M. MIX, General State Secy.

FLOWER MISSION.

Dear Sisters. We are entering the last quarter's work in our beloved Flower Mission,—the most beautiful department. And let the last quarter bring with it the best work of the year. Surely, we have all been doing with our might what our hands have found to do. "Deep rooted in the human heart is the love of flowers, beloved by little children, cherished by serious deep thinking men and women. They are the only things in life that do not alter as we grow older. They are the scriptures of the earth interpreting to us the unseen things of God; speaking to us the words of eternal life. Let each Flower Missioner begin our last quarter's work with renewed zeal. New opportunities are constantly opening to us. There is scarcely any limit to the Flower Mission work. We can all find something to do in this department, among the poor, the sick and the discouraged. Let us offer sympathy and help to the "shut ins," the wayward and to those who find themselves behind prison bars. In March I sent literature and report blanks to every county superintendent, and will send blanks in time for our final report, and I want to ask each county superintendent to compile reports before sending to me, and be sure to give the name of your county. Wishing you all success, I am your loving comrade,

VIOLA R. HARVEY, State Supt.
Mooreville, Ind.

MARION COUNTY NOTES.

Castleton Union held an afternoon and evening meeting on May 15, with the county presidents, Mrs. Kinser and Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Lough as special guests and speakers. Prof. Lough made a masterly appeal for Prohibition and the betterment of conditions in Government affairs. Mrs. Kinser gave a reading, "The Resubmissionist Story," which was much enjoyed. Castleton union is thoroughly awake and doing effective work.

Broad Ripple Union on June 9, held an all day Flower Mission meeting with a fine program and a delightfully arranged picnic dinner at the splendid country home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hessong. There were about sixty-five members and guests present. Mrs. Hessong is the greatly loved president of the union and Mr. Hessong is an honored member. Mrs. Kinser and other Indianapolis white ribboners were special guests. The day was ideal and hospitality of the host and hostess was greatly enjoyed by all.

Three New Unions in Indianapolis.

A New Union on Brookside avenue—The Harriett W. Brand, Mrs. Addie Lancaster, president; organized by County President Mrs. Mary Kinser.

Hillside Avenue (Colored) Union—The Amanda Smith. Mrs. Melvina Smith, pres. Organized by Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, state organizer.

The Frances Willard Union rejoices in the fact that they are responsible for the new Gray union, 38th and Park avenue. Mrs. Bruce Shields, pres. This was organized by Mrs. Kinser, county pres.

Indianapolis Central.—At a meeting recently held with Mrs. Chas. M. Lemon in Woodruff Place, Judge J. W. Thompson made a fine address on the subject of "Immigration and the Liquor Traffic." He showed that within two decades there had been a great change in the class of immigrants coming to our shores, there being a large decrease in per cent of the Anglo-Saxon peoples and a great increase in the Latin races. In some instances increase of 100 per cent in the last decade, from the peoples of Southern Europe and Italy. Thus very rapidly America is being populated with a foreign element wholly ignorant of and averse to all of our Christian institutions, and they soon become the tools of crafty politicians and used to perpetuate the un-American liquor curse. Today only 20 per cent of New York City is American born. Thirty-seven daily papers in foreign languages published in New York City. Central union observed Flower Mission Day at the Door of Hope. Almost all of the Board of Managers of this institution are members of the union. The membership of this union is much interested in a "Literature Campaign" and give generously of their means. The largest amount yet given is by Mrs. C. E. Bacon, which is $10.00. The collection at the regular meetings of this union average about $1.05. The treasurers, Mrs. Geo. T. Brenning and Mrs. F. T. McWhirter, expect white money only to be put in the collection. Quarters are far more frequently found in the collection "than pennies." It takes money to carry on our work and sincerely interested members will give generously to the W. C. T. U. On July 8 at 2:30 o'clock a porch and yard meeting of the union will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. J. M. Scheerer, 2329 Broadway. Members are urged to bear this date in mind and to be present. Strangers and friends in the city are cordially invited.

FIELD NEWS

Indianapolis Frances Willard union held an interesting meeting at Edwin Ray church, on a Sunday afternoon last month. A goodly number were present, and afterward expressed their appreciation. Rev. Clippinger, the pastor, was present a short time and spoke some words of sympathy, then left to attend a funeral. Mrs. L. E. Scott talked impressively on our work and its aims. Mr. Chas. Lemon gave a splendid talk on temperance in general, and made his points clear. Miss Rockwood gave an inspiring temperance reading. Mrs. Hathaway recited a sweet original poem on "Home." The president, Mrs. Grey, gave a short talk on our work. At the last meeting Mrs. Scott spoke earnestly in reference to our work. A little girl gave two recitations in German, and sang a solo. Arrangements were made for Flower Mission Day, after which Mrs. Coe Blodgett Brennen sang a beautiful solo.—Mrs. McDermid, Press Rep.

Floyd County W. C. T. U. held an exceptionally interesting Institute at Georgetown. The county president, Mrs. Anna Jones, and the leader, Mrs. Retta Jones, were at their best, it seems, while the ministers and professors of the county, with the members and friends of the Union all contributed to the interest and success of the institute. New Albany, Galena and Georgetown were well represented. The institute closed with an oratorical contest by the Georgetown Union—Miss Virgie Patterson, successful competitor.—Mrs. Adda Labach, Reporter.

The Bartholomew county institute was held at Newbern under the leadership of Mrs. Retta Jones. On account of the rain the attendance was not so good as would have been but two afternoon and two evening sessions were held which were very pleasant and profitable. The first afternoon was spent in discussing the policy of the W. C. T. U. and the work of the departments which could best be taken up by new unions. A number of good papers and talks were given the second afternoon. Mrs. Jones spoke both evenings, speaking the second evening on Womans Suffrage. There is no union at Newbern but the people royally entertained the Institute and six new members were received which were added to Hartsville Union. 608 pages of literature were distributed. A county executive meeting was held at the close of the Institute and Columbus was chosen as the place for the county convention in September.

The Marion County Superintendents' Conference met at River Avenue Baptist Church. The devotional exercises at the morning session were led by Mrs. Hannah Hawk of Palmer Union. The Department Supt. of county gave a five minutes talk on the year's work. The unions represented were Indianapolis Unions, Central, Frances Willard, Vayhinger, Northeast, Palmer, and Meridian; others were Bridgeport, Broad Ripple and Brightwood. Mrs. Mary Kinser, county president, addressed the meeting on County Local Option work; she said the principles of W. C. T. U. were for state-wide prohibition but as the county option was now our best means of sticking the enemy, she urged the white-ribbon women to do all in their power to aid in the county local option election. Mrs. L. E. Scott of Frances Willard union led the noontide prayer. Mrs. Samuel Ashman led the devotional exercises at the afternoon session, after which she spoke to conference encouraging the W. C. T. U. women by speaking of work done in past and urging them to greater efforts in the temperance work at this time. She urged careful observance of the noon-time prayer, the time set apart by state and national W. C. T. U. for prayer, looking to the Heavenly Father for guidance. Mrs. Frances Boyer of Central union, gave a most helpful talk on "How Department Superintendent May Help in Local Option Campaign. She emphasized how the superintendents of Literature, the Press, Sunday School, Oratorical Contests, could help, showing how each superintendent may help in her line of work. Mrs. Mary Moody read an excellent paper on "The Training of Girls." She said that the training of girls is as old as time—the Bible tells us "train up a child in the way he should go," showing in the long ago days the training of the young was held as necessary. We of the modern times place emphasis upon an all-around education which insures the art of house-keeping under hygienic laws and thus making a sanitary home as the first essential for a broader equipment for usefulness and when a chair of hygiene is placed in every school building and every institution of learning, the golden age will indeed be near its dawn. The hospitality of Indianapolis Palmer union was greatly appreciated by the county superintendents, who rejoice because of the renewed activity of all the unions in Marion county.

LaPorte Union held an interesting meeting June 7th. Although somewhat discouraged over the results of the election held on May 27th, the members are not the kind that are willing to cease working. They will keep on working and praying, hoping that in two years from now things will take a different turn. The last few days before the election were busy days for the women as well as the men. Our dear state lecturer, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Stanley, was with us. Meetings were held all hours of the day nearly, and I might say, night too,—one meeting at five in the morning. God bless all such women as Mrs. Stanley and give us more of them. Her coming to us was a great help and a lasting uplift. During her stay a mass meeting was held on Wednesday evening, May 26th, at which she gave an especially interesting reading. Later a Woman's Civic League was organized with the following officers: Mrs. Lilly Sutherland, president; with a vice president from each of the different churches. Miss Clara Teglow, secretary; Mrs. August Johnson, treasurer. The executive committee consists of Mesdames Allen, Tonjes, Martin, Hannum, and Dorland. Aside from these there are several hundred good women who have signed the help cards pledging themselves to assist not only along the lines of temperance, but in all work that is good and uplifting so with a regiment like this much good can surely be accomplished.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

Montpelier union entertained in honor of the Board of Directors and teachers of the public schools at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith. The decorations were beautiful, all in white—the union's color—and white carnations used for favors. There was a short musical program consisting of piano solos by Misses Bertha Miller, Dorothy Artain Lucile Thompson, piano duet by Mrs. Kramer and Miss Edna Shannon; violin solos by Miss Ruth Hughes and Raymond Weston. Following this a unique contest was enjoyed. Each person was given an excursion ticket on which was certain information from which the names of the stations at which the train would stop were to be guessed. Prizes were offered but five persons guessed seventeen of the twenty-one names of stations on the list. With the special guests were the husbands and the ministers, making in all present about seventy-five.—Mrs. Charles S. Miller.

Mrs. Zona Hackleman of Rockport, Spencer county, writes in a personal letter: We are still "wet," but we catch glimmerings of a better day, and are not discouraged. They beat us with only a small majority, thanks to everybody who helped. The L. T. L. children and others from the different grades at school marched with songs and yells, and we women spent the day at the polls, serving coffee and lemonade, "sandwiching" in our petition for a dry vote.

The Spencer County W. C. T. U. institute was held in the M. E. church May 10 and 11, with Mrs. Ella Kroft as leader. The whole of the morning was taken up by preliminaries and plans for pushing the work. Mrs. Mary Graham gave the Scriptural lesson for the afternoon after which prayer was offered by Mrs. T. C. Basye. Mrs. Lide Hall gave the welcome address to which Mrs. Kroft responded with appropriate words of good cheer and encouragement. The work of the Loyal Temperance League was reported by Mrs. Zona Hackleman. The importance of keeping the body pure within and without and early training for good were particularly dwelt on. In the discussions that followed Mrs. Haines said our greatest work in the W. C. T. U. is the L. T. L. Mr. Pirtle spoke for home training, Mrs. Kroft on the difficult task of finding leaders for the L. T. L. Mr. Bryan's address on "Organized Christian Work for Temperance" was very clear and convincing. He emphasized the great need of systematic temperance work in the various churches, Sunday schools and young people's societies and that the influence of the pulpit should be given for temperance because it is a center of power. If the preacher is silent on the subject it isn't any wonder if the people are silent. Miss Bertha Fay gave us a most pathetic little story in the reading which came next entitled "Little Blossom." A song of welcome by the L. T. L. was enjoyed by all. The evening service consisted of devotional exercises by Mrs. Margaret Haines, a duet "Saloons Must Go" by Marjorie Hackleman and Esther Walker and an address given most ably and entertainingly by Mrs. Kroft. Tuesday Morning.—Praise service and music in which a number took part began the day's proceedings. Reverends Wall and Holmes were present at this session and gave good words for our encouragement. Mr. Holmes related their experiences in Tennessee when the "drys" won their great victory. "The Advantages of Municipal Suffrage For Women" was well presented by Dr. Eva Buxton. The first thing on program for the afternoon was the devotional exercise by Mrs. Hackleman. J. W. Burns, by the use of court records and statistics, proved that we would have nothing to lose and much to gain if there was appointed a national committee to investigate the economic and moral effects of the liquor traffic. By the use of court records he showed that the expenses of the county were immeasurably greater because of the liquor traffic and that revenue from the saloons was not adequate to pay for expenses of the court proceedings caused by the existence of our saloons. Mrs. Kroft in her address to the members admonished them against many worldly pleasures, mentioning Sunday visiting, parlor dances, five cent shows, cards and gossiping. "A Mother's Plea" by Mrs. Ab Gentry was full of noble ideas and we were impressed more than ever with the self-sacrificing love of the mother. A beautiful solo by Miss Gold came next. During the exercises the following ministers were present: Messrs. Boldrey, McCoy, Pirtle, Wall, Holmes, Bryan and Tiedt. Out of town visitors were Mrs. Peckinpugh of Grand View, and Mrs. Cross of Chrisney. New county officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Lide Hall; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Anna Bird; Treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Clement of Chrisney; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Zella Graham; Sabbath Schools, Mrs. Lizzie Gentry; Y. W. C. T. U., Mrs. Boldrey; L. T. L., Mrs. Hackleman; Literature, Mrs. Ella Graham; Parliamentary Law, Mrs. Haines; Evangelistic, Mrs. Cross; Purity, Dr. Buxton.—Z. L. H.

The Arba (Randolph county) W. C. T. U. held a successful meeting in April. The program for the evening was furnished by the honorary members. Program as follows: Devotions, Charles Hunt; "Our Sabbath Laws," William Bowen; "The influence of the Sunday newspaper's Present Day Tendencies," David Haisley; "The Bible way of raising money for Christian work," D. H. Kunkle; "Our Benevolences versus our extravagancies," David J. Coppock; "Is this a Christian Nation?" M. T. Horn. Very interesting discussion followed each subject. Songs for the evening were selected from The Temperance Songster. At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. held May 6, 1909, Mrs. Gertrude Fulton of Portland, was present, and gave some very efficient help by advice and encouragement. She stayed for a public meeting at night and gave an address on Christian Citizenship. The evening being stormy there were not many out. But the address was listened to with much interest by those present. On the evening of May 31 an address was given by Rev. S. W. Traum of Richmond. His subject was "Arise and go into the city and it shall be told thee there what thou shalt do." As Paul took his new life back to his own home town to do service for his master, so said the speaker we were expected to take the new life and do service for our Master, just where we live. The appeal was very touching, and after giving some of his own personal experiences we feel that the band at our place fighting the awful curse of the rum business was encouraged to fight harder than ever before. Music was given by the young men of Arba. Meeting closed with earnest prayer to God to strengthen our hands and help us do all in our power to overthrow the liquor traffic and kill its awful influence.—Alice Haisley, Cor. Sect.

Williamsport union officers are: President Mrs. E. B. Anderson; Cor. Secy., Mrs. S. C. Hanson; Treas., Mrs. Florence Gregory.

Mrs. Oliver Boord, of Covington, is very ill. Many W. C. T. U. friends will be grieved at this news. Mrs. Clara Crain is Mrs. Boords' successor in W. C. T. U. work.

Sardinia.—Mrs. David Clark, aged 66 years, died May 17. She was a faithful and active member of the W. C. T. U.—E. Rose Meredith.

Elkhart.—A beautiful memorial day service was held at Grace Lawn cemetery on Sunday afternoon, May 30, participated in by thirty members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. After attending the funeral of a sister white ribboner, Mrs. Mary Simpkins, the local organization proceeded to the home of Mrs. S. B. Hively, 903 Middlebury street, where other members joined in the line of march which was formed preparatory to going to the cemetery. With the local officers in advance the line of white ribbon women was led to the graves where they left their floral decorations and where earnest prayer was offered. The brief program arranged by the local officers was held at the grave of Mrs. Dean the last departed member who rests in Grace Lawn. Mrs. Harry Zeigler read the XCI. Psalm, which was so cherished by Mrs. Dean and Mrs. B. C. Rawley in fervent prayer spoke tenderly of the members whose souls have flied away to the Homeland. Mrs. S. O. Barwick read the memorial hymn, written by Miss Willard, "On Heights of Power," and Mrs. I. H. Church and Mrs. H. Zeigler sang inspiringly, "Saved By Grace" and "The Days Are Passing By." The president, who was in charge of the program, voiced a tribute to the memory of the fourteen promoted members of the Elkhart Central W. C. T. U. Each heart was strengthened for the battles to come by this brief tryst at the grave of a faithful worker and with the thought of the great chieftain, Frances Willard, was "Greatest of all in her going away."

Elkhart.—On Sunday morning, May 30, as the "Elmer" and "Shiloh Field" posts were seated in the auditorium of the Grace Lutheran church where the memorial sermon was to be delivered by Rev. F. A. Dressel, the W. C. T. U. presented each soldier with a small silk flag tied with a bow of white ribbon.—Press Supt.

The South Bend Baptist Young People's Societies held a union service at the First Baptist church on Sunday evening, June 13. The "Life and Character of Frances E. Willard" was the subject. The leaders were Mrs. Nellie White and Miss Alice Roessler. The principal addresses were made by Mrs. Kathryn Holler and Mrs. Nellie White.

The Auburn Woman's Christian Temperance Union has ordered several thousand copies of temperance leaflets which will be distributed before the Dekalb county option election.

Our Promoted Comrades

Annie, wife of T. C. Grave, of Monrovia, departed this life June 26, 1908. She was a devoted member of the W. C. T. U. She was in failing health for several months but her interest in the cause did not cease. Her words of testimony in public were few, but her Christian actions and kind deeds were her testimony. Her quiet life has not been lived in vain. The four sons, to whom her life has been devoted "rise up and call her blessed," "and her works do praise her."

A FRIEND.

When Mrs. C. L. Willis was called to a higher life Connorsville W. C. T. U. lost a most worthy and earnest member. She was deeply interested in the Union work. One who was always anxious for the welfare of mankind. To the bereaved loved ones we extend our sympathy. She departed this life May 4, 1909.—Mrs. Lloyd E. Doner, Cor. Sec.

McWHIRTER-PROCTOR DEBATE.

For the first time in the history of the temperance movement in Indiana an open debate was held on the subject: "Resolved, That prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is right."

The debate was held July 31, in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis, by Hon. Felix T. McWhirter, prohibitionist and State Senator Robert E. Proctor, representative of the liquor interests. Senator Proctor represented Elkhart county in our last legislature and worked very hard for the repeal of the Local Option law.

The Indianapolis papers gave much space to plans for and reports of the debate. They were fair and kind to Mr. McWhirter, their fellow-townsmen.

The Indianapolis Star gave very prominent first page space to report of debate, using about two columns in all. From the "Star" we quote the following which also had first page space:

SHOTS THAT WENT TO THE MARK IN VERBAL BATTLE ON LIQUOR QUESTION.

By Felix T. McWhirter.

Over two-thirds of the territory of the United States is now under legal prohibition.

With the Prohibition party in power * * * the success of prohibition would be unquestioned, and liquor selling would be on a plane with murder and theft and other crimes, where it ought to be.

One billion dollars of liquors require (to manufacture them) 61,000 laborers; whereas a like amount of useful commodities would require upward of 400,000 wage earners.

The raw material used in the manufacture of liquor is less than one-third of that used in the manufacture of useful commodities.

The saloons and jails, the saloons and state prisons, go hand in hand.

The percentage of crime issuing from the doors of the saloon is fully 70 per cent of all the crimes known to us for which arrests are made.

Marion and Vigo counties, with one-tenth of the population of the state, have one-fifth of the saloons, one-third of the criminals and one-fourth of the paupers of the state.

Brewers are only larger and more audacious violators of law than are saloon keepers; they devise means continually to override the will of the people.

The slave of the drink habit is lashed with scorpion whips and writhes under the tortures of his heartless master.

There can be no rest until a question of right and wrong is settled by prohibiting the wrong.

By Senator R. E. Proctor.

Prohibition does not prohibit. Prohibition to be right must prohibit.

Prohibitionists, upon the question of the effectiveness of prohibition, can not be honest.

If the prohibitionists and not the Anti-Saloon League are responsible for the county local option decisions, then the two have been pulling off one of the best farce comedy quarrels it has been my fortune to witness.

The Prohibitionist proceeds on the theory he is inspired of God and can not be wrong.

I will become a prohibitionist if you will produce a commandment from the Bible saying a man shall not drink intoxicating liquor.

There has never been a President, from Washington down to Taft, who indorsed prohibition.

A prohibition statute placed upon the Indiana statute book in 1855 was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

You can not make labor believe that prohibition cures all the ills that flesh is heir to.

Between 1860 and 1870 fifteen states voted for prohibition. Today fifteen of the states have gone back to license laws.

The history of prohibition has been that its enactment drove men into the cellar with a vinegar jug and a potato to make their own whisky.

Prohibitionists and liberals will both find themselves on an equal footing before the judgment seat, though the prohibitionist thinks "I am holier than thou."

Mr. Edward W. Clark said:

The presentation of the Prohibition position by Mr. McWhirter was both able and eloquent. Mr. McWhirter knew his case and had his material well arranged. Following a line considerably different from that pursued by other debaters, Mr. McWhirter marshaled the facts concerning the iniquitous character of the liquor traffic and argued strongly of the duty of the government to protect people from it.

Senator Proctor proved himself a very small-calibered representative of the liquor side of the case. His speeches were of the thin, ready-made sort, a weak dilution of the matter that has been given to the country by Mayor Rose and is commonly found in the various liquor papers. There was neither force nor originality in his presentation of the case.

Tennessee Goes Dry Amid Great Rejoicing.—The last saloons in Tennessee closed their doors it is hoped forever, promptly at midnight, July 1. The press dispatches have had little to say as regards the results of prohibition to date, although as a most peculiar coincidence, a number of items are being given the widest possible circulation alleging the failure of prohibition in various other states.

Whatever the reason may be, the results of prohibition in Nashville and other cities, which for the first time came under the authority of the law, have been given no prominence in the daily press. An interesting side-light on the actual results in Nashville is given in the Tennessean for July 5, which states that the police records for the eighteen hours between five o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 3, and twelve o'clock of July 4, have no parallel in the history of Nashville, in fact, there was not a single arrest. Never before since this town was incorporated, has a Saturday night passed without there being from a score to half a hundred drunks registered on the blotter at police headquarters. Everywhere it was on the lips of the citizens that a new order of things has come to pass, pledging a better government and a stronger manhood.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Indiana Young People Stand For Temperance. Fifteenth Annual State Convention of the Senior L. T. L. at Greencastle, July 6-9.

The Locust Street Methodist Church of Greencastle has just been the scene of much enthusiasm on the part of the 55 voting delegates from over the state. Owing to the recent Temperance victories, the splendid program and gifted speakers, the large reports, and the spirit of prayer and consecration on the part of the young people, the convention was pronounced "the best ever" by all in attendance. The convention church was prettily decorated with banners, pennants and flowers, and was pleasantly situated, facing the beautiful campus of DePauw University.

Never before in the history of the Legion have so many prominent persons responded to the call to help the young people. Especially generous were the White Ribbon women of our state in placing before the Legioners their best talent. And we feel sure in the years to come they will be richly repaid when these same young people the more worthily step into their places to lead against the forces of sin.

Miss Margaret Wintringer, National L. T. L. Secretary of Evanston, Ill., repeatedly during the entire three days came forward in her strong, winsome way and with plans and suggestions made her appeals take hold not only of the delegates but of the Greencastle audience as well. Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, State W. C. T. U. President, gave the address, to the 55 graduates on Wednesday evening. All who know Mrs. Vayhinger's womanly and statesmanlike way realize the power and influence exerted. Our own Mrs. McWhirter, who years ago had a Legion of over 100 in this convention town enthused us repeatedly and made us feel the close bond of love existing between the mother Union and its child. These women, and also Mrs. Gipe of Indianapolis, who had charge of the touching memorial service, would come to the rescue whenever perplexing questions would arise. The Legioners indeed appreciated their presence and help.

Dr. Gobin, Vice President of DePauw, Dr. Cecil

The Fifteenth Arbitration Conference was held at Lake Mohonk. There were present Japanese, Chinese, Frenchmen, Germans, Canadians, South Americans, visiting Englishmen and many distinguished men and women from our own country.

Nicholas Murray Butler, the head of Columbia University, presided and in closing a remarkable address he said:

"There is a limit to man's capacity to yield up taxes for public use, and the world must choose between pinning its faith to the symbols of a splendid barbarism and devoting its energies to the tasks of an enlightened civilization. Each year that representatives of different nations sit side by side and look each other in the face, it becomes more and more difficult to go home and vote a declaration of war against the nations these men represent. The world is being politically organized while we are talking about it and wondering how it is to come to pass. It is being organized by treaties and by international gatherings, and one day the world will wake up and see how far it has traveled toward its goal by these short steps. A revolutionary movement is not desirable—an evolutionary movement must be gradual. We Americans have a peculiar responsibility toward this organization of the world. We owe it to ourselves that we do not belie our principles and professions, that we do not permit the noisy boisterousness of irresponsible youth, however old in years or high in place, to lead us into extravagant expenditure for armies and navies."

B. F. Trueblood, ex-college president and secretary American Peace Society, spoke encouragingly. He said:

"It is easier to measure the progress by decades than by years. Within twenty years there have been more than one hundred settlements of international difficulties by arbitration, more than four scores treaties of arbitration, two great official world peace congresses, more than a score of other congresses, the acknowledgment by the Hague Conference of the principle of obligatory arbitration, and a magnificent development of public opinion, an unparalleled record in the progress of the world."

"THE WATER WAGON AND OTHER POEMS."

Having just examined a booklet, "The Water Wagon and Other Poems," by Rev. W. B. Grimes, New Albany, Ind., I find it very inspiring, high class, and up to date and it will add much to the temperance reform and our struggle for statewide prohibition. It also contains ten new songs suitable for temperance rallies, which ought to be used in every local union in the state of Indiana.

Being acquainted with the author, I do enthusiastically recommend the booklet to the W. C. T. U. and temperance workers. It has been copyrighted and can be obtained for 15 cents per copy postpaid.

The author of the booklet also has a series of crusade lectures, "The Great Red Dragon," "Indiana's Going Dry," "Frances E. Willard," "The Water Wagon," "The Knight of the New Chivalry" and "God's Tenth." Rev. Grimes is a man of sterling worth, a speaker of ability and power and thoroughly in sympathy with the work. He can give a limited amount of time in the lecture field and would be glad to make engagements with the W. C. T. U., temperance organizations, churches, or Young People's Societies for a date or series of dates on the above lectures, which have in them the "Fire of the New Crusade."

For terms and dates address, The Rev. Walter B. Grimes, A. M., pastor Main St., M. E. Church, New Albany, Indiana.

FROM EXCHANGES.

"What sort of a union would our union be
If every member were just like me?
Better or worse would our union be,
If every member were just like me?
Were every member of our union to be Just such a member as Christ would see
What changes would come to you and me;
And the gain to our union, what would it be?"

Placards containing brief statements of the evil effects of alcohol and tobacco have been placed in 5,000 school-rooms in Norway.

Mrs. Russell Sage and other women of large means have pledged $60,000 to the cause of woman suffrage in the United States. The money is to be paid in sums of $12,000 a year for the next five years.

More than one hundred legislative districts in the past year the prohibitionists forced their opponents to fight the hottest battle of their lives. In eight states prohibition candidates were elected to the legislature. In fifteen others the gain was great.

AUGUST, 1909.

Indiana State W. C. T. U. convention, Muncie, Oct. 1-5, 1909.

National W. C. T. U. convention, Omaha, Oct. 22-27, 1909.

No union can count its years' work a success that has not held a public meeting and distributed 1,000 pages of temperance or purity literature.

Nine Prohibition States: Maine, Kansas, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina and Tennessee.

For county conventions where a Republican speaker is desired for local option speech, ex-Senator Thos. T. Moore, of Greencastle, would do excellent service. Senator Moore is the father of the Moore remonstrance law, a good man and an able speaker.

Street meetings held in hot weather with good singers, musicians and a temperance man speaker will be helpful in any community. There are young medal contest winners who could be secured with ability after a reading to make a little speech. Young college men who have studied prohibition are available for reasonable prices. Concerning this write to Mr. Raymond Schmidt, De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind. Mr. Schmidt is connected with our state college prohibition association.

The World's W. C. T. U. convention will be held in Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11, 1910. This convention will be composed of delegates from about fifty nations of the world. Thus early a large number of our American women have signified their intention of attending this convention. Some of our Indiana women should plan to be among the number. We will be entitled to one delegate for every 500 paid members.

The Bulletin sent out by the Warrick County "wets" should be read.

Samples of all literature used by the "Drys" should be secured by our W. C. T. U. Unions in counties yet to vote, so that when the time comes for campaign work the experience of others could be utilized. For such literature write to the county presidents. Addresses of county and local union officers are listed in the back of our annual reports.

"Me no sell beer," was the declaration of a Chinese manager of a chop suey restaurant in Indianapolis when representatives of the Humane Society made an investigating visit. Complaints had been received to effect that young girls were permitted in these places and that drinks were served to them. In one chop suey restaurant above a saloon the Chinese in charge was warned by the Humane officers that if boys and girls were found there arrests would follow. He had a dummy elevator leading from the saloon, showing how he conducted his business. Think of young girls and young boys drinking in such places kept by a heathen Chinaman. Chop suey restaurants, wine rooms and dance halls could not be patronized by young girls and young boys if our Christian men and women were actively at work for Christ.

We need Christian activity that will impel good men and women to visit restaurants, cafes, hotels and places of amusements. Be sufficiently interested to know what is going on in your community. It is not enough to pray. Watch and work.

Sunday base ball in Indiana is the result of the work of a strong moneyed lobby that succeeded our legislature. It is said that a majority of members came to the legislature pledged to vote for it. It is a great money making business. The professional players get big salaries. The managers make big money. Our good men in Indiana made slight protest and the law passed. Thousands attend the Sunday games. It has been estimated that there were 20,000 visitors came to Indianapolis by train and trolley for the first game. Literally millions of pages of Sabbath Observance literature and copies of our Indiana Sunday laws should be distributed in churches, S. S., schools, colleges, everywhere. Every union can buy copies of the law and post in hundreds of places in the cities and towns. When our people fully realize the meaning of our Indiana Sunday law there will be fewer places of business open and conditions will be different. If the people want a quiet Sunday in any community, they can secure it by agitation and education. Public sentiment rules. W. C. T. U. women, will you take interest enough in this subject to spend ten or fifteen cents and some of your time. The contribution of the value of two two-cent postage stamps from every member of a union would create a fund sufficient to secure enough Sabbath Observance literature to arouse public sentiment in the community so that genuine Sunday closing would be assured. Try it! Lay plans!! Be wise and energetic!!!

County conventions held early are advisable. Secure speakers now. Arrange for a Demonstration Nihgt, using fifty young people. Get the best musicians.

To have a similar program to that used last year and year before should not be considered. Great things have happened since then. Have them told effectively by representatives. Never has there been so much temperance music. For samples of real local option and victory songs write to Mr. Wm. Carpenter, Brazil (songs used in Clay county campaign), and to Mr. O. H. Palmer, State Life Bldg., Indianapolis. For songs and song books write to Rev. Chas. M. Fillmore, 1836 Commerce ave., Indianapolis.

Sing temperance songs only at the conventions. Begin now to get the songs and organize chorus classes and orchestras. Why should a County W. C. T. U. convention be held in a county seat town with two days and two evening meetings and small audiences. Make so much stir getting ready for a convention and have such attractions that the people will attend. Liquor men advertise, theatre managers advertise, these people get the crowds. Our temperance people succeed too when they advertise. If many young people are to take part in the program there will be a stir.

STATE CONVENTION.

The W. C. T. U. state convention will be held at Muncie, Oct. 1-5. Every county president is a delegate and the county should bear her expenses.

Every local union is entitled to send its president and one delegate at large and one delegate for every twenty paid members.

The Muncie convention will be the greatest convention ever held by the W. C. T. U. in Indiana.

Plan now to attend and be sure to invite your husbands and ministers to attend the convention Saturday and Sunday.

YOUNG WOMAN'S BRANCH.

Dear White Ribbon Sisters: Have you each one done what you could towards getting the young women of our state into our blessed work? Must we go up to our state convention and report no gain in the Y work? It depends on you dear ones, and oh, I trust that you will make one more effort and not be satisfied until you can report an organization in your city or town. We need the dear young women and they need the work.

Send for a Y Year Book, send a card if you want one and I will be only too glad to mail you one at once, with some Y leaflets.

The time grows short, not three months left in which to work. So improve the time, and God will bless your efforts. Lovingly yours,

(Miss) LAURA G. CAMMACK,
State Y Secretary.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Indiana Young People Stand For Temperance. Fifteenth Annual State Convention of the Senior L. T. L. at Greencastle, July 6-9.

De Pauw, Ex-Senator Moore and Senator Tilden, all gave able addresses. The presence and willingness of Mr. Nelson Strome of Buffalo, N. Y., ex-president of New York L. T. L. Alumni Association, was very greatly enjoyed. Miss Irma Smith of Marion, and Mrs. Sedelia Starr Donner of Greencastle, both elocutionists of note, gave readings at various times.

On Wednesday evening the local Union gave a reception in the church parlors to the delegates, visitors and friends, about 200 being present. The final feature of the convention was given Friday morning in the form of a Senior Alumni picnic breakfast at McLean Springs. About 65 were present. There were responses to seven toasts, Miss Susan McWhirter being the efficient toast-mistress.

The officers for the coming year are as follows:

President—DeEtte Walker, Greencastle.
Vice President—Blanche Thorne, Marion.
Cor. Secy.—Mr. Huffman, Elwood.
Rec. Secy.—Irma Smith, Marion.
Treasurer—Harriet Stocton, Kokomo.
Organizer—Mrs. Ida M. Mix, Kokomo.
Musical Director—Sylvia Hopkins, Greencastle.
Anti-Narcotics—Mrs. Iva Wood-Parker, Elkhart.
Press—Hazel Hunt, Marion.
Flower Mission—Bethena Vandament, Greencastle.
Medal Contest—Minnie Smith, Red Key.

Literature—Raymond Kurtz, Elwood.
Mercy—Naomi Jester, Lafayette.
Parliamentary Usage—Susan McWhirter, Indianapolis.

Work Among Colored People—Fred Carter, Westfield.

Physical Culture—Fred Rowe, Bedford.
Red Letter Days—Janette Gipe, Indianapolis.
Junior Legion—Pearl Matthews, Elwood.
Sabbath Observance and Systematic Giving—Vera Fisher, Greencastle.

Anti-Gambling—Glenn Badger, Greencastle.
A splendid Plan of Work was submitted. Among other things it was decided that we try to double our membership this year, that an effort be made for 200 graduates; that the pledge be read and emphasized at each meeting; that six departments, at least, be worked by each Legion; Medal Contests, Press and dues were urged. It was one of our plans that the Legioners all work for prohibition, and that they better the condition of the treasury by placing $100 there to carry on the work this year.

OFFICIAL.

Dear Comrades: We are expecting the greatest W. C. T. U. convention this year ever held in Indiana. The sweeping victories for our cause over the state, the increase in our membership, and the glowing reports to be brought in by our workers will make our convention one grand jubilee from start to finish! Each union should begin now to plan to send a full delegation.

Our Muncie comrades are hard at work planning for the comfort of their expected guests. We will receive a right royal welcome from the churches and homes. Let us show our appreciation of their hospitality by a large attendance, and an earnest effort on the part of each delegate to leave the city better for her presence and influence, and with a higher regard for our grand organization.

Our convention will be held unusually early this year—Oct. 1-5, so it will be necessary to have reports in at an earlier date than heretofore. State superintendents reports must be in the hands of the state recording secretary by Sept. 20, so local and county superintendents must be very prompt.

The large gain in membership we are hoping for will depend on the amount of dues sent in before Sept. 25, the day on which our state treasurer closes her books. So dear local treasurers, be sure to collect every dollar of dues possible and forward promptly.

Let us make a special effort these last weeks of the year to gain new members. August is pre-eminently the month for outdoor meetings. Each union should hold one or more such meeting this month on porch or lawn. Plan an interesting program, invite women whom you wish to interest in our work, and see if you can not by this means secure new members.

In spite of all the victories of the past year, our organization was never more needed than now. "Let us then be up and doing."

Next month I will tell you of some of the good things you may expect at our coming convention. Yours to serve,

MARY E. WOODARD,
Fountain City.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

Dear Superintendents: The month of August is here, and time for state convention not far off. I hope many of you have made plans to have Scientific Temperance presented at the County Teachers Institute and the Association in Nov. I know of a few who have.

I shall send out the blanks early and hope all will be prompt in returning them, as you see in the "Message." The state superintendents' reports must be in the hands of the recording secretary by Sept. 20, and we must have a few days in which to summarize them. There will be a blank for each county superintendent and as many locals as there are unions; but I have no way of knowing the number of unions that have been organized since the annual reports were published. Any one not receiving enough blanks should notify me at once of the additional number needed. The date of their return to me will be on the county blanks. The county superintendents in sending out should announce the dates they will expect them returned. You have received a letter giving the points on which the pennant will be awarded. One of these points is promptness. If you have been using the Teacher's Total Abstinence cards please return them with the reports.

Hoping for good and full reports from each one, that we may have a good report for the convention, and hoping to meet you at the convention, I am yours for Scientific Temperance in the public schools.

(Mrs.) ETHEL E. BAIR,
State Superintendent,
Niles, Mich., R. R. 2, Summer Home.

MEDAL CONTESTS.

We had the pleasure of attending a Diamond Medal contest at Montpelier, Blackford county, the evening of July 2, which had been carefully planned by the faithful county superintendent—Mrs. Ritter, of Hartford City—and Montpelier's efficient local superintendent, Mrs. Wearly.

The exercises were exceedingly entertaining, and helpful, music furnished by musicians of Hartford City and Montpelier, was superfine.

This was—as our contests should be—a popular entertainment. What we want is to reach all the people with these temperance truths. If we do this, we must have good programs well advertised. At least twenty counties in our state should follow the example of Blackford, and hold a diamond medal contest between now and state convention. There is plenty of material. Your state superintendent is constantly receiving letters from young people who are anxious to complete the course, and receive their diplomas. Write for names of those in your county, and adjoining ones, holding Grand Gold medals, and go to work at once. Yours for service,

JULIA OVERMAN,

Marion, Ind.,

State Supt.

WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

The end of the year is drawing near and your superintendent will greatly appreciate the kindness of those who will report to her any work done in this department.

This includes unions organized, meetings held, conventions, calls and sick visits made, talks given, pages of literature distributed, contests held and number of speakers. Any work for the colored people is included. Reports from individuals on post cards will be thankfully received by your state superintendent.

MRS. EMILY McINTOSH,

MRS. GERTRUDE FULTON,
State Supt. of Christian Citizenship, Portland, Ind.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear State Superintendents. I take this means of informing you of things concerning US. Only six weeks remains for us to gather in our reports and prepare them for the state recording secretary. They must be in her hands by September 20th so that advanced sheets may be printed. Remember we are expected to prepare and conduct QUIZZES, at the state convention instead of giving reports. Monday night of the state convention is to be "Superintendents Demonstration Night." Let us begin now to make this the most interesting and successful sessions of the entire convention. Two minutes will be allotted to each Superintendent to demonstrate her department. I will be glad to give any further information you may desire. Sincerely yours,

GERTRUDE FULTON, Sec'y.

FAIRS AND OPEN AIR MEETINGS.

Mr. Dear Superintendents and County Presidents. I trust every county will have something to report for this very important department. These summer months are our opportune time, may we improve them.

Our fairs and open air meetings afford the greatest opportunity for reaching the farmers of any department of our work.

Please bear in mind that I must have your reports by Sept. 15. I shall soon send out report blanks for the closing report. Any counties that have not written me will please drop me a card that I may not fail to send report blanks to all that will help us have something to report at the end of the year. Each one doing her little mite is what makes the world move. Without the help of counties and local unions I could not have much to report at our state convention. Therefore I plead with you to all help just a little.

I am expecting a great convention at Muncie in October. For the work that has been done in all our departments and the enthusiastic reports that will be brought in. Especially am I working and praying that we may have a very large increase in membership. Just think, if every woman in our ranks would try just a little harder these last few weeks of the year to get new members and not fail to collect old dues, what it would mean for the cause.

If we would say as did Paul, this one thing do, in God's name I feel sure we would surprise ourselves.

We have much to rejoice for. There repains much yet to be done; let us not weary in well doing. Yours for service,

LIZZIE HEATH,

State Supt. F. O. A. M.

316 E. Walnut st., Indianapolis, Ind.

DEPARTMENT OF MORAL EDUCATION AND WHITE RIBBON RECRUITS.

My Dear Sisters. I want to say to you, that when you read these lines, you will have less than two months to close up your year's work. Please remember that all reports should be in by the 15th of September. I have sent blanks with a package of literature, to every superintendent whose name and address I could get. For fear some superintendent has lost her blanks (such things have occurred), I will add the list of questions, and trust you will be prompt with your reports.

How many meetings have been held in the interest of this department?...What was the average attendance?...How many pages of literature distributed?...How many copies of American Motherhood are taken in your town?...In how many Teachers Institutes has this subject been presented?...In how many W. C. T. U. Institutes and Conventions?...How many Purity Sermons have you secured?...How many original papers?...How many White Ribbon Recruits enrolled?...Have you the Curfew law?...Please add items of interest.

Return not later than September 15th, to County Superintendent, and county superintendent send to me not a day later than the 20th.

MRS. S. M. STAHL, State Supt.

Hartford City, Ind.

EVANGELISTIC.

Dear Sisters in the work: I have been praying that the dear Lord may help us make this a good year in the evangelistic work of the W. C. T. U. The warm weather and the busy cares of the season have a tendency to cause us to neglect the Higher Spiritual Life.

But let us remember to be instant in season and out of season, spending much time in prayer and the reading of God's word.

May our highest ideals be to live aright, strive to work consistently for the best and the right, improve every opportunity for good, really preparing the way of the Lord. Trusting there has been much work done in this department during the year and desiring much more to be accomplished in the closing months. I would kindly call to the mind of each county and local superintendent the great need and importance of the work in her county and local unions and I would urge that a full and complete report be sent to your state superintendent by September 15th. Yours in the Master's service,

MRS. ELLA KROFT, State Supt.

Bloomington, Ind.

The Health and Heredity department is a very important branch of the W. C. T. U. work. But because developments are slow and the results are not noted as quickly as some other lines, there seems to be a tendency on the part of temperance people to neglect this department.

Now no one does good work along any line if they are sick in any manner, and it is necessary to inherit at least a moderately good constitution. Then with the proper care and attention to the laws of health we can hope to fill our place in this busy world. I would ask the unions to have local superintendents if possible, if not, use the work in the Mothers Meetings. Talk to the young mothers about proper clothing and food for their children, also regular habits. I must mention our great victory for temperance in Delaware county. You see we are getting ready for the state convention Oct. 1.

Now as we vote the whisky out of Indiana and do all we can to stamp out tuberculosis, let us hope that the succeeding generations will not have as many insane, crippled and sick as we have. Yours in His name,

Mrs. ODESSA RAYLE.

MRS. ODESSA RAYLE,

Fifteen National W. C. T. U. papers are published in different countries. In the United States alone there are forty-three state and territorial W. C. T. U. papers. "The Union Signal" and "The Crusader Monthly" are distinctively the papers and property of the National W. C. T. U. of the United States. As such they are entitled to support and patronage from W. C. T. U. sources. It is not only the privilege but it is the duty of all white-ribboners to subscribe for and read "The Union Signal," irrespective of how many other temperance, religious and other sorts of papers may come into their homes.

FIELD NEWS

Grant County.—Fowlerton Union held a delightful reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hardesty in honor of its new members, ten in number. There was a large attendance. During the evening the following program was given: Song by members, prayer by Mrs. Ailes, piano solo Adda Stanton, reading Mrs. Olla Duling, piano solo Ida Richards, recitations Mrs. Hanks, Mrs. Tomlinson and Mrs. Dickerson, vocal solo Mrs. Hardesty. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hardesty. The annual Flower Mission meeting conducted by Mrs. L. G. Richards, was held at the U. B. Church Sunday and was a most enjoyable affair. Readings, Mrs. Dr. Fallis, Mrs. Mae Hanks; recitations, May Carpenter, Lorene Norton, Mable Niebarger, Hazel Carpenter; duets, Mrs. Dickerson, Florence Dye, Hazel Carpenter and Marguerite White; flower exercise by children. Many beautiful flowers were brought and the sick of our union were remembered by visits and flowers.—Mrs. Lenna Dickerson, Press Supt.

Fairmount.—Millicent R. Haisley was hostess of the regular meeting of the Fairmount W. C. T. U. held June 30th. Twenty-five of the sixty-eight members were present and enjoyed the program which was under the direction of Mrs. Walter Luse, the superintendent of Mother's Meetings. The committee on arrangements for the annual W. C. T. U. Fourth of July rally reported that their arrangements were completed. The following report of the rally is taken from the Marion Daily Chronicle: At the Fairmount W. C. T. U. annual 4th of July rally held at the Wesleyan camp ground, representatives from ten local unions of the county were present. Judge Marshall Williams held the attention of the large number present on his address on "The Lineup." He appealed to all men for the uniting of all forces against the evils of intemperance, using sound argument for showing that rapid progress is being made for the overthrow of the liquor traffic. Excellent music by soloists and quartettes was enthusiastically received and remarks by Miss Julia Shugart, county president, were appreciated.

Rev. Harold Pattison, pastor of the First Baptist church, St. Paul, Minn., having in mind the barren and unhomelike atmosphere of the average boarding house announced that the church parlors would be thrown open to all young people who live in boarding houses. Cards were distributed in all the big stores inviting young couples to come to the church parlors. Referring to the matter later he said: "There are books and up-to-date literature and games, and those who came enjoyed themselves. It is a great opportunity for the church. We have no ulterior motive, however. The opening of our parlors is not a move to increase our membership. It is simply offering a chance for the working young woman of St. Paul to have a cozy and comfortable place to bring their young men friends. We will provide chaperons for them and they will be taken care of."

Indianapolis Meridian Union met July 7, at 618 East Twenty-second street with Mrs. Dr. J. W. Maltby and her mother, Mrs. E. T. Pimm. As the W. C. T. U. of Indiana is so largely concerned in the question of County Local Option, the talk of Hon. Charles M. Lemon on this topic, was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Lizzie Hann gave an encouraging report of the Hadley Industrial school. Mrs. Hann stated the contributions were not yet sufficient to complete payment on the new well. The plan is still before the women, of individuals or unions paying for one foot or more, of the well, at $1.25 per foot. Request was also made that unions select a room to furnish and to keep replenished as needed. Several unions in the state have accepted this plan and a number of the larger rooms are provided for. Hadley is fortunate in having a good matron and a good farmer and, I may well add, a faithful and competent board of managers. The union was then favored with two vocal numbers by Mr. J. L. M. Kerr, one a Scotch song, "Jessie's Dream," was especially sweet and touching.

Steuben County—The celebration on July 3rd at Lake James in Steuben County was a very enjoyable one. The Twelfth district was fairly well represented. Oliver W. Stewart was at his best and gave a fine address. The quartet from Auburn furnished excellent music and the gold medal contest conducted by Mrs. Elnora McNaughton was a great success. The class was made up of young people from five counties. The medal was won by Ned Ettinger of Angola.

Mrs. Amanda R. Shedd, president of Marshall County W. C. T. U. has the "Bide-a-Wee" cottage at Winona Lake. For White Ribboners this has become a mecca. All W. C. T. U. people who visit Winona should call on Mrs. Shedd and register in the W. C. T. U. calendar.

The National W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Omaha, Neb., October 22-27. By going via the Big Four and Missouri Pacific route those going from Indianapolis will leave at 3:00 p. m. and arrive at Omaha the next morning at 8:30 o'clock.

"Sketches of the life-work of Jonathan and Drusilla Wilson," has just gone into the hands of the printers. Will be ready for distribution by the 15th of August at 50c per copy. With bright hopes for the success of the cause that was so dear to both my father and mother.—Elizabeth C. Symons, Carmel, Ind.

A Program—Let nine girls dressed in white represent the nine prohibition states. Let girls represent all local option states, and wear gray circular capes over white dresses, the length of the cape being in proportion to the amount of local option territory. States without local option or prohibition are to be represented by girls wearing long black capes over white dresses. Each girl wears a crown bearing the name of the state represented. The states in black enter first, advance to the front of the platform, and sing, "Where's There's Drink, There's Danger," then fall back and the local option states take their places, and sing, "There's a Shadow on the Home." Enter the nine prohibition states who come to the center of the stage carrying a large flag and singing "We're Coming to the Rescue." The gray and black states circle round the prohibition states, and during the song drop their capes, first the local option states in the order of their prohibition territory, then the black states until all appear in white. The boys of the L. T. L. then march in singing, "The Coming Voters," and together give the National union motto "Tremble, King Alcohol! We Shall Grow Up." As they join the circle all unfurl small flags, which they have kept concealed, and boys and girls together sing "We're Out for Prohibition."—White Ribbon Ensign.

Mrs. O. N. Siebenthal recently organized a union of nineteen members among the colored women of Bloomington, with the following officers and superintendents: President, Mrs. L. A. Mason; vice president, Mrs. Eliza Eagleson; recording secretary, Mrs. Eliza Hill; corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Ladd; treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Prophet; flower mission superintendent, Mrs. Mary Brown; press, Mrs. Ella Wood; Med. Temp., Mrs. Vessie Evans; jail and prison, Mrs. Mattie Fuller; contest, Mrs. Ollie Eagleson.

The Gibson County institute was held at Princeton in the Broadway Presbyterian church. The meeting opened Tuesday morning the 27th, led by Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl, the county president, who in a few well chosen words introduced Mrs. Ella Kroft of Bloomington, leader. The entire program was carried out as planned after which Mrs. Kroft gave a review of work mapped out by State and the National. During the afternoon session some very interesting papers were read, one by Mrs. S. J. Simpson on "History and Results of Local Option" another by Mrs. Will Ennis on "White Slave Trade of Today." The subject, "The Power of the Pulpit Used Aggressively Against the Liquor Traffic," was well handled by Rev. J. M. Gaiser, and "The Passing of the Saloon in the North, How and When?" by Rev. W. G. Law. On Tuesday evening a silver medal contest was held. There were five contestants, Master Kenneth Birchfield receiving the medal. His subject was "The American Boy's Appeal." Although young in years, he proved to be a talented speaker and masterful in his art. On Wednesday morning the institute opened at 9:30. Interesting papers were read by Mrs. McCurdy, Mrs. Mary Jenner of Evansville. The morning session closed with a paper on "What Can Be Done for Temperance by Young People's Societies," by Mrs. Ella Kroft. On Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 an evangelistic service was led by Mrs. Cenia Manse of Francisco. One of the best papers in the afternoon session was "Constitutional Prohibition and its Advantages," by W. W. Medcalf, husband of our local president. A very much appreciated piano duet was given by the twins, Margaret and Mildred Shaw, seven years of age. The closing subject was ably handled by Mrs. Ella Kroft, "Prohibition Victories in the South."—Katherine Youngerman, County Press Superintendent.

Indianapolis Gray W. C. T. U., one month old has secured the signatures of 16 boys to the anti-Tobacco pledge. This union has ten paid members. President, Mrs. Bruce Shields 5758 Park avenue; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. L. Steinmetz, 3825 Central avenue; recording secretary, Mrs. Ella Duthie, 3751 Park avenue; treasurer Miss Mary McClintock, 3755 Park avenue.

The Earl Park W. C. T. U. has been doing good work distributing literature on subjects of general interest. At the Fourth of July celebration held here July 3, 1909, a "rest tent" was furnished by the union. This tent was equipped with comfortable couches, chairs, etc., and was occupied throughout the day by tired mothers and sleeping children. 2450 pages of literature had been purchased for distribution from this tent and may be a power for good. One small boy upon reading the pamphlet, "Does it pay to use tobacco?" said: "Well, if cigars cost that much in a lifetime, I am never going to use tobacco but will save my money." The leaflet, "Don't Girls!" on purity was especially helpful, in view of the thoughtless actions of young girls, and the liberty allowed to daughters by so many careless mothers. The literature issued by the W. C. T. U. is one of the most powerful weapons in the hands of the women who are working for the general uplift of mankind. One little pamphlet may be the means of changing for the better the entire course of some life. Our union has also placed 100 copies of the Crusader Monthly in the Presbyterian Sunday school.—Mrs. Erma McMahan, Press Superintendent.

Boone County has a new union of ten members organized July 7, 1909 called the Mary Hendricks Union, at Millageville. President, Mrs. Luella Crostreet. Organized by County President.

Mrs. Emily McIntosh, our state superintendent of colored work, mourns the loss of her life companion who went home July 8. Mr. McIntosh was a staunch temperance man, he sympathized with and encouraged his wife in all of her W. C. T. U. work. Our cause has lost a valued friend. Mrs. McIntosh has the sympathy of a host of W. C. T. U. friends all over Indiana.

Evansville—Mrs. Belle P. Whitney writes: "In February we had a grand union memorial service for Frances Willard. Collection amounted to over twenty-two. Flower Mission day was observed by all the unions and on June 10th a special meeting was held. Reports were heard from those assisting in the work. I believe about one hundred bouquets were taken to "shut-ins," and others. Refreshments were served after the program. I enclose program of our Sunday School Rally which in spite of the hot weather was a great success."

Program:

Music—Selections by orchestra of Trinity M. E. Sunday School.

Song—America.

Responsive Reading—Led by superintendents. Prayer—Rev. Carl C. Aue, St. Marks Eng. Lutheran Sunday school.

Song—Onward Christian Soldiers.

The Values of the Quarterly Temperance Lessons—Rev. John Kennedy, Walnut Street Presbyterian Sunday school.

Song—Is It None of Your Business My Brother?, Floyd Grant Central M. E. Sunday school.

Our Mission—John Vernor, Bethany Christian Sunday school.

Protect the Boys—Harry Nuchell, Dan Eberwine. Grace Memorial Sunday school.

Temperance Son—Olive Jarboe, Twelfth avenue Baptist Sunday school.

Pictures From Life—Hazel Wilkes, First Baptist Sunday school.

Solo—Selected, Mrs. F. H. Ruff, Park Memorial Sunday School.

Class Exercise—The Saloon, First Christian Sunday school.

The Map With a Dirty Face—Clifford Dunthy, Central Christian Sunday school.

The Prohibition States—Class, Bayard Park M. E. Sunday school.

Song—Please Won't You Vote it Out?—Cumberland Presbyterian Sunday school.

How We Spend Our Money, illustrated—Jack Mitchell, Trinity M. E. Sunday school.

One Way to Help the Temperance Cause—Lucille Hicks, Howell M. E. Sunday school.

Orchestra Selection, Benediction.

The Danville W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day on June 30. In the afternoon twenty-eight bouquets were made and sent to as many old people and shut-ins, several girls acting as messengers. In the evening a public meeting was held at the Friends church. Papers were read on "The origin of the day and our Local work," "Fanny Cassidy and her work," "The Present Outlook for Temperance work." Songs, recitations and a beautiful quartette by the choir of the Presbyterian church made a most delightful evening. The Union contemplates erecting a drinking fountain in the near future.—Lina Hinks, Sec.

Bluffton has had no open saloons since February 4th, the county having gone "dry" on that date by remonstrance. This is the first year in the history of the W. C. T. U. organization of Bluffton that there were no prisoners in the jail to be remembered with flowers on Flower Mission day. For more than two weeks the jail was empty for the first time in twenty years, and at this date—July 16—only one prisoner and he for larceny.

Booneville—Mrs. Jennie Kaegle writes: Hurrah for Warric county! Warric dry! I am sending you some of the bulletins the "wets" got out, but oh, I cannot begin to tell you the tactics they used. They used the carbon envelope. It is reported that they paid for votes from three to ten dollars. The "drys" worked like beavers. We are proud of our union for we did do everything in our power to help the men in the local option campaign. The women helped get out the bulletins, helped raise money to pay for them and saw that they were all distributed. It certainly did the work. On the day of the election we had prayer meetings from six in the morning until six in the evening, then at seven we gathered to hear the news and have praise service if we had good news. When the news came that we were victorious, I cannot describe it. You would have thought you were in an old fashioned revival. All denominations were represented and all rejoiced and praised God. There was shouting, crying, laughing, talking, not one dry eye in the house, but oh, so happy. The men came in later, just as jubilant as the women. They gave the women a vote of thanks for their help, and said if it had not been for their efficient help they never could have won. We had our parade Wednesday evening. It called out a crowd equal to a circus. The men said it was a grand sight and did great good. It certainly scared the liquorites. We had to have detectives or it would not have been safe for the women and children to have been in the parade. The men thought it best to notify the "wets" concerning the parade. Everything went off very quiet. We realize there is still work to do, but with the help of God who gave us the victory, we will be able to do the work.

Dearborn County has two new Loyal Temperance Legions, one at Mt. Pleasant the other at Mt. Hope. The West Fork L. T. L. is also a new Legion. All have been organized within the last three months by the county secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward.

Mrs. Dr. Bridges of Plainfield Union, has been called to higher work. She was a loyal member, and faithful worker. For a long time the superintendent of Medical Temperance, her unassuming quiet disposition won for her the love and respect of all who knew her.—(Mrs.) Mary V. Furnas, Pres. of local W. C. T. U.

Montpelier—A diamond medal contest drew a large crowd. The first contest of the kind ever held in Blackford county and the people showed their appreciation by attending. Mrs. Julia Overman of Marion, state superintendent of medal contest department, was present and had charge of program. There were seven contestants representing Wells, Grant, Jay and Blackford counties. Miss Laura Deboy of Keystone won the medal. The musical numbers on the program were an attractive feature and all were of high order. Barnham's Juvenile Orchestra of Hartford City and Miss Harriett Putnam's Children's Orchestra combined, rendered some pleasing selections. Mrs. Barnham of Hartford City, who is an accomplished harpist, was present and gave a solo which was enjoyed by all. Other numbers deserving of special mention were the solos by Miss Seanor of Franklin, Pa., and Mrs. Claud Kramer the organ duet by the Misses Shannon and the reading by Miss Moudy, of Hartford City. Mr. Hanson H. Garrison, a student of Taylor University, at Upland, who has completed the course in medical contest work, was presented with a diploma by Mrs. Overman, after which he gave a fine reading. The members of the local union are elated over their success in securing the contest for this city and of the manner in which their efforts were appreciated by the public.

Our Promoted Comrades

MRS. MARY GARRET, Superintendent of the Flower Mission Department of the Montpelier W. C. T. U., died June 25. She was an earnest worker in the union. After a long illness she was taken to the Ft. Wayne hospital for an operation, but was too weak to be operated on. She was of a quiet nature and was always kind to every one. She was greatly interested in seeing the saloon banished from our land. She leaves four children who have the sympathy of the W. C. T. U.

MRS. CHAS. S. MILLER, Pres. Reporter.

MRS. GRACE SEARS—The Hanfield union suffered its first loss among its active members in the death of Mrs. Grace Sears. On Monday afternoon, June 28 her sweet gentle spirit took its flight. Those who knew her best loved her most. She was local Supt. of Mothers' meetings and although a constant sufferer for a number of months she attended the meeting held the first Wednesday in June.—GERTRUDE PHILLIPS, Secy.

MRS. CATHERINE BOORD, the beloved president of the Covington union, died at her new home in Attica, Ind., June 17th and was buried from the Presbyterian church in Covington the following Wednesday. Mrs. Boord took an active interest in everything that pertained to the state and national W. C. T. U. She attended the state conventions many years, and in 1905 she represented her district at the national convention. She returned from these meetings with a heart loyal to the organization and its officers. It is a sacred privilege to bear testimony of her noble character, of the uprightness of her life, of her devotion to her church and of the faith that grew stronger as she drew near her eternal home.—OLIVE E. COFFIN.

MARY J. SHRUM, died at her home in Salem, Washington county, aged 68. Mrs. Shrum was devotedly attached to her church and the W. C. T. U. Until infirmities prevented was always identified with their work, though absent from her place her interest never waned. On the day she was stricken the W. C. T. U. met at her home, although she was not able to see us, our presence was a source of comfort and inspiration. The end came to her so quietly and peacefully that friends beside her could only say, "She was not, for God had taken her." At the funeral it was a cause of deep satisfaction and gratitude to all the relatives and friends that her former pastor, so loved by her, Rev. W. G. Clinton, of Indianapolis, was able to officiate. With touching words he spoke of her devotion as wife and mother, who fully realized the fulfillment of Christ's promise; "I will come again and receive you unto my self, that where I am, there ye may be also."—FANNIE B. ANDERSON, IND., SEPTEMBER, 1909

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

STATE CONVENTION.

The Thirty-Sixth Annual Convention of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the High Street Methodist Church at Muncie, Ind., Oct. 1-5. Each union is entitled to send its President, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for each twenty paid members. Lodging and breakfast will be furnished by the Muncie people. Other meals may be secured at the restaurants or hotels at the usual prices.

The Executive Committee will meet at 7:30 p. m. on Sept. 30 in the Friends' Church. It is hoped each member of the Executive will be in the city and receive her assignment in the afternoon ready for the meeting at 7:30.

Muncie is a beautiful little city located in Delaware County, with excellent railroad and interurban facilities. It will be practically "dry" by that time.

We are seeking to make this the greatest convention we have ever held. It will be. Come and help make it so. We are hoping to come up with 10,000 women in the Indiana W. C. T. U.

If I can serve you in any way with information, write me.

Yours,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

THE WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

The Chicago correspondent of the London Christian writes as follows of the arrest of one of the most noted procurers in that horrible business, known as the "White Slave Traffic."

The chief procurers arrested were named Du Fors. They were man and wife. Their bail was fixed at $25,000 (£5,000). Furnishing their own bond, they gave the Government as security their own house and lot valued at $35,000 (£7,000). The next day they left Chicago for Paris—thus forfeiting to the Government their handsome residence. Reaching France, they immediately resumed their shameless operations. But their traffic this time was in American girls. Recently they were caught, brought to justice, and sentenced to a French prison—the man for a term of five years, the woman for two years.

The district attorney came into possession of the book account of the Du Fors. The records of business transacted establish the following facts: That the White Slave Traffic is an organized syndicate, with headquarters in Chicago, and branch offices established in all our large cities. These houses become "clearing houses" and "distributing centers" for this unthinkable syndicate! It buys a girl for £3 and sells her for £30, sometimes £100! The Du Fors house alone did a business of 22,000 pounds the first nine months of 1908, and 40,000 for the year 1907! Regularly and systematically it sends hunters to France, Hungary, Italy and Canada for victims. It stations its hirelings at every port of entry in Canada and America. They scan immigrants, and seek to trap unprotected girls by speaking to them in their own tongue or by an offer of employment. Then follow in quick succession capture, ruin, slavery—hell!

There was a mass meeting of Protestant ministers, 1,000 in number, held in Chicago last month for the purpose of taking further action toward suppressing this horrible traffic. We are glad to note that the Christian citizenship of Chicago is being aroused by the amazing revelation to the enormity of this vile business. It is time for all Christendom to arise and stop this traffic in the souls and bodies of unfortunate girls. We can hardly conceive of a more dastardly crime, and a law should be passed affixing penalties commensurate with the outrage perpetrated.—Sent in by Mrs. Lou B. Hennaway to The Open Door, July, 1909.

The total receipts of Internal Revenue for the twelve months ending June 30, 1909, show a net decrease from spirits of $5,311,095.00. To find the total decrease in the production of whisky, you divide this net revenue figure by $1.10, which is the Internal Revenue rate upon each gallon of spirits. This will give you the shrinkage in whisky production in terms of gallons. The value of this whisky averages, according to the best authority, $6.25 per gallon, so that multiplying $6.25 by the number of gallons you have then found the total value of the shrinkage in whisky production for the year, which is $30,176,675.

NASHVILLE'S FIRST MONTH

OF PROHIBITION.

Under its first full month of prohibition, Nashville, the capital city of Tennessee, shows a decrease in arrests for all causes from 1,058 under licensed saloons in July, 1908, to 684 during July, 1909 (no saloons), a decrease of 374. Arrests for drunkenness decreased from 303 for July, 1908 (saloons), to 109 July, 1909 (prohibition), a decrease of 194.

"Abolishing the saloon in Nashville was a revolution," declares the Nashville Tennessean in comment. The first month's record is something to be proud of. Usually it is not easy for a people to throw off a curse that has permeated every avenue of life for a century. But Nashville has made a good start, and the gait must be improved as the records close on other months and other years."

The striking comparison shows up even more noticeably in the daily log book of the police court. For instance, July 30, 1908, there were 30 arrests with the wide-open saloon. July 30, 1909, under prohibition, there were 10 arrests. July 29, 1908, with saloons, there were 42 arrests; July 29, 1909, under Prohibition, there were just 20 arrests.

INDIANA'S SONG.

(Tune: "Annie Laurie.")

Indiana's heard the bugle,
O, army tried and true,
She is marching, she is coming,
To pledge her faith anew;
To pledge her vows anew,
To win or die with you!
You may count on Indiana
Till the stars fade from the blue.

Where your snowy flag is floating,
And white stars dot the way,
You may count on Indiana
In th' thickest of the fray;
In th' thickest of the fray,
Her "W's" lead the way,
Where your emblems white are gleaming,
The "W's" lead the fray.

You may count on Indiana!
Her "Y's" are in the van!
They are loyal, brave and bonnie;
Go vanquish them, who can!
Go vanquish them, who can!
Her "Y's" are in the van.
O, they're loyal, brave and bonnie!
The "Y's" are in the van.

You may count on Indiana!
Her children are a-field!
Yes, the "L. T. L's" are coming;
Their clarion call has pealed;
Their clarion call has pealed;
Not one brigade will yield
Oh, the "L. T. L's" are coming;
The children are a-field.

Sing this at county conventions and W. C. T. U. meetings. Learn to sing at state convention.

REPORTS.

Every local and county Superintendent of a department if loyal to herself and the cause will send a report of the work done promptly on time.

TREASURERS' REPORTS

must be sent on time if the membership is counted in this year's report.

LOCAL PRESIDENTS, see that your union's dues are all collected—urge the membership to help the Treasurer.

W. C. T. U. work is of so much importance that a local or county union can not afford to re-elect for an officer or a Superintendent a woman who has not been faithful and made a good report at the close of this year. What reason is there to think that she will do better next year.

At Muncie we should sing temperance songs. There are so many new songs published that we should be able to use many. Not until we sing temperance sentiments all over Indiana in our meetings will we have done our best.

Hebron Union held a membership contest, and increased their membership from eighteen to fifty.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl attended camp meeting at Desplaines, Ill., and enroute home stopped at Hammond and organized a W. C. T. U. of over thirty members.

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE CONGRESS.

The Twelfth International Congress on Alcoholism was held in London opening in St. Paul's cathedral, on Sunday, July 18, with a great attendance.

Dr. Legrain, Ville Errar, Paris, in his intensely interesting presentation of the subject of Alcoholism and Brain Degeneration, on Wednesday, July 21, noting the terrible ravages which the alcohol poison is everywhere making in the human organ, Dr. Legrain declared:

"Brain capital ought to have a vastly higher value in the eyes of the nations than financial capital has. Every nation ought to strive to protect this capital from every harm. It is most fitting that social poisons, such as alcohol and opium should be regarded with disquietude by all good citizens; and it is most reasonable that a movement shall be organized to bring about their gradual prohibition."

Dr. Legrain, continuing, pointed out that even temporary intoxication was in reality a brief attack of lunacy, and that after repeated doses of alcoholic drink, the brain changes have a tendency to become permanent.

"The transmission of the alcoholic evil," declared Dr. Legrain, "which sends out into the world dwarfed, degenerated, fallen beings for several generations, before it is extinguished, is the most deadly blow against the mental capital of a nation." Analyzing the underlying causes of the present world-wide devastation made by alcohol, Dr. Legrain concluded:

"Greed of wealth, demoralization, political indifference, and the weakening of the social conscience, have today allowed alcoholism to spread terribly. This is why the number of the alcoholic insane has grown fearfully. Society is full of persons soaked to the very marrow with alcohol, either pure or adulterated. Alcohol intermingles with the public and private life of most persons. Such habits cause derangements which alarm those of the clearest vision.

"There seems no more hopeful cure than the voluntary giving up of this brain poison. There is no means of general safety of greater value than prohibition. United efforts are justly directed against such poisons as lead and phosphorus, substances far less dangerous, with a view to their prohibition. With far more reason should similar efforts be put forth against alcohol. To refrain from doing this would be a distinct sign that we mean to bow before the modern deity, Mammon."

All W. C. T. U. women who have newspaper cuts are requested to take them to Muncie for use in local papers. This is for the sake of the cause. Please remember this request.

Place a wall pocket in your court house and depot and see that it is kept well filled with clean, up-to-date temperance literature. Not an easy task to do it as it should be done, but it can be done if there is a "will." "Change about," have a different woman look after it each month and see who will do the best.

Among the club women of the West there is a movement on foot to prevent the separation of children from their mothers on account of poverty. In Australia, they point out, if a widow with a family is left destitute, the state, instead of sending the children to an institution or to board in a strange family, boards them with their own mother.

Illinois Rally Cry.

Rah, Rah, Rah!

Illinois; Illinois;

We're all for prohibition,

Every one from Illinois,

Rum, we'll rout, with all our might,

He's taking now his dreaded flight.

Hurrah, our Illinois!

Governor Hanley of Indiana, said: "I would rather have the smile of approval from that little boy, saved from one of these dens of iniquity by my efforts, than the combined vote of the beverage liquor traffic."

Governor Hoch, of Kansas: "Not a single good thing can be said of the saloon. It is everywhere and always an enemy to society and good government. It imposes more burdens of taxation upon the people than any other agency in existence. No human interest is sacred to it. It is everywhere and always an anarchist."

Governor Folk of Missouri: "No liquor is sold in thirty-nine of the seventy-six counties. The Sunday closing of saloons has reduced Sunday crime 60 per cent."

STATE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION, MUNCIE, IND., Oct 1st to 5th.

Ex. Committee Sept. 30th, 7:30 in the High Street M. E. Church.

TO MUNCIE TO STATE CONVENTION OCT. 1-5.
Every union should send its full quota of delegates to Muncie. The President, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty paid members.

Every delegate should be supplied with tablet and pencils and a full supply of good cheer.

Mothers! If you want your young people interested in the W. C. T. U. work take them to Muncie for Friday night, Saturday and Sunday of the convention.

Husbands will be far more interested in the W. C. T. U. if they attend the Muncie convention.

Local Presidents! For a display table at the convention at Muncie bring with you samples of all printed material gotten out by your union during the year. Copies of programs, songs, leaflets, posters, advertisements, &c. Secure copies of all Local Option campaign literature used in your community and bring for the help it may be to representatives of other counties.

The W. C. T. U. conventions must have new features. County Presidents should plan for new and interesting features. Reports and papers read are not enough beside the necessary business. Many children on the program singing real temperance truths and big maps representing "dry" and "wet" territory will be interesting.

A model "Temperance Sunday Program" on the platform would be an instructive feature.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America closed the most enthusiastic and largely attended convention of its history in Chicago August 5. A parade in which nearly five thousand delegates and representatives of local Catholic Societies participated, took place in the evening of August 4, and a great rally in the Auditorium the same evening concluded the demonstration.

The Convention went on record unmistakably in favor of Prohibition and total abstinence, and the greatest of interest was aroused over the pointed replies made in the parade and elsewhere to the slurs of Mayor Rose of Milwaukee who, in his recent debates with President Dickie, represented the Catholic Church as friendly to the liquor traffic and opposed to Prohibition.

In an address by the Rev. James M. Reardon of St. Paul, the most earnest appeal was made for the education of the youth in the facts regarding the liquor traffic and the liquor habit. One of his most striking paragraphs was as follows:

"We are little less than criminally responsible if we fail to enlighten the minds, mold the character, and form the habits of the rising generation on this all important matter. From a study of alcoholic cases made by Dr. Lambert of the Bellevue Hospital for the year 1904, it was found that nearly 7 per cent began to drink before they attained the age of 12 years; 30 per cent before the age of 16; 68 per cent, or more than two-thirds, before the age of 21. This indicates clearly that if effective temperance work is to be done among the young it must be undertaken at an early age and continued beyond the span of youth."

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE.

Dear Comrade:

Ere this reaches you the blanks will have been sent out for the last reports of the year, also the "Officers' Blanks," all of which, I hope, will receive prompt attention. Every quarter I receive requests for blanks on which to report department work. These blanks are sent out by our state supts., most of whom call for reports only at the close of the year. If all organized counties and all local unions in unorganized counties will send the names of your supts. for next year to me in time to have them placed in our state directory it will save much writing, and will probably leave no occasion to wonder why reports blanks are not received.

At our coming convention we are expecting unusually good reports of our work over the state, and our day sessions will be given largely to reports and quizzes by our officers and supts.

On Friday night we will have the usual welcome addresses, but this part of the program will be short, in order to give time for Dr. F. F. Hutchins to discuss "The Medical Aspect of the Alcohol Question," which will be one of the most valuable addresses of the convention. Dr. Hutchins is Professor of Mental and Nervous Diseases in Indiana University School of Medicine and neurologist and consulting physician in Indianapolis Hospital. A fine speaker, and thoroughly conversant with his subject.

On Saturday night a grand diamond medal contest will be held.

On Sunday afternoon there will be a grand mass meeting in the convention church. The speaker will be announced later.

Also on Sunday afternoon, there will be a children's meeting in the Friends church in charge of Miss Clara Sears and Mrs. Geo. Denny.

On Monday night there will be a "March of the County Presidents," in which each one will be given one minute to tell of the best things that have happened in her county the past year, the gain in membership, number of new unions, &c. This will be followed by a "Demonstration" by the state supts., in which each supt. will be expected to represent her department of work. This is always one of the most pleasing features of our National convention and we hope it may prove so in our state.

These are some of the main features, but there will be many minor details of interest to come in as happy surprises, which must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

The early morning prayer meetings will be held in the Friends church, which is very near the convention church.

Appoint your delegates at your next meeting and send names at once to Mrs. Edith G. Nuzum, 315 N. Calvert st., Muncie.

And now dear ones, pray for our convention, that it may be a blessing to our hostess city and a great uplift to our work over the state, and that we may plan so wisely for our coming year's work, that the strongholds of King Alcohol may begin to tremble to their fall. Yours for service,

MARY E. WOODARD.

NOTICE.

Dear Sisters:

Mrs. Gulia Shugart, Marion, Ind., has been chosen to conduct the memorial services at convention. Will you please send to her the names of departed members with short sketch of their work that she may prepare for the service. Please send by Sept. 15. Yours,

CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

PENNANTS AND BANNERS.

At the mid-year executive it was decided to give the care of pennants and banners to the President and Secretary of Board of Superintendents. Now, in order to have them on display during the State convention. They must be sent to Muncie by Wednesday, September 29th, so the decorating may be done on Thursday. Will every county President whose county carried home a Department Pennant last year attend to sending them as directed. Send in care of Mrs. Amy Masters, 651 Berlin street, Muncie, Ind., Chairman of Decorating Committee. GERTRUDE FULTON, Sec'y Board of Supts.

MRS. PEARCE URGES PROMPTNESS.

Dear Supts.: Before many days have passed your reports must be in my hands in order that the advance sheets may be ready for the State Convention, which meets Oct. 1 at Muncie. The year now closing has been one long to be remembered by those interested in the prohibition of the liquor traffic. Many victories have been won for the cause we love and again, and again, we have exclaimed, "What hath God wrought?"

The W. C. T. U. has had a great part in these battles for righteousness, and we are anxious that some of their work shall be recorded in the Annual Report.

Let all Superintendents, local, county and State, be prompt in reporting in order that I may be able to send to the printer.

Remember: The reports must be in my hands by Sept. 20.

Hoping to see you all at Muncie

Lovingly yours,

ROSE PEARCE, Rec. Sec.

Darlington, Ind.

The Union Signal of Aug. 19 contains much valuable information. An article on Scientific Temperance Instruction in the Schools of the United States by Mrs. Edith Davis, and one on The Medical Temperance propaganda in America by Mrs. M. M. Allen are of great interest to our temperance people and should be read by the Christian ministers of our land.

Send this paper to ministers school teachers, college professors and other educated friends. Price two cents per copy, 50 copies or more $1.75 per 100. Address The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill.

Drinking Fountains for man and beast should be erected in towns and cities by the W. C. T. U. In some places a well and good pump would be a blessing to the thirsty public.

County Conventions.—Much literature should be secured for distribution at every county convention. Hundreds of copies of the Union Signal and The Crusader Monthly should be used in the conventions, besides the latest leaflets. The Union Signal and The Crusader Monthly can be secured from Evanston, Ill.

For catalogues of publications send to Miss Ruby T. Gilbert, 131 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill. The National Temperance Society, New York City, will send samples of excellent leaflets. The Indiana State Board of Health has issued a "Health Circular" that ought to be in the hands of every parent in Indiana. It is an Educational pamphlet. Send for several copies. Address The Indiana State Board of Health, State House, Indianapolis, Ind.

The picture of Miss Frances E. Willard should be given to a school building where the county convention is held.

MISS MARY E. WOODARD,
Corresponding Secretary, Fountain City, Ind.

THE MESSAGE

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS.

Dear Superintendents,

Last year I sent out report blanks without the asking; this year will only forward to all who desire them.

You have doubtless noticed that the new State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Ale, formerly of our State University, has decided to eliminate some of the studies of the school curriculum, to give place to others of more importance, one of which is the Science of Hygiene. This means much to our beloved organization, as it is in direct harmony with long and continual teaching. We will no longer have to implore legislation against the use of stimulants and narcotics, as it is a well conceded fact that impressions made in the school room in connection with the home outweigh all others. I have too much faith in Young America to believe when they learn scientifically that their bodies are sacred legacies from our Heavenly Father, to protect and develop and the more they are perfected, the more capable they are in advancing His cause, our efforts will be supplemented as never before. May we give as earnest co-operation to Dr. Ale as we gave to Dr. Wiley, is my prayer.

MARY A. MOODY,
State Supt.

219 E. Tenth St, Indianapolis.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear Sisters:

I sent to county superintendents of this department, also to county presidents who have no C. C. superintendents, my report blanks. I hope you have sent them on to the local unions, and that very soon I may receive a full report of work done in this Department. I sent a blank for each union in the state as noted in the minutes. Reports must reach me by September 15.

GERTRUDE FULTON, Supt.

Portland, Ind.

LAW AND STATISTICS.

The following questions should be answered by all Presidents of unions that do not have a superintendent of this department. Of course if superintendent of the department will answer promptly so that the information may be received by the state supt., Mrs. Rowena E. Randle, Richmond, Ind., by Sept. 10.

1. Has your county voted? Give majority dry or wet.
2. How many saloons put out of business in your county? How many breweries?
3. How many arrests for drunk in county in 1909.
4. How many police in your county? What is total amount of their salaries?

(For information ask the chief of police and county auditor.)

Dear Franchise Superintendents and County Presidents:

This is the month for State reports—I trust you have something to report. We have not been as aggressive as we would like to have been—because of the Local Option Campaign—but of course there have been meetings held—Readings given, debates and contests decided. Please report every thing on this line of work. Study the leaflet with an interrogation point on front page. Some of the quizzes may be taken from it. Be prompt that we may be counted.

"A sphere with portals wide, to all of Human kind,
With no impeding laws, nor creeds of 'sex in mind.'"

(Mrs.) LIDA OUTLAND,
State Supt., Upland, Ind.

FLOWER MISSIONS.

The time for our final report is at hand, and yet we have time and opportunity to do much good in this beautiful department. Dear local Superintendent, please remember that the State Superintendent's report must be sent to the State Recording Secretary by Sept. 20. Previous to that time the final report must come from you. Last year seven of our best county reports came in too late for the State report. Do not delay but begin early to write your reports. I trust when you read this you will, many of you, have sent an excellent report to your county Superintendent. Any one who has not received blanks please send me a card and I will send them by return mail. Hoping and praying for full reports, and hoping to meet many of you at the State convention, I am

Lovingly yours for Flower Missions,

VIOLA R. HARVEY, State Supt.
Box 239, Mooresville Ind.

DEPT. OF PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

Dear Co-Worker: If any of you who received the report card for the Department of Purity in Literature and art and have not returned the same to me before this "Message" reaches you, be sure to send it at once, and perhaps it will yet reach me in time to be included in my report to the State. I am very desirous of having a good report from every union in the State, and I feel sure that every union has done something in this department, if they will just report it, it will help so much in the general report. Do not fail but let me hear from you at once.

Very sincerely,

ELNORA G. McNAUGHTON,
Box 94, Ray, Ind., Steuben County.

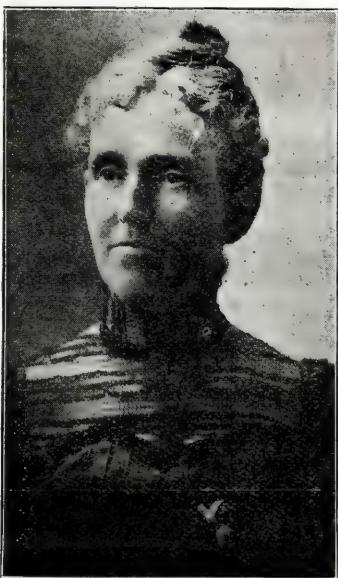

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

Dear Superintendents and President of Local Unions: Let me urge upon you again the importance of our department, the Department of Medical Temperance. Let us come up to the State convention this fall with the best report we have ever had. This will be impossible unless you keep a strict account of the work you are doing and send your report to me by Sept. 1st. Please put out all the literature your union can afford. If your union can't afford any, then hold a social or medal contest and let the proceeds be invested in medical temperance literature. Be sure to supply all the physicians in your community with a physician's package, which only costs you 5 cents. Send to Mrs. Martha Allen Mercellus, N. Y., for all literature for physicians. Get some temperance physician to write an article for your daily paper. We must educate the public upon the effects of alcohol upon the body as well as upon the subject of "Patient Medicine."

The family physician can help us do this work better than any one else. You can also get some splendid leaflets from the National Red Cross Society. "Physicians on Beer as a Beverage" and "Physicians on Alcohol" are both good and can be procured for just the postage by sending to Miss M. C. Metzger, 1530 Washington Street, St. Louis. My dear workers, do your best, for "in due season you shall reap if you faint not."

MRS. G. E. DENNY,
Madison, Ind.

Be sure to state your county when writing to me.

MRS. BELLE P. WHITNEY,
President of Vanderburg County W. C. T. U.

EXCHANGES.

Iceland, about half the size of Missouri, has "no jail, no penitentiary; there is no court, and only one policeman. Not a drop of alcoholic liquor is made on the island, and its 78,000 people are total abstainers, since they will not permit any liquor to be imported.

"There is not an illiterate on the island, not a child ten years old unable to read, the system of public schools being practically perfect.

"There are special seminaries and colleges, several good newspapers, and a printing establishment which every year publishes a number of excellent books on various lines."

Governor Glenn, North Carolina: "I am heart and soul against the saloon. After thirty years' experience as a prosecuting officer in the courts, I am firmly of the opinion that 60 per cent of crime is due to strong drink and that 95 per cent is indirectly caused by it."

Judge G. W. Stubbs of the Juvenile Court, of Indianapolis spoke on "The Saloon and the Boy" and told of instances which have come before him in the Juvenile Court in which a drinking father has been the direct cause of the presence of the boy in court. "Would to God that the local option law could wipe out every saloon in existence," said Judge Stubbs. He declared that nine-tenths of the boys who come before him on charges of delinquency or truancy have parents who are addicted to drink.

Bishop Newman writes of Africa: "I say it with all reverence, but so far as human eyes can see, Africa would be better off today without the presence of a missionary than that the ship that brings him should also bring strong drink." He adds: "Rum is the greatest barrier to our missionary work in Africa, and not only in Africa, but everywhere. If you can do anything, in the name of God, save the poor heathen. The work we do is quickly undone by the effects of rum; in other words, rum destroys in one year what we accomplish there in many years. We will fail in Africa unless we have the assistance of the Christian governments of the earth to suppress this terrible traffic."

MRS. KATE W. HOLLER,
State Superintendent of Sabbath Observance,
South Bend, Ind.

The purity of literature and art, the protection of the moral health of the generation and cleanliness of the nation demands that we at least bear testimony against this infection, this tendency to lower standards of thought.

The tendency to smoke in literature is a growing annoyance, and I have thrown several books aside, half read, because the tobacco odor oppressed me. The tendency to bring into continual prominence any small vice or disagreeable habit, even if it was harmless, in the literature of the generation, to go out of the way to introduce it over and over again when it is irrelevant to the story, and only detracts from it, is, to say the least, curious, and a blot on the progress of the art.

THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN OMAHA, OCT. 22.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNIONS will please send full reports of work done and planned to the state secretary, Miss Laura G. Caffmack, Converse, Ind.

MARSHALL COUNTY has gained in membership as a result of the faithfulness of the old unions of which there are five that have for years been loyal and active in the fight for the home.

One new union is giving promise of efficient aid and prospect for the organization of another union before State convention. Marshall county is "dry." We expect every union to be represented at Muncie, October 1st.

THE FIGHT between the state of Indiana and Tom Taggart and Lee Sinclair, owners of the noted gambling resorts in French Lick and West Baden resulted in the gambling outfits to the value of $30,000 being burned by the officers of the law in the street.

ON AUGUST 17 twenty one counties of South Carolina voted on Prohibition or the Dispensary. Fifteen voted dry. Six voted wet.

WINONA. Temperance week in charge of George R. Stuart of Tennessee was one of unusual interest. On the program were Gov. Glenns of South Carolina, Seaborn Wright, of Gr., Oliver W. Stewart of Ill., and others. The assembly W. C. T. U. has had some meetings. During the Bible conference much interest was expressed by White Ribboners in the project of permanent W. C. T. U. headquarters at Winona Lake. At Muncie no doubt there will be plans made by individual White Ribboners for the establishing of at least a REST ROOM next year at Winona.

DELEGATES. Every union should send its full quota of delegates to the state convention. Women of ability and deep interest should be selected. Delegates who are carefully selected and their expenses paid to Muncie will be of much greater help to the union than some women who are elected delegates because they are willing to go and pay their own expenses.

Field News

Miss Belle Kearney is open to engagements to October in this section of the country and will be until spring. Her address is 628 Library street, Evanston, Ill.

Morgan County convention was held at Mooresville. Mrs. Bettie Adams was unanimously elected county president.

The Jay Co. Institute was held in Pennville with Josephine Walmer as leader. Meeting opened with the county president in the chair. After the devotional exercise the county president gave the welcome address, and Mrs. Walmer responded in her own sweet, happy way which seemed to inspire all present with the same spirit. Mrs. Gertrude Fulton spoke interestingly on Abraham Lincoln as a prohibitionist. At night Mrs. Walmer lectured on a "Mother's Plea," to a good sized audience. The second day's exercises were opened with scripture reading and prayer and song service. The Misses Andrews of Pennville gave several selections of instrumental music. A paper by Millie Leavel of Redkey on "The White Slave Trade of Today," brought out a helpful discussion. Maggie Williamson of Redkey read an instructive paper on "Municipal Suffrage for Women." Mrs. Tormohlen of Portland read a paper on the "Passing of the Saloon in the North" which showed the rapid strides being made by the temperance forces. An interesting paper was read by Mrs. Snow of Dunkirk. Several ministers were present and gave good talks on "The Power of the Pulpit Against the Liquor Traffic." Freda Steed of Redkey gave two readings that pleased the audience. The ladies of Pennville W. C. T. U. served refreshments for all in attendance at the Christian church. Mrs. Walmer is a noble Christian woman and has done a good work in Jay county. Any county is fortunate that gets her for their leader. —Hannah H. C. Andrews, Co. Pres. W. C. T. U., Redkey, Ind.

Mooreville Union.—Under the leadership of our beloved president, Mrs. Rhoda Stalling, this union has held five silver medal contests since last March, and is preparing two classes for the Gold Medal. This has been the best year in the history of the Mooreville W. C. T. U. in attendance and interest manifested. The mothers meetings, superintended by Mrs. Margaret Thompson, with perhaps 75 mothers under its influence, has been a power for good and the interest in this department is growing rapidly.

Danville.—We are glad to send words of greeting and encouragement to White Ribboners through the medium of our worthy paper "The Message." The interest in W. C. T. U. work so far as engaged in your local organization bears unmistakable evidence of an increase. The general public does "take notice" and attends our public meetings and express approval of efforts that are made for the betterment of moral and helpfulness of the needy. Our Flower Mission day observance was a day of victory for our cause, as well as day of cheer and blessing to many who were graciously remembered with flowers and the appropriately printed Bible texts and eatable dainties of different sorts. The evening following Flower Day a public meeting programmed by local talent, was rendered. Editors were present and noted in the following issues fine comments on the excellent character of the meeting, which was accepted as "our bouquet" not alone of flower sentiment, but real endorsement and encouragement. Our present proposition, which is inciting greater interest than any undertaken is the erecting a "Drinking fountain" in our little city. The matter is in the care of a committee who have it before our county commissioners and already enough is known of their decision to give our women hope of giving our town a beautiful W. C. T. U. fountain. We are to have the "water free" which is said to be the best hydrant water in the State. Our interest in our Reading Cases abides; fresh temperance literature for the cause is in demand, as frequent visits to the cases by members of the union only to find them empty, testify to the demand for our literature. Send us some of your supplies dear readers, please, and oblige yours truly for God, Home and Native Land, to the annihilation of the American liquor traffic and saloon.—Sarah M. Hadley, Press Supt.

Muncie, Ind.—The Normal City W. C. T. U. held the annual picnic July 9, which occurred on the regular meeting day. The program was as follows: Song; Prayer by Rev. Asy; Devotional, Mrs. Martha Highman; Debate, Resolved that the elective franchise be extended to women, affirmative Mrs. Gal Calvert, Mrs. Mary Mathews, negative, Mrs. Edith Nuzum, Mrs. Girican. A few remarks were made on the subject by some of the gentlemen. A large number of members responded to roll call with scriptural texts, and several visitors were present. Supper was served to all.

Laporte union held an ice-cream social on July 28th. A play is now being prepared entitled "Signing the Pledge," which will soon be given. This union does not want to end the W. C. T. U. year with an empty treasury.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

Connersville.—On July 16th the W. C. T. U. ladies and their husbands gave Mrs. Etta Nickels, one of our charter members, a surprise on the occasion of her removal to Indianapolis. Refreshments were served to about 40 guests. Mrs. Nickels was presented with a silver sugar shell and butter knife. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing Mrs. Nickels success and happiness in her new home.—Mrs. Lulu Doner, Cor. Sec.

Redkey W. C. T. U. held a suffrage meeting Aug. 11th which created much interest. Following the business part of the meeting the program was taken up and Mrs. Millie Leavall led out on the topic, "Some Reasons Why Woman Should Vote." by asking each one present to give such reasons. The following are some reasons thus brought out briefly stated: Women should vote in order to crush out the liquor traffic, because it is woman's bitterest enemy and a curse to her and her children. God created man and woman equal, according to Scripture, and "gave them dominion over the earth." Women pay taxes and could improve the laws. It is morally right. Women are made responsible for the home and the rearing of the children and should have a voice in making and enforcing the laws regarding their surroundings. To save the boys and girls from evils men permit by license.

Woman could vote more intelligently, more girls graduate from the public schools than boys, The medical fraternity bears witness that the average woman is better morally than the average man. The church membership is two-thirds to three-fourths women, and how can it be a "church militant," as the clergy boast, when two-thirds to three-fourths of its members are deprived of the chief power to fight evil, virtually unarmed and commanded to take a back seat? A few men can plunge the nation into war and the women must submit to the burden of increased taxation and give their strongest and best husbands and sons to be devoured by it. Mrs. Millie Leavall read "Wooley on Woman Suffrage." Mrs. Sarah Steed gave Judge Lindsay's account of its working in Colorado. Mrs. Mina Williamson read a history of the progress of the woman suffrage movement, and Mrs. Maggie Williamson read leaflets on "Woman in the Home" and "Woman in the State." One new member was received into the union. Mrs. Kauffman was appointed to look after literature for the W. C. T. U. boxes.—Press Supt.

The Oxford W. C. T. U. visited the county farm. They took their luncheon with them and ate it on the beautiful lawn. In the afternoon Supt. Beran had all who live at the home assemble on the lawn, where they listened to a program of music and readings, which all enjoyed. Afterward each one was given a bouquet. The ladies were then shown through the home that is managed so finely by Supt. and Mrs. Berans. The day was ideal and one long to be remembered by all who were there. A public meeting was held the evening of July fourth in the M. E. Church. Mrs. Gillett presided and Mrs. Lilly Petree made an excellent address on "Christian Citizenship." Rev. Geo. B. Jones, of the M. E. Church, answered the question, "Is Our Nation Christian?" Rev. H. W. Steen on "Results of Local Option," said among other good things, that in this State the result will ultimately be State wide prohibition. One of the most helpful meetings of the W. C. T. U. for the year was that of July 23rd at the home of Mrs. May Wann. It was the regular "mothers' meeting" and Mrs. Wann, who is Superintendent of that department, had prepared an excellent program. The Misses Samuels, of Cayuga, assisted with the singing. The W. C. T. U. is striving to make the "mothers' meetings" of practical value to the mothers in the care of the child and the home. The interest was shown in the attendance, thirty-two ladies and six baby boys were present. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Hannah Ripple, a beloved member of the W. C. T. U. died very suddenly of heart failure at her home in Oxford, Ind. May 10, 1909. The funeral was conducted from the Christian Church the following Thursday by her pastor, Rev. D. N. Gillett. The W. C. T. U. held a brief service at the church. She was a faithful and devoted mother and earnest worker in the union. Those who knew her best loved her most. Her family have the sincere sympathy of the W. C. T. U.—Mrs. L. B. Evans, Press Supt.

The Harriet Brand Union of Indianapolis, met at the home of Mrs. Addie Smith Lancaster, 1235 Brookside avenue, July 6. The election was held and the officers were chosen as follows: Mrs. Lancaster pres., Mrs. Ida Darnell 1245 Brookside ave., secy; and Mrs. Laura Smith 1502 Brookside avenue treasurer. We are praying that we may be able to accomplish something for God, and Home and Native Land this year.

The Indianapolis Frances Willard W. C. T. U. met August 10 at Mrs. Shad's new home, Illinois and 37th streets. The air there seemed so fresh and pure, and with the large expanse of blue sky visible, one could imagine being transported to real rural scenes. Quite a number of ladies were present, and each one, in a few words, mentioned some circumstances for which she could be "thankful." Regretfully Mrs. Kemp mentioned a beer garden, where she saw a mother and daughter enter. What could one do? was the question. Removing the garden would not convert that mother and daughter, they would simply seek another one. It is too much like working from the outside. The reform must begin within. Prevention is our hope, beginning chiefly with the young. If the temperance movement continues its efforts, every generation will be better enlightened. The saloons and gardens will then close for want of patronage. In the meantime, every conceivable scheme is needed, that will tend toward this end. With these sentiments expressed, the discussion closed. The meeting was followed by an informal half-hour, during which Mrs. Shad gave beautiful flowers from her garden to each guests.—Mrs. McDermid.

The Gosport W. C. T. U. gave a flower mission program at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon, June 9. Miss Lillian Teague gave a paper on "The Advantage of Flower Mission Work to a Community." This was followed by a general discussion on the subject, "What Can I Do to Help?" By the talks that were given we were made to feel that it is not so much who actually needs flowers, jellies, etc., as it is who needs to know we think of and care for them. One may be surrounded with books and flowers, his pantry and purse may be full, while his heart and life may be empty of the love and good cheer that comes when one knows and feels that some one worth while cares for and is interested in him. At the close of the meeting bouquets were distributed among the sick. A mothers' meeting was held Wednesday afternoon, June 24. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Burton, supt. of that department. One reading that seemed to touch the hearts of many mothers present was given by Mrs. McClellan, entitled "Today." It must have helped each one to feel that in order to rightly discipline her child it must be given the loving, careful training today. That tomorrow brings her and her child past today's pleasures.

Tippecanoe.—A new union was organized in Colburn, Tippecanoe county. The meeting was held at the home of the county president, Mrs. Smock. The room was crowded with ladies, eleven of which gave their names as charter members of the new Colburn union. Members of the Frances E. Willard union of Lafayette were present and declared themselves fearless and persevering if Tippecanoe county did go wet.

John B. Hann, husband of Mrs. Lizzie C. Hann, President Board of Managers Hadley Industrial School died Sunday morning at his home, 3131 North New Jersey Street, Indianapolis. Services were held Monday evening and burial at Wabash, Ind., Tuesday evening. He had been ill for four years, spending his winters in California. Since his return in May, has been confined most of the time to his home. He was well known for his prohibition work throughout the State.

Indianapolis.—The prohibition meetings held recently under tents on Prospect Street, have been productive of much good temperance sentiment. The county President secured from there about twenty names of ladies who were organized into the "South Side" W. C. T. U. July 13. The meeting was held at the Emanuel Baptist Church. The officers are: Mrs. J. R. Henry, Pres.; Mrs. M. McDermid, Rec. Sec'y. There was much interest and enthusiasm shown and many ladies received appointments of work. It was decided to meet twice a month, for a time at least, on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Mrs. J. W. Wadsworth, of 1611 Eastern avenue, Connersville, has some copies of local option literature, such as was used in the county campaign. Samples of these she will send to parties who write for them and enclose postage.

The Indianapolis Francis Willard Union held an interesting meeting at the Old Ladies' Home. The dear old ladies seemed really to appreciate it very much. Changes do not come often into their lives, but how blessed it is that they have a good home for their remaining years. Dear Mrs. Scott sang for them and Mrs. Hathaway repeated one of her own touching little poems for their especial benefit. The business part of the exercise was shortened and the devotional part a chief feature at this time. This union also remembered them on Flower Mission Day and we hope that some extra sunshine came into their lives.—Mrs. Mary McDermid, Press Supt.

The Bridgeport Union held a very interesting and profitable Children's Day at its regular meeting July 16th. It was given on the shady lawn of the Friends Church and a special effort was made to invite all mothers and their children. About seventy-five ladies and children assembled, and listened to an entertaining program given by the children, with music furnished by some of the young ladies, and two interesting talks by the wives of the pastors of the two churches, after which refreshments were served, and a very pleasant social hour enjoyed by all. This proved to be an excellent time for gathering in new recruits for our union and nine names were secured as applicants for membership and the names of nine little ones were added to our Cradle Roll. Our union is in a very prosperous condition, many new members having been added during the year, and a far greater interest in W. C. T. U. work in general being taken. We feel sure that this children's meeting has been not only an encouragement to us, but an inspiration in our community as well.

Lafayette.—Mrs. Jennie Conn, Supt. of railroad work for the Central Union, held a meeting at her home on Ferry Street Wednesday afternoon, at which time an interesting program was rendered. An original paper read by our State Superintendent, Mrs. R. P. Cole, was highly appreciated by all present. A social hour followed and refreshments were served. Our county President was with us and several ladies from other unions were visitors.

County Executive met at the home of Mrs. Henry Budge last Friday afternoon. Various subjects leading on both temperance and reform were discussed and plans begun for the coming County W. C. T. U. Institute to be held in September. It was decided to hold an all-day meeting at Columbian Park. Tippecanoe County now has nine unions, and the interest seems to be growing, the Soldiers' Home Union being organized at the spring institute.—Mrs. Lillian Hall, County Press Supt. and Cor. Sec'y of Central Union. 1913 Echo Street.

With the assistance of Mrs. Josephine Woods, of Syracuse organized a union at North Webster. Officers elected: Pres., Mrs. Emma Baugher; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Phoebe Daniels; Cor. Sec'y Mrs. Lida Warner; Rec. Sec'y, Mrs. Clara Rothenberger; Treas., Mrs. Alice Hile.

Our Promoted Comrades

MRS. SERENA RAMEY, one of our beloved members of Normal City Union, was called to the great beyond July 25th after a long illness. Although she was unable to meet with us often her heart was in the work. She leaves three little children and a husband with a host of friends to mourn her loss.

"SOCIAL CLUBS."

(By W. H. Blodgett, Staff Correspondent of The Indianapolis News.)

SULLIVAN, Ind., September 16.—Once there were sixteen so-called "social clubs" in Sullivan county. These clubs were incorporated under the state law and the ostensible purpose of them was "literary and social." In reality they were saloons under another name, saloons that did not pay any license, county or state, or even the government tax. The breweries did a big business sending in beer by the carload, more business in fact than if the purchasers had been legitimate saloons.

But there are no social clubs in Sullivan county now. Some of the "directors" are in jail, others are under bond and a few have paid fines. The promoters of the clubs have announced that they are ready to quit business and stay quiet if they are let alone. And what is the answer?

Sullivan county has a prosecutor who knows his business and is not afraid to do his duty. Prosecutor Walter Wood has shown that these clubs can be put out of business of the officers of the law go about it in the right way. Under the statute a corporation can not be sent to jail, but a corporation that is chartered by the state and does something not provided for in its charter, can be hauled up by the state, its charter can be taken away and the corporation may be dissolved. The prosecutor could have taken that plan, but he did not. Mr. Wood went after them under the criminal law.

Simply Saloons Without License.

So-called social clubs were in existence at Sullivan, Shelburn, Dugger, Star City, Hymera, Jackson Hill, Jericho, Carlisle and Bright Light. Every one of these institutions, though chartered by the state was simply a saloon. The manner in which these clubs are operated has been told. The members put up their money with an agent, the brewery sends the beer in cases to the agent of the club members and puts the name of each purchaser on the case of beer he is supposed to have bought. The pretense is that when the members go to the club-room each member drinks only his own beer. A search warrant was placed in the hands of James H. Willis, city marshal, and he raided the club here. He found in the club-room only three cases out of eleven that had the names of members on them. The membership of the club was eleven, but fifteen men were drinking in the room when the raid was made. Marshall Willis arrested Marlow Vermillion and Rollo Boone, two of the supposed directors, and they, being unable to give bond, have been in jail three weeks, and the Independent Club of Sullivan is but a memory.

At Hymera, a mining town in Sullivan county, Prosecutor Wood held a court of inquiry and had a lot of witnesses before a justice of the peace to ascertain just how the Hymera Hickory Club was conducted. He found that the Terre Haute Brewing company furnished the refrigerator and the beer to put in it for the club. The testimony brought out the further fact that the brewing company charged the club members $1.65 for each case of beer and the club charged its members $1.95 in dues for each case, thus making a profit. At Hymera the club was supposed to be a literary organization and Mr. Wood asked the witnesses as to their literary entertainments.

"Did you ever have any debates at the club meetings?" asked Mr. Wood of a witness.

"Oh, yes; certainly," the witness answered.

"What question did you debate?" persisted the prosecutor.

"Well, we talked about a chicken fight one time."

That settled the literary end of the club and Walker Wilson and Fred Pinkston, two of the "directors," were bound over to court for operating a blind tiger.

Another court of inquiry was held at Shelburn and six "directors" were arrested for violating the blind tiger law. Five of them gave bond, the other one is in jail. Prosecutor Wood and his courts of inquiry brought out sufficient evidence to put any one of the clubs out of business and the officers confiscated a large amount of drink. He showed, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that these social clubs are nothing but saloons and are organized for the purpose of evading the local option law in territory where the people have voted out the saloons.

"There are three points in the law that these so-called clubs violate when drinks are served," said Prosecutor Wood. "By the provisions of the statute a brewing company, which is a wholesaler and manufacturer, can only sell its product to licensed retail dealers, and when the brewery sells to any one else they are guilty of violating the blind tiger act. And when they sell to so-called club members, the club members are guilty of aiding and abetting the brewing company in the violation of the law. And again, the presence of intoxicating liquors, beers, etc., in any building except a bona-fide private residence is prima facie evidence that the liquor is there to be bartered, sold or given away. The law on that subject is very plain."

"How about liquor in drug stores?"

"The provisions of the blind tiger act do not apply to drug stores," replied Mr. Wood with a smile. "And another point on which I contend that the clubs are illegal is the fact that when the liquor or beer is disposed of to club members it is a straight-out sale."

"Could not these clubs be put out of existence by revoking their charters?"

"Yes, that could be done. They have a charter for one thing and do another thing under it. The prosecuting attorney could bring ouster suits and have the charters revoked, but there is no need of anything like that. The criminal law is strong enough."

So here is a prosecuting attorney who has found a way to abolish the "social clubs" that threaten to overrun every part of Indiana where the saloons have been voted out by the people.

It is just a question whether the prosecutor of any county wants to get rid of the clubs or not. Prosecutor Wood has shown how it can be done.

Dr. J. N. Hurty, Secretary of the State Board of Health, is agitating the subject of proper regulation of the sale of drugs which contain dangerous narcotics.

He is quoted as saying:

"Only a short time ago I observed a case which would have convinced me fully, had I not been convinced before of the need of a proper regulation of the sale of patent medicines containing dangerous drugs," said Dr. Hurty. "A young man came to my office carrying a small bottle of catarrh snuff, such as is for sale in a large number of drug stores in this city. He told me that his wife, a most excellent woman when he had married her two years before, had become addicted to the use of the snuff and that in the preceding twelve months her nerves had become shattered from its use and she spent almost all her time sitting in the kitchen at their home, sniffing it. For some time, he said, he had furnished her money to buy the stuff, but, observing its effects on her, he had refused. After that, he said, his wife would stop at nothing, even theft, to obtain money with which to buy the stuff."

Cocaine in the Snuff.

"I recognized the snuff at once as a preparation carrying a large percentage of cocaine, and told my caller that his wife had become a confirmed cocaine fiend. When he asked what he could do to break her of the habit, I told him there was nothing, that the self-murder must go on, and go on it did. The habit had become fixed and as long as the drug was procurable there was no possible means of saving the victim, except to make it absolutely impossible for her to obtain the drug."

"That is what we wish to do by law—make it absolutely impossible for any one, except in most pressing need, to obtain the drug and the need must be attested by a responsible physician."

Rev. J. G. Beane, vice president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America in an address before that organization at Chicago in August said:

Soda Fountains Assailed.

The soda fountain as a foe to temperance was depicted by Rev. James G. Beane, of Pittsburg, vice president of the organization. Rev. Father Beane's attack was made in his annual report, delivered at the afternoon session, and was applauded by enthusiastic delegates.

Certain of the so-called "soft drinks" sold in drug stores were declared by the speaker to be the "curse of young women and young men patronizing soda fountains."

"There has spread over the country, like a devastating pestilence, an evil that we are led to overlook or that we do not recognize," said Father Beane. "This evil is striking down thousands of our youth every year, yes, every month, and it is not the saloon; it has the active hostility of the saloon, because for the present it is not a benefit, although it will become shortly a feeder for the saloon; and that evil is found in the drug stores and soda fountains of our country, where malt extracts and popular drinks that contain cocaine, and caffeine, and sirups heavily charged with wines are sold. By drinking such so-called temperance drinks, many a respectable young woman who would never enter a saloon has acquired the taste for drink without knowing whence came the desire. Here is a hidden enemy striking in the dark, striking the innocent victims who believe they are taking harmless, wholesome drinks. It is most important that the delegates realize the danger in these drinks and carry home the warning to their societies, and be prepared to wake an active warfare against what is proving the downfall of many."

DRINKING LESS WHISKY, USING MORE TOBACCO.

(To Indianapolis News.)

The Indianapolis New Bureau,
44 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The wave of prohibition that has been sweeping over the United States in the last few years cost the government $7,641,978.42 in revenue during the fiscal year ended with June 30. The loss is figured from a comparison with the returns from spirits and fermented liquors in the fiscal year preceding. Of this big sum the heaviest loss was traceable to the decreasing manufacture and use of whiskies. Beer, porter and other similarly fermented liquors came next in the proportion of lost revenue to the government.

In his report to Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh the acting commissioner of internal revenue, Robert Williams, Jr., sets forth some interesting figures. The revenue from whisky fell off more than $5,500,000.

Using More Tobacco.

A peculiarity of the report is that the people of the United States, while throttling thirst, have let their craving for narcotics apparently go unchecked. The increased revenue from tobacco exceeded $2,000,000, and the army of cigarette smokers contributed a good proportion of this, the increased amount paid in as a result of the growth of the habit over last year being $722,245.30. That the cigarette is supplanting the cigar is shown by the fact that the loss of revenue on cigars over the previous fiscal year was nearly a half million dollars.

In summing up his report, Acting Commissioner Williams declares that losses are attributable to the falling off in consumption of certain commodities. The decrease in distilled spirits consumed exceeds five million gallons, and in ale and beer nearly 2,500,000 barrels. There were 152,185,830 fewer cigars smoked. On the other hand the cigarette smokers of the country burned up 703,105,065 more cigarettes than in the previous year.

A CALL FOR THE OBSERVANCE OF WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY.

The Fourth Sunday in November of each year has been designated "World's Sunday School Temperance Sunday."

The highest ecclesiastical bodies of nearly all denominations have given recognition to this day. The appointment is also made by the International Sunday School Convention, through the International Lesson Committee, and provision is made for a World's Sunday School Temperance Lesson.

The drink curse is world wide, and young people in particular should be taught that it is a crime against the nation and a sin against God. It is fitting therefore that the subject be presented from both national and personal points of view.

We therefore call upon all Pastors, Sunday School Superintendents and Teachers, all W. C. T. U. workers in the Sunday School and all Friends of Temperance Teaching in the Sunday School to make the observance of World's Sunday School Temperance Sunday, a notable occasion. Let it be the great Annual Temperance Field Day for the Sunday Schools of the World.

MRS. WILBUR F. CRAFTS,
Supt. Sunday School Department, World's W. C. T. U.

MRS. STELLA B. IRVINE,
Supt. Sunday School Department, National W. C. T. U.

For Programs, Pledge Cards, Literature, and all materials needed for Sunday School Temperance work send to The Sunday School Temperance Bureau, Riverside, California. Sample package 35 cents.

For programs, literature and much helpful information needed for Temperance work in the Sunday School send for free samples to Presbyterian Temperance Committee, Room 72, Conestogo Bld., Pittsburg, Pa.

URGE TOBACCO CONSUMPTION.

Manufacturers Plan Campaign Against Anti-Weed Activity.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—The National Allied Tobacco Trades Association, composed of men of the industry from all parts of the country, was formed here today for the purpose of a cross-campaign against anti-tobacco activity. In educating the consumer in the use of tobacco the association will work through the retailer and endeavor to enlist physicians and scientists in the cause.

The headquarters of the association will be in Chicago.—Indianapolis News.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson, Valley City, North Dakota; Mrs. Howard Hoge, Lincoln, Virginia.

Treasurer, Mrs. E. P. Hutchinson, National Headquarters, Evanston, Illinois.

The Message extends sincerest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Stout who have recently been married and established a home near Oak chapel with address, Marion R. R. No. 7.

Mrs. Stout was Mrs. Sallie Shugart Edgerton, our loved White Ribboner and Evangelistic worker.

J. G. Dailey Music Co. of 4918 Kingsessing Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., has many excellent temperance and gospel selections.

"Prohibition Chimes" at 25 cents postpaid would be a great help in arranging for a public meeting. It contains "Papa Be True to Me," "The Dawning Day," "More Religion Needed Inside," "We Conquer or Die," "Keep a-Goin'."

Every temperance family should have temperance music in the home. At every temperance meeting there should be temperance songs sung.

If the W. C. T. U. meeting is well planned there will be at least one temperance song and one short reading.

Few temperance or W. C. T. U. songs are known or sung by our local unions.

With this new year suppose Each union LEARNS the Indiana Song, 'Some Glad Day,' the Crusade Glory Song, and at least three other temperance songs.

At public meetings arranged by the W. C. T. U. there should be temperance songs, temperance readings and temperance literature distributed.

Successful public meetings are seldom arranged for and advertised in less time than three weeks.

How long will it take women to realize the necessity of announcing and advertising a meeting if they expect "the people" to attend.

A recent county convention was held two days and one evening. Families living near the church arranged to attend on the second evening had not heard that there would be only one evening meeting. In reply to a question concerning it a prominent W. C. T. U. worker replied well "it was given out on Sunday in the church." Persons not members and who did not attend that church could not have heard the announcement. Successful commercial enterprises advertise largely.

World's Temperance Sunday is the last Sunday in November. In every community special arrangement should be made NOW for a splendid program for the Sunday Schools on that day.

Write now for samples of literature, programs, &c. Interview Sunday School superintendents right away and impress upon them the fact that this will give opportunity for several members of classes to help on the program by readings, songs, &c. Such a program will arouse an interest in the Sunday School and bring a large attendance on that day.

Have an announcement or publish the "Call for the Observance of World's Temperance Sunday" in the leading newspapers with comment that no doubt all the Sunday Schools will observe this World's Temperance Sunday.

The publication of the "Call" would cause many people to think about the good that could be accomplished and arouse to action many an indifferent Sunday School superintendent who would not care to be considered "behind the procession."

Right there at the end of the procession is every Sunday School superintendent who is not on the alert to help the temperance cause.

PROMINENT INDIANAPOLIS WOMAN CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL COMMISSIONER.

Miss Mary E. Nicholson is a candidate for school commissioner and a strong organization is backing her. It is indeed fitting that a woman of the rare ability, discretion and experience of Miss Nicholson should become a member of the Indianapolis School Board. For more than thirty years Miss Nicholson has been most intimately connected with the schools of Indianapolis as a teacher and later as principal of the Normal Training School. Concerning her candidacy a prominent Indianapolis woman said:

"Miss Nicholson has been recognized by the highest educational boards, the council of education and the National Teachers' Association. One better fitted for the place, in training and in personality, can not be found. It is upon these grounds that we will ask the men to vote for our candidate."

Before a name can be filed as a candidate for Indianapolis school commissioner a petition to the election board must be signed before a notary public by not less than three hundred voters who are householders. Miss Nicholson's petition was largely oversigned. Many people recognize the desirability of having a woman on a board so vitally related to the home and are enthusiastic in support of Miss Nicholson. The election will occur in November. The election of school commissioners is non-partisan, the candidates' names will be on separate ballots from those of other officers.

Remember this fact and urge voters to bear this in mind. Begin today to talk to voters about this matter and appeal to them to vote for Miss Nicholson.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION WILL BE HELD AT OMAHA, NEBRASKA, OCT. 22-27.

Every delegate elected should go on time and remain during the entire time.

Visitors are very welcome. All friends of the W. C. T. U. are cordially invited to go.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

The fortieth anniversary of the organization of the National Prohibition party will be celebrated at Chicago on Sept. 24th. Three great meetings are to be held, a public meeting in the afternoon, a reception at five o'clock and a banquet in the evening. At the banquet addresses will be made by former national candidates and by members of the National Committee. From our State Hon. Felix T. McWhirter, treasurer of the National Committee, will respond to the toast "The Prohibition Party—The Hope of Labor."

Other speakers are: "The Prohibitionist—a Pioneer"—Col. Sobieski; "An Educator," Dr. Cranfill; "A Champion of Free Speech and Free Press," A. G. Wolfenbarger; "A Constructive Statesman" Oliver W. Stewart; "A Patriotic Politician," W. G. Calderwood; "The Prohibition Party—the Advance Agent of Prosperity," Hon. A. A. Stevens; "Attitude Toward Other Great Reforms," Finley C. Hendrickson; "National Prohibition—the Next Step in Political Reform," Dr. Dickie.

The editor of the Message will attend this notable anniversary with her husband and will report some of its proceedings in the November issue.

WHEN FRANCE refused to loan money to the Finnish government because of its prohibitory law, it is now stated that the loan was secured from England without any difficulty whatever. All the newspapers of any influence in the Finnish language are refusing to accept advertisements of alcoholic drinks. In no house or club of Finnish workmen is the serving of alcoholic drinks allowed.

"THE LIQUOR TRADE has not yet seen its worst days," declared the Financial World, New York and Chicago, the well-known banking journal, and it continues under the editorial headline 'Growth of the Prohibition Wave': "That the investors in stocks and bonds of the breweries and distilleries are looking to the future with the greatest misgivings is not surprising. The opponents of the liquor industry have the powerful press, the churches and the women's organizations on their side, and the outcome of their war on the saloon seems hardly to be in doubt."

TEXAS has only twenty-four totally wet counties. In 1887 there were only five totally dry counties. County Prohibition now prevails in 157, and Prohibition is in force in large parts of the 64 remaining counties. In the Northwestern section of the Lone Star State there are 80 dry counties in one solid block, covering an area of nearly 75,000 square miles.

ONLY THREE COUNTIES in West Virginia are wholly wet, namely, Ohio, Fayette and McDowell. Forty counties are dry, and 12 are dry with the exception of one or two places. There are still 600 saloons, but Superintendent R. P. Hutton declares West Virginia will be dry in less than four years.

In four weeks of enforcement of the Sunday closing law in Newark, N. J., Monday's deposits of the workmen in four banks increased $57,000.

MRS. LIZZIE HEATH
State Supt. of Fair and Open Air Meetings
310 EAST WALNUT STREET
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Sept. 6-10 at the State Fair we had space contributed for a booth which was beautifully decorated with our banners, flags, charts, pictures, &c. Ice water, rocking chairs and couches were provided for tired mothers.

Many friends interested in Temperance registered with us. I spent the week at the booth, with the splendid help of the local women we were enabled to distribute 61,000 pages of literature and 3,000 postal cards.

The courtesies shown this line of our work by the Fair officials were much appreciated. There could be no better place than the Fair grounds, especially the State Fair to present our work display and distribute our literature and bring the stray W. C. T. U. sheep again into the fold, and let the people of this vast state, who flood the grounds and buildings at this time know that God and Temperance are a living issue. No other religious or philanthropic society is ever represented.

YOURS FOR SERVICE.

FROM EXCHANGES.

The Business Men's Association of Creston, Iowa, reports that out of 100 men who pay their bills promptly, only three are drinking men.

Three years prohibition in Union County, S. C. decreased drunkenness fifty per cent and increased the valuation of property $2,000,000.

The true temperance method is one of education and elimination. It educates the people and eliminates the saloon.

The last addition to the Prohibition column, from the large cities, is Worcester, Mass., with a population of over 143,000.

Many thousands of dollars' worth of opium pipes have been publicly burned in China of late. "The smoke of these fires of freedom and reform will perfume the world."

Science once said: "Let the fittest survive." The Church of Christ says: "Fit as many to survive as possible."

The wettest county in West Virginia has fifty-two more prisoners in the penitentiary than the thirty-two dry counties combined.

No city or colony, or land company or manufacturing plant, or any other place in civilization ever advertises liquor saloons as among its advantages when seeking to attract people to their neighborhood.

Good Saloons and bad have alike only one product—debased manhood, ruined families and increased vice and crime.

We have never found a saloon where whisky would not make a man drunk, or one that would not send its patron out to make a fool of himself, or one that would not send a man home to terrorize his family.

A MOURNER WRITING A LETTER ABOUT PROHIBITION IN BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

I was in Birmingham the other day. You know it is a "dead town." Prohibition killed it. Since it dried up, the railroads running through it have built a Union Station at a cost of $2,000,000. The railroads knew nobody would ever come to this dead town, but they wanted a big station anyhow hence the $2,000,000 investment. A nine story office building has just been completed. The builders of course do not expect those offices to be occupied, hence this investment. The Chamber of Commerce has just built a six story building. No commerce is expected to exist in Birmingham, but the business men built a six story building just for amusement. A sixteen story building has just been completed also. The owner of this building had a lot of surplus money and knowing the town was dead and that no further business would ever be transacted, he just wanted to put his money where it could not be lost. He does not want all these offices to be used. A company is now being organized to build a $1,000,000 hotel. The stockholders do not expect any guests to come to the dead town but they just wanted to invest $1,000,000. The Empire Building fifteen stories is now being constructed and is almost half completed. This is being erected simply as a monument to mark the place where life once existed. This building would be a credit to a live town. There are no vacant houses either in the business or residence parts of the city. New homes are being constructed by the dozen. I saw these things with my own eyes, and yet Birmingham is "dead." Bowling Green, Ky. is dying the same way.—A Mourner, in Exchange.

Field News

Brightwood Union has been too busy to write for sometime. May 19, Rev. C. M. Fillmore gave his lecture on "Mother," in the Brightwood Congregational church. June 22 we held a lawn fete on the R. R. Y. M. C. A. lawn. We gave Hadley school $5.00 toward the new well. Mme Jarley and her wax figures were quite an attraction at this fete. July 22 we took the L. T. L. children to Garfield Park for an all day picnic, which the children enjoyed very much. We have had three county workers to visit our meetings this summer. Mesdames Heath, Miller and Morgan, county treasurer, superintendents of R. R. work and Sabbath observance, respectively. We used the Crusade Pledge cards in a membership contest, gaining twelve members. The Blue side won by two members. We gave to Door of Hope 11 jars of fruit and 4 glasses of jelly. We are planning a rummage sale to be held soon by which we hope to add quite a neat sum to our treasury.

Posey County W. C. T. U. met in convention at Poseyville in the M. E. church, Thursday, Sept. 16, morning and afternoon. The entire morning session was devoted to the business of the county union, after the convention was opened with a devotional service consisting of songs and prayer and the reading of the 103rd Psalm—this was conducted by Mrs. May Cleveland. After roll-call of the officers there was a brief review of the year's work of the two unions forming the county union. Reports were given of good work in some of the departments. Some red letter days had been observed as "Frances Willard Day" and "Flower Mission Day." A state lecturer had given six lectures in the county and an effort had been made to organize new unions but no permanent organizations were effected. The Press superintendent of Poseyville, when giving her report expressed their gratitude to the editor of their papers for past kindness. The matter of sending a delegate to the state convention, to be held at Muncie, Oct. 1-5, was next considered and Mrs. Lou Rogers was chosen to go. The county treasurer gave her report which showed a small balance on hands after sending on State and National dues. The annual election of officers was the last business of the morning. The following were chosen: President Mrs. Lou Rogers, Poseyville; vice president, Mrs. Chas. Copeland, Poseyville; recording and corresponding secretary, Miss Inez Lysle Williams, Mt. Vernon; treasurer, Mrs. May Cleveland, Poseyville.

The afternoon session was opened with a devotional service conducted by Mrs. Rogers; she read the Crusade Psalm and Rev. Rader led in prayer. Mrs. I. Fletchall next read a paper on the subject "The Great Mothers of the Bible," in which she interestingly gave a brief account of some of the Bible mothers, beginning with Eve, "so chosen because she was the mother of all living" and closing with Mary, the mother of Jesus. This was followed by an instrumental duet by the Misses Fletchall which was beautiful and faultlessly rendered. Rev. Rader, of the Christian church of Poseyville, gave an address on "How Can the Church Co-operate in a More Effective Temperance Work?" in which some splendid points were given. In the course of the address he spoke of the success of the Prohibition in Alabama and in Kansas, too, saying he knew whereof he spoke since he had been there. But he reminded us that a Prohibition law is just as sure to be violated in some instances as is the law against theft or murder, and those laws have been in the statute books for years. "But," said he, "let us make it easy for the law to be kept." He also said that the liquor element realize that it is not just a few fanatics who advocate the temperance and a temperate life are things thought out and lived and become an accepted thing with the Christian people of today. Miss Lura Davis sang a beautiful sacred solo. A paper on "Why Should Scientific Temperance be Taught in the Schools," was read by Miss Inez MacGregor. The facts were brought out that the W. C. T. U. has secured the passing of laws in each state of our U. S. requiring the teaching of the effect of alcohol and narcotics on the human system in all public schools including army and navy schools. In this way, by agitation and education our Union is helping to secure the observance of these laws. Rev. Bradbury of the Gen'l Baptist church of Poseyville, gave an interesting and helpful address on "What Can Be Done for Temperance by the Y. P. Societies." He spoke of its being one of the hopeful signs of the times the fact that the young people are doing things along these lines—that we can afford to be optimistic and not discourage just as Luther and his co-workers during the reformation when much of discouragement was to be found, when he learned that a group of youths were congregated and were praying for the reformation; took heart and went to work with renewed life and hope and won the victory. He said 'tis a hopeful sign that so many young people now consider strong drink a decidedly bad thing, when once they spoke tolerably of it, and that "we are striking at the roots," when we put the work into the hands of the young people. After a few closing remarks by the president, the convention adjourned.

Franchise report of Jay county at annual convention at Dunkirk, Ind., Sept. 17, 1909: "Some movements in history have been brought about by the stroke of a pen or the sudden uprising of the people, like a great tidal wave, sweeping every thing before it, others have come more slowly as the result of years of effort." Seventy years ago women could not vote anywhere except to a limited extent in Sweden and a few others places in the old world. Now they have equal political rights in the States of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho, and in New Zealand, Isle of Man, Australia, Tasmania and Finland, and while many states and countries have conferred limited suffrage. The past year has seen many victories. More and more the "Leading Periodicals" open their pages to the cause of Woman Suffrage. In commenting on the election of Ella Flagg Young as superintendent of the Chicago schools, "The St. Louis Mirror" says: "A woman has been made superintendent of public schools of Chicago, at a salary of $10,000. But the laws of Illinois do not permit such a woman to vote. Woman has demonstrated an intelligence equal to the demands of most important and complicated affairs of a complicated civilization, but her mind isn't equal to the performance of a function which we freely accord to the lowest and most ignorant classes of the male population. We 'revere' and 'idolize' woman, but we don't give her credit for the simplest common sense. If all women do not want to vote, they need not but for that reason it is absurd to deny the ballot to the intelligent women who do want it and can and will use it for their own benefit and that of the general public. I believe the true underlying reason why most men do not want women to have the vote is that women would make an end of hypocrisies in politics. Women are honest, save as man's domination has made them otherwise. Women with the ballot would not stand for the miserable subterfuges whereby politicians contrive to palm off upon the people shadows for substances. The woman who has been made superintendent of public schools of Chicago has the most important administrative and executive office of any woman in the world. If she doesn't go straight to the mark of perfecting the efficiency of the schools it will be for no other reason than that she is subordinate to a school board."

Thirty-four states write encouragingly of their work for Woman's Enfranchisement. Co-operation of the "Equal Suffrage Association" has proved helpful in twelve states. The National Progressive Woman's Suffrage Union has invited foreigners to its headquarters to learn English, and become familiar with the principles of Woman Suffrage. The 4,000,000 working women of France are getting ready to demand equal pay for equal work. Dear Sisters, don't you see the importance of every local union having its Franchise superintendent and getting to work in earnest. The ballot is the only weapon which can kill the saloon. And we must use all the means in our power that will enable us to secure advance ground in the enfranchisement and universal right of women. In our county we have 3005 women tax payers. We feel the injustice of this "taxation without representation." We have held two parlor meetings, one lecture, circulated six petitions, secured signatures and distributed franchise leaflets. We take four franchise papers. Sarah Platt Decker, of Colorado, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, says: "There is an undecipherable uplift in the thought that one is no longer classed with criminals, paupers and idiots." There is a splendid womanly independence in being a voting citizen, and an absorbing interest in fulfilling the duty of citizenship; and there is a much more chivalrous devotion and respect on the part of men, who look upon their sisters, not as playthings, nor as property, but as equals and fellow-citizens."—Mrs. Maggie Williamson, Co. Supt. Franchise.

The Benton County convention met at the Presbyterian church in Earl Park, Sept. 14 and 15. Mrs. Amanda Smith, president for seven years presided. The superintendents of each of the sixteen departments gave a report of the work done for the past year. The papers read were both interesting and instructive. The presidents of the four unions, Boswell, Otterbein, Oxford and Earl Park gave a review of the work done by each union. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was with us and gave several talks on both Tuesday and Wednesday, and lectured at the opera house Tuesday night to an appreciative audience. Benton county is very grateful to Mrs. Stanley for her help in making Benton "dry." She has the deep earnestness and rare eloquence that convinces her hearers that she stands for Temperance once and always. Her memorial service for the departed members of the W. C. T. U. at our convention was most beautiful and touching. The white ribbon was pinned on three babies, sons of Earl Park members. This union, with 42 members, has furnished six baby boys for the "cradle roll of the Prohibition party" since last April. The convention adjourned Sept.

14, after one of the most profitable sessions ever held. The officers re-elected were: President. Mrs. Amanda Smith, Oxford; vice pres. Mrs. Minnie Barr, Earl Park; rec. sec., Mrs. Nellie Stevenson, Otterbein; cor. sec., Mrs. Lily Petree, Oxford; treas., Mrs. Estella Smith, Boswell.—Mrs. Erma McMahan, Press Supt.

The Decatur County W. C. T. U. met in annual convention Sept. 8 in the Methodist church at Letts. The convention was called to order by Mrs. Laura Thompson, of Greensburg. After devotional exercises Mrs. Thompson was asked to preside in the place of the president, Miss Mary Gray, who was not able to do so on account of recent illness. Several interesting testimonies were given, also a short address by Mrs. C. C. Meek of Forest Hill. A luncheon was served at noon by the Letts Union to the delegates from Greensburg. The afternoon session was opened by prayer by Mrs. C. C. Meek. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Mary Gray, Greensburg; Vice President, Mrs. Nettie Parker, Greensburg; Recording Secretary Mrs. Ella Wright, Greensburg; corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Cora McDowell, Sardinia; Treasurer, Mrs. Zella Fraley, Letts. The reports of the superintendents showed progress all along lines represented. A beautiful vocal solo by Miss Rose Meredith, of Sardinia, was enjoyed, and Rev. Davis and others gave short but interesting talks. Fifteen delegates were present from Greensburg, and eight from Sardinia. A vote of thanks was tendered the church board for the use of the church, and to the people of Letts for their hospitality. The next annual convention will be at Sardinia.—Cora McDowell County Corresponding Secretary.

Normal City: The annual election of officers held with following result: Pres., Mrs. Ella Bond; Vice Pres., Mrs. Edith Nuzum; Cor. Sec., Mrs. Emma Williams; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Della Chambers; Treas., Mrs. Mary Ebright; Supts., Miss Mabel Morrow; Flower Mission, Mrs. Girken; Medical Tem., Mrs. Caroline Wallace; Press, Mrs. Mattie Hasily; Proportionate Giving, Mrs. Mary Covolt; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Mary Mathews; Sunday School, Mrs. Gay Calvert; Oratorical contest, Mrs. Hattie Dawson.

The Annual Decatur County convention of the W. C. T. U. was held at the Methodist church at Letts Corner on Wednesday, Sept. 8. About 20 members of our local organization were in attendance, in addition to a number of the Sardinia union. The morning session was opened by devotions conducted by our local president and was given over to short talks by members of the various unions represented. At the afternoon session the following officers were elected: President, Miss Mary Gray, Greensburg; Vice President, Mrs. Nettie Parker, Greensburg; Cor. Sec. Mrs. Ella B. Wright, Greensburg; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Cora McDowell, Sardinia; Treas., Mrs. Zella Fraley, Letts. At the conclusion of the business a program was rendered, consisting of a synopsis of the work being done by superintendents of different departments of Sunday school work, medical temperance, flower mission and press. There was a beautiful solo by Miss Rose Meredith of Sardinia, and several brief but interesting talks.—Mrs. Lillie B. McKim.

The Union County W. C. T. U. annual convention was held Sept. 11 in the M. E. church at College Corner with good attendance. Meeting opened by singing hymn 246, scripture lesson and prayer by the Vice President, Mrs. Fyler. Superintendents' reports were fine, especially that of the flower mission superintendent. Election of officers as follows: Pres., Mrs. Bertha Miller; Vice Pres. Mrs. Conklin; Sec., Miss Anna Buck; Tres., Mrs. Ada Garett. Fourteen superintendents of departments were appointed.

Mrs. G. E. Denny, of Madison, organized the Vayhinger Senior L. T. L. at Morris chapel.

Grant County—Aaron Worth union met recently on the shady lawn of Mrs. Nettie Ware. Two departments had place on the afternoon's program. Four little girls sang beautifully, Mrs. India Payne had charge of the devotional. Mrs. Gulie Shugart told us "How Our Union Can Extend Its Influence." Little Ina Dilts gave an Anti-Cigarette selection. Reading by Mrs. Eva Dare, "Reasons Why Women Should Vote." Mrs. Sallie Edgerton gave us one of her very helpful and inspiring Bible Readings, The Leaflet. Some fake patent medicine advertisements were read, followed with a lively discussion.

Seymour meetings were held during the hot weather with usual enthusiasm and with a good attendance. The following officers were elected for the year:

President—Mrs. Wilbur Pfaffenberger.
Vice President—Mrs. R. R. Short.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. J. E. McKinney.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. F. Teckenmyer.
Treasurer—Mrs. Wylie.

The Washington County W. C. T. U. met in an all day's convention at the home of Mrs. Fannie B. Ellis, Salem, Ind., Thursday, Sept. 23, 1909, and was one of the most successful and pleasant meetings held in recent years. The reports of the presidents of the different unions represented showed that they were in good condition financially and in the point of membership. It was decided to observe Thursday, Oct. 21, as a day of conference and prayer.—Campbellsburg.

THE MESSAGE

Wells County Convention: Wells county had another great convention on Sept. 14 at Keystone, surpassing on more than one line any convention ever held in the county. The ladies of Keystone secured the fine "Woodmen's hall" in which to hold the day session, serving dinner and supper in the dining room. They had spared no pains in providing royally for the entertainment of their guests and performed their part in a magnificent manner. The attendance was fine, interest deep and enthusiasm high. The usual routine of business was transacted rapidly, satisfactorily and harmoniously. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of all but the treasurer; although the president, Mrs. Willis, had made special earnest request that a new president be elected. The ladies made answer "No!" with fifty out of fifty-four votes on first ballot. Officers elected were: Pres., Mrs. E. A. Willis; Vice Pres., Mrs. Belle Hacker; Rec. Sec., Mrs. D. T. Smith; Cor. Sec., Mrs. E. Ellingham; Treas., Mrs. Fannay Garrett. Mrs. Natling who served the county last year declined the office this year. She expects to spend much of her time away from home with her child. The evening session was held in the M. P. church, which was filled to overflowing with interested listeners. This meeting was a new departure for our county it being a demonstration of "Department Work." Nine of the departments were explained and demonstrated. We believe the people got a much clearer understanding of some of the things we are doing than could have been had in any other way. It was a source of the greatest pleasure to the county president and the W. C. T. U. ladies of Keystone who had the work in charge, that men, women and children of every age, responded so heartily when it was known they would be needed. The young men and women had entire charge of the music and singing, using none but temperance songs, and also gave voluntary service in carrying out the demonstrations. We wish you had the space to let us tell you all about it, but we know how you have not, but listen! The old gentleman that acted the grandfather in the Sabbath observance department is 87 years of age and at the close of the meeting donned the white ribbon. He had never used tobacco nor intoxicants.—Mrs. A. B. Hacker.

Owen County: The members of the W. C. T. U. of Owen county met in the M. E. church at Spencer Aug. 27. The convention was called to order by the president, Mrs. Walter Jones. An organ voluntary was given by Miss Mary Mead, devotional services by Mrs. Jones. The Gosport and Carp members were welcomed by a short address given by Mrs. M. C. Bumgartner, was fittingly responded to by Mrs. Zala Wampler, of Gosport, Ind. After business reports from local unions were read. The following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Bessie Strain of Gosport.
Vice President—Mrs. McClaren.
Treasurer—Mrs. Florence Lawson, Spencer.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Vernon Stone, Gosport.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Haltom.
Prison and Jail Department—Mrs. James Laymon, Spencer.
Contest Work—Mrs. Lawson.

Mothers' Department—Mrs. Alice Wampler.
Sabbath Observance—Mrs. Dr. Rice.
Flower Mission—Miss Estell McHenry.
Literature Department—Mrs. Dora Haltom.
Franchise Department—Mrs. Morgan.
L. T. L. Department—Mrs. John Christy.
Railroad Department—Mrs. Will Hoadly.
Mrs. Bessie Strain rendered a pleasing solo, after which dinner was served to all in the dining room of the church and a delightful social time was enjoyed by all. In the afternoon an excellent program was rendered. An organ voluntary by Miss Mead, singing and prayer service was lead by Mrs. Eastes. A paper, "The Importance of a Flower Mission to Any Community" was read by Miss Lillian Teague. After a ten minutes discussion a recitation was given by James Westfal. A duet, "Holy Father Guide Our Footsteps" was sung by Mrs. Dr. Gray and Mrs. Drescher. A paper, "The Power of Influence," was read by Mrs. Dr. Rice. Another recitation was given by James Westfal. "How to Deal with the Blind Tiger," was interestingly discussed by Rev. D. L. Thomas and Mr. Fred Pochin. A quartette rendered by Mrs. Strain, Mrs. Haltom, Mrs. Fox and Miss Teague, of Gosport, was much appreciated. The Spencer and Carp unions were invited to Gosport next September by Mrs. Wampler. The convention was pleasant and helpful.

Allen County: The annual reunion of the Frances Willard (Fort Wayne) union was held at Sweney Park, Aug. 18. The unions of the county were invited and all who were able to accept this invitation returned with glowing accounts of the day and that pleasure and business were combined. Mrs. Hunter, our county superintendent of Fair and Open Air meetings, with willing White Ribboners to help, are planning to do good work this coming week at the county fair and will have a "home" on the grounds and distribute literature and try to "help a little." Our county convention is to be held Sept. 8 in the assembly room of the Court House. An all day and evening session. The evening to be given to a grand gold medal contest in charge of Mrs. Florence Barnhardt, county contest superintendent. We hope to close the year with good reports and meet our sisters at Muncie with the glad greeting that we: For God and Home and Native Land, still gladly toil, still firmly stand.

The Gibson County convention was held at Princeton in the First Baptist church Tuesday, Sept. 14, at 2:30 p. m., with a large attendance. The convention was called to order by our county president, Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl. After a hymn from our White Ribbon hymnal, the reports from the superintendents of the different departments were heard. Following a vocal solo by Mrs. Morrison. a literary program consisting of two papers was much enjoyed. These papers "On Woman's Suffrage," were carefully prepared and read by Mrs. A. L. Smith and Mrs. S. J. Simpson. They gave strong evidence of the importance of the ballot being placed in our hands, such a result will bring to the front the moral issues rather than the commercial issues in politics. The same officers of the present year were re-elected for the coming year. We rejoice in the great victory we have gained over the state during the past year, but realize that we have much more work to do and may we keep on working and praying for the still greater triumph, "State wide Prohibition."—Katherine Youngman, Co. Press Supt.

Dearborn County convention was held in Bellevue M. E. church in Homestead Sept. 10, with Mrs. Margaret S. Gibson, county president in the chair. Each union in the county was represented. Rev. Wilson of Lawrenceburg, Rev. Scott Rader, of Aurora, and Rev. Leffingwell of Guilford, were present. These are all honorary members and their presence and interest was most encouraging to the workers. Reports of presidents and superintendents showed much activity in the work. Guilford union reported having more than doubled its membership. The county Sunday school banner which has been held by Bright union for several years, was awarded to Moores Hill union for best Sunday school work. Rev. W. B. Grimes of New Albany was with us throughout the day and in the afternoon gave his lecture entitled, "The Water Wagon," which was both interesting and instructive. A spirit of unity pervaded the sessions and we feel that we are better organized than ever before for the fight against King Alcohol.—Mrs. A. E. Rynerson, Co. Press Supt.

Hamilton County convention was held at Carmel. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Margaret Cox, Westfield; Cor. Sec., Miss Florence Trittapo, Fishers Station; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Etta Pierce, Hortonville; treasurer, Mrs. Etta Briles, Westfield.

Montpelier: The visit of the Montpelier W. C. T. U. to the home of Mrs. Roy Kitterman, a member residing in the county, is one long to be remembered by all who were present, both on account of the beautiful day for the affair, and the pleasant time enjoyed by all. The major part of the crowd went out on the 10:47 car, while several drove and upon arriving they found the table spread and Mrs. Kitterman in midst of preparations for dinner. At the noon hour all were seated and served with a bountiful dinner consisting of fried chicken, pumpkin pie and countless other good things from the farm. To say that all enjoyed the dinner would be putting it very mildly for the occasion was one of the most pleasant which has taken place within the circle of the union for some time.

In the afternoon a business session was held and three new members received after which the time was spent socially and it was a late afternoon car that brought the party home.

The Jay County convention was held on the 17th at Dunkirk. Mrs. Faulkner, of Dunkirk, made a bright and appropriate welcome address, which relieved a response from Mrs. Leavalle, of Redkey, who briefly reviewed the history and work of the W. C. T. U., urged renewed effort for state and national prohibition and warned members that the necessity for the existence of this world-wide union would not cease when prohibition of the use of intoxicants is accomplished. Many other evils will remain and much education is needed to eradicate them. The report of the recording secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Fulton, shows a membership of 182, a gain of 27 in the last year. The membership is divided up into seven local unions. The reports of superintendents of departments showed a surprising amount of work accomplished, both charitable and educational. After superintendents' reports, election of officers was held and the union re-elected for another year those who have served it so well in the past: President, Mrs. Hannah Andrews, Redkey; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. T. Gillum; Treasurer Mrs. Nettie Stovenour; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Fulton.

LaPorte Union held its annual meeting August 30th. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Linora Hanchett Vice President, Mrs. Ella Canare; Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Mrs. Seth Pease; Treasurer, Mrs. J. N. Harmon. The Vice Presidents from the churches are: First Baptist, Mrs. Mary Baumgardner; First M. E., Mrs. Lizzie Harmon; the Friends' church, Mrs. Joanna Adams. A $5.00 collection for Hadley school was taken.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

W. A. Gates, Secretary of the California board of charities in an address at the convention of the American Prison Association, said:

"The county jail has been charged, indicted, tried and convicted time and time again for ruining the bodies and souls of its victims, but each time the execution has been stayed, and it is still unwhipped of justice," said W. A. Gates, secretary of the California board of charities, in an address at the convention of the American Prison Association today.

"To reform the county jail and make it an instrument of good instead of evil the following steps are necessary:

"District workhouses for all prisoners sentenced to terms in jail and a proper labor system installed therein.

"A separate cell for each prisoner, well lighted and ventilated, and supplied with sanitary plumbing.

"Sufficient rooms or departments, so prisoners may be classified according to sex, age and apparent criminality, and each class be completely separated from the other.

"Trained jailers with humane instincts and high character, who appreciate the opportunity of making better the persons placed in their charge.

"The improvement of our county jail system however depends upon a general improvement of social order. No material advance will be made until man puts a higher value upon his fellowman. Society must feel that men are worth saving before it will throw out the life line. This will not come until we forsake the worship of the 'golden calf' and give obedience to the Golden Rule."

The Marion County W. C. T. U. held its annual convention in the Fletcher Place M. E. church Sept. 14 and 15. Mrs. J. H. Boyer, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Mary Kinzer, who had been called to the bedside of her youngest daughter who was critically ill. Marion county has less than 550 members, but if the wish of its treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Heath, be fulfilled, which is that "each woman secure at least one new member this year," our county will measure up more nearly to what may rightly be expected of us. There are 15 unions in the county. Palmer union has the banner senior L. T. L., 80 members enrolled. Reports from the superintendents of departments showed much work done, several reports being unusually fine.

At the closing session of the convention Rev. Harry G. Hill delivered an able address in which he paid a glowing tribute to the work of the W. C. T. U. and intimated that saloons would be banished if temperance men would concentrate their efforts as do the women of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Luella McWhirter told in a practical way "How the W. C. T. U. may assist Indianapolis Mothers." The Memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Martha Gipe. The convention was favored with a solo by Mr. J. L. M. Kerr with Mrs. Coe Brennan pianist. By request Mr. Kerr sang our State song. Miss Ida Virginia Smith won the gold medal at the contest which was held Tuesday night. The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Judge S. R. Artman.
Vice President—Dr. Martha Kellar.
Recording Secretary—Miss Susan McWhirter.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Nina Brigham.
L. T. L. Secretary—Mrs. Mary Kinzer.

The list of superintendents of departments given below shows few changes: Italian work, Mrs. E. B. Cummings; Hungarian, Miss Della Brown; medical temperance, Dr. Martha Keller; scientific temperance Mrs. W. A. Fox; Sunday school work, Mrs. George B. McKee; mercy work, Mrs. Nina Murphy; purity in literature and art, Mrs. Robert Stockman; literature, Miss Bessie Eckman; press, Mrs. Ella Oaks; narcotics, Mrs. Amanda Lambert; oratorical contests, Mrs. Cora Harper; Hadley industrial school, Mrs. Lizzie Hann; proportionate giving, Mrs. J. H. Boyer; jails and prisons, Mrs. L. E. Scott; evangelistic work, Mrs. Ellen Davis; railroad work, Mrs. Susan Miller; soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Dotia Dougherty; Sabbath observance, Mrs. Julia Morgan; mothers meetings, Mrs. Martha L. Gipe; flower committees Mrs. G. D. Thornton; Christian citizenship, Mrs. W. N. Norris; musical director, Mrs. Coe Blodgett Brennan.

The convention adopted the following resolutions

Whereas, Stimulants and narcotic are provided for the inmates of some of our public institutions at the public expense.

Resolved, That the Marion County W. C. T. U. condemns this practice as insanitary and dangerous and a misuse of the public funds.

Resolved, That the Marion County W. C. T. U. approves of the new policy of the superintendent of public instruction, in his effort to incorporate hygienic instruction in the public schools of the state, and that the Marion County W. C. T. U. co-operate as much as possible in bringing this about.

This closed one of the most helpful and enthusiastic convention ever held in Marion County.—Ella D. Oakes, Co. Press Supt.

Our Promoted Comrades

Miss Sopha Burtch, the beloved and honored flower mission superintendent of Gosport Union, has passed from labor to reward. She was a faithful earnest, consecrated worker, always in her place when ever her health would permit. We thank God for the life and work of Miss Burtch and may His blessing continually abide with our union.—Mrs. Mattie Kingman.

HOW DID YOU DIE?

Dear Mrs. McWhirter:—When discouraged I always look toward the goal of absolute prohibition and repeat over and over:

Did you tackle that trouble that came your way,
With resolute heart and cheerful,
Or did you hide away from the light of day,
With a craven soul and fearful
A trouble's a ton, or a trouble's on ounce,
A trouble is what you make it.
It isn't the fact that your hurt that counts,
But only "how did you take it?"

You're beaten to earth, well, well, what's that?

Come up with a smiling face,
It's nothing against you to fall down flat,
But to lie there—that's disgrace.
The harder you're thrown, the higher you'll bounce.

Be proud of your blackened eye.
It isn't the fact that you're licked that counts,
But it's how did you fight; and why?

And though you are dunned to the death
What then, if you battled the best you could,
If you played your part in the world of men,
The critic will call it good.

Death comes with a crawl, or it comes with a pounce,
But whether it be slow or spy
It isn't the fact that you're dead that counts,
But only, "how did you die?"

Note—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley read the above with telling effect at close of her Response on Welcome Night.

THE MEDICAL ASPECT OF THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

(Dr. F. F. Hutchins.)

It is an honor you have extended and a pleasure for me to address the representatives of this great organization tonight. It is to be regretted that I am not sent here by the physicians of the state because these two organizations both laboring for a common cause should bear a closer relationship to each other. The medical profession has recognized the action of alcohol on the human system and for a long time has been trying to overcome the evil effects. The W. C. T. U. also has recognized the action of alcohol on the human system, but it has gone directly to the root of the matter declaring that the evil effects would not exist if alcohol were prohibited. There are no grounds for an argument. We have labored along the lines of science to correct a condition ;you following a principle, have sought to prevent this condition. Naturally we have adopted your ideas, and it is to be hoped all forces may soon be united in overcoming this greatest evil of our times, the use of alcohol as a beverage. It is not alone on the alcohol question that our profession has changed. Physicians are no longer mere dispensers of powders and pills. They are not contented with the overcoming of human suffering but have great laboratories and hundreds of the most skilled and scientific observers studying causes. Prevention is one of the keynotes of today. Every condition is studied, the cause is carefully sought for, and a means of prevention worked out along scientific lines. So much of this information, especially on the alcohol question, has been published in the various magazines and periodicals that even the indifferent are forced to be observant. Great men from the laboratories of both Europe and this country are publishing the cold unbiased facts about alcohol. Prof. Welch, of Johns Hopkins University is the most eminent pathologist of this country. Physicians everywhere revere him and respect his opinion. He says in an extended article that "Alcohol is a poison to all living organism, both animal and vegetable." I could go on indefinitely quoting from high authorities, opinions against the use of liquor, but even a speaking acquaintance with members of the W. C. T. U. will soon convince one that they are alive to the situation. However there is one field that not much has been written about. One of the divisions of our laboratory and research work is given over to the investigation of the probable needs of the future, with the view to present development along lines that will help to meet the strains to come. This led to the establishment of great centers for psychological study and information. It was the natural outcome for in the past man was a

CHICAGO'S GREATEST PARADE.

Chicago had a great temperance parade Sept. 25. It was the most remarkable demonstration in the history of any reform movement the great temperance and law enforcement parade—Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, commander of the Department of the lakes of the U. S. Army, with a mounted escort of veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, 40,000 people in the parade.

Mrs. Emily M. Hill, president of Cook Co. W. C. T. U., conceived the idea of the parade. The newspapers said the parade was ten miles long. This we do know that on Saturday afternoon from three to six o'clock all traffic on State street, south of Marshall Field's store for many blocks was entirely stopped, the street cars did not run. The parade was the most wonderful temperance parade in the history of the movement. It consisted of representatives of all the temperance societies in Chicago and suburbs, the Sunday schools, churches and many other Christian, philanthropic fraternal organizations and Law and Order societies.

This marvelous parade was witnessed by tens of thousands of Chicago's busy citizens.

The Loyal Temperance Legions had many wagons and floats, all of these filled with girls and boys singing their songs and giving rallying cries to the throngs of people on the sidewalks. It was a thrilling sight. The educational features of the parade against lawlessness and the saloon was telling. One feature of the parade was called "57 Varieties"—a big wagon with high standards all covered with white, somewhat in semblance of a hearse was drawn by four horses. In it was a black coffin, following behind it were 57 persons in single file with white shrouds and white face masks, representing ghosts. Each one carried a large white banner on which was a statement of how he died in a certain saloon in Chicago, mentioning the street number and date. This was an awful portrayal of Chicago's annual crimes. Tallyhos, wagons, floats, carriages and automobiles by the hundreds were in line while members of many societies walked. Every vehicle had Prohibition or Law Enforcement banner. All had American flag decorations. The liquor men saw the spirit of the hand writing on the wall, their traffic is doomed. Every city can have a temperance parade, not like this Chicago parade perhaps, but an educational parade.

INDIANAPOLIS, NOV. 9-10.

A meeting of the National Inter-Church Temperance Council will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Building Indianapolis, Indiana, November 9th and 10th. This promises to be not only a most inspiring and instructive gathering, but far reaching in its influence and possibilities. Eight denominations have now united through their official temperance agencies for the furtherance of this reform. The prayer that the Church would undertake to do her full duty on this subject promises to be fulfilled. After so many years of waiting almost every denomination in the United States has established a temperance agency of its own and several of these churches have placed from one to a half dozen men in the field who are authorized to represent the Church and speak with authority for the Church. These are the men who will gather at Indianapolis, November 9th and 10th. On the program will be some of the leading scientists, educators, editors, authors, ministers, judges and specialists to be found in the United States.

This is not a political gathering nor is it designed for political purposes. It is a meeting of the official representatives of the churches and purposes to confine itself to the lines of work laid down in the Basis of Agreement previously adopted.

Dear Sisters, I send this list of questions to you through The Message. Now, dear Sisters, you will have the questions that the National Superintendent asks and that you are expected to answer, before you in the beginning of the year. Wont you please keep a record of all work done until next September and then send your reports promptly to your County and State Superintendents.

How many local unions in your county? How many local Superintendents? How many reported? How many mothers' meetings have been held? What was the average attendance? What topics were best received. How many parents' meetings have been held? Give results. How many subscribers to Union Signal? How many original papers read? How many books in your loan libraries? How many pages of literature distributed? How many White Ribbon Recruits enrolled? How many meetings or receptions have been held for these children or their mothers? How many mothers have been won for our cause? Have you the Curfew ordinance? Please keep this list of questions for reference.

REPORT OF THE STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF LAW AND STATISTICS OF INDIANA.

Sisters of the State W. C. T. U.:

I have come before you with a report, not what I would like it to be by any means, but I have sent out cards to County Presidents where there were no County Superintendents of Law and Statistics and have received fifteen answers in all, so my report will be approximate all the way through.

In sending out my cards I asked the following questions:

(1) Has your county voted on Local Option? (2) If so, what majority for wet or dry? (3) How many saloons put out of business in your County? (4) How many breweries? (5) How many arrests for drunk in your county, 1909? (6) How many police have you in your county? (7) What is the total amount of their salaries?

To the above questions I have received fifteen answers which total the following:

Ans. 1—Yes 14; No 1.
2—16725 for Dry; 751 for wet.
3—298.
4—4.
5—1348.
6—188.
7—$227,222.

By my personal investigations I find the following:

Number of counties in the State, 82.
Number organized for W. C. T. U., 72.
Number of organized counties that have voted Dry, 49.
Number of organized counties that have voted wet, 8.
Number of organized counties that have not voted, 15.
Number of organized counties, dry by remonstrance, 5.
Number of unorganized counties, 20.
Number of unorganized counties that have voted dry, 8.
Number of unorganized counties that have voted wet, 4.
Number of counties that have not voted, 10.
Whole number of counties voting wet, 12; and they have 716 saloons.
The ten counties that have not voted contain 2,623 saloons.

Total number of saloons now in State, 3,339.
Total number of saloons closed by Remonstrance and Local Option elections, 2,661.

I have sent 136 postal cards, with the above numbered questions to County Presidents, where there were no Superintendents of Law and Statistics and also sent 14 cards to County Superintendents of Law and Statistics, and have received only fifteen replies.

There is one fact that is very gratifying to the Temperance Host and that is that no County "Dry by Remonstrance" has returned to the wets by Local Option vote.

We have 1,016 Townships in the State, of which 116 are wet.

We now have but one county, Vanderburg, in which every Township is wet.

Of the 68 counties that have voted drys have a majority of 68,880.

Each saloon pays to the City, County and State, an average license fee of $250, making the total license $834,750.

Number of police in State 1,000 approximately.

Total salaries to police, $906,000.

A conservative estimate would show that three-fourth of all arrests are caused by whisky.

Number sent to County jails, 920.

Cost of Board for drunks, $27,600.

We now have 1,800,000 people living in dry territory in the State of Indiana.

I have sent out nine letters in answer to inquiries on points of Law.

SECRETARIES' MESSAGE.

Dear Comrades of the White Ribbon Army:

Our great convention in Muncie is a mater of history, but I hope the enthusiasm generated there has already reached to every local union, awakening in each greater activity and intensifying our love for the great cause in which we are engaged. And now with renewed faith and courage, let us turn our faces to the future with a determination to win greater victories than in the past. Here is the battle cry for the next year; "100 new unions and 10,000 members in Indiana by Sept., 1910. This means a gain of about 2,500, which when apportioned out among the unions means one new member to three old ones. Think of it! Any three of us can certainly persuade one woman to join our ranks. Begin now. Ask some neighbor to read the account of our state convention in this copy of "The Message." Get a copy of the state minutes when they are out and ask her to read the magnificent address of our State President, which, by the way, should be read by every White Ribboner in the state. Ask her to attend your meetings, and have a good program to interest her when she is there; watch for opportunities to push our work; don't wait for open doors—open them. Let your community feel your influence, and the good women will want to be long.

Our gain last year was not what we expected. Hundreds of new women came into our ranks during and since the local option campaigns, then why not a greater gain? Because there was a corresponding falling off among the old members, many of whom concluded that because their particular county voted "dry," there was nothing more to do. No one ever made a greater mistake. The great danger to our cause now is that our forces will go to sleep, satisfied with the victories won. If so, the old story will be repeated, "While they slept, the enemy sowed tares." We must be on the alert to hold the ground we have gained and ready at any moment for a forward march. Keep your armor bright by use, dear sisters, and we will make this the greatest year of our history.

At every state convention, over and over, we hear the plaintive cry, "I could not get reports from local unions." May we not have an improvement along this line this year? Every local superintendent should procure a note book for her department, and at each meeting should write in it the work done in her department not only by herself, but by every member of the union. Superintendents do not always understand this, but think they are to report only the work done by themselves. A superintendent should suggest plans for the union, and then report all work done by the union, either as a whole or by individuals in that line. Local superintendents, if you have not already prepared your note books for this year, do so as soon as you read this.

Mrs. Mary Sibbitt, of Kansas, well known to many of you, will come to our state in November. County presidents should write to me at once for terms and dates and arrange a tour for her through your counties. She will help you to make your part of the 2,500 gain in membership. Remember that counties making a gain of fifty or more will be on the program on jubilee night and share in the collection.

"The Model program for Local Unions" is ready for distribution. If your union is not supplied, send at once to our State Treasurer, Miss Clara Sears, 222 West 14th St., Anderson. Even if you do not wish to follow the program entire, I am sure you will find many helpful suggestions in it. Price one cent each.

Now for a "pull altogether" for 100 new unions and 10,000 members by September, 1910.

Yours for service,

MARY E. WOODARD.

KNOX CO. LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN IN VERSE.

A fight is on! What is it? Why?

I see some women taking poll
Of "Old Vincennes," who want it dry
Before two more years o'er them roll.

I see some men of high renown

From early morn till late at night
Speaking, singing in the town,
Against saloons with all thir might.

Telling of the awful crimes

Vincennes has witnessed in the past,
Telling too in merry chimes

Why local option votes are cast.

Election day arrives at last,

The sun sheds down its ray of hope.
That "dry" would be the ballot cast

To save Vincennes from awful dope.

Women at the voting precincts,

Serving coffee all day long
But denied the right of voting

Out the the stuff that does them wrong.

Women with the voters pleading,

Asking them to weigh their deed,
Of the ridicule never heeding,

Their's an issue of right and need.

That night at eight the shocking cry

Went forth o'er wire and telephone
"The wets a majority over "dry"

Sent many a shudder to the home.

That night a Mother's hope was gone,
That she could save her wayward boy,

That night a young wife's tears were shed,
And in that home there was no joy.

Some voters of Vincennes will see

Before two years roll o'er the town,
That they have let an evil be,
And also brought more evil down.

On their own homes and all that's dear,

On other homes, and children too,
Who can not help what they have done
In licensing the sale of rum..

O rally with your forces,

The battle ne'er give o'er,
Till Prohibition conquers
And saloons exist no more.

—Mrs. Alice Crabbs.

Warrick Co.—Boonville, 3.

Warren Co.—Williamsport, 2.

Wells Co.—Bluffton, 5; Elhanan, 2; Keystone 3; Liberty Center, 4; Rockford, 1; Sixmile, 2; Tocsin, 1; Willis, 1; Blanche Chapel, 1.

The Muncie Convention was the largest convention ever held by the W. C. T. U. of Indiana. President Vayhinger's address was able and comprehensive.

The reports of the State officers showed that aggressive work had been done and many new unions had been organized. Splendid work was reported by the Department Superintendents.

Welcome night was of unusual interest, the Welcomes by Rev. Crawford, Mrs. K. Waler, County President, and Mayor Guthrie were expressive of a hearty welcome from those in sincere sympathy with the great temperance reform. Mayor Guthrie belovied in Muncie for his splendid work against the liquor traffic and excellent work for a "Dry Delaware Co." was enthusiastically received. He spoke with great earnestness.

Our dear Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley's response was beautiful and received with great appreciation.

"The Medical Aspect of the Alcohol Question" was the subject of an excellent address by Dr. F. F. Hutchins, of Indianapolis, professor of Mental and Nervous Diseases in Indiana University School of Medicine.

Demonstration night was of unusual interest.

A good Diamond Medal Contest was held on Saturday night. A Marion County High School boy, son of Dr. Jennings of Bridgeport, won the medal.

W. C. T. U. women and Mr. F. F. McWhirter were the Sunday speakers in the Muncie churches. The old officers were all re-elected:

President—Mrs. C. J. Vayhinger, Upland.

Vice President—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Liberty.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Mary Woodard, Fountain City.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Rose Pearce, Darlington.

Treasurer—Miss Clara M. Sears, Anderson.

Branch Secretaries—Young Women's Branch, Miss Laura Cammack, Converse.

Loyal Temperance Legion Branch, Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

Editor The Message, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter.

Monday Night the pennants were awarded as follows:

Y's, Madison Co.; L. T. L's Jefferson Co.; colored Work, Wayne Co.; Physical Culture, Blackford Co.; Health and Heredity, Grant Co.; Medical Temperance, Wabash Co.; Institutes, Hamilton Co.; Scientific Temperance Ins., Grant Co.; Parliamentary Usage, St. Joseph Co.; Temperance Literature, St. Joseph Co.; Moral Education and White Ribbon Recruits, St. Joseph Co.; Purity in Literature and Art, Elkhart Co.; Anti-Narcotics, Steuben Co.; Law and Statistics, Elkhart Co.; Household Economics, Grant Co.; Summer Assemblies, Jefferson Co.; Mercy, Howard Co.; Jail and Prison, Knox Co.; Soldiers and Sailors, Foyd Co.; Sabbath Observance, St. Joseph Co.; Social and Red Letter Days, Elkhart Co.; Flower Mission, Delaware Co.; Evangelists, Floyd Co.; Fairs and Open Air Meetings, Allen Co.; Christian Citizenship, Elkhart Co.; Franchise, Jay Co.

The following superintendents were not present to award pennants: Sunday Schools, Medal Contest, Press Purity, Peace and Arbitration, Rail Road Employees, Systematic Giving.—Kathryn Wert Holler, Pres. Board State Supts.

The following is a letter sent out by the Board of the Hadley Industrial School and the pledge for subscriptions, trusting all unions will respond:

Dear Sister—

We are asking for a definite pledge from unions this year to be paid quarterly. If every union could send us $5.00 to be paid as per enclosed card indicates, we could take care of our Hadley School and not be obliged to call on you so often, if we had a pledge from unions or individuals. Please send the cards when filled out to Miss Clara M. Sears, State Treasurer, 222 West Fourteenth street, Anderson, Ind. We will be glad to have you visit the home, and ask for your help, prayers and co-operation.

Lovingly your committee,

THE MEDICAL ASPECT OF THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

creature of motion, the amount of force and endurance determining his worldly welfare. The physicians of his day must needs treat the muscles and grosser anatomy that the individual might shelter, feed and protect himself. Later this mere power of motion as a means of sustenance gave way to finer and more delicate forms of action. The fleet footed runner could not compete with the steam locomotive, nor the man with a spade outdo the steam shovel. Recently the typesetting machine, glass blowing machine, automatic lathes and other ingenious contrivances have caused another shift in the energies of mankind. The adding machine, piano-player, mechanical computer, and similar inventions cause us to wonder what energy will be left for human beings to exert. However, no one has yet produced a mechanical thinker and no one ever will. The development of the future man must be along the higher intellectual lines and hence the special departments have been established to study the brain and its action. Their conclusions should carry great weight, especially in regard to anything that might interfere seriously with mentality. Does alcohol interfere with mentality? Observe a man under the influence of liquor and no man with common sense would require any detailed, scientific argument to convince him that it does. That he was under the influence of liquor is a common excuse and acceptable that the man is not mentally responsible for anything he might do. To be sure, in some instances alcohol increases the brain activity, but always at the expense of its accuracy. This is, in fact, the very reason for much drinking. To forget dull care with wine and song, and in the exhilaration of the moods and senses to lose all thought of facts, truth, reason and judgment. The revelry of animalism. Intelligence is judgment, and judgment is the result of reasoning with facts. When judgment is swayed out of the paths of truth by the emotions, we approach the realm of insanity. But as mental action is dependent upon the physical condition of the brain cell, alcohol must have some effect upon this delicate tissue. Let us see what the laboratory tests and autopsies reveal in cases addicted to the use of liquor even in moderate quantities. First—Without looking for remote causes, the alcohol itself is found in the brain substance, and may be distilled therefrom. The cell is bathed in this poison which coagulates albumen and separates the lipid from the non-lipoid elements, excellent structure. It has a peculiar affinity for protoplasm which is the nutrient part of the cell, causing it to become granular and disintegrated. The cell wall shrinks, the nucleous, which is the life element, migrates from the center to the border, numerous swellings appear on the delicate processes or fingers by which the cell body reaches out for information or transmits its energy. This of necessity interferes with the cell function and if continued the cell becomes watery and finally dies. The brain is different from many other tissues. We are born with a certain number of brain cells, never have any more. If any are destroyed they are not replaced, while if a muscle is cut or a bone broken, new tissue is formed and when repair is complete the organ can functionate as well as before. The brain cell is the most precious and delicate organism of the body, and naturally suffers most from a general disturbing agent, but all cells are affected more or less. The purpose of this mass of cells we call body is either to carry out the intention of the brain, or else to nourish and protect the brain and the organs necessary to the performance of its functions. Hence there is a close relationship, the disturbance of one upsetting more or less the function of the whole.

The second characteristic effect of alcohol is its stimulating action upon the connective tissue elements, causing an increase in the growth and development of these structures. Connective tissue is merely the framework or supportive element for the true gland substance. Increasing its amount above normal, gives less space for the active gland cells, and crowds them out of action. While it gives more strength and firmness to the organ it lessens the natural function for which the organ was intended. This hardening process is called fibrosis or sclerosis resulting in a substance something like scar tissue. We find this process especially in the liver and kidneys of alcoholics preventing these organs from sewerage out the poisonous products of the body. These poisons remain in the blood to be carried throughout the body and their evil effect on brain tissue cannot be over-estimated.

Third—The action of the lungs is to oxidize the blood and throw off carbonic acid, a violent poison. Alcohol interferes with this process resulting in an accumulation of carbonic acid in the system. A glance at one under the influence of liquor shows the bluish livid color of non-oxidation.

Fourth—Alcohol taken into the stomach in moderate quantities causes increase in the blood supply of the membranes. This means stimulated function and a large amount of digestive juices, giving rise to the claim sometimes made that alcohol increases the digestive power. Further analysis, however, shows that the pepsin is precipitated out of solution and rendered inactive. This prevents digestion in the stomach. Furthermore, alcohol by its very nature is a preservative and by its presence interferes with the dissolution process so necessary to digestion. This means that certain kinds of food are not prepared properly for absorption into the system and the body is deprived of very important nutrient material.

While riding a few days ago with a physician who is an authority upon the action of drugs and chemicals this subject came up for discussion. He told me that a series of carefully conducted experiments had caused him to prescribe pepsin and pancreatin in dry form as that various tinctures and elixers contained alcohol which prevented the desired action in the stomach.

Fifth—Indigestion means fermentation and putrefaction further on in the bowels. This generates some violent poisons and toxins which when absorbed causes serious conditions to develop.

Sixth—The sclerosis or hardening before mentioned as caused by alcohol is not confined to one group of organs. The arteries suffer severely. Carrying as they do the poison loaded blood their inner linings come directly in contact with it. The connective tissue is stimulated to increased growth causing a condition known as arterio-sclerosis. The elastic muscular coatings are displaced, the arteries become hard and rigid, the walls thickened and the calibre reduced in size. This prevents a sufficient quantity of blood from reaching its destination, also it causes the arteries to break, a frequent cause of paralysis.

Seventh—The thickened and hardened walls of the finer blood vessels prevent the blood from passing through into the tissues needing nourishment, causing starvation.

Eighth—Alcohol causes fatty degeneration of the heart muscles which with the hardened arteries greatly weakens this organ. The life pump, is unable to give the proper force to the burdened blood stream which really requires more power than normal to do its allotted work.

Ninth—The venous congestion and sluggish current in the veins retards the poison laden corpuscles in reaching a place where they can unload their unwelcome burdens. The tissues are thus longer submitted to the degenerating influences of the various poisons.

Tenth—The little lymph spaces or vestibules about the cells become swollen and distended with tissue detritus and debris from the general stagnation. This increases the general pressure and mechanically interferes with the organ functioning. This is especially noticeable in the brain where such conditions become serious matters at once.

To resume briefly:—

The man who drinks submits the most delicate and important cell in the body to chemical poison, uraenic, poison, carbonic poison, potmain poison; to poor blood, insufficient blood, tissue debris and mechanical pressure.

Certainly sufficient.

Physical reason is here for all the queer and erratic manifestations of brains belonging to the man who drinks. Neither is it a matter of mere will power. He is physically incapable of doing his best mental work even though he may possibly appear not to be under the influence of liquor he is, just that far short of being at his best.

This all seems very serious indeed, enough to cause any man who cares, to stop and think, but only one-third of this one phase of the subject has been touched upon.

We have been considering the effect of nourishment, poisons, and elimination upon the brain cell, but its physical condition is due to much more than that.

Heredity and training each plays its part in determining the mental ability. The potentiality or power to do must be inherited from the parents. The child cannot start with more than the parents are able to give him. It is doubtful if parents realize that each day's acts modify the character just that much and that this must be transmitted to their children. This subject is a great field for the psychologist and educator, but does not prove the purest results of alcoholism in the parent upon the child's mental ability. The question with regard to pronounced drinkers is, not presented. Statistics show that most of their children die early and what few do grow up are either feeble minded or epileptic. In regard to moderate drinkers statistics are again the best answer to the question. Berkeley of John's Hopkins University states "that Alcohol and heredity are so closely associated in causing mental weakness, that it is impossible to separate them." He refers to several families where the father was intemperate. The first children were normal but later children showed progressive enfeeblement until in one case the last child was idiotic. There are any number of similar cases on record right here in Indiana. In the Insane Hospitals of this State we put the first cause of insane conditions as heredity, and the second cause as alcohol direct. In looking over the hereditary cases, intemperance was noted in a majority of instances. These statistics on alcoholic effect through the parents upon the children proved so alarming in Europe that governments were forced to take up the question. The reports of Bezzola and others to the Swiss government showed that more degenerates were conceived during the period of drinking festivities than in all the rest of the year. An old accepted fact laid down by Marel is moderate drinking first generation, immorality and irritability of temper, second generation; impulsive acts and insane conditions, third generation; and in the fourth idiocy and imbecility. The records of the Indiana State Board of Charities are interesting reading and are unanswerable arguments to those questioning the facts in our own community. Every one can recall one or more instances coming under his own observations bearing out the facts as shown in the general statistics.

The question of education and environment and the effect that alcohol has upon these factors is so broad and far-reaching in its scope that it would take many evenings to consider it. Besides the doctors have found so much to do directly in the line of their own work that they have had to turn this part over to the educators and good people of the country to keep from being swamped with their end of the Medical Aspect of the Liquor Question.

THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Omaha, Oct 22-27, the following delegates and alternates were elected. Each delegate represents a groupe of counties having five hundred paid members:

Groupe No. 1—Del., Mrs. Iva Wood Parker, 922 Weaver's Court, Elkhart, Elkhart Co. Alternate, Mrs. A. R. Shedd, Argos, Marshall Co.

Groupe No. 2—Delegate Mrs. W. J. Ride-nour, 1117 LaFayette St., Ft. Wayne, Allen Co. Alternate, Mrs. Elnora McNaughton, Ray, Steuben Co.

Groupe No. 3—Delegate, Mrs. F. B. Perkins. Alternate, Mrs. Sarah E. Morgan.

Groupe No. 4—Mrs. Emily R. Newcomb, 647 Charles St., Huntington, Huntington Co. Alternate, Miss Winona Hoffman, Linn Grove, Adams Co.

Groupe No. 5—Mrs. Julia Overman, S. Bronson St., Marion, Grant Co. Alternate, Mrs. Nettie Hollingsworth, Fairmount, Grant Co.

Groupe No. 6—Mrs. Nettie Stovenour, 208 W. Race St., Portland, Jay Co. Alternate, Miss Amanda Turner, 1115 N. Armstrong St., Kokomo, Howard Co.

Groupe No. 7—Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City, Blackford Co. Alternate, Mrs. Kate Waller.

Groupe No. 8—Miss Grace Sloan, Sheridan, Hamilton Co. Alternate, Mrs. Retta Jones, Alexandria, Madison Co.

Groupe No. 9—Mrs. C. C. Robinson, LaFayette, Tippecanoe Co. Alternate, Mrs. Sarah Roberts.

Groupe No. 10—Mrs. Carrie Brinkhoff, Mulberry, Clinton Co. Alternate, Mrs. Dora Keith, Brazil, Clay Co.

Groupe No. 11—Mrs. J. B. Heath, 312 E. Walnut St., Indianapolis. Alternate Mrs. Sam'l R. Artman, 1933 N. New Jersey St., Indianapolis.

Groupe No. 12—Mrs. S. P. Toner, Martinsville, Morgan Co. Alternate, Mrs. Mary G. Webb, Greencastle, Putnam Co.

Groupe No. 13—Mrs. Edith Pfaffenberger, Seymour, Jackson Co. Alternate, Mrs. M. E. Brooke, Brownstown, Jackson Co.

Groupe No. 14—Mrs. Rowena E. Randle, Richmond, Wayne Co. Alternate, Mrs. Laura Thompson, Greensburg, Decatur Co.

Groupe No. 15—Mrs. S. M. Fields, 503 Scott St., Vincennes, Knox Co. Alternate, Mrs. Lou Rogers, Poseyville, Posey Co.

Delegate-at-Large elected by the whole Convention—Mrs. Edith Nuzum, Muncie. Alternate, Mrs. A. C. Masters, Muncie.

Field News

South Bend, the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. held the regular monthly meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. Thomas Vanbuskirk, Michigan Ave., with 26 present. Special music by Miss Plant and Miss Smith. Superintendents were appointed: Medical Temperance, Mrs. David Augustine, Michigan Ave.; Sab. Observance, Mrs. Jacob Miller, 717 Sanconee Ave.; Flower Mission, Mrs. McDonald, Howard Ave.; Parliamentary Law, Mrs. R. Smith, 1505 Michigan Ave.; Cradle Roll, Mrs. Otis, Howard Ave.; Sunday School, Mrs. Howard Webster, E. Lavare St.; Mothers' meetings, Mrs. Uel, Blaine Ave.; S. T. T., Mrs. E. L. Hull, Diamond Ave. It was decided to use the State programs. Mrs. L. Wells and Mrs. Nash, President of Colfax union, gave interesting reports of the Muncie convention. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Blackford Co. Convention. The twenty-first annual convention of the Blackford Co. W. C. T. U. held at Roll, Ind., County President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl presiding. The reports showed that $402.40 had been spent besides clothing, meals and fruit given to the sick and needy. Much good literature distributed and lectures given.

Mrs. Vayhinger gave a strong and impressive lecture. Her plan for the future is state-wide prohibition. She urged the W. C. T. U. to double its efforts and appeal to the state to help make old Blackford white.—Miss Gora E. Wilson.

Elhart: "A Glowing Success" is the term applied to the annual convention of the Elkhart County W. C. T. U. which was entertained by the Elkhart Central Union in the Trinity M. E. church Sept. 22, 23 and 24. In point of excellence both members and non-members voice it to be the largest and best convention ever held in the county. It was a spiritual uplift and a soul education to all who attended. The church was beautifully decorated with the local and county banners, county pennants, bunting, the picture of Frances Willard, prohibition map and posters, palms, ferns and huge bouquets of fall roses.

The first session opened on Wednesday afternoon, Sept., 22 and was presided over by the county president, Mrs. Milton Wertz. Every officer responded to roll call.

The "Anniversary Hymn" was sweetly sung by Mrs. Ford Overlease, and Mrs. Harry Zeigler spoke appropriate "Words of Welcome." In part she said: "While this is the twenty-third annual convention, it does not mean '23' to the temperance forces, but 'skidoo' to saloons."

A happy response was voiced by Mrs. Emma Garver, president of Goshen union.

"Echoes from Our W. C. T. U. Missionaries" was the subject of a most excellent paper read by Mrs. I. H. Church. She also read a letter written to the convention by Miss Mary Orr, our W. C. T. U. missionary at Ellis Island.

Special temperance music was a great feature throughout the convention. The devotional periods were all inspiring. Reports were given by county superintendents and the unions doing the best work in the various departments were awarded the pennants.

The following subjects which opened with five minute talks afforded interesting discussions.

"The Rules That Govern Us," Mrs. B. C. Rowley. "Why Am I a Member of the W. C. T. U. and In What Way Has It Benefited?" Mrs. J. E. Tilman. "Medical Temperance," Mrs. J. A. Work. "Fruits from Trees Planted by the W. C. T. U.," Mrs. Mary Bechtel. "How Can Department Work be Made Effective?" Mrs. Jennie Young. "What Is the Real Value of Medal Contest Work?" Mrs. C. H. Whiteman. "Methods for Holding and Building Up a Flourishing W. C. T. U.," Mrs. E. Teal. "Our Tools," Mrs. B. C. Rowley. "Need of Curfew Law," Mrs. Harry Zeigler. "Loyalty as Shown by Wearing the Badge," Mrs. J. D. Salsig.

Immediately following the discussion on the last subject, Mrs. Ira Stauffer recited, "Wear It," and Mrs. Frances Styers sang, "My Mother's White Ribbon."

Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger gave the address on Wednesday evening and a pleasing feature was a "Dry Magazine Demonstration" given by children who carried banners upon which were placed the covers of the forty-one magazines which will not accept liquor advertisements. These children sang a "welcome" song to the W. C. T. U.

A very handsomely framed picture of Frances Willard was presented by the State President in behalf of the Elkhart W. C. T. U. to the high school. The gift was accepted with a very appropriate address by Prof. S. B. McCracken, principal of the Elkhart high school.

On Thursday evening an exceptionally high grade gold medal contest was held and Miss Mary Paul, of Elkhart, received the medal.

The flag drill given by sixteen perfectly trained girls created so much interest that the audience cheered during its presentation.

The large choir of Trinity church rendered beautiful music both evenings and Mrs. I. H. Church, one of Elkhart's best soloists, sang the famous song, "Vistory," which was heartily applauded.

The duet, "This Country's Going Dry" by Miss Barbara Welner and Miss Gertrude Nelson captured the house.—Iva Wood Parker, Co. Press Supt.

The Elkhart County W. C. T. U. was so fortunate as to secure Clinton N. Howard, of Rochester, N. Y., better known as "The Little Giant of the American Platform," for his noted lecture, "A Ride on the Water Wagon," which was delivered in Trinity M. E. church, Sunday evening, and started at 7:30 o'clock, then came a "snap shot at passengers;" "flight of water wagon express;" blessings in the wake of the train;" "taking on new passengers;" winning the battle;" arrival at Washington;" and "news of victory reached heaven and the world below."

At the close of this magnificent lecture the cyclone speaker was given the Chautauqua salute by the enthusiastic audience that tested the capacity of the large church and he was invited to return in the near future with the second section of his train. Iva Wood Parker, Co. Press Supt.

La Porte union meets every week alternate afternoons and evenings. At the last meeting two new members were enrolled. More departments of work were taken up. State convention report given by returned delegate.

Indianapolis Vayhinger Union met at the home of Mrs. Cravens, 822 N. Temple Ave. The devotions were led by Mrs. Gilman. After the regular routine of business little Miss Florence Sept. 26. This "Water Wagon Talker" "got a

Smith sang a solo, and Mrs. Dr. Birchfield gave a reading. The reports of County and State Convention heard and recommendations adopted, which in brief were as follows:

1. That we strive to double our membership this year.

2. That each superintendent provide herself with a note book for the purpose of keeping a record of work done in her department.

3. That each superintendent hold at least one public meeting this year.

4. That we distribute more literature this year.

5. That we make an effort to place a framed picture of Frances E. Willard in each of the schools in our immediate vicinity and if possible a copy of her life in each library.

Having interviewed the supervising principle on this matter I learned they would be delighted to accept this for the schools—the greatest reason for which was that she was a woman.—Mrs. Altwater.

The Indianapolis South Side W. C. T. U. met at Vila avenue church and Mrs. McKeehan led the devotions. Mrs. Weaver was appointed msical director. Mrs. Anderson gave a good flower mission report, after which Miss Nora Norcott, who graduated from the Missionary Training School in Chicago, spoke of her work and said that: "In almost every instance of destitution and misery, drink was the main cause. She spoke of two little German boys who after listening to a temperance talk from her in Sunday school, carried the bucket of beer—for which they had been sent—home on a pole in order not to touch it." She spoke of mothers who make home made wines, and thus cultivate the taste for such things in their children.

This union has twenty-four paid members and is ready for work. Two meetings a month will be held.

Deputy...The Silver Gray Contest given on July 3rd was a decided success and since invitations have come to give the same elsewhere. Mrs. Clara Robertson was the winner of the medal. At our County Convention four of the Silver Grays drove eighteen miles to speak again, thereby wining much praise and also bringing home the medal and second place of honor, M. C. Robertson being first, Andrew Zan second.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Presi., Mrs. Rebecca McClelland; Cor. Sec., Mrs. Dora Gudgel; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Nettie Sullivan; treas. Mrs. Nettie Hansel

Allen Co. W. C. T. U. Convention met in Fort Wayne, in the Assembly Room of the Court House, September 8th. Was called to order by the President, Mrs. Martha Ridenour. Reports of superintendents showed a surprising amount of work done in many lines. Plans of work for the coming year and election of officers made a busy afternoon. The election resulting as follows: President, Mrs. Martha Ridenour, of Fort Wayne; Rec. Sec., Mrs. F. A. Thomas, Fort Wayne; Cor. Sec., Mrs. M. A. Smith, Monroeville; treas., Mrs. Ida Youse, Monroeville.

At 7:30 p. m. The large Assembly Room was quite well filled to listen to the Grand Gold Medal Oratorical Contest. The contestants were Mrs. Ethel Fortney, Miss Vickie Meyers, Miss Cloe Meyers, Miss Florence Bansemen and Miss Ethel Barnhart. Medal won by Mrs. Fortney. The contest was fine. The Fort Wayne union delightfully entertained all delegates and visitors at the Y. W. C. A.—Florence Barnhart.

Our Promoted Comrades

Mr. John Parker Wise, the beloved son-in-law of our dear loyal friends, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. McWhiter, died suddenly at Metucken, N. J. The remains will be brought ot Indianapolis for burial.

The prayers and sympathy of the White Ribbon host of Indiana go out to the grief stricken wife and relatives.

Mrs. Margaret Dillingham died at her home one beautiful Sabbath morning, Oct. 3, 1909. She had made all preparation for Sabbath school Saturday night. She being a widow for thirty years. She spent her time in church work, Sabbath School was one of her Special Duties. She loved the children, she was faithful in the W. F. M. S., she was treasurer of the W. C. T. U. Local in Newburgh, and helped to reorganize it about three years ago. She paid her dues and wore her white ribbon bow, when there was no local here, She carired the remonstrance papers at different times and did all she could in the War-rick Co. Local Option. The W. C. T. U. met at her home twelve days before she died. She had been sick, but had been out to church once. Our loss is her Eternal gain.

John W. Ridgway departed this life, October 9th, at a ripe age of 85 years. He was the husband of our departed sister, Malinda Ridgway, who went to her reward in 1904. He was an honorary member of the W. C. T. U. for many years. He erected and had rooms dedicated to the W. C. T. U., which the organization uses at the present time.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

NATIONAL INTER-CHURCH TEMPERANCE COUNCIL IN SECOND BIENNIAL MEETING.

(Associated Prohibition Press.)

The second biennial session of the National Inter-church Temperance Council held at Indianapolis, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9-10, canvassed the present status of the Prohibition reform and planned an aggressive co-operate propaganda for the carrying on of Nation-wide agitation in favor of "total abstinence for the individual, the absolute annihilation of the liquor traffic by the State," and the securing from the United States Government of "every effective means possible to aid the states and sub-divisions thereby in carrying out this policy."

The executive officers of the Council chosen at Pittsburg, January 31st, 1907, were reelected as follows: President, Dr. Samuel Dickie, member of the Methodist Episcopal Temperance Society; vice-president, Joshua Levering, member of the Temperance committee of the Baptist Church, Baltimore, Md.; corresponding secretary, Charles Scanlon, field organizer for the Temperance committee of the Presbyterian Church, Pittsburg; Treasurer, Dr. Homer J. Hall, secretary American Temperance Board of the Church of Christ; financial secretary, H. D. Fulton, Canonsburg, Pa.

Officials representing the following thirteen denominations participated in the Conference, and every hour of the two days' session was filed with interest and suggestive addresses: Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian Church of North America, United Presbyterian, Southern Presbyterian, Reformed Presbyterian, Congregational, Methodist Protestant, Evangelical Lutheran, Friends, African Methodist Episcopal, Disciples of Christ and Unitarian.

In the absence of president Samuel Dickie, Hon. Felix T. McWhiter of Indianapolis called the Council to order Tuesday morning. Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie of Washington, D. C., chairman of the Temperance committee of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church, was chosen secretary of the Biennial Session.

Over one hundred delegates were chosen from the above denominations, and all parts of the country were represented.

Wednesday afternoon the Council adopted the following report of the Committee, as the statement of its attitude upon current phases of the liquor question:

Resolutions Approve President Taft's Effort To Suppress Opium Trade.

"In harmony with the position taken by our constituent bodies, we declare ourselves unalterably committed to the doctrine of total abstinence for the individual, the duty of the absolute annihilation of the liquor traffic by the State, and the urgent necessity that the United States Government provide every effective means possible to aid the states, and sub-divisions thereof, in carrying out this policy.

"The call by President Taft of a conference of Nations, to meet at The Hague in the near future, to aid China, and other nations, in their efforts to suppress the opium trade, meets our most hearty approval, and we pledge our steadfast support to this movement; and we request that the secretary of this council do all in his power to have this matter presented to the leaders of the churches so far as possible in every country, to the intent that the united voice of Christendom be now heard in behalf of this movement.

Council Urges Local and State Federation of all Churches For More Effective Union Against Liquor Traffic.

"We urge that the plan of this Council be extended to, and made effective in every town and city, by the federation of all our churches, for active and aggressive temperance work. And to this end, we invite a careful consideration of the possibility of establishing co-operative lecture courses upon temperance and other reforms, similar to the Chautauqua circuits, when the best talent of the world is placed within the reach of all at lowest cost and smallest waste of time, and we recommend that the general officers of this Council undertake, if possible, to test this plan in one state, believing that if it can be made effective in one State, it may easily be extended to all.

"Large municipal posters containing the latest word of science upon the harmful effects of intoxicating drink, and the physical degeneracy caused by alcoholism, are being extensively used by the city governments of France, England, and Australia, in such fashion that no one who can read may escape the knowledge and warning. We earnestly commend this wise method of temperance education, and urge that it be adopted wherever possible.

Asks Congress for Establishment of Prohibition Zones Around Indian Reservations.

"We urge upon Congress the establishment of Prohibition zones surrounding the Indian Reservations in the territories within the United States, as embodied in the Hamilton-Owen Bill pending before the appropriate committees of Congress.

"We re-affirm our belief in the inquiry, value and desirability of an exhaustive official, by authority of Congress, into the effects of the alcoholic liquor traffic on society in its various relations, and in the different departments of the Government.

"We favor improved temperance legislation for the District of Columbia and urge our co-operating church constituencies actively to promote the efforts of our forces at the national capitol to this end.

"We are opposed to the sale of intoxicating liquors in all buildings, and upon all premises controlled by United States Government, and favor legislation by Congress to this end.

Launches Movement For Territorial Prohibition In Hawaii By Congressional Action.

"RESOLVED, That we authorize petition to Congress also in behalf of the Johnson Bill to prohibit liquor selling in Hawaii.

"That we recognize the importance and the value of non-ecclesiastical temperance agencies in the prosecution of temperance work, and bid them Godspeed in their noble efforts."

Among those present were Hon. Felix T. McWhiter, Indianapolis, treasurer Prohibition National Committee; Rev. Thomas H. Hanna, Jr., pastor U. P. Church; Rev. W. F. Crafts, general superintendent of the International Reform Bureau; Hon. A. E. Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Temperance Society and superintendent of the Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua; Mrs. Zilia Foster Stevens, Temperance secretary of the International Sunday School Committee; Rev. William Parsons, D.D., secretary National Reform Federation and a member of the Presbyterian Temperance Committee; Rev. T. H. Acheson, D. D., moderator of the General Synod, Reformed Presbyterian Church; Rev. F. L. Sigmund, D.D., member of the Lutheran Temperance Committee; Dr. Homer J. Hall, secretary American Temperance Board of the Church of Christ; Rev. J. T. McCrotty, chairman of the temperance committee of the United Presbyterian Church; Dr. Charles Blanchard, president of Wheaton College; Rev. William H. Ramsey, representing the Unitarian Temperance Society; Rev. J. P. Cowan, ex-moderator of the United Presbyterian General Assembly; Mrs. Elith Smith Davis, director of the Bureau of Scientific Temperance of the National and World's W. C. T. U.; Rev. J. S. Martin, D.D., general superintendent of the National Reform Association; Rev. E. L. Eaton, D.D., representing M. E. Church; Hon. Frank L. WHY SCIENCE IS ENDORSING TOTAL ABSTINENCE FROM ALCOHOLIC DRINK.

Significant Conclusions Reached by American and European Authorities.—Startling Confirmation of Scientific Views Found in Investigations in American Schools.

(Associated Prohibition Press.)

(Significant excerpts from address at National Inter-Church Temperance Council by Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, national superintendent of scientific temperance instruction, W. C. T. U., "Fundamental Scientific Truths of the Temperance Reform.")

"That total abstinence rests upon an absolutely scientific basis is a fact that needs to be emphasized in every possible way in the present day temperance agitation. Sir Victor Horsley, not long ago publicly said: 'From the scientific standpoint total abstinence must be the course, if we are to follow the plain teaching of truth and common sense.'

"Our international congress which was held last July in London is no longer denominated, 'The International Congress against the Abuse of Alcohol,' but is now 'The International Congress against the Use of Alcohol, for as Dr. Koppe so tersely said, 'The Abuse of Alcohol commences with its use.'

"What then are the scientific truths respecting alcohol which we deem fundamental in reaching the conclusion that we must have total abstinence from alcohol? First, that alcohol is a narcotic drug and poisonous in its action. Alcohol is usually classified by pharmacologists with such narcotics as chloroform and ether for it has a two-fold action. (1) Temporary exhilarant; (2) Depressant. But as the depressant action of alcohol is much longer continued than the ex-hilarant it is rightly termed a narcotic. In all its form it acts as a depressant on normal activities.

"That alcohol is a poison is not a new scientific discovery for as far back as the golden age of Greece, we read in Xenophon's Memorabilia. "Temperance means first moderation in healthful indulgence; and secondly, abstinence from things dangerous, as the use of intoxicating wines.

And even Homer speaks before that of "In-flaming wine, pernicious to mankind, unnerves the limbs and dulls the noble mind."

Dr. David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, says: "The basis of intemperance is the effort to secure through drugs the feeling of happiness when happiness does not exist. Men destroy their nervous system for the tingling pleasures they feel as its structures are torn apart. The evil in drink is not primarily intoxication, but nerve disturbance.' Without doubt the greatest peril of alcohol is to the nervous system."

WHY SCIENCE IS ENDORSING TOTAL ABSTINENCE FROM ALCOHOLIC DRINK.

"In visiting the schools it is sometimes my sad duty to go to those for mentally deficient children. To such a one I went in the city of St. Louis. It was a private institution for idiotic children. In reply to my question as to the causes of the condition of these children, the superintendent replied: 'In almost every case the cause is the drink habit of the father and mother. These children are from some of the wealthiest homes of St. Louis.

"In an ungraded room in the City of Boston, I found thirty-five children, all foreign born. In answer to my questions as to how many of these children were mentally deficient, the teacher replied: 'I think there are seven in this room.' Could you give me the causes of this mental deficiency? the teacher replied. "That would be a little difficult," was her reply. "These classes all closely inter-marry, but all of these children use the home-made wines as did their fathers and mothers. That, of course, is one of the main causes."

"In the city of Springfield, Mass., I went at the invitation of the teacher, to see a room full of little Italian boys take their baths. The thin emaciated bodies vividly reminded me of the pictures of the India famine sufferers. I asked, 'Why are they so thin and emaciated? 'Insufficient food,' was the reply. "These children will soon go home to their lunch which will consist of bread and some kind of home-made wine or beer. They will come back to school so stupid that for the first hour after luncheon, we can do little or nothing with them.

"Dr. T. B. Hyslop of England says: 'Intemperance does not necessarily mean only obvious and palpable drunkenness. From the very mo-

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH.

The plans given below which come to us from the National Woman's Temperance Union, will, I am sure, meet the approval of every White Ribboner who has the interest of the young people at heart. We must have the young people, the boys and girls to help us in our great work, and I trust that the suggestion of our State President at the last State Convention, will be carried out and that a woman will be appointed in each Union to have charge of the young people's work, and that she bend her energies to have a Young People's branch organized at an early date, using the suggested Constitution as a basis for their organization, electing officers from their own number who will take charge of the work in their locality.

The books for the Study Course are not yet ready, but the Year Book will be out soon with programs, so that no society need be inactive.

The Union Signal will be the official organ of the new Branch and each month we are to have one edition with a number of pages devoted to Branch interests. There will be extra copies of this edition printed and furnished monthly to branch members at 25 cents per year. There will also be a Question Box each month in The Signal, sending all questions to Miss Rhena Mosher, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Illinois.

My dear sisters, let us make a strong pull, and a pull altogether to get the young people. This change will in no way weaken our work, but rather strengthen it, so let us exercise wisdom, love and patience and make this glorious year of service. I have some excellent leaflets for young people, and will gladly send to all who will ask for them. Please send me your orders for the Year Books early, and as soon as they are out, I will fill your orders. You will find these books very helpful, I am sure.

CHRISTMAS.

And, to, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them: "Fear not, for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men."—Luke 2. 9:14.

In contemplation of the wonderful significance of Christmas, we should spend an hour every evening for three weeks before Christmas, talking with the children about what the advent and life of Christ has meant to the world. Tell the children of the conditions among men before Christ, how one tribe or nation conquered another by physical force or war made captives and slaves of the conquered. Tell them of the life and teachings of Christ and something of its effect upon mankind. Especially should emphasis be laid upon the contrasting conditions in our country and other lands where the people do not know of Christ or of His teachings.

What a blessed privilege it is to be born in Christian America instead of in heathen India or China! The difference is that here we have had the teaching of the gospel of Christ. Too much stress cannot be laid upon this fact. Children will readily understand and appreciate much that is told them. History of nations is very interesting and combined with the great story of Christ will have much of lasting value to each child who hears.

The exemplification of the Christ spirit, "gift giving" to the poor and unfortunate should be encouraged among children. Mothers and fathers who encourage their children in "scattering, sunshine" among the poor and "shut-ins" on Christmas will find it helpful in developing the Christian character of their children.

If the mother in the home is sensible and just to herself and to her husband, in the selection of useful, helpful presents for members of the family there will be great pleasure, without after regrets.

Children should be discouraged from spending money for Christmas gifts. All children should be urged to make their gifts.

In homes where the boys and girls plan to make the children less fortunately situated happy with gifts there will be Christmas joy.

The making of candy, popcorn balls and cookies, dressing dolls, potting little plants, planting bulbs and seeds in boxes or pots for winter blooming and fixing of sleds and wagons for poor girls and boys will create a new interest in Christmas. It will bring into many a child life a real joy and will emphasize the wonderful significance of the birth and life of Jesus Christ.

At the Christmas Season. The unwarranted extravagance and expenditure of strength and energy so common now with the average home is not prompted by a spirit of praise and adoration.

Of all Women, the American women are the most favored with opportunity and privilege. The spiritual and intellectual atmosphere of the American home is safely gauged by the desires and purposes of the American woman.

Gifts Easily Made by boys and girls are often a great pleasure to friends or to the sick or poor.

SUGGESTIONS: Candy, boxes and cornucopias in which to put candy, Christmas cards, scrap books, calendars, address books and shaving pads, &c. having paper backs tied with tiny ribbon and decorated with water color paints or with gilt.

Small scrap books can be made on such subjects as Christmas, love, happiness, wireless telegraphy, air-ships, &c. Household, cooking or candy receipt books make a useful interesting gift.

"Open House on New Years Day," kept by the W. C. T. U. would be greatly enjoyed in many a community. One day of real old-fashioned hospitality would give much real pleasure.

If it was announced two weeks ahead of time that the W. C. T. U. would keep "Open House" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. on New Years Day" and a genuinely good time planned the day would be a success.

Let the refreshments consist of apples, nuts, coffee, doughnuts and coffee cake, &c., such good things as our grand mothers used to make and serve generously. During intervals of the afternoon and evening have vocal music and short readings. On a table near the hall door let there be an ample supply of wholesome temperance literature to be taken by the guests who may be interested.

A Christmas Plan. Give into the charge of one member of the family all of the well wrapped and plainly addressed Christmas presents including those received by mail, these should all be put into a basket and placed in an unused room to remain until after the Christmas morning work is all done and the house in order.

On Christmas morning the household should be up early and all promptly at the breakfast table. An impressive little program should be arranged and carried out before the breakfast is served. The family is usually alone at breakfast. Suggestive program:

Singing followed by the reading of the story of the blessed Christ child by the head of the family.

Appropriate short poems or quotations read by each person at the table.

Singing a song in which the boys and girls can join.

Prayer, closing with the repetition of the Lord's Prayer by all.

Breakfast over the house put in order before the gifts are distributed.

CONSTITUTION RECOMMENDED FOR LOCAL YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH.

NAME.

Article 1. The name of this organization shall be the Young People's Branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of OBJECT.

Article 2. The object shall be to unite the young people of this community for the promotion of total abstinence, purity and prohibition.

MEMBERSHIP.

Article 3. Any young woman or man between the ages of fourteen and twenty-five may become a member by the payment each year of dues into the local treasury and signing the following pledge:

"I hereby solemnly promise, God helping me, to abstain from the use of alcoholic liquors, including wine, beer and cider, from tobacco and narcotics in every form, and to discourage the use of and traffic in the same."

AUXILIARYSHIP

Article 4. This organization shall send each year, in the manner prescribed by the State cents for each young woman member to the treasurer of the State W. C. T. U., who will forward 10 cents of this to the treasurer of the National. This shall constitute auxiliaryship in the State and National W. C. T. U. Such payment shall entitle the Young Peoples' Branch to the same representation in convention as is accorded the W. C. T. U., but in all cases the delegates and ex-officio representatives must be young women.

OFFICERS.

Article 5. Young women and young men are equally eligible to office.

STUDY COURSE.

Article 6. A four years' study course shall constitute a part of the local work of the Society and every pledged member satisfactorily completing the full course shall be entitled to a National diploma.

GENERAL SECRETARY.

Article 7. The local General Secretary of the Young Peoples' Branch shall be appointed by the local W. C. T. U. and shall have general oversight of the branch.

AMENDMENTS.

Article 8. Articles may be added to this constitution in conformity with State and local needs, but no change can be made that will weaken the pledge or alter conditions of auxiliaryship as defined in Article 4.

SUGGESTION: When in the judgment of the officers of the State W. C. T. U. and the General Secretary of the Young Peoples Branch, it seems desirable to frame a State organization of the Young Peoples Branches, a convention may be called for this purpose.

Yours for service,

LAURA G. CAMMACK,

State Y. Sec.

PLAN OF WORK FOR LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

- I. (1) That renewed emphasis be placed upon Junior work and that this be known as the Loyal Temperance Legion Branch.
- (2) That the Loyal Temperance Legion Manuals shall be used in the Loyal Temperance Legion, and that all pledged members completing the course shall receive diplomas.

- II. (1) That emphasis also be placed upon the work among young people, and that this be known as the Young Peoples Branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.
- (2) That in organizing new societies for young people the age limit shall be from fourteen to twenty-five, except in colleges, where there shall be no age limit.
- (3) A study course shall constitute a part of the local work of each Young Peoples Branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and all pledged members completing the course shall receive diplomas.
- (4) That a committee be appointed to prepare a four years' course of study for the Young Peoples Branch on the principles for which the W. C. T. U. stands, beginning with total abstinence.
- (5) Young Peoples Branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union shall become auxiliary to the National through the State W. C. T. U. by the payment of the same auxiliary dues for the young women members as are paid by the members of the W. C. T. U. and shall be entitled to three same representation; in all cases the delegate must be a young woman.
- (6) That the Constitution be so amended as to harmonize with the provisions of this plan.

JOHN PARKER WISE. The untimely death of J. Parker Wise of Metuchen, N. J., son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. McWhirter brings great sorrow into the home of the editor of "The Message." Mr. Wise belonged to an old and prominent Cincinnati family, he was the son of Capt. Robert W. Wise. Mr. Wise was graduated from De Pauw University at the age of twenty-two years with the honor of Phi Beta Kappa, entered Denver University Law School and in one year won such distinction in scholarship as to entitle him to the position of secretary to the Dean of Columbia University Law School, New York. He was graduated from Columbia with credit in June, 1905. In the same month he was married to his college sweetheart, Miss Ethel McWhirter who was graduated in the same class with him at De Pauw. Mr. Wise had been made trustee and financial agent for a family of wealth who reside in Europe, so immediately after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Wise went to live in an old mansion on a fine old estate in New Jersey across the Hudson River from New York City. Mrs. Wise although a very young woman had served Indiana as State superintendent of Flower Mission Department. Soon after going to New Jersey she organized a W. C. T. U., Union of which she was a most successful president. She was also county corresponding secretary. The hospitality of their magnificent home was enjoyed by many White Ribboners. No effort or sacrifice was too great for Mr. Wise to make to help his wife in her W. C. T. U. work. The prestige and influence given the cause meant much in the community. Mr. Wise himself was very much interested in the work for humanity and in social reform. He zealously studied the problem of the working man from a sociological standpoint and believed that a new adjustment of economic conditions is imperative before the teachings of Jesus can be followed in their true spirit. Mr. Wise was a thinker, a writer of ability and a forceful interesting speaker. His last public address was made before the "Brotherhood" of his home church on Christian Socialism. In his position as trustee necessarily many working men were under his direction as far as possible under existing economic conditions, he put into practice his convictions in his dealings with them, and they revered him. From his happy, sunny charitable disposition the Christ life he lived shone forth continually and all who knew him felt the strength of his personality, the sweetness of his character and his ever present faith in the goodness of God. Through Mr. Wise's death after a few days illness of acute Bright's disease a full rounded remarkable life of thirty years was closed. The church, the W. C. T. U., the community and the State have suffered the loss of a man whose brilliant intellect and magnetic personality were untiringly used for the progress of humanity.

The young wife has returned to her father's home in Indianapolis.

DEPARTMENT OF PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

My dear co-workers:

Another year has begun and we must get to work.

We came from our great State convention full of enthusiasm and plans, now let us keep up that spirit through the entire year. Let all presidents, local and county see that this department is taken up in their immediate territory and then see that the work is done. So much is said about the influence of the press in these days that we ought to feel a keen interest in striving to make it what it ought to be. No Union is so small or of so little account but what it can make its influence felt in this work. Sisters will you not do it?

Please do not read this article and then forget it because it does not mean you, for it does mean every white ribboner in the State. No superintendent can do the work of a whole Union especially in this department, but every woman can do her share to bring about the desired results, namely, a clean press for the State of Indiana and billboards that do not disgrace the community where they stand. Some of you did fine work last year that was reported and I presume much was done that was not reported. Let us double our efforts this year so that when the annual report blanks are sent out you will each have a good report to send to me.

I intend to send literature to each county during the next week or two and I sincerely hope that you will read it and use it in each Union, otherwise there is no need of my sending it.

Wishing you all abundant success, I am loyally yours.

(Mrs.) ELNORA G. McNAUGHTON,
Steuben County. Ray, Indiana.

DEPARTMENT PENNANTS.

I have in my possession the following pennants that were not claimed:

W. C. T. U. demonstration night at Muncie, "Soldiers and Sailors" Sunday School, "Peace and Arbitration" and "Railroad Employees."

If I can be notified where they belong I will gladly send them. There seems to be a few pennants missing, if any have been taken through mistake, please send them to me.

(Mrs.) GERTRUDE FULTON,
Portland, Indiana.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Editor "Message":

Kindly convey to the Sisterhood of Peace my greetings for our opening year. It is a cheering token to me that several of them have already written for leaflets needed in preparation for the second December meeting, and for "Peace Sunday," December 19.

I hope many more will send, and will ask that they remember to enclose a few cents to pay for cost of literature and postage; as it saves both them and myself extra postage on exchange of letters inquiring cost and reply. Ten cents will pay for the literature they require for preparation of the program, and it will be sent as promptly as may be. If leaflets are wanted for distribution at the meetings, that of course will require more, and may need letters of inquiry. The booklets "Grotius" and "Prince of Peace" are 3 cents each; two for 5 cents.

(Mrs.) LAVINIA DAILY,
State Superintendent.

Richmond, Indiana.

MESSAGE FROM SECRETARY WOODARD.

Dear White Ribboners of Indiana:

When I say "dear" I do not use the term as a mere courteous address, for with every woman who wears the white ribbon I feel there is "a tie that binds our hearts in Christian love." In meeting so many of our true and tried workers at our recent Muncie convention, and in reading the account of our great national convention at Omaha in the "Union Signal," I seem to have had a "fresh baptism" of love and zeal for our great organization and all it stands for and my heart burns with a desire to enlist the women of our State in this holy warfare for home and country.

Good news comes to my desk from many parts of the State, showing that our brave comrades are awake and active. Public meetings are being held, contests prepared for, and regular campaigns for membership are being planned in many counties. Here a county president says, "our work is starting out nicely." Another says, "we are at work and will organize some new Unions this year." Another, "I mean to do all I can to build up the work in my county." And many others have made the same resolution that have not written me about it.

We have a number of splendid organizers in the State who ought to be kept busy. Will not county presidents and local Unions plan for some of these at unorganized points and prepare the way for organization. Our dear Mrs. Haughton, who served us so long as State Evangelist was made a State organizer and lecturer at our recent State convention and is free to go to any part of the State on short notice. She will hold one meeting or a series of meetings as desired. Send for her and she will do you good.

Mrs. Mary Sibbitt is afieid holding enthusiastic meetings and winning new members for us. She will be in the State until holidays and perhaps longer.

For leaflets called for in the "Model Program," write to me.

Yours for service,
(Miss) MARY E. WOODARD.

NOTICE.

Magazines and periodicals that carry wine, beer, or liquor advertisements should not be included in the subscriptions from any White Ribboners home for 1910. Now is the time to agitate this subject. Do this in every way possible. Urge Christians to refuse to subscribe for any periodical that carries liquor ads. Yes, of course many of the great daily newspapers carry liquor ads. and it will be so until the church people make a loud enough protest to make the business unprofitable.

For Christmas a very practical and appropriate gift would be a years subscription to "The Union Signal." Address: Evanston, Ill. Price one dollar.

Every woman of intelligence and interest in Christian temperance work would appreciate fifty-two visits of this, the greatest woman's reform periodical in the whole world.

Subscriptions to "The Crusader Monthly." Address: Evanston, Ill. Price, twenty-five cents per year.

Better far to have this splendid paper visit a boy or girl twelve times this year than to give the same amount of money for little "presents." The price of subscription in stamps can usually be safely placed in letter.

Hon. John G. Woolley made two very able addresses in Indianapolis during the time of the National Inter Church Temperance Conference. One address at the Conference and one for the First United Brethren Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolley return soon to Hawaii for a year.

Our State Officers were all with the exception of Mrs. Pearce in attendance at the Inter-Church Temperance Conference. President Vayhinger sat upon the platform with the noted speakers of our nation.

Lecturers and Organizers of ability should be secured for services in January, February or March. To get great results a great deal of hard work must be done in planning and advertising the meetings for weeks previous.

Our W. C. T. U. women are very efficient in all lines of work and do everything else pertaining to our organization better and more thorough than in advertising and working up public meetings.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

My Dear White Ribboners:

I have my "Plan of Work" ready to send out as soon as I receive the State Minutes with directory. So I may be able to have the names and addresses of every county Christian Citizenship superintendent, as well as every county and local president. You will notice the proship program. I will ask you to carry this out fully in your Local meeting, therefore, when you receive my "Plan of Work," please put it away carefully, so you may have it when the time comes to use it. I hope you will begin now to make notes of work done in this department so when the time for reporting comes you will have a reminder.

Praying for this to be the greatest year for awakening along the lines of Christian Citizenship. I am,

Faithfully yours,
(Mrs.) GERTRUDE FULTON,
State Superintendent.

WHY SCIENCE IS ENDORSING TOTAL ABSTINENCE FROM ALCOHOLISM DRINK.

ment in which alcohol has disturbed the health exercise of the mental faculties, or has impaired the moral sense by unduly exciting the animal passions, or has in any way unfitted a person for discharging his duties in the proper struggle, for survival, from that moment has there been guilt of intemperance.

"This balanced controlling force is destroyed in the man whose brain cells are poisoned by alcohol. The valuable controlling mechanism is no longer at work. It is more or less paralyzed. Dr. Jordan says: 'To be able to hold liquor in excess, without drunkenness, indicates not strength, but a depressed and disordered nervous system.'

"Count Von Hasler of Germany, says: 'The soldier who abstains altogether, is the best man. He can accomplish more, can march better, and is a better soldier than the man who drinks even moderately. Mentally and physically he is better. Lord Kitchener and Lord Roberts give like testimony and Sir Frederick Treves says: 'As a work producer, alcohol is exceedingly extravagant, and like all other extravagant measures leads to a physical bankruptcy. It is also curious that troops cannot work or march on alcohol.'

"Another conclusion of science is that alcohol is in no sense a food. The popular belief that it is a food probably comes from the fact that it allays the sensation of hunger. This it does by its narcotic action upon the brain.

"Sir Victor Horsley says: 'The truth is that the physiological effects of real food-stuffs on the one hand, and alcohol on the other, are totally different. Fats, carbohydrates and nitrogenous food after mastication, at once begin to be digested and assimilated, and to fulfill the true functions of a 'food' by maintaining the natural temperature, pulse-rate, and tissue repair of the body without any disturbance of its mental and physical functions and activities. Alcohol on the other hand, pursues a very different course.

It is absorbed by the stomach unaltered by the digestive processes; circulating in the blood in its original form, it at once interferes with the ordinary activity of the brain and other organs, and by its anaesthetic action hampers our mental and physical activities. It further interferes with the living chemical processes of the body, in such a marked manner that we have been obliged to acknowledge that alcohol is a prime factor in causing such conditions as gout, eczema, headache, lumbago and certain neuralgic pains.' Indeed Sir Victor Horsley names forty diseases due to alcohol alone or as a contributing cause. It may be well to remember in this connection that at the International Congress of Tuberculosis which met in Paris in 1905, the following resolution was passed: 'That in view of the close connection between alcoholism and tuberculosis, this Congress strongly emphasizes the importance of combining the fight against tuberculosis with the struggle against alcoholism.'

"At the recent Congress against the use of alcohol in London, no paper was more attentively listened to, or regarded as of such value as the one read by Prof. Taav Laithinen of Finland, on "The Influence of Alcohol on Immunity." It was the third of the Norman Kerr Memorial lectures. After giving, in a most carefully tabulated form, the result of his experiments for a period covering more than three years of the action of alcohol on the resistive power of human red blood corpuscles, Dr. Laithinen reached this scientific conclusion: 'That alcohol, even in comparatively small doses, exercises a prejudicial effect on the protective mechanism of the human body.' A specific effect of alcohol is the injury to the white corpuscles of the blood which constitute our direct protection against contagious diseases.

"Fiction in its own fashion, voices the conclusions of science and it is indeed pertinent that Robert W. Chambers put into the mouth of the physician who speaks to the young clubman, such words as these: 'Alcohol is poison, and it has not and never had in any guise the slightest compensating value for internal use. It isn't a food. It is a poison. It isn't an aid to digestion. It is poison. It is a life saver; it is a life taker. It is a parasite, forger, thief, liar, brutalizer, murderer. There isn't and there never has been one word to say for it, or any excuse, except morbid predisposition or self-uneducated inclination for swallowing it. You can take your choice.'

"There is but one scientific conclusion. Every child in the public schools as well as every student in our colleges should be taught the truth, and then, in the words of the great teacher of the world: 'Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.'

INDIANAPOLIS HAS A WOMAN ON THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Systematic campaign work on the part of the Woman's School Commissioner Organization resulted in the election of Miss Mary E. Nicholson to the Indianapolis School Board.

The use of a beautifully furnished room in the new Odd Fellow Building was given for headquarters. Telephones were installed and Mrs. Carrie Goodwin Rexford, a woman of ability and experience was employed as office secretary.

For six weeks a strenuous campaign was conducted by the women. Letters were sent out by the hundreds to prominent men and women explaining the plan and need of the campaign. Small explanatory leaflets and announcement cards were printed and distributed by the tens of thousands.

Friends, both men and women contributed their services as workers and speakers, often paying their own street car fare. Much help was given the Organization by men with automobiles who took the speakers to night meetings.

All kinds of societies of men and women were addressed by our speakers and leaflets and cards distributed. It was the time of the city campaign and many of the official precinct meetings were attended. These were sometimes held in a store room, office or private parlor.

A courteous hearing was always granted our speakers. An appeal for a "woman on the School Board" met with courtesy, kindness and often with approval from precinct workers representing many phases of society. Men know that women should have a voice in all that pertains to the education of the child.

Among all classes of women there were individual workers pledging men to vote for Miss Nicholson. Many men were not only pledged to vote for Miss Nicholson but pledged to get three, five or ten men to vote for her. Leaflets and cards were carried by the women in their hand bags and handed out to men wherever possible.

Many W. C. T. U. women did effective work for Miss Nicholson and they helped greatly by their presence at the polls on election day. Effort was made to have two women at all the polls handing out cards to the voters, however, not that many women were out. Everywhere they were treated with the greatest courtesy and respect.

Money in small amounts was contributed by women and a few men amounting in all about five hundred dollars which paid all expenses and left a small balance.

The Woman's School Commissioner Organization committee consisted of the following persons: Dr. Amelia R. Keller, chairman; Miss Harriet Noble, secretary and treasurer; Miss

Ohio W. C. T. U. convention was held in Toledo. State membership 30,208, a gain of 2,189 members this year. The following report was made by the State Board of Trustees:

The funds invested for the Ohio W. C. T. U. and interest thereof used as a superintendents' fund are, Vinal Fund, $700; Brakefield Fund, $2,077; Margaret Peebles, $1,000; Franchise, $644; A Friend, $500. Fifteen hundred dollars were given this year, with instructions to invest and use the interest.

We also hold 48 shares of Sturges, Proctor & Gamble, worth 1,200. Expended for one share stock $245, for Franchise work $150, Literature $10, Postage $10—$108.28 accrued interest is on hand for superintendents the coming year.

The discussion on Trustees report showed that our president had taken advantage of a special offer of Proctor & Gamble (Ivory soap firm) and had secured a share of their stock for $245.00, which was worth $300.00 market price. Also that Mr. Edwards, brother-in-law of Florence Richards, was giving 5 per cent interest on $4,921.00 in his bank, which is one per cent. more than other banks give. Mrs. Jaite told of a $1,000 bequest from Miss Margaret Peebles, a former member of the Board of Trustees.

The Publisher of the Messenger reported receipts $3,065.37 also for advertising $172.25. As $200 above receipts had been expended, it was decided to try six months longer, and if expenses were above receipts to reduce the size of the paper at Mid-Year Meeting. The State treasurer reported receipts as $18,121.71, disbursements $15,233.37.

Salary estimates were: State president, $600; stenographer, $425; corresponding secretary, $300; treasurer, $360; clerical help for the State treasurer, $50.

The printing of the State Minutes was left in the hands of the State president and State corresponding secretary. The editor and publisher of the Ohio Messenger were to receive $20 per month each. The State superintendents all $10 each except contests, L. T. L. $30 and superintendent of Work Among Colored People $15.

The interest of the Margaret Peebles fund to be paid toward organization. The receipts of the superintendent of Contest work had been $162.34 and expenditures $100.56 carried that she receive 20 per cent. of the net proceeds contest night at State convention. The receipts at Lake Side Cottage this year were $208, which paid for all repairs and expenses and left $50 in the treasury.

$12,046.45 was raised by Unions for campaign purposes and other work outside of membership dues and department work.

Idaho almost "dry" outside of incorporated towns while many of the cities will soon be "dry." Hon. Paul Clagstone, a millionaire rancher, speaker of the last Legislature of Idaho and aspirant for governor, successor to Governor Brady, has decided to make a determined fight against the saloon element in the State. He said, "State after State has demanded and obtained prohibition and the majority of Idaho counties are declaring against the saloon system."

Field News

The Gosport W. C. T. U. held a parlor social at the home of its president, Mrs. Alice Wampler. Several departments of work were splendidly demonstrated by something original from the various superintendents. Each one was very cleverly done, but the prettiest and most effective was the Mother's department demonstration, in which Mrs. Martha Burton, the superintendent of this department rolled a baby cab into the back parlor and silently and fondly rocked the baby while Mrs. Daisy Sexson played and softly recited, "The Hand That Rocks The Cradle Rules The World." We were all made to realize more forcibly than ever that the mothers of today are molding the characters that must make or mar tomorrow and that it depends largely upon the wise and careful training the mother gives her child that must determine what this shall be.

Sunday evening, November 7th, Mrs. Sibbitt of Kansas lectured to a large and enthusiastic audience at the M. E. Church. The manner in which she handled her subject, "The Bugle Call of The 20th Century" showed her to be a speaker of great power and influence.

We have had four new members the past week. We feel that our efforts are not in vain and that the Master in his own good time will right every wrong.—Lulu S. Wampler, press superintendent.

The Madison Union held a very helpful Mother's meeting with Mrs. Newman on West Main Street and for one week conducted a Rummage Sale with profit.

La Porte Union has enrolled four new members since the State convention. Our Dear State corresponding secretary, Miss Woodard has made plain in the November "Message" the way to gain enough new members to make the 10,000 by September 15th, 1910. Surely this can be done easily by any three members. La Porte is going to try hard to double its membership by the end of the W. C. T. U. year.—Mrs. Seth Pease, press superintendent.

Brazil (Clay County) Union had Mrs. Mary Sibbitt of Kansas for the afternoon and evening of November 3d. In the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Falls, the mother's of the city were invited and when the hour for speaking had arrived the house was full. They did not go away at all disappointed but said it was the best talk to mothers, they had ever listened to.

Mrs. Sibbitt gave her lecture, "Bugle Call of The 20th Century" in the evening to appreciative audience. Not so many voters were present as the Union wished for. All went away saying the message was true and to the point.

Mrs. Sibbitt surely sets stakes for State-wide Prohibition in two years. You can't miss it, in having Mrs. Sibbitt.—Ella C. Falls, press superintendent.

The South Bend Pleasant View W. C. T. U. held the November meeting Wednesday, November 10th, at the home of Mrs. W. M. Baker, 725 Cedar Street. Mrs. E. L. Hall gave a very interesting talk on scientific temperance after which we were favored with a temperance reading by Miss Irine Kizer.

Plans were made during the business session for a Pastry Sale November 20th. We were pleased to have one new member added to our Union, and during the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

The December meeting will be held with Mrs. C. McDonald, 801 Dunond Avenue.—Mrs. Jacob Miller.

Mooresville W. C. T. U. is steadily growing in interest and membership annually. An all day meeting is held in Autumn when the delegates make their reports of the State convention. On the second day of November we met at the Christian Church for this purpose. A splendid program consisting of songs, solos, speeches and a reading by Mrs. Lillie Latta, the most important was the glowing report given by Mrs. Sadie Day. Two new members joined our ranks that day and at noon a splendid dinner was served to all and on the 9th and 10th we had the lecturer, Mrs. Sibbitt with us. Great good for our cause will be the result. We feel sure that her lectures here have caused a great revival in our W. C. T. U. work. Two new members claimed the white ribbon through her influence. We are planning now to entertain our physicians, teachers, school board and ministers.

In reality our revival dates from our county convention held here in August when we had our Dear Mrs. McWhirter as our leader and who spoke so many good words of encouragement and cheer to us. Mrs. McWhirter was an inspiration to our Union. She left many lasting impressions and imbued our members with new hope and renewed zeal. We are expecting great gains this year.

Brightwood Union of Indianapolis, met at the home of Mrs. E. C. Mulholland, 2405 Station Street, October 21. Mrs. A. J. Clark gave a reading, "Why Our Union Did Not Disband." We advise Unions to secure Mrs. Clark for a reading.—Mrs. Edgar F. Brown.

Madison W. C. T. U. have just closed a very successful Rummage Sale which was held in a room recently vacated by a saloon. Our town will be "dry" after November 16, excepting a few blind animals hiding about some of the soft dring parlors. However, they will not be in hiding very long, for the W. C. T. U. have their eyes and ears open and the Mayor of our city is running them down. Blind animals are expensive in Madison.—Mrs. G. E. Denny.

The Brownstown W. C. T. U. held a regular meeting on October 19th. The new officers were present and ready to discharge their duties. The officers are: Mrs. O. S. Brooke, president; Mrs. J. B. Burrell, vice-president; Mrs. Dr. Zaring, secretary, Mrs. Elmer Shepard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. H. Prince, treasurer. superintendents for the department were appointed as follows: Red letter days, Mrs. H. E. Kattman; Flower Mission, Mrs. Shannon Gray; superintendent press, Mrs. Elmer Shepard; woman's franchise, Mrs. R. H. Cribb; medal contest, Mrs. Caleb Tovey; evangelistic work, Mrs. Wright Vermilya; secretary "Y.", Mrs. William Endebrock.

Our delegate to the State convention made an interesting report of the proceedings of same.

An enthusiastic spirit pervaded the meeting, and there is a hopeful outlook for much work to be done the ensuing year.—Mrs. Elmer Shepard.

The November Everybody's Magazine contains a valuable and interesting article by Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver Juvenile Court, "The Beast and the Jungle." Have it read aloud some evening every member of the family will be interested.

The Union Signal should be read by every temperance woman in Indiana and by all ministers and Sunday school superintendents and teachers. Price including a years subscription and price of money for sending is 2 cents a week. It will help every reader. Some rich women often do not feel their need of it, little do they realize what they miss. The ambitions valuable W. C. T. U. women realizes her need of the "Union Signal."

W. C. T. U. meetings should begin promptly on time and adjourn as promptly, if busy housewives are expected to attend. Long programs for public meetings are hurtful to the cause. People who are really friends get tired and say they cannot be bored by attending Woman's meetings for they never know when to begin and when to quit.

The Bath W. C. T. U. of Franklin county held a public meeting in M. E. Church at Bath Sunday evening, October 24. Echoes were heard from State convention. The president Mrs. Daisy Dare presiding. The meeting opened with song followed by prayer by Mrs. O. S. DuBois. The following delegates read reports from the State convention held at Muncie, October 1-5: Mrs. Winnie Smith and Mrs. Margaret Smith. These papers were good and very interesting. Mrs. Alie Van Ausdall, Mrs. Christina DuBois, Mrs. Lida Farr, Miss Grace Myers, Mrs. Carrie Sha er, Mrs. Don Moore and Mrs. Mary Bourne also attended the convention and gave reports. In closing her paper, Mrs. Shafer recited well the poem, "The Bridge." Miss Grace Myers in her usual winsome manner entertained the audience with a recitation entitled "Indiana Is Going Dry." After singing "The Fight Is On" the audience was dismissed with benediction. During the winter months we will meet with our co-workers at Bath, thinking the change beneficial all around.—Mary McCarty, press superintendent.

Howard County. As to the work of Howard county, we can say a great deal, and being an old W. C. T. U. transferred to new quarters, it will not be boasting, for me to say that, Howard county is alive and able to do hard work. A good county convention was held at an open parlor meeting with Mrs. Pedigo was given the report of our national delegate, Miss Amanda Turner and the report of Mrs. Ida Mix to the convention of the State Board of Charities and Correction, (Kokomo Union having sent her as their delegate.) These reports were interesting, instructive and inspiring. The evangelistic department, led by Mrs. Jennie Wooten, doing good work, having services at County House every two weeks. Services are also held at the jail on every Sunday morning. On Tuesday evening, Aunt Jennie (as she is familiarly known), informed me that there were only two prisoners in jail last week, the outcome of a "dry town." The superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction department called on the county superintendent of schools and on the superintendent of the Kokomo schools asking for information concerning the enforcement of the State law requiring the teaching of the effect of alcohol and narcotics upon the human system. Sabbath observance department is doing good work. At a recent all day session of the County executive Committee and the Board of Superintendents, a resolution was passed urging all W. C. T. U. women in the county to buy groceries on Friday instead of Saturday, thus helping to distribute their labor so as to prevent over work on Saturday and Saturday night for proprietors. Relief is needed on Saturdays for the men and for the dumb animals that are driven to delivery wagons. If not over worked on Saturday man will be better prepared to enjoy the sanctity and the spiritual privileges of the Sabbath Day. The Press Department has saved since the State convention temperance news besides notices, items to the number of a total of 1,440 have been collected over four feet of—column wide—of contributed by this department during its duration. Flower Mission, Sunday school and medal contest departments are all planning aggressive work. We hope soon to report work done by all the twenty-one departments in Howard county.—Mrs. Irene Gard.

Our Promoted Comrades

MISS SOPHRONIA BAYLEES, died October 7th, 1909. She was a faithful member of the Christian church, and a charter member of Madison W. C. T. U., organized in 1904. She was a faithful attendant to her church, Sunday school and mid-week prayer meeting and an enthusiast on the temperance subject, being well read she did in her quiet way much to bring about the Local Option success which made old Jefferson "dry" last April. Though afflicted with rheumatism she marched in the middle of the street demonstration night in the big parade, along with her great niece. The Madison W. C. T. U. sent for her casket a beautiful floral offering tied with a big bow of white ribbon. One brother and nieces and nephews survive her. Though afflicted since early Spring time she was confined to her bed but three days and nights. She passed peacefully away, her frail form succumbed to Bright's disease. Her spirit had flown to her Heavenly home, where loved ones, and a loving Saviour awaited to greet her.

LOCAL OPTION CONSTITUTIONAL.

The Supreme Court of Indiana has settled the question of the constitutionality of local option. The will of more than 68,000 majority of voters in the total registered vote, including nearly all the territory of the state and indicating unmistakably the overwhelming majority of the entire vote of the state against the liquor traffic; such an uprising of the people could not be overlooked by the Supreme Court. Greater than antiquated decisions, greater than the power of organized anarchy headed by brewers and distillers the people have proved themselves a mighty educator of public conscience and of judicial decision.

Now with the vantage ground dry communities and dry counties will be encouraged to press the issue until every saloon and every brewery and distillery is driven from the state by state-wide prohibition.

The splendid children of this great commonwealth should have as a priceless heritage in prohibition of the entire liquor traffic and riddance of the brewer, saloon keeper and distiller written in the constitution of Indiana.

New York State has appointed Jan. 6th to be observed as a Day of Prayer by all local unions, not a special program, but a meeting for Divine blessing upon the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in all its departments; upon the work for total abstinence and prohibition; for the abolition of the white slave traffic, and for the protection of the homes.

Ohio has 31,000 paid members. Their gain last year was 2,189 members.

Of Kentucky's 119 counties, 96 are "dry" under the county option law. The breweries and distilleries remain, they are not affected by county option.

Memphis, Tenn., has been the largest prohibition city in the world since July 1st.

In Oklahoma the Supreme Court has declared it to be a criminal offense to advertise intoxicating liquors.

Thirty-three States were on Benefit Night at the national convention this year.

Ohio made the greatest gain, then Pennsylvania, then New York. Montana did best of all, its gain was 400 over its entire membership of 500 last year.

Ohio has the largest membership of any state over 31,000 and New York has 29,320 members. Indiana has 7,626 members.

OMAHA CONVENTION.

The National W. C. T. U. met in Omaha, Neb., Oct. 22-27. The Indiana delegates met the White Ribbon Special at Chicago and enjoyed the company of white ribboners from the North, South and East during the remainder of the journey.

Our hostess city was in her best attire and tried in every way to show her appreciation of the work in which our organization is engaged. As we filed into the station, 250 strong, we greeted our Omaha sisters with:

"Omaha, Omaha, we love you.
Omaha, Omaha, we'll see you through
To prohibition, prohibition, prohibition!"

Flags and banners bearing the words, "Welcome W. C. T. U." fluttered in windows and from the towers and cupolas. Across Farnam street was suspended "Welcome, W. C. T. U." in electric lights. Each night this greeted the eye of the visitors and reminded residents of the presence of this white ribbon throng. The meetings were held in the great auditorium and while many delegates could not hear because of the poor acoustic properties of the building, Indiana was fortunate in securing a most excellent seat near the platform. The meetings were full of interest from the prayer meeting, the morning of the first day, to the jubilee demonstration the evening of the last day. A gain of more than 20,000 members made all jubilant.

The annual address of our National President, Mrs. L. M. U. Stevens, was characterized by all who heard or read it as the most logical statesman-like address ever delivered before an Omaha audience.

The convention was welcomed by His Excellency, Ashton C. Shallenburger, the Governor of Nebraska. He dwelt on the victory won in the last legislature when the law closing all bars at 8 p. m., was passed. Hon. James E. Dohman, mayor of Omaha, gave the next greeting.

The keynote of the convention was struck in the first meeting when the women rose and amid the waving of flags, handkerchiefs and banners, sang "We're Out for Prohibition" to the tune of "Dixie." The two cornetists who lead were young women, one, the trumpeter for the Veterans of the Confederacy the other the daughter of a Union soldier. While almost every license state reported work along the lines of local option or remonstrance, yet all agreed that nothing less than state and national prohibition will do the work. Prayers were offered that we might step over into this promised land without wandering forty years in the wilderness.

Ex-Governor Robert Glenn of North Carolina

gave the address on Sunday evening. He proved beyond a doubt that a party, standing on a prohibition platform with its candidates pledged to this policy, was a necessity in attaining it. He is a conscientious Christian man and when in the night hours he heard the voice of his Master calling him to arise and write his message urging the legislature to action and to take the platform for prohibition, he answered "I will, Lord." He went over North Carolina as a flame of fire, and friend and foe alike call him the father of prohibition in North Carolina. May God raise up such a Moses for Indiana!

He paid the highest possible tribute to the W. C. T. U. as the band that has blazed the way and made present victories possible.

Each succeeding program seemed better than the last and when the delegates parted to go to their respective fields of labor for another year Nebraska brewers and distillers were not so confident of their position as when the women came, but felt that possibly their greeting upon their arrival might be a prophecy of a coming time when for the sake of the common good they might be retired from business.

Indiana was on Jubilee night, having made a gain of more than 500. We invited the convention for 1910, but Baltimore won it because it was time to go East. We must have it in 1911.

Yours,

CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

ANARCHY FOSTERED.

The Indiana Brewers' Association construes President Taft's expressions as a license for anarchy. President Taft is quoted by the Brewers in a flaming advertisement which disgraces the daily papers in these words:

.....
"Nothing is more foolish; nothing more utterly at variance with sound policy than to enact a law which, by reason of conditions surrounding the community, is incapable of enforcement. Such instances are sometimes presented by sumptuary laws, by which the sale of intoxicating liquors is prohibited under penalties in localities where the public sentiment of the immediate community does not and will not sustain the enforcement of the law. In such cases the legislation usually is the result of agitation by the people in the country districts, who are determined to make their fellow citizens in the city better. The enactment of the law comes through the country representatives, who form a majority of the legislature, but the enforcement of the law is among the people who are generally opposed to its enactment, and under such circumstances the law is a dead letter. In cases where the sale of liquor can not be prohibited in fact it is far better to regulate than to stamp it out. "By the enactment of a drastic law and the failure to enforce it, there is injected into the public mind the idea that laws are to be obeyed or violated according to the will of those affected. I need not say altogether pernicious such a loose theory is. . . . The constant violation or neglect of any law leads to a demoralized view of all laws."
.....

The Brewers would have less excuse for fostering anarchy if our President had said that a sentiment which makes law possible against a lot of murderous, treacherous and lawless liquor dealers would be easy of enforcement if the people should follow up their vantage ground by electing men who had neither sop nor comfort for anarchists. But then he might have lost support from one element of voting strength, which has neither patriotism nor party loyalty.

CALL FOR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING JAN. 4, 1910.

The Executive Committee is called to meet in Parlor D, in the Y. M. C. A. building, Indianapolis, Ind. at 10 a. m. Jan. 4, 1910. The committee consists of the board of trustees, Secretaries of Y. & L. T. L. branches, editor of State Paper, Presidents and the President of each organized county.

Business of the greatest importance makes it necessary for a full meeting. There will be no entertainment unless by friends of the members. The meeting will continue one full day.

GOLDEN RULE FOR POLICE CLEVELAND, O.

Recently Cleveland's chief of police has spoken of his plan of procedure in treating criminals in that large city.

Fred Kohler, one of the most daring, original and notable chiefs of police in the country gives the following results of the two years' experience with the golden rule in its application to law-breakers:

He has driven a swarm of lawyers and professional bondsmen from the Police Courts, closed all the gambling rooms in the city and extinguished the red lights in the tenderloin district.

If a man accidentally kills another, he is permitted to go about his business and his name is kept out of the book of arrests. The day of branding the innocent or the unfortunate is past.

Intoxicated persons are sent home in carriages or are detained until sober and then ordered to be at their work places when the 7 o'clock whistles blow. Thus no wages are lost and women are saved from disgrace and hardships.

His scheme of repression, by which any disorderly house can be shut up, is by posting a patrolman at the door armed with a pencil and a tablet of paper.

The present policy of treating criminals is wrong, otherwise there would not be calls for more jails and larger penitentiaries.

There is more hope for the old thief who tells the truth than for the man who has stolen but once and then lied about it.

Chief Kohler began radical work on the law breakers of Cleveland as soon as installed in office. He had all the gamblers of the city asked to report at his office, they were ordered to quit their business at once. Some of them were given twenty-four hours and others a week in which to get their paraphernalia out of town and orders obeyed or it would be destroyed. Not any gambling except secret games in Cleveland since.

Proprietors of houses of ill repute were sent for, orders given that red lights must be extinguished and names taken off of windows or doors immediately. When it was deemed necessary to raid a house a policeman was ordered to stand on the sidewalk near the door with a tablet and pencil and demand the name and address of every person who entered the house. Within a few days the house thus picketed would be vacated. Threats of court proceedings did not at all intimidate him. They were less willing to go to law than he was. The number of the red-light district women has been reduced in Cleveland in two years under this administration from 2,500 to 300. The entire district is cleared out.

What Cleveland's chief of police has done every chief in Indiana could do if he would.

Concerning the saloons and the lawlessness of the liquor business, this chief says "that has to do with the policy of the city administration and is therefore not in my control."

MRS. MARY E. BALCH

Former Indiana officer died recently at the home of her son in Louisville, Ky.

There is proposed legislation for Federal control of the so-called "White-Slave Traffic" with a view to its suppression. The question of state rights has been raised, men think that each state should deal with the matter. The Mann bill aims to suppress the white-slave traffic "by prohibiting transportation of women of a certain class from one state to another." The Bennett bill provides that aliens shall be amenable to the proposed law at any time after entering the United States, where Mr. Mann provided a three-year limit.

LOCAL UNIONS.

One of the greatest blessings that could come to the average W. C. T. U. would be to have a real active calling committee, a committee of four or six earnest members who would go in "twos" to call on the members, friends, those desired for members and all elderly people and shut-ins in the town.

To tell them of the plans and purposes of the great World's and National W. C. T. U., the work done in our own state and emphasize the need of work in the town. One afternoon a week devoted to such work by discreet level-headed sweet-spirited women would accomplish much in any community.

JANUARY, 1910.

The State Executive Committee meets in Parlor D, Y. M. C. A. building, Indianapolis, Ind., at 10 a. m., Jan. 4, 1910. Important business makes this early call for mid-year necessary. There will be no entertainment unless by friends. The meeting will last one full day.

CULLA J. VAYHINGER,
State President.

The National Minutes should be in the hands of all state and county workers. They contain much information. President Stevens' address, the National Officers' reports for the year and the reports of the National Superintendents of departments are published in the National Minutes. Late information concerning the mighty work of the W. C. T. U. of this whole country. Price 15 cents, National W. C. T. U., Evanston Ill.

The State Minutes contain a directory of the county officers, county superintendents and local union officers.

Every state superintendent can easily reach all her county superintendents and the officers of all the counties and local unions.

Local superintendents can easily get the addresses of the county and state superintendents.

Every local superintendent should read the annual report of the state superintendent of her department as published in the minutes. Some of these reports should be read at public meetings.

Every State Superintendent who has not yet—Jan. 1—heard directly from her national superintendent since the national convention in October, has good reason to know that she is not energetically pushing the national department work. Such fact should be reported to our state president. State superintendents who have ability, interest and energy will plan and work for Indiana and not wait longer than Jan. 1st to get plans from the national superintendents.

If you are interested to know how much money is received and for what expended in the national and our state W. C. T. U., read in the Annual Minutes of each organization the report of the appropriation committee. No other organization does such far-reaching work with so small amount of money.

THE W. C. T. U.

Information concerning the great work at large can be secured from the "Annual Leaflet" and the Union Signal. The Annual Leaflet, price five for 10 cents, address Mrs. E. P. Hutchinson National W. C. T. U., Evanston, Ill.

Information concerning the W. C. T. U. work in Indiana last year can be secured from the "State Minutes," price 15 cents. Address Miss Mary Woodard, Fountain City, Ind. The minutes contain the state president's address the state officers' reports and the reports of all the department superintendents. How can any W. C. T. U. worker afford to be without a copy. Every officer, superintendent and interested member should have a copy.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS.

There are several that every W. C. T. U. woman should consider.

To wear a little white ribbon bow every day. Never to let the family, neighbors or friends see you without it on.

To attend every meeting of the Union. Few have many talents, but every member can count one and thus help by influence and encouragement.

To talk every day to at least one person about some phase of the W. C. T. U. work, even though that person does not seem interested and is the same one talked to the day before. Talk to some one person, preferably a boy or girl.

To secure and distribute some W. C. T. U. or temperance literature every week this year. Ten cents buys many leaflets and much valuable information.

To tithe. Every woman who tithes can give definitely and proportionately. W. C. T. U. women who tithe should plan to set aside a certain part of the tithe for W. C. T. U. work.

To keep smiling. Smiles get smiles in return.
To subscribe for the Union Signal and to read it every week this year. In many a home there would be greater respect and admiration for the work of women and for the W. C. T. U. if items or short articles from the Union Signal were read aloud in the home occasionally. So long as a W. C. T. U. woman does not read the Union Signal she can not be informed upon the great work of the organization. One dollar a year. Will you subscribe?

To pray once a day for the overthrow of the liquor business in Indiana.

THREE TOOLS ARE NECESSARY FOR THE USE OF EVERY INDIANA W. C. T. U. WOMAN WHO IS A SUCCESSFUL WORKER AS A LOCAL OR COUNTY OFFICER OR LOCAL OR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT. THEY ARE: FIRST, THE UNION SIGNAL, PRICE $1; SECOND, THE STATE MINUTES, PRICE 15 CENTS; THIRD, THE NATIONAL ANNUAL LEAFLET, PRICE 2 CENTS.

OFFICIAL.

At the recent meeting of our State Board of Trustees, a proposition offered by the L. U. Snead Company, Upland, Ind., was approved and heartily indorsed, after careful consideration.

The plan as outlined offers the W. C. T. U. of the state an exceptional opportunity to place in the treasuries of the Local Unions abundant means for carrying on a still more vigorous warfare against the saloon and legalized vice.

The increased activity of the liquor forces and their lavish expenditure of vast sums of money, in the avowed determination to regain the territory lost in the last few years of temperance gains call for eternal vigilance and active work on the part of every friend of temperance.

One of the greatest needs in our work is the securing of money sufficient to meet conditions in every campaign, with call for considerable amounts to meet the legitimate expenses essential to success. Here, in the past, has been a weak spot in our midst, for often the funds have been so low as to seriously hamper our work.

If every Union in Indiana will at once undertake the plans proposed and each member will give but a little time and interest in furthering its success, many thousands of dollars can be paid into our treasuries within a few months.

The L. U. Snead Company publish a book of excellent worth on the Bible, entitled "The Bible Students' Cyclopedic," and thousands have been sold within a few years. This book is highly indorsed by hundreds of pastors, Sunday school teachers, and Bible students everywhere, and is of especial value and has been greatly blessed of God, in creating and enlarging in the home life of thousands of families a new zeal and love for God's Word, and His cause. The mere placing of this book in thousands of homes in Indiana would mean a work of great importance and benefit to the causes of righteousness and truth. But the W. C. T. U. now has the opportunity of placing these books in Indiana's homes and at the same time paying the profits on its sale into the treasuries of the Local Unions.

A special edition, containing in addition to the regular contents, several pages giving a brief history of the W. C. T. U. work in nation and state, with a fine cut of Miss Willard and another of the state officers, together with other data of interest and value, is now being published.

This edition of the "Bible Students' Cyclopedic" will be sold at the regular price of the general work $2 per copy. One dollar from each book to be paid into the local treasury of the Union where it is sold and the other dollar to be paid the L. U. Snead Company for the book.

Full particulars can be obtained by writing to the L. U. Snead Company, Upland, Ind., and we urge upon every local president and Union the importance of at once writing them and helping to make a real success of this plan, which should mean so much to our W. C. T. U. work, in money secured for our funds and in great good accomplished.

We would seek to impress upon each member of the Indiana W. C. T. U., the magnitude of this present opportunity and again urge every Union to send, without delay, for full particulars.

There are nearly 8,000 members of the W. C. T. U. in Indiana, and if each one will, on the average, aid in the sale of but three copies of this W. C. T. U. memorial edition, over $20,000 will be secured for our treasuries within a year. Is not this worth the interest and active support of every true white ribboner? Let us work together in this for a grand success. It can be done—and we will do it by God's help.

PLAN OF WORK FOR 1909-1910.

Membership Gain.

It is our aim to raise our active membership to 10,000 this year and to secure such number of honorary members as shall equal one-fourth the active membership. Let a campaign for membership be begun at once and continued throughout the year.

Public Meetings.

Every Union in the state should hold at least one public meeting per quarter, using local talent as well as employing public speakers.

We also urge local Unions to prepare interesting programs or medal contests to be given in unorganized neighborhoods or towns and at the meetings to distribute literature and prepare the of our organization.

Visiting Committees.

We recommend that unions appoint a visiting committee to be changed each quarter whose duty it shall be to do house to house work, distributing literature and inviting women to become members of our organization.

Reception for Teachers.

We recommend that each local Union give a reception in honor of their teachers, if possible to secure their subscription to the Crusade Monthly.

Obscene Pictures.

We recommend local Union to co-operate with the postal authorities in suppressing obscene pictures on postal cards.

Essay Contests.

We recommend that Unions arrange at once for essay contests in their high schools to be governed by the rules given in the Plan of Work sent out by our National Superintendent of S. T. I.

Work for Prohibition.

We urge local Unions not to be satisfied with the local option victories of the past year, but to push with greater determination than ever before for state-wide prohibition. To this end to distribute literature and to use contest recitations that ring true with straight prohibition argument.

Organization.

We request each local Union to send $1.50 to our State Treasurer to be used as an organization fund.

All poorly organized counties should begin at once to bring their organizations up to the standard of at least six unions with not fewer than ten paid members in each union with a county organization.

All counties making a gain of 50 or more will be given a place on the program on benefit night and will share pro rata in the collection.

TO LOCAL UNIONS.

Dear Sisters:

The first quarter of our W. C. T. U. year is almost gone and we are hoping that the dues sent to our state treasurer, Dec. 15th will show an encouraging increase in membership over this quarter of last year. We must have 10,000 members in Indiana by Sept. 15th, 1910. We can have them if every Union will work to that end. Appoint a visiting committee each month or each quarter, whose duty it shall be to make calls and distribute literature and invite women to become members. There may be women in your town just waiting for an invitation to belong. Do not let them wait another month. With so many victories to encourage us and so much need for our work to spur us on we should make this the greatest year of our history. Let us show our faith by our works.

With this I send a copy of our state "Plan of Work," which should be read and discussed by every Union. Try to carry out as many of its suggestions as possible.

I hope you are finding the "Model Program" helpful in making your meetings interesting. Last year I received so many inquiries about the literature called for in the program that this year I have made a collection of the leaflets necessary in carrying out the program. Unions sending me 15 cents to cover cost and postage will receive a package of these leaflets. The program this year calls for much original work, so the subjects should be assigned weeks before they are to be given.

With many wishes for a happy and prosperous year for every white ribboner in the state, I am yours in W. C. T. U. comradeship,

MARY E. WOODARD,
State Corresponding Secretary,
Fountain City.

FLOWER MISSION.

The first quarter of our year's work is almost ended, and it has found many loving hearts and willing hands constantly busy in the Master's vineyard ministering to the wants of the needy and heeding the cries of the unfortunate and those in distress. "In so much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." The Flower Mission means so much. The field is so broad and far-reaching that it has a place for every white ribboner to fill and there is no one so busy but that she can give some time to this department. We can all speak some word of cheer to a troubled heart, lend a helping hand to those in need, give a flower with a text card, read to sick and "shut-ins," pray for a weak and wayward one. Yes, there are opportunities for all to do something in this most beautiful department. Our women did a noble work last year and made good reports, but the total for the year will be much greater if all report all the work they do to our local superintendents. Indiana made an increase last year of 350 per cent and I trust our increase will be more this year and while we are ministering to others, let us not forget that the flowers have their message for white ribboners as well as for those among whom we work. If we love and appreciate the beautiful in nature ourselves, we will be better able to help this mission.

If there are any superintendents who have not the "Plan of Work," notify me and I will send you a copy of the plan by return mail. Any person who desires can get text cards at 12 cents per hundred and other supplies by sending our national superintendent, Miss Lella M. Sewall, 330 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, Mass.

We should use more text cards, distribute more literature and more bouquets. We should urge cultivation of vacant lots and the observance of Arbor Day. Let us advance along this line. Do more work and better work this year than ever before.

Lovingly yours,
MRS. VIOLA R. HARVEY,
Mooresville, Ind.

MEDAL CONTEST—WORKERS, ATTENTION.

You will notice by the Union Signal that the Willard Memorial Meeting, Feb. 17th is to be a supplement in the form of a medal contest. The program will be sent out by the national superintendent of this department and will consist of extracts and songs from Miss Willard's own writings and a sketch of her life. The proceeds of all such contests are to be sent to the national treasurer for the Frances Willard Memorial fund, to be used for organization. Begin now to plan your contest for this meeting.

Remember the state pennant will be given to the county holding the greatest number of high grade made contests during the year. Push these contests, and thus allow our young people to complete the prescribed course and renew their diplomas.

Faithfully yours,
JULIA OVERMAN, Superintendent,
Marion, Ind.

The American Purity Federation met in congress at Burlington Iowa, Oct. 18-22, 1909. Delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada. Rev. B. S. Steadwell, the president, presided. Great interest was shown and education was the keynote. There has been too long a mistaken idea of modesty, which has kept parents from teaching their children for intelligent parenthood.

Hon. J. L. Hamery told how he and his helpers of the Public Safety Department of Des Moines, Iowa, cleared out the red-light district there. Mr. James H. Patten of Boston, Mass., secretary of the Immigration Restriction League spoke of the white-slave traffic among the immigrants. Mrs. M. A. McKenzie spoke of it in her "Welfare Work" at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle. Miss Lucy A. Hall, a deaconess in rescue work in Chicago and Mrs. Sarah F. Bond, police matron of Oklahoma City, dealt with it from their points of view. "Our Duty in Law Enforcement," by Arthur Burrage Farwell of the Law and Order League of Chicago, was one among the strong addresses.

In a symposium, "The Right of the Child to a Knowledge of Sex" Miss Jessie Phelps, instructor in physiology at Ypsilanti Normal School, Mich., spoke from the standpoint of teacher; Miss Florence Ethel Smith, a young evangelist, spoke from the religious view, and Dr. Joseph E. Young, instructor in children's diseases of Rush Medical College, Chicago, gave us the physician's point of view, and Mrs. Della Thompson Lutes, editor of "American Motherhood," gave a summary of all.

The school teachers of Burlington were dismissed from their rooms early in order to hear Dr. Winfield Scott Hall professor of physiology of Northwestern Medical College, Chicago, who addressed them especially. Bishop Spellmeyer of the M. E. Church, St. Louis gave an address full of love for the erring. H. J. Conway, president of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association, spoke of "Women Clerks," their low wages and temptations.

"Personal Experiences in Personal Work With Young Men," by Mr. L. W. Clark of Leavittsburg, Ontario, gave a glimpse of how he gets at a boy's heart. Our own Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of Indiana State Board of Health was on the program, but was unavoidably detained in Virginia.

Plans were laid for legislative work in Congress and every state legislature. Rev. Albert J. Godley of Indianapolis is to have charge of this in Indiana.

Full reports, papers, etc., will be given in "The Light," official organ of the Federation, edited by the president, Rev. B. S. Steadwell of La Crosse, Wis.

The Federation, as its name implies, is made up of other organizations interested in the vast subject of purity. State and local W. C. T. Unions, churches, the Woman's Prohibition Club of America, etc., besides other purity societies.

HARTFORD CITY.

Dear sisters of this holy warfare:

I suppose you have been hearing dreadful things about Blackford County, and perhaps "the half has not been told" of drunkenness, murder and suicide, women held up on the streets, for we are known far and near as being very "wet." But some still have their heads above the waves and are doing what they can to agitate and educate. On Thanksgiving evening Mrs. Ritter, our superintendent of contest work, held a contest with a full house. splendid music and several department's illustrated. Five mothers came upon the platform with their babies in their arms and Mrs. Stahl, after a few words of explanation with regard to the department, tied the white ribbon on the right hand of each one of the dear little babies, with the prayer that both the boys and girls might someday cast a white ballot. All pronounced the meeting a success. Collection over $10.

The program for our first December meeting was carried out in full. The president read the "State Plan of Work," and an interesting discussion followed.

On the evening of Dec. 7th, we had with us

Mrs. Katie Waller, the national delegate to Omaha, who gave a splendid report of the national convention at Omaha. Music by the U. B. choir. Mrs. Sample and Mrs. Ritter sang "Tell Mother I'll Vote Dry," which was well received.

MRS. S. M. STAHL.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Dear Comrades:

I have just received the annual report and in looking over the directory I find that out of the forty-six counties represented thirty-five have superintendents of mothers' meetings. I am sorry that De Kalb, Gibson, Henry, Johnson, Marion, Knox, Lake Spencer, Union, Vanderburg and Wells have no superintendents for this very important department though most all have a superintendent of jail and prison work, which, without a doubt, is quite necessary. "These things ye ought to have done and not left the other undone," since formation is better than reformation, is it not of vital importance that we look well to the home influence, to the proper education of mothers in the higher responsibility of motherhood. I will send quite soon to all superintendents whose names are in the directory, my plan of work, with blanks and literature to furnish suggestions for many mothers' meetings. Counties that have no superintendent please appoint and send me the address. I will be glad to help you in any way I can. Yours for the betterment of humanity.

S. M. STAHL.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Dear Superintendents:

A happy new year to each one of you—and may you have abundant success in your work.

We look back with pleasure over the victories we have had during the past. That we may not lose one inch of the ground gained we must begin the work for 1910 on the very first day of the year and keep at it to the end with a determination that will assure victory.

Let me exhort the local superintendent to write often to her county and state superintendent; keep always in touch with them so you may know how things are going.

We note with gratification that the government has ruled that Sunday be observed as a day of rest in the Navy, the officers' inspection and all other duties, where possible, are to be left till another day.

We continue to urge that you have Sabbath laws printed in your daily papers. Laws are great educators.

St. Joseph County has started the work by ordering 5500 pages of Sabbath literature and 400 pledge cards, which looks as though they meant to keep the pennant for another year. It will be necessary for other counties to get busy.

The close of this year is at hand, holiday resolutions have been made, and now that we are ready for the activities of 1910, let us not wrong the resolves and anticipations, forget the Lord's Day, the heritage of God to busy mankind.

Cordially yours,

KATHRY WERT HOLLER
State Superintendent.

South Bend.

W. C. T. U. NORMAL INSTITUTE.

Dear Sisters:

Another year has rolled round, and again we are drawing near to the institute season.

It seems to me as I review the history of the temperance cause for the past two years, that the time has never been when we have needed the instruction and inspiration which the institute brings as we do now. Counties and states throughout this great nation are girding themselves for a terrific battle against King Alcohol, and from the lands across the sea comes the news of great activity along the same lines. The white ribbons better the globe—one result of which is that the fight against alcohol is today world-wide. Indiana, for the next few months, will have the eyes of the entire nation turned upon her. In the past two years she has fought valiantly and has achieved great victories, but she is now facing the fiercest battle of all. The liquor interests are organizing their forces, the brewers are promising to be "good" and the comparative calm of things generally should cause us to be more watchful and earnest than ever. We have pledged ourselves to work for state-wide prohibition for 1912, and in our beloved state president we have an earnest, efficient and valiant leader, but if she is to lead to victory, she must have intelligent help and co-operation of all her constituents.

It is our plan for this year's institute to take up for study the subjects which belong to Indiana and Indiana's temperance work at the present time. Our aim will be to get the entire membership enlightened and instructed as to our plan of action in the coming campaign. We want to help every county; we want to interest those who are not interested; we want to fire with a fresh enthusiasm those who are with us. The plan of work will reach you in a few days.

The schedule and program will appear in the February Message. Watch for it! Up to this time of writing I have only heard from a few counties. Please let me hear from you at once, that the schedule may be correctly made. Let us cover the entire state with our institute work this year, let us work for a large increase in our membership; many names for the petition for state-wide prohibition; let us reach out for the young women and the young men and enlist them in this work for it means much to them and to us. Pray—plan—work—and may the blessings of the Father rest upon each.

Wishing you all a very happy new year. I am,
Lovingly yours to serve,
ROSE PEARCE,
State Superintendent of Institute.
Darlington, Ind., Dec. 13, 1909.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Dear Co-workers:

First thing I wish to call your attention to my change of address. Last spring I said through the Message that my address would until further notice be Niles, Mich., R. R. No. 2. So far I have given no general notice of a change, but much of my mail has been going to North Liberty. Hence reaching me often too late to fill orders of literature in time for the meeting for which they were wanted. For this I am very sorry.

I am glad to know and say that the work is starting out very nicely. I am especially pleased to hear of so many plans for receptions for teachers and prize essay contests.

St. Joseph County had on the program of the Teachers' Association, in November a fine temperance address by Prof. Robert E. Geyer of the North Liberty School. I hope there will be many such.

Before this Message reaches you you will have received the plan of work, sample leaflets and other tools of the department. I wish to call particular attention to the teachers' total abstinence pledge cards. Our national superintendent wishes many thousand of these to take to the "World's W. C. T. U. Convention" next summer. They may be secured from her for the postage, have them signed and sent to me early, as the convention is in mid-summer. Her address is Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, 561 Thirty-third street, Milwaukee, Wis. I expect to send blanks in March and September and hope in this way to get a good and full report of work done. The points on which the pennant will be awarded are about the same as last year.

As this will reach you about New Year's Day I take this opportunity of wishing you all a happy and prosperous new year, both for yourselves and the work.

Yours for S. T. I.,

MRS. ETHEL E. BAIR,
State Superintendent.

South Bend, Ind., General Delivery.

PRIZE ESSAYS.

In every school there should be special arrangements made for prize essays on some subject pertaining to temperance. Essay writing is required of all school children at some time. Why not suggest some of the scientific temperance subjects and offer prizes.

Now is the time to make arrangements for this very important work.

Unions that are wise will urge the prize essay plan.

Offer prizes to the pupils of the grade schools, high schools and such other high grade school or college as may be in the vicinity. Fifty dollars or even twenty-five dollars a year spent in prizes for essays will bring great results in five years in any community.

That there will be legislation concerning the white-slave traffic is conceded by those in position to know.

The Indianapolis Harriet Brand Union met at the home of Mrs. George Stewart at 1039 West Thirty-third street. Although the weather was inclement every member but one of the Union was present. Mrs. Artman, county president, was with us and gave a very inspiring address along the lines of work we hope to push for the next year, giving many helpful suggestions. She also spoke of some of the prominent features of the great state convention held recently in Muncie. The president presented the Union with 300 Willard text cards, to be used in our work. We feel very grateful to Mrs. Stewart for her hospitality to us as she is not a W. C. T. U. woman. We expect to follow the suggestions of our beloved county president and in the spirit of the blessed Christ, do the things He has left us to do for those less fortunate than ourselves.

Everton W. C. T. U. of Fayette County re-elected their former officers and the work is moving on. A very pleasant and profitable meeting was held at Valley Mound Farm, the home of Mrs. Annie Tusler Brumfield. In the absence of the president Mrs. Alma Lake vice president, presided. There was an instructive and interesting program in charge of the hostess. Mrs. Ola White read a good paper on "Our Influence With Our Children," Miss Eva Piper gave an entertaining temperance reading. After interesting remarks by Mrs. Sadie Neff, Mrs. Veatch gave an instructive talk on the work of the W. C. T. U. Light refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

EVANGELISTIC.

Dear sisters:

The old year is drawing to a close and the new one with all of its duties, obligations and opportunities for service, will have been ushered in ere this comes before the dear white ribbon women of the state. May we by the loving Savior's aid, make much of the first few weeks of the new year. It is well to make new resolutions, fix new standards and above all try to reach our high ideals. In order to do this we need to be students of God's work earnest pupils in the school of prayer, always ready to sit at the dear Master's feet and learn of Him the true lessons of gentleness, meekness, humility and love. May we strive in every way to strengthen the spiritual life of the W. C. T. U. membership the coming year, and by being helped ourselves may we be made channels of blessings to others, and indeed become real soul winners "saved for service" should be our motto.

I hope that no local president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will think that her union is in good working order until a good earnest evangelist superintendent has been appointed. Then endeavor to make each meeting of an evangelist nature. Prayer is the key to the successful prosecution of your work. Try to remember the noontide prayer and thereby hasten the glad day of state-wide prohibition. During the coming year I want to keep in close touch with each county and local superintendent in the state of evangelistic work please send names to me and I will gladly aid you in any way. I need your help and I trust I may be a help to you.

Sincerely yours for better work for the Master and state and national prohibition,

MRS. ELLA KROFT,
State Evangelist,
Bloomington, Ind.

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

By the time you receive this paper I hope to be sending you the plan of work for this year. I have been waiting on the minutes. I will send programs this year on the subject of "Alcohol and the Heart," which I hope every one of you will use. I will send them to your county superintendent and she will see that every union in her county gets one. If you should not receive one remember there is some mistake and write to me. Let us do all we can in our department this year. A great deal is depending on us. We must educate the people and this can wisely be done through the Christian physicians of our land. Let each union in the state of Indiana have a good rousing medical temperance meeting this year. Advertise it well. Have all Marcellus, N. Y., for her five-cent physicians package and see that a package gets into the hands of every physician. Then don't forget to report just how many you have given out, next fall when you report to me.

Yours for service,
MRS. G. E. DENNY,
601 N. Jefferson street, Madison, Ind.

Field News

The Indianapolis Humane Society has sent out the following plea on post cards by the thousands:

A Plea from the Horse to the Lady of the House.

Please order all your supplies for the day early in the morning and save my tired legs another trip, for it is the hard and fast driving that kills me. I know you have not thought of this before, or you, kind lady, would be more considerate of me.

THE DELIVERY HORSE.

By its friend, The Indianapolis Humane Society.

The Kokomo Mayor-elect, Dr. J. L. Puckett, is being urged by the club women of his city to appoint a woman as a member of the Board of Works. Mrs. Florence McElwaine, a woman of executive ability and well informed upon civic conditions, was selected as the candidate by the Suffrage Club. Mrs. V. S. Patterson, a member of the club and who is a delegate to the Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, is actively interested in the appointment of the women's candidate.

Fountain City—A Sunday school rally was held in Fountain City on World's Temperance Sunday, Nov. 28, under the auspices of the S. S. Department of the W. C. T. U. of which Mrs. Emma Hunt is the efficient superintendent. Six Sunday schools were represented on the program, which consisted of songs, recitations, etc.

The closing exercise was a dialogue entitled "Wayne County and Her Neighbors." Wayne County came in wearing a black college gown and carrying an umbrella and soliloquized about conditions since she voted "wet." Then each of the six adjoining counties dressed in white entered in turn, spoke of the better conditions since they drove out saloons, but showed that the corrupting influence of Wayne's saloons make it impossible for them to shield their people entirely from the curse of drink. Then entered two drummers who showed that wherever the saloons have been voted out other lines of business have increased. Then a professor, representing the public school showed how saloons affected school attendance and that where saloons have been closed children who were kept out of school to help make a living, now have a chance to go to school.

After all had spoken, Wayne acknowledged her mistake, threw off her black robe and closed with these words: "I see, neighbors, that if we had all voted together, your dry majorities would have more than counteracted my 'wet' votes and this disgrace would not now be upon me. I am, hereafter for state-wide prohibition, which will make the map all white.

Then all joined in singing a song with the chorus:
Hurrah! hurrah! we hail the time to be;

Hurrah! hurrah! Wayne County shall be free,
Then we'll drive the rum curse out from lakes to gulf and sea,

Under the star-spangled banner.

Guilford Union has held three regular meetings and one public meeting with a gain of four new members. With dues paid this quarter (December) making a paid up membership of twenty-four active and three honorary members. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ivy Winkley, Jan. 12. We intend making the public meetings a special feature of this year's work.

Indianapolis Vayhinger Union is very much alive this month. At our November meeting Mrs. Cravens presented the name of Mrs. Jessie Smith for membership, and the white ribbon was tied upon the wrist of little Harold Sloane (making nine on our cradle roll). Our public meeting at East Tenth Street M. E. Church, with Mrs. Artman our county president, giving the address and a literary and musical program was a success not in numbers attending but in interest and the work done. Mrs. Baker recited well. The music was furnished by Miss Lillian Bill, Mrs. Van Arsdale, Mr. Hadley and Miss Muriel and Master Alvin Dettrich. S. J. Wilson, one of the first prohibitionists of Indianapolis and a lady giving their names for membership.

Esther Union of Marion County observed World's Temperance Sunday by having our state president, Mrs. Vayhinger, for the entire day, giving us two excellent addresses at Bethel M. E. Church, which were well received and we think much and lasting good accomplished. The charts showing the effect of alcohol on the system were especially helpful to the young people. The pastor of our neighboring church dismissed his congregation in the evening and a large number of the people attended, which the women appreciated very much. The address in the evening was the most practical, convincing, inspiring temperance address we had been privileged to enjoy, the house was filled to its utmost capacity. Mrs. Vayhunger endeared herself to these people and we are wondering when we can have her again. Mrs. Bertha Lemon, our president, presided over the meeting in a very pleasing manner. We are hoping that Esther Union may have a small part at least in putting down this terrible curse, the liquor traffic.

Laporte Union has had 200 scriptural bookmarks printed on satin ribbon of different colors, yellow, purple, green, pink and blue they are very pretty and sell readily at 10 cents apiece. They are also piecing a quilt with sixteen names on each block which bring 10 cents a name, this will be given to the student who writes the best essay on Temperance.

Jefferson County had such an arousing as never before. Mrs. Sibbetts of Kansas, together with our beloved and untiring county president, Mrs. Augustine made a tour over the county, Nov. 23 to Nov. 29, inclusive, speaking twice at Madison, once each at Canaan, Pleasant Ridge, Kent, Deputy and Brooksbury. The county has been thoroughly aroused, especially in the rural districts where the man-fearing spirit does not predominate.

Madison Union held its annual crusade-day meeting Dec. 14. A full program was arranged by Mrs. Frank Vanter which was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Rosa Jamison, the newly elected president, presided. Mrs. Denney and Mrs. Augustine gave instructive and interesting talks.

The pulpits of many of the churches at Madison were filled on Sunday, Dec. 12, by officers and representatives of the Anti-Saloon League, and a mass meeting was held at the Court House at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Morning services were held at the First Presbyterian Church by Rev. Trinity M. E. Church, Hon. R.

E. S. Shumaker; Trinity M. E. Church Hon. R. C. Winton; Grace M. E. Church, Rev. E. A. Miles; Hanover Presbyterian Church, E. M. Barney; Madison U. P. Church, Rev. R. J. Moore. Evening services at the First Baptist Church, Hon. R. C. Winton; N. Madison M. E. Church, Rev. E. S. Shumaker; West Madison M. E. Church, Rev. R. J. Moore; First Christian Church E. M. Barney. The speakers advocated both state-wide and national prohibition.

Rev. Alice Ruth Palmer, national evangelist will spend a few weeks at her home in Franklin, Ind., at the beginning of the new year. Unions or temperance workers can secure her for dates during that time. She has had four years' experience in the Nebraska temperance fight. Her address will be Franklin, Ind.

South Bend—The monthly meeting of the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. C. M. McDonald, 801 Diamond avenue the ladies are behind a movement with warm hearts for God, home and native land, forgetting the zero weather, they were out with smiles in quite a number to answer to roll call. After the regular routine of business Mrs. J. C. Otice took charge of the program. She gave two papers, one on the "Hadly School," and one on "Arbitration" of which was quite interesting. After reading the report from the convention on the Hadley School she decided it was self-supporting and the request and pledge card was laid on the table for future consideration. Miss Beth Gee gave two very good readings, then we listened to the report from our pasty sale committee of which was very pleasing, a net profit of $10 was reported. During the social hour which is always enjoyed, refreshments were served by the hostess and assistants, Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. Willard. The next meeting of the Union will be held Jan.

12, at the home of Mrs. John Ray, 1328 Michigan avenue.

MRS. JACOB MILLER.

The Tippecanoe County W. C. T. U. held their annual convention at the home of Mrs. C. C. Robinson on Perrin avenue. The reports of the various superintendents were read and show much work accomplished in all lines. The treasurer's report was very gratifying and showed after all expenses were paid a fine balance on hand. The election of officers followed. Those elected were: Mrs. Henry Bridge, president; Miss Eliza Baker, vice president; Mrs. O. M. Meacham, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marquis, recording secretary; Mrs. Jennie Conn treasurer; Miss Naomi Jester, L. T. L. secretary. Miss Jessie Mennen delighted those present with a temperance reading and Mrs. Green and Mrs. Seney sang a duet, which was very much appreciated. The workers were very much pleased with the year's work and hope to accomplish much more the coming year. A fine dinner was served at the close of the afternoon session.

Esther Union, Marion County, met at the home of Mrs. Christina Hollingsworth. The devotions were led by Mrs. Elvina Guion, after the business we had the pleasure of listening to the report from the state convention, which was very interesting and inspiring and made some of us wish that we had been there. The delegates were our president, Mrs. Bertha Lemon Mrs. May Shaw and Mrs. Eliza Ballard, all coming home filled with inspiration and a determination to do more in the future than in the past. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Lemon made a very touching appeal to us to pray more for the work and press the battle as never before.

Marshall County convention was held in the Argas M. E. Church and was a success in every particular. There are six unions in the county, each was well represented, all seemed interested and much enthusiasm for the work of the coming year was manifested. The county banner, awarded to the Union having done the best work, was won by Culcer. Mrs. M. E. Smith, president. The prize of a yearly subscription to the Union Signal to the county superintendent making the best report of work done was awarded to two superintendents, there being a tie, Mrs. Princess Hahn, superintendent Medical Temperance and Mrs. A. R. Shedd, superintendent evangelistic work.

Our Promoted Comrades

"They never quite leave us, our friends who have passed Through the gateway of death to the sunlight above,
For a thousand sweet memories are holding them fast
To places they blessed by their presence and love."

INDIANAPOLIS CENTRAL union mourns deeply the death of their beloved president, Mrs. J. M. Scheaver. She died of pneumonia after an illness of five days.

Mrs. Scheaver was admired, respected and loved by a host of friends. She was a beautiful woman, winsome and wise. With the courage of her convictions, she had a sunny disposition and a sweet Christ-like character. She was a happy, loving wife and mother. A consistent christian, loyal to her church and devoted to the W. C. T. U., to which she gave of the best of her ability. A definite portion of the title was set aside for and given to the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Scheaver was a woman of great faith and much prayer. An unfaltering leader has fallen, the more than one hundred members of Central union are grief stricken, for they loved her as few women are loved.

She has left a bereaved husband, son and cherished young daughter, who was her mother's constant companion. Her death means so much to the W. C. T. U. forces in the rum ruled, saloon cursed Indianapolis, to lose such a discreet courageous leader.

In the death of Mr. Bascom S. McClain, of Danville, the W. C. T. U. has lost an earnest devoted friend. Mr. McClain was one of the best known men in Hendricks county. His wife, Mrs. Rhoda McClain, has for years been president of the Avon union, in her plans and work she was ably supported by her husband.

FAIRMOUNT Union mourns the loss of Martha Viola Dickey. She was 69 years of age. She was one of the early temperance workers, always true to Christ and liberal in all good work for the uplifting of humanity.

We extend our sympathy to the bereaved husband. May God support him in his declining years. On behalf the Fairmount W. C. T. U.

ELMINA C. LISE, Chm. of Com.,
MAY K. WOOD, Cor. Sec.

Our beloved sister, Elizabeth Coleman Kutach, died November 24th, 1909. She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman of Bedford. She was vice-president of the Terre Haute union, and an earnest, zealous temperance worker, always wearing the White Ribbon which seemed to be an expression of the inner life as well as the outward living. A beautiful christian life has unfolded into maturity in God's great garden beyond. A husband, dear little baby and father and mother are left to look forward to that blest meeting when all shall be gathered home.

Mrs. Mary E. Balch passed away on December 8th at the home of her son, Percy Balch, in Louisville, Ky., after a long illness.

Mrs. Balch became identified with the W. C. T. U. and Prohibition work in Indiana, here she served as local president, Clinton county president and state organizer, with such ability and fidelity that she was called to the service of the National W. C. T. U. as lecturer and organizer. In this capacity she did valiant pioneer work for the W. C. T. U.

For many years she conducted a campaign over Indiana for Prohibition sentiment by means of the "Contest Department." In those days no other state had such an indefatigable and successful "Contest Supt." as did Indiana. The educational campaign that she waged among the young people throughout the state by means of this oratorical work was not equaled in any other state. In 1896 Mrs. Balch was chosen by the Indiana W. C. T. U. to succeed Miss Lodie E. Reed as State Cor. Sec. this however she refused to accept until assured that she could still carry on the "Contest work." For five years she was a wise, untiring faithful corresponding secretary of the Indiana W. C. T. U. Her broad plans were original and practical, her work faithfully, promptly and conscientiously done. When her family moved to Kentucky it was a severe blow to the Indiana W. C. T. U., our loss was Kentucky's gain. Soon that state W. C. T. U. elected her corresponding secretary and she served them until recently.

Indiana women felt that Mrs. Balch should have been made National superintendant of contest department. For years she was the associate superintendent of the department of the National W. C. T. U. Mrs. Balch was a woman of executive ability, great energy and strong convictions. She was a woman of rare refinement and deep spiritual culture, with a keen, clear perception. She was gracious, considerate and always kind and just. She was a writer of ability. With intensity she hated the liquor traffic and with fine logic and terse expression she unhesitatingly and unceasingly endeavored to arouse the people to action against its influence and power.

ANDERSON, IND., FEBRUARY, 1910

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

THE MEETING OF THE STATES.

(To be given by nine young ladies, each carrying a wand surmounted by a gilt star and decorated with a white-ribbon bow.)

For fifty years Maine has led the way,
My star still shines with steady ray
As days go by.
A saloonless state brings prosperous days,
In health and wealth we prove it pays,
As years go by.

Twenty-five years has our star shone bright,
My Kansas works for the nation's right,
A stainless flag to raise.
Our prisons are rented in Kansas, too,
We have happier homes; more fathers true;
For this our God we praise.

Seven years North Dakota's star's shone out
With clearest light; let a happy shout
Resound from sea to sea.
From King Alcohol, our bitterest foe,
Who brought us only crime and woe,
My state is surely free.

My Georgia of the Southland fair
Lifts up her star the news to bear,
That all saloons must go.
Parents and children bless the day
That prohibition came to stay,
Rich blessings to bestow.

Oklahoma, too, is gloriously battling for the right!
And we shout the triumphant song,
Our land is truly great!
My state's star from its birth shines clear and strong
To aid in blotting out the wrong.
God bless our temperance state.

Mississippi, my Mississippi,
Her beauteous star is bright;
Prohibition is our watchword
And its glorious rays of light
Shine o'er our state.
In nineteen hundred ten saloons must go
And to the whole wide world we'll show
We're up to date.

North Carolina's star is seen on high;
My splendid state joins the glad cry,
"The South is going dry;"
Old Booze must leave our state.
Our prayers and votes were not in vain,
We stand in line with good old Maine.
Kna-e Alcohol we hate.

And now comes loyal Tennessee,
To join the starry galaxy
Of Prohibition States.
Brave Carmack's martyr blood the seed
Of high resolves, that quickly rose to meet the need
For valiant hands to quench the lawless greed,
Of cruel Whisky Potentates.
(In unison, all stepping forward,)
New York! are you coming—are you coming—are you coming
To be a temperance state?
Things must really get to humming, get to humming, get to humming,
And you had better fix a date!

(New York—girl carries a large American flag.)
We have heard your words of rejoicing,
We are glad that you are glad,
But you need not think that the demon drink
Will always make us sad!
There are noble men who love us;
And women wise and true,
Who have taken a stand, for their native land,
And this flag, red, white and blue.

But best of all if you knew it,
Is the march of the legion band,
Oh! the liquor fiend will rue it,
When we grow up and stand
For the cause of prohibition,
Where'er a home is found,
And the last saloon is banished
From New York's sacred ground.

A large number of boys and girls, carrying small American flags come on the platform and stand back of New York, and they all sing the first, fifth and sixth verses and chorus of the new state song, "Marching to Victory." Each time the words "New York" are sung the children wave their flags in unison.

[The above was published in WOMAN'S TEMPERANCE WORK—New York State paper. It could be used effectively by substituting the word Indiana for New York—and having the boys and girls sing an appropriate song. "Marching to Victory" to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia" is the New York state song, price 25c per hundred. Send to Mrs. G. M. Gardener, Oswego, N. Y. It might be possible that it could be adapted for use in Indiana. Editor.]

DEPARTMENT OF JUVENILE COURTS, INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION AND ANTI-CHILD LABOR

(Minnie U. Rutherford, National Superintendent, Magazine, Ark.)

There are 100,000 children arrested and brought into the courts of the United States every year. There are 10,000 children in one city for whom there are no arrangements made in the public school's, no desks, no room; there are thousands of children, even in our smaller towns, who have no place to play except on the streets, under conditions which would be ruinous to people of more mature years; there are more than two millions of children under 16 years of age, toiling at gainful occupations, bearing the burdens of adult life and being robbed not only of their "play time," but of their opportunities of development as well.

Of these 100,000 children arrested each year, many go into the common pail, a place of idleness and a school for crime, because we have not provided detention schools for such unfortunates; and every year our girls and boys are going out into life poorly equipped for the obligations of citizenship, because our schools are largely theoretical only.

Therefore, we of the W. C. T. U. pledge ourselves to the establishment and maintenance of detention schools, wherever possible and needed; to assist in the establishment of juvenile courts, the securing of laws providing for them; the improvement of existing laws concerning them; the establishment of playgrounds; clubs, both for boys and girls; to act as probation officers wherever needed; to work continually for the betterment of our public school system, by the addition of manual training throughout; industrial training, trades school, day and evening; to assist in abolishing "street trades" for children, since "no boy is more surely headed for the juvenile court than the news boy or the "messenger;" to assist in putting our "reform schools" upon a better plane, wherever possible introducing the cottage plan and the "honor" cottage system; to help in calling attention to jail, factory, mine, sweat shop and other conditions so detrimental to our future citizenship.

We can insist everywhere upon compulsory education, birth registration (without which it is difficult to enforce child labor laws) and marriage licence laws; we can help to abolish the thing that tends surely toward the disintegration of the home, the frequency of divorce and the desertion of families by fathers, the legalized saloon; we can co-operate with such organizations as the national society for the promotion of industrial education, by the establishment in our own communities, of committees for the study of local industrial needs.

We can co-operate with the National Consumers' League in the suppression of child labor by looking for their label on the garments which we buy, thus encouraging dealers to use these goods, made under better conditions and at a living wage, for the good of all concerned, being reasonably certain that the goods do not carry infection from some dark, germ-laden tenement sweat shop.

We can help the National Child Labor Committee pass the bill introduced in the house by Representative Parsons of New York, providing for a children's bureau in the department of the Interior, such as exists in France, England and Germany.

We can assist the Consumers' League in getting a uniform minimum age of fourteen years for beginning work in all the States.

We can see that we have state, district, county and local superintendents of this department, and give it a prominent place on our programs.

We can engage prominent speakers of experience to help us agitate and educate, for there is no department in the W. C. T. U. which surpasses in importance to the future citizenship of our great country the department of Juvenile Courts, Industrial Education and Anti-Child Labor.

A banner will be awarded to the state appointing the greatest number of local superintendents within the next year, which banner Ohio won last year.

W. C. T. U. NORMAL INSTITUTE.

Plan of Work for 1910.

Dear Co-Workers:

The following plan has been made, after prayerful consideration and careful thought, and has grown out of a deep desire to add to the interest of and bring to pass larger results through our Institute in Indiana.

The plan, however, let it be as good as it may, will not work itself and if we are to have success in our work for 1910, your superintendent must have the help and co-operation of the county presidents and the entire membership. To this end please read carefully the following:

1. An institute in every organized county of our state to consist of two night meetings and one full day of institute work.

2. Each Institute to commence with public meeting at night (medal contest if practicable), followed by one full day of Institute, closing with a public meeting at night.

3. It is recommended that the contest be held on the opening night, thus giving an opportunity to advertise the Institute to be held the following day.

4. Should the county officers desire to hold a semi-annual county convention, an open parliament for department work or a co-executive meeting, let this be held on the afternoon preceeding the first night's meeting.

5. The financial plan will be the same as that followed in the past, i. e.: each county shall pay to the Institute Fund the sum of ten ($10) dollars. This shall be paid to the leader who acts as custodian of the Institute Fund.

6. The Institute Fee of ten ($10) dollars to be raised by door receipts at contest and free-will offering at the second night's meeting, and deficit being met from the County Treasury.

7. The county holding Institute Friday night, Saturday and Saturday night will have the privilege of using the leader on the Sabbath following, permitting her to take the offering only, instead of the three ($3) dollars for one service or five ($5) for two as in past years.

8. Should it be deemed best for the work that the leader shall speak at another point in the county on the first night, instead of being present at the contest, she may be thus used, providing she can reach the Institute in time for the first meeting on the following day.

9. The plan of sending out special invitations to teachers, ministers and their wives, doctors and their wives, and others whom you desire to interest, having proved of great value in the past, it is recommended that it be followed this year, and that where practicable a lunch be served at the church and an invitation be extended these to be guests at home.

10. Do your best to have good music during the entire Institute. Interest the young people and endeavor to have some good solos. Also have two or three good recitations.

11. Advertise the meetings throughout the county. Send programs to all the churches, asking the pastors to announce the Institute. Send programs to private individuals; to women's clubs, extending an invitation. Your state superintendent will gladly furnish you with as many programs as you need, without charge.

12. As well as holding an Institute in every organized county, it is the desire of the superintendent to enter unorganized counties, thus encouraging the workers and building up the work in every possible way.

Only by the co-operation of the strong counties with the weaker, will it be possible to do this. Let us work together and do our best to help those weak unions who are "holding the fort" against great odds.

Dear women, I know from past experience that I can depend on you to help carry forward this work. Let me hear from you and if I can in any way help you I shall be so glad to do so.

The leaders, as scheduled, come to you with hearts full of love for the work and the workers, and a deep desire to help you in your efforts to bring nearer "the coming of His Kingdom whose service is perfect freedom."

Let me close with a quotation from Rom. XVI, verses 1 and 2 and in the words of Paul say: "I commend unto you, our sisters, that ye receive them in the Lord, as becometh saints, and that ye assist them in whatsoever business they have need of you." May the Father's richest blessing rest on your efforts and crown them with success.

Lovingly yours,

ROSE PEARCE,

State Superintendent of Institute.

Program.

FIRST EVENING MEETING.

7:30—Devotion, music.

7:45—An oratorical contest, or a good entertainment, with an admission fee to defray Institute expenses; a crusade for new members; announcements; benediction.

MORNING SESSION.

9:00—Song and prayer; a ten minute testimony service by ten persons, each giving a scriptural or scientific reason for working against the saloon; words of greeting by county or local president; response and organization by Institute leader; "Tools in Type," circulation of national official papers; its importance, how best to promote it; opening of subscription lists; the strength and weakness of Indiana's local option law, (1) its strength, (2) its weakness; general discussion.

The agitation for high license—what it is—who wants it, and why?

Child labor and its causes.

The work and advantages of a Juvenile Court.

Our Young People's Work—The national plan.

"The Passing" of advertisements of intoxicating liquors, patent medicines and other habit-forming drugs, from our best papers and magazines.

How haste it?

The "White Slave" traffic.

Announcements.

Noon-tide prayer.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

1:30 Devotional.

Some practical results of the local option law. Incidents that have come to the knowledge of W. C. T. U. workers. General discussion.

The coming Legislature! What the temperance forces will try to accomplish and what the liquor people will seek to accomplish. What can we do to help the former and defeat the latter? The next Legislature will probably be the most important that has ever been in session, regarding the liquor question.

State-Wide Prohibition—The only real solution of the liquor problem. Why? How?

Rallying of the forces.

Blind tigers and how to open the eyes of blind officers?

The "Model License" League. What is it?

Woman's ballot for the King's business.

How stands the question of Sunday baseball?

What more can we do?

The necessity for Federal legislation to make state prohibition effective.

Anti-narcotic department. A ten-minute paper by a member. General discussion.

When we have state-wide prohibition what more will there be for the W. C. T. U. to do?

FEBRUARY, 1910.

FRANCIS E. WILLARD DAY, FEBRUARY 17TH.

Every W. C. T. Union should hold a Frances E. Willard public meeting on or near Feb. 17.

On Friday evening, Feb. 18, in every community specially arranged meetings for the public school children should be held in memory of Miss Willard, the greatest woman of her century. Decide upon the time, place and plan of program, then secure the interest and co-operation of the school teachers. A short, well-arranged program on the varied phases of Miss Willard's character given by the High School and grade children will be of great interest. The music to be in charge of a committee of High School boys. They will put interest and enthusiasm into the arrangements and secure the help of the best school talent. At least two songs by a chorus, with a solo and duette by the boys and girls, will add great interest. "Saloons must Go" was written by Miss Willard.

Information concerning Miss Willard's life can be secured at National W. C. T. U. headquarters, Evanston, Ill. A sketch of her life is in leaflet form at 5 cents each. The recent issues of the Union Signal contains information that would be interesting. "Saloons Must Go" is published in song leaflet form at 25 cents per hundred copies.

To make a successful meeting for Feb. 17, 18 or 20, plans should be definitely announced by Feb. 5, as to time, place, etc. Send a letter with a little money to National W. C. T. U. headquarters for information on the very day you read these words. Twenty-five cents in stamps will be sufficient if song leaflets are not ordered in that letter.

Confer with the teachers, secure the help of boys and girls that are energetic and like to make a success. By early planning the time will be pre-empted and great enthusiasm will widely advertise the meeting and all will be of permanent good to the individuals who help and to the cause for which Miss Willard labored and she loved.

All Ministers who speak in their pulpits in Indiana on Feb. 20, should be asked to make public mention of the wonderful life of Frances E. Willard. They should receive a personal request not later than Feb. 2, so as to give them time to prepare and give plenty of time for full announcement of the fact. W. C. T. U. women should bear in mind that early requests are far more easily granted early. Three weeks' announcement of a special subject and of special meetings increases interest and responsibility and must be beneficial to all concerned.

Every W. C. T. Union is asked to send $2 to the Willard National Memorial Fund for organization soon after Feb. 17. Send to our state treasurer, Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, Ind. It is fitting that this memorial fund is all used for extending and strengthening the organization for which Miss Willard spent the best of her remarkable life. Constant appeals for help from weakly organized territory and from the sparsely settled frontier are met chiefly from this Willard Memorial Fund for Organization.

What more permanent monument could be erected to the memory of Miss Willard?

* * * * *

The Mid-Year Executive Meeting was held at the Young Men's Christian Association in Indianapolis on Jan. 3.

There was a good attendance.

All the state officers present; Mrs. Vayhinger in the chair.

Mrs. M. C. Carpenter, of Seymour, president of Jackson County, lead an impressive devotional service; Mrs. Gulia Shugart, of Jonesboro, president of Grant County, expressed the sentiment of many present in a prayer of gratitude to Our Heavenly Father for the privilege of again meeting with those whom we love and enjoy companionship.

The following recommendations were made for consideration:

We recommend that each local union pay through the regular channel to the state treasurer on or before Sept. 15, a sum equal to ten cents per member, which shall constitute a fund for traveling expenses of elected delegates to the national convention and of ex-officio delegates not otherwise provided for.

In the election of delegates, preference shall be given to those who are readers of the Union Signal.

Elected delegates whose expenses are thus paid shall be subject to the call of local unions for a report of the convention upon the payment of traveling expenses and entertainment.

Delegates shall be nominated by a committee chosen by the executive committee and ratified by convention.

Discussion, but no action taken.

Mrs. Vayhinger reported that the National W. C. T. U. convention had created a new department that of "Circulation of National Official Papers," Mrs. Jennie M. Kemp, circulation manager of the Union Signal, is the national superintendent.

The request of the National for a representative for this department was complied with by the appointment of Mrs. Luella F. McWhister as representative for the remainder of the year.

Information was received to the effect that inquiry had been made concerning the purchase of the Hadley Industrial School for a State Children's Home.

Since the compromise of a law suit last year Hadley School Farm and 60 acres additional were deeded directly to the Trustees so that a legal sale of the property could be considered.

The question as to advisability of holding, or selling if there was opportunity, was freely discussed.

Mrs. Lizzie Hann and Mrs. Lida Outland both so long connected with the management of the school, were present.

The Trustees were authorized to sell.

The next state W. C. T. U. convention will be held in Ft. Wayne, date not yet settled.

Temperance Songs must be sung by the people before our victory is won.

"Some Glad Day," to the tune of "Old Black Joe" will always be a favorite. Secure it in leaflet form, 25 cents per hundred, with music. Address Miss Ruby T. Gilbert, 157 Silversmith's Building, Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

Song Leaflet—The Prohibition Map and the song, "Make the Map All White," words only, per 100, 35 cents; words and music, per copy, 5 cents; 10 copies 25 cents.

Song, "Victory," octavo form, per copy, 15 cents; 2 copies 25 cents. Address National W. C. T. U., Evanston, Ill.

Get the best solo singer in town to sing "Victory."

STATE "Y." SECRETARY.

Dear White Ribboners:

The holidays are over and another year of opportunity is before us, and I trust that we will leave no stone unturned to build up our work for the young people.

The advance step that has been taken by the National W. C. T. U. in their work will help us to reach many places, no doubt, that have seemed impossible heretofore.

Too much energy cannot be put into this very important department of our work.

The Young People's Branch edition of The Union Signal will be a great help in our work, and you who are readers of The Union Signal—and I would that you all were—know its value and what its worth will be to our young people.

The Course of study will also be of untold worth to our boys and girls in preparing them for the work of our great organization when you and I must lay it down.

It you have not already done so please read, carefully, the plans, etc., of the new organization in the December Message.

There should be a woman appointed in each Local Union in the state, whose aim and business it would be to have a Young People's Branch organized in her locality.

Write to me for supplies and all needed information.

Yours anxious to serve,

MISS LAURA G. CAMMACK.

Converse, Ind.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Dear Co-Workers:

There will be no change in the young people's work in Indiana this year, or until the change can be made constitutionally, let each Legioner study this new plan of the national and consult with their leaders and W. C. T. U. officers as to why and how. As we in Indiana want to be loyal and true to the mother organization, and I know this subject will be settled right if we will pray earnestly and work as the Lord directs, so let us go on this year working to make it the very best in the history of our Loyal Temperance Legion.

The plan of work for 1910 is found on page 21 of our Annual Report, if you have not received a copy of this report, write me at once, as there are only a few copies left.

This year we are anxious to double our membership. Want a class of 200 graduates; want 2,000 subscribers for Crusader Monthly; want every member to pay dues, and urge the co-operation with our mother union, the W. C. T. U., by the holding of conferences with the officers, as to the laying of plans for the work.

The names and addresses of officers and superintendents of departments are found on page 8 of the Annual Report. Two changes had to be made, Miss Walker, our president, finding she could not serve us longer, sent in her resignation and that duty falls upon Miss Thorne, the vice-president. The medal contest superintendent, Miss Smith, resigns and Miss Lola Overman of Fairmount has been asked to take the place for the remainder of the year.

I will send out the report blanks the first of March and I want a full report from each Legion from Sept. 15, 1909 to March 15, 1910, to reach me not later than March 25th.

Yours with love and prayers for our work,
IDA M. MIX,
General Secretary L. T. L.

We are combating "old" forms of evil—this is right—but are we closely watching for "new" forms?

Announcements.

SECOND EVENING SESSION.

7:30—Song, invocation.

Special music.

An address by the Institute Leader, or if preferred several short addresses by local ministers, professional and business men.

Offering.

Song and closing prayer.

NOTE—It is not expected that any Institute will be able to cover the whole of this program. For this reason special time for each subject has not been assigned. Committees will please select such topics as they may consider most desirable and use the time accordingly.

Mrs. Sallie Edgerton Stout was in Texas for a while and the following report shows what work she did. How inspiring! Few women have ever been so accurate in keeping account of the work done. During her short residence in La-Fayette Mrs. Edgerton was a great inspiration to the W. C. T. Unions as she has always been in her home, Grant County.

Visited two families and assisted in the revival services held at Friends Wood, Tex.; gave two weeks to the work there; secured 64 names for a W. C. T. U. organization, with 24 honorary members. Kindly assisted by Rev. Rachel Middleton, formerly of Indiana, who now lives there; gave three days to the work in Texas City, Tex.; also 16 days to the work in Houston, assisted by their state corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. D. Mihills. I found many dear sweet women in the Sunny Southland as well as in our Hoosier State.

Respectfully submitted,

THE MESSAGE

FRANCHISE.

Dear Superintendents of Franchise Department and women of the W. C. T. U.:
I address you all for I earnestly hope this year to have the help of all.

Prejudice is not so strong now, and it is a favorable time to present our cause and literature to people of influence and ask them to make a study of the question—please do count this a part of your work—and make calls on purpose to talk of the injustice of withholding the ballot from women.

Mrs. Varney's plan of work was read the last day of the old year and has been sent to all superintendents and to all counties but three. Those letters will soon be written, superintendents, please have your questions and parts of the plans published in your county papers and send me cards with names and addresses of local superintendents.

I hope all will be careful to have the work asked for completed by the last of February.

Pray, work and think that women shall vote on equal terms with men. Mrs. Varney says she urges us to hold public and parlor meetings, having addresses by prominent persons. Show the unequal conditions of men and women by calling attention to the fact that Mrs. Stevens, the leader of 320,000 women, is denied the right to vote, while it is granted naturalized aliens, some of whom are the lowest type of citizens from all plebian Europe. She urges us to give prizes for debates and essays.

Essays should, with incidents, statistics and sound logic, show the evils menacing our country, viz.: The liquor traffic; traffic in women; desecration of the Sabbath; debasement of moral standards in politics and business; perils from foreign immigration; absorption by a few, at unwarranted cost to the many of the commonwealth and the violent resentment of the same by the multitude.

Because women, trained in economics for generations as careful housekeepers, would more wisely conserve the resources of our nation; would establish and maintain higher standards of citizenship in candidates for public office; would more quickly effect an equitable distribution of earnings; and the votes of our thoughtful, conservative, conscientious women would provide an adequate balance against the increasingly large vote cast solely for financial motives. Therefore: Woman's ballot is an imperative necessity for the welfare of our country.

Write Miss Ruby I. Gilbert, 131 Wabash Ave., Chicago, for assorted leaflets on Franchise; make your selections and get an abundant supply, or if you prefer to send me enclose stamp for postage and I'll try and make a suitable selection, if you tell me for what it is to be used.

Yours cordially,
MRS. LAURA M. THOMPSON.

PURITY.

Dear Superintendents:

I hope by the time you read this, I can have a personal letter to each county superintendent of Purity. Where there is not a county superintendent already appointed I hope the county president will see that there is a woman appointed, who will work in this department. I have been somewhat slow sending out letters because the work is new, having been appointed your superintendent this year and am trying to get better acquainted with the work. I find this one of the most difficult departments in the W. C. T. U., but it is also one of the most important.

Your community is looking for someone to lead in this direction, will you grasp the opportunity, or will you shrink from "such difficult work?"

I will be glad to help you in any way I can. Let me hear from you.

DOLLIE STALKER, supt.

Westfield, Ind.

Dear Superintendents:

The books of the new year have pages that are white and clean, and are standing open to receive the impressions that our pens and lives will give them. Let us turn over a new leaf, and, if we have been doing our press work well, let us this year come up to our best. There was an encouraging increase in the amount of printed pages last year. I am expecting a greater number this year. Please help me in making this our banner year. Let us continue our work along all the old lines, putting the notices of the W. C. T. U. into all papers; correcting misstatements concerning our different reforms. Let us insert every word possible to push on the local prohibition victories, to help to success state-wide prohibition; to help fight the traffic in women and girls; to give aid and encouragement to the aggressive campaign for the ballot for women, never forgetting to keep the work of the W. C. T. U. with its advanced plans and progress to the front.

We will also continue the work against the Sunday supplements. This work met with a great deal of interest at the national convention, and I am sure the rank and file will be eager to help rid our homes of this infamous sheet.

Are you getting our news into the religious papers? Let us not overlook this splendid field. Let us be systematic and prompt and let us help the press "ring out the false, ring in the true."

I am sending helps to all county superintendents whose names appear in the Annual Report. You know if your name is there, if it is not please write me and I will be glad to send you helps.

Yours ever faithfully,
MRS. EMMA SAYLER.

PHYSICAL EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Important Suggestions to Superintendents.

If you are a county superintendent, write to each local president asking that a wide-awake, interested woman be appointed local superintendent of this department.

Request of the county president that this topic be given prominent place at all county conventions, and W. C. T. U. institutes.

What a Local Superintendent Can Do.

1—Take steps immediately to hold a Special Physical Educational Meeting. Select most favorable time and place. Advertise well. Written invitations will secure attendance. Include women's clubs and missionary societies. Ask each one receiving invitation to bring a friend with her.

2—Select women who can read the papers with spirit, provided they have good voice.

3—Make the music attractive.

These helpers need not all be members. Send all orders for literature to Mrs. Frances W. Leiter, Mansfield, Ohio.

Samples of literature and program may be obtained from your state superintendent.

MRS. C. C. THOMAS.

RAILROAD DEPARTMENT.

Dear Superintendents:

I have written to each of you and sent under separate cover samples of leaflets and literature for a program for a parlor of W. C. T. U. railroad meeting. The first Sunday in March is Railroadmen's Day. Ask ministers to preach sermons especially helpful to those included in this department. All such having been particularly invited to attend. Having written to each county president whose name is given in the directory and whose county does not show the Railroad Department, I hope many will appoint a county superintendent and send her name to me that I may correspond with her.

Cordially yours,

MRS. R. P. COLE,
State Superintendent.

Lafayette, Ind., 214 South Sixth street.

NATIONAL OFFICIAL PAPERS.

County presidents and local presidents in Indiana, as the newly appointed state superintendent of the above named department, I appeal to you for consideration and help.

Wherever the Union Signal and the Crusader Monthly are read, there is intelligent interest in the great work of the W. C. T. U. in its nation and world-wide outlook.

Will you help me? Will you help to get the Indiana White Ribboners to read the Union Signal and to advance the interests of the Crusader Monthly? Please do.

Subscription blanks, with full instructions, will be sent at an early date to all local union presidents in Indiana, the names and addresses of local presidents for this purpose will be taken from the State Report. If your name and address is not there properly recorded please write me a card immediately, giving me correct information as to name and address.

Every local union president will please present this subject at the first meeting in February and secure the appointment of the ablest and most reliable woman in the union as superintendent of this department. Of course the superintendent will be a reader of the Union Signal now or become so immediately.

At an early date I will send to the local presidents the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly subscription lists for their unions, which I hope will be carefully counted and preserved.

Please compare this subscription list with your local treasurer's paid membership list and on a post card tell me number of members who paid dues for year ending Sept. 15, 1909 and the present number of Union Signal subscriptions.

Local presidents please help me to get this work started. I know that you are busy, but I'll try to have the subscription lists in your hands before Feb. 1, so at your first meeting in February you can spend ten minutes' time with your treasurer and get the information for me, if you do not already have it.

Be sure and have a superintendent of this department appointed who will take the work up immediately. Send me her name and address please, with the information about number of members for 1909 and present number of subscribers to the Union Signal.

In sending subscriptions to the Crusader Monthly, please have them credited to Mrs. Ida Mix, the subscriptions to the Union Signal credited to myself. Simply mention these names in this manner in letters including subscriptions. The Union Signal, price $1; the Crusader Monthly, price 25 cents. Address Union Signal and Crusader Monthly, Evanston, Ill.

Cordially and with great earnestness,
LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
2312 College avenue, Indianapolis.

A PLAN.

Dear Sisters:

Saturday, March 19, has been set aside by the National W. C. T. U. as Gift Day, in observance of Prohibition Rally Day. The plans are for a general Tag Day. The national will send tags and the proceeds are to be equally divided between the local, state and national W. C. T. U. As soon as plans are matured I will write each local president.

Yours,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

MARCH 1ST, UNION SIGNAL DAY.

The birthday of our beloved national president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens.

All over the world where the W. C. T. U. is organized, Union Signal Day is observed by loyal, loving comrades. For the first meeting in March every union in Indiana is urged to arrange for a special Union Signal program of at least twenty minutes. For copies of the Union Signal and all free supplies for use on that day, send to Mrs. Mary Kemp, national superintendent, Evanston, Ill. Get all the subscribers possible. When sending subscriptions, ask that they be credited to your new state superintendent of circulation of national official papers, Mrs. McWhirter.

Indiana's March to Victory could be splendidly illustrated by young women dressed in white, carrying American flags representing the dry counties in Indiana.

THE UNION SIGNAL.

I will give ten dollars in gold to the person sending the greatest number of subscribers to the Union Signal that are credited to the Indiana state superintendent on the Union Signal books before June 15. Institute leaders are not included.

LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
State Superintendent.

Mrs. Ella Kroft, wife of Rev. C. M. Kroft, of Bloomington, was seriously hurt in an accident on Jan. 12. Her condition is improving at latest accounts.

For Willard Meetings—get supplies, be equipped. Crusade "Glory Song." Glory song music free with each order.

"Under the Star Spangled Banner," a W. C. T. U. national hymn. Time, "Marching Through Georgia," music ten cents extra.

One leaflet contains words of both songs. Price per hundred, 20 cents.

Address MRS. A. A. HAWLEY, 1049 19th Ave, Denver, Col.

Extracts from President Vaghinger's address would be of great interest and a fitting climax to many a public meeting program. Order a copy of Miss Clara Sears, Anderson. Price 5 cents.

NOTICE—LITERATURE.

Anyone desiring single copies of the leaflets to be used in the programs for the year may have the set of ten by sending 10 cents in stamps to Mrs. Vayhinger.

Mrs. Vayhinger has prepared copies of the reform laws of Indiana, more comprehensive in scope than the old copies. These will be ready for distribution in a few weeks, at 5 cents per copy, 20 cents for ten. She has also prepared a Hand Book for local unions which will come with the compliments of the state W. C. T. U. to each union.

WORLD'S CONVENTION TRIP.

Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11, 1910.

The attention of white ribboners all over our country is turning especially at this time, to the great World's W. C. T. U. Convention to be held in Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11, 1910. The United States is entitled to about 231 delegates, and present indications are that the delegation will be more than full. Following the convention, tours have been arranged through Scotland, England, The Hague, Paris, Brussels, Cologne, the Rhine, Switzerland, the Passion Play at Oberammergau and through Italy. The lowest prices possible have been secured both on steamships and for the trips. Competent conductors will have the various parties in charge and everything will be looked after in the most efficient manner.

Circulars giving the various trips in detail, with prices ranging from $245 to $500 are now being sent out, and will be sent to any one and to all who ask for them. Send the names of your friends who might be interested in such a trip and they will receive the little book.

Address, Minnie B. Horning, 628 Library street, Evanston, Ill., Chairman of Transportation, National W. C. T. U.

At the January meeting of the State Anti-Saloon League it was unanimously decided by the organization to work for constitutional prohibition for Indiana.

Laporte Union was sadly grieved on learning of the death of Mary E. Blach. Her stay of a few days in Laporte several years ago was very beneficial, her jovial and winsome ways won the hearts of all who met her. This union sent to the state corresponding secretary for the collection of leaflets to use in carrying out the Model Program and think them very helpful.

Field News

Huntington, Ind.—Mrs. Mary Sibbett, of Kansas, gave her beautiful lecture, "The Davids of the New Century," at the First Christian Church, Huntington, Ind., on Sunday, Jan. 25, at 2:30 p. m. At the close of the lecture several gave their names for membership in the local union of Huntington. This brave worker and efficient speaker kindly consented to address the students of Central College, Ubee, Ind., in the evening. The students of the college as well as the citizens of Ubee were delighted with her talk and thirteen gave their names for membership. Miss Cammack has been notified of the result of this meeting and will come in the near future to effect an organization, at which time most, if not all, the students will be identified with the Y. P. Branch of the W. C. T. U.

During the holidays the "Frances E. Willard" W. C. T. U. of Richmond, Ind., was made the recipient of a magnificent Christmas gift. The $700 mortgage, on which the union had for years paid a high rate of interest, was released and we have now a neat little sum accruing monthly from rental of tenement rooms, etc., in our temple, which will be used for benevolences, temperance and charity.

MRS. D. L. HOPKINS,
Treasurer and Trustee "Frances E.
Willard" W. C. T. U.

Indianapolis Northeast W. C. T. U.—A reception in honor of new members was given at the home of Mrs. Oldredge, 1216 Cornell avenue, Friday, Jan. 7. This union has for the past six months been divided into two sections, the reds and blues in a contest for new members. The section of blues, having the most new members, were entertained. A good program was rendered. Mrs. Davis, county evangelist, led the devotional and Mrs. Bressette, county superintendent of Sunday School Department gave an interesting talk on her work. Lunch was served and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. There were 25 new members.

Arba Temperance Union.—Our community has been stirred and aroused by the coming of Mrs. Mary Sibbett, of Kansas, one of the national lecturers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She came to our little town Thursday evening, and although the weather was bitter cold, a good audience gathered in the Friends' Church to hear her lecture.

Mrs. Sibbett is truly a convincing and pleasing speaker and her arguments are clean cut and to the point.

Everybody was eager to hear more of the Kansas woman, and on Friday night the church was filled to overflowing, and Mrs. Sibbett's address on "Davids of the New Century" was heard by an appreciative audience. She drew before our minds the most beautiful and pathetic picture of the shepherd boy of old, who went out to meet the great giant, taking only for his weapon five smooth stones which she named Faith, Courage, Patriotism, Purity and Wisdom. Then she pleaded for God to give us Davids in this present century, that we might meet and conquer our giant enemy, the liquor traffic.

She dwelt especially upon the necessity of the life of purity and surely no one could have listened to her pleading without breathing the prayerful words, "Purer in heart, oh God, help me to be."

The Arber Temperance Choir, composed of men and boys of the community, furnished excellent appropriate music.

By invitation from Spartenberg people, Mrs. Sibbett filled the pulpit on Lord's Day morning at the Methodist Church and in the evening at the Christian Church.

Miss Mary Woodard, state corresponding secretary, was present and had charge of the evening program.

Music was again furnished by Arba Choir, and was appreciated by all.

On Monday night Mrs. Sibbett again met an audience in the Christian Church and in her pleasant manner delivered another of her splendid lectures, after which a W. C. T. U. was organized in Spartenburg.

We feel sure that great and lasting good has resulted from her visit with us.

May God's choicest blessings rest upon Mrs. Sibbett and her noble work.

The Indianapolis Meridian W. C. T. U. held a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. M. H. Bressette, 1935 Broadway, Jan. 12. The devotional services were led by Mrs. H. G. Hill. A committee was appointed to visit the ten schools assigned to this union by Mrs. Nellie Fox, and a number volunteered to assist Mrs. Artman in her work at any time they were called upon to do so. A new plan for raising money was arranged for in the nature of a "rug factory." The report from "The Local Council of Women" was given by Miss Mildred Stockman. The address of the afternoon was given by Dr. Clark Day. His subject was "The Influence of Alcohol on the Human System." Mrs. Fanny Reng gave about a 15-minute talk on "The Power of Prayer." A group of Scotch songs were sung by Mr. J. M. S. Kerr. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Amelia Lambert, 2225 North Capitol avenue.

Mrs. Scott Robertson entertained the members of the Elwood W. C. T. U. at a parlor meeting, Jan. 6. Our county president, Mrs. Reta Jones, was present and gave a very interesting and instructive talk. After discussing the New Year's resolutions for the union, a very fine program was given, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Yours with prayers for the success of the W. C. T. U.,

SARAH MAHOLM,
County and Local Press Supt.

Monroe County held an executive meeting at which the county president was allowed $5 to be used in her work, and the county superintendent's expenses are to be met from the county fund. The county superintendent will give a banner to each local superintendent of their department giving the best report at the end of the year. Now, local superintendents, do your best. More work being done since October in Medal Contest Work than for many years. Mrs. Seward, of Bloomington, is evidently doing good work in that line, holding contests in district schools, thereby arousing temperance sentiment, thus opening the way for organizing new unions.

We were sorry, indeed, to learn at this executive meeting that many members were not receiving the Message, especially those of Ellitsville union and we say this should not be.

O. N. LIEBENAUT,
County Superintendent of Press.

The Madison W. C. T. U., at their regular monthly meeting held on the afternoon of Jan. 11, held a memorial service in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mary Thompson Willard, the mother of Francis Willard.

A very interesting paper was read by our local president, Mrs. Rosa Jamison, on her life.

Mrs. George Denny read a splendid paper on "The Mother and the Child."

Much enthusiasm was shown in the discussion that followed.

Mrs. Keeny, superintendent of the purity department, reported much done in this line, obscene postal cards and pictorial advertisements taken from drug store windows and postal car exhibit in response to requests given kindly.

MRS. MARY E. BAYLESS,
Press Superintendent.

Princeton W. C. T. U. holds semi-monthly meetings in the First Baptist Church. With Mrs. W. W. Medcalf, president, we feel that we have the right woman in the right place. At the executive session at the beginning of the year it was decided that we accept the Model Program as prepared by the state, and to carry it out as nearly as possible. The meetings thus far have been interesting and instructive. We are still rejoicing that Gibson County is dry, and are praying that it will not be long until every county in Indiana will also be dry. Gibson County has something else to feel proud of—a colored organization in Princeton. Our county president, Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl, with Mrs. McCurdy, state organizer for the colored people, recently organized a colored union with 43 enthusiastic charter members. A Loyal Temperance Legion with 50 members and a "Y" with 20 members. We hope great things for the colored people of Princeton through these organizations. Mrs. Pfohl is planning further organizations in the county.

KATHERINE YOUNGMAN,
County Press Superintendent.

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 21, 1909.

The Jay County superintendent of Flower Missions, Mrs. Kate Keesair, recently notified the Portland local superintendent to hold services at the County Jail, and received the reply that since the county has gone dry the jail has become practically empty of criminals, its occupants being an occasional patron of a blind tiger to sober off, or other transient prisoners.

G. O. C., Press Superintendent.

South Bend.—Mrs. Carl Rogers, evangelistic superintendent, of Colfax Avenue Union of South Bend, is conducting systematic bible study during the devotional half hour of each regular meeting. The life of Christ was chosen for study, and she gives out subjects at one meeting to be looked up for the next meeting. This makes the exercises unusually interesting and profitable.

Mrs. West, our superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, has had cards printed which she sells for 1 cent each. She thinks that these cards sent to young mothers with flowers, or given with a kind word or friendly call may help many to realize the greatness of motherhood.

Colfax Union subscribed for the Scientific Temperance Journal to be sent for one year to the Y. W. C. A. reading room. Three members of the union are also subscribers to this journal.

We are glad to note that the other three unions of the city have ordered this journal sent to the Y. M. C. A., the Public Library and the superintendent of schools.

MRS. W. M. WELD, Sec'y,
Jan. 3, 1910.

NOTE—The following quotation on a beautifully printed card, about the size of a calling card, is very attractive. South Bend Colfax Avenue Union is doing excellent mothers' work through its able superintendent, Mrs. West.

W. C. T. U. KEEPS OPEN HOUSE.

On New Year's Day the W. C. T. U. kept open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stahl. The house was beautifully decorated with our colors—white and yellow—with holly wreaths, potted plants and cut flowers. Different W. C. T. U. ladies assisted in receiving from 1 to 9 p. m.

Excellent music was furnished throughout the afternoon and evening by an orchestra and by the best musicians of the city. Our W. C. T. U. Quartette rendered some beautiful selections also.

Refreshments were served in two courses. The rain and slush kept many away, but despite the inclement weather nearly 150 were present and all said "We have had a fine time." Some new members were secured.

MRS. S. M. STAHL.

North Vernon W. C. T. U. held a Mothers' meeting on Jan. 4 at the home of Mrs. Emma Powell. Many of the members were present and ten visitors. The meeting opened with song, followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Chadwick. Responses were "Reasons Why Every Mother Should Wear a White Ribbon." Many good reasons were given. Mrs. Nina Verbarg then sang a lullabye. Mrs. Powell read a poem, "Maternity," this was followed by a paper from our president, Mrs. Barth, her subject was "Formative Influence of Childhood." This was a good paper and she told us many things that mothers ought to keep in mind. Mrs. Green gave a reading from American Motherhood.

Our union has planned to gain as many new members this year as possible. During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess and the white ribbon pinned on a guest.

MRS. IDA GROSSMAN,
Press Superintendent.

Everton W. C. T. U., of Fayette County is not idle. They recently held two pleasant and profitable meetings, the first with Mrs. Mabel Myer, and the other with Mrs. Maggie Veatch, at their homes in Everton. On Christmas the inmates of the County Infirmary were kindly remembered by the union. They obtained the names of all the inmates and each lady of the union prepared a package of presents, which included a Christmas card bearing her own name as well as the name of the recipient. Thus bringing to those unfortunate our mite of the cheer of Christmastide.

ANNIE TRUSLER BRUMFIELD.

Our Promoted Comrades

CHURUBUSCO W. C. T. U. has recently lost two beloved members.

November 9th, 1909, Mrs. Anna Cotterly heard the welcome words of her Saviour, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

Mrs. Eunice Potter became weary in this world of strife; battling for right and against wrong; always ready to do her duty. She fell asleep January 5th, 1910.

On January 3rd, Mrs. Melissa Earl, one of our active earnest workers in the ranks of the W. C. T. U. was called from labor to reward. She has heard the "well done good and faithful servant." For four years she was the faithful County Superintendent of prison and jail work. She held a service in the jail every week. If on account of sickness she could not be there she always found someone to take her place. Many letters were received by her from men who had to serve a term in the penitentiary thanking her for what she had done for them and expressing a determination to lead a Christian life. And we know that hundreds have been led to a better life by her labor of love. There is one less in our white ribbon circle, but one more in heaven. Her company today is an innumerable company of angels which no man can number. May this thought be a silver lining to the dark cloud that overshadows the desolate home when she will be so sadly missed.

On January 6th, the Central Union of Evansville was again called to mourn the loss of a white ribbon sister, Mrs. Mary McKinley. From her girlhood days she was an earnest Christian Temperance worker having been a member of several temperance organizations. Before coming to Evansville she was a member of the Troy Union in Perry Co. She was ever a willing worker for the uplifting of humanity. The call came to her while living with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. W. Furnham, who is also a member and Secretary of the Central Union. We extend to her our heartfelt sympathies and while she must mourn the dear mother's absence she can rejoice that "she has now the fadeless crown."

GEORGE W. DAVIS, beloved husband of Mrs. Ellen Davis, Marion County, Evangelist, died very suddenly of heart trouble, October 15th, 1909, at his home 833 Broadway, Indianapolis. He was a good husband, a kind father, a true Christian and a prohibitionist. While living in Richmond he was an honorary member of the W. C. T. U. and wore the white ribbon. He always advocated a white life for two.

THE WILLIAMSPORT UNION is suffering the loss of our President Mrs. Nettie Williams who left us Dec. 10th, 1909. She was a very earnest worker and had great plans for the year. Her last work was to prepare a paper to be read before the Union. When the campaign for local option was begun she called the workers to her bedside, to help plan the work and when the news of our victory was brought to her, though almost too weak to speak, she expressed her joy. She was an earnest worker in the Christian church. Her life was a beautiful one and will be greatly missed in the community.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

BOYS ARE TO VOTE.

Fine fun is planned for the boys in Kilbourne Township, Mason County, Ill. It is proposed to have an election next spring, at the time of the regular township election at which boys under twenty-one will vote. There will be a separate voting place with booths and election judges and the same regulations as govern the men's election. Two questions are to be submitted, whether Kilbourne Township shall be wet or dry and whether women shall vote or not. Petitions will be gotten up in the spring in the prescribed way and everything done as required by law for the regular election. This will not only be fun, but be instructive. Why not let the girls vote also? There is no law forbidding.—Crusader Monthely.

ANTI-NARCOTICS.

Tobacco Gets Hard Hit.

About sixteen young men of Kenton, O., have formed an "Anti-Smoke Club." Each member will put into the treasury $1.00 per week. The treasurer will deposit the money where it will bring interest. Each member agrees to refrain from smoking tobacco for one year. Any member failing to keep the smoke pledge will lose all he has already deposited. At the end of the year all of the members in good standing will divide the accumulations among themselves. Mr. Earl Rutledge has been chosen treasurer of the club.—Kenton Republican.

CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION DEFEATED IN ALABAMA.

Hon. Charles R. Jones, in an interview, said to a True American reporter:

"Brewers' cash, allied with great corporate interests and Democratic politicians of national prominence, defeated Constitutional Prohibition in Alabama.

"Our private advices show that the liquor men brought hundreds of thousands of dollars into the Alabama campaign, purchasing newspapers, buying voters and sowing the state thick with slander of Prohibition leaders and misrepresentations of the issue.

"But the slush fund of the liquor forces and the powerful influence of the corporations, whom Governor Comer had antagonized by strict enforcement of law, would have been powerless without the aid of the two United States Senators from Alabama and a list of prominent Democratic bosses who pooled their strength and proved traitor to the people's interests.

"The Alabama election will prove a blessing in disguise to the Prohibition movement. State Prohibition still stands by statutory enactment, but the people have learned three things:

"First, that a persistent and systematic educational movement is still a necessity.

"Second, that public sentiment must vigilantly demand and compel law enforcement as the chief factor in this educational work, and third that Prohibition of any kind will always be in danger of political treachery until the friends of Prohibition untie their forces in a definite and permanent political organization which they themselves control, and from which the liquor politicians have all been driven.

"The result in Alabama is emphatic proof of the need of a Prohibition party in state and nation, uniting all supporters of the Prohibition movement, and pledges to establish the reform wherever it triumphs."

Traffic in Women.—At a recent National W. C. T. U. convention it was voted to change the traffic commonly call "The White Slave Trade" to "Traffic in Women." This seems to be more significant a name, as the traffic is wholly in women, the virtue of men having never been a merchantable commodity.

Mrs. Marshall, wife of Governor Marshall, of our state is opposed to women having the ballot. In a recent interview reported in an Indianapolis paper Mrs. Marshall is quoted as saying:

"I don't believe in woman's suffrage." "I have always felt that the men are more capable to take care of these affairs and I am still of that opinion. If there is any place, however, in which a woman's voice should be heard, it is in school matters. Still, I am inclined to believe that men are just as competent there as anywhere else. A man has better foresight; he weighs all questions before acting on them. A woman is liable to act on an impulse without the careful consideration a man would give the questions. It is for this reason that I think men who are really good men should have charge of these affairs. My experience has been that men are just as capable in these things as women; I don't know whether I shall change my opinion or not."

President Stuben County W. C. T. U.

VOICE OF CHICAGO'S BAPTISTS.

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Probably no one will accuse the whole body of Baptist ministers of the city of Chicago of being sensationalists, and the following protest, adopted by the Baptist ministers' conference of this city and signed by some of the most prominent clergymen of that denomination in Chicago is certainly worthy of preservation as a document upon the policy of segregation of vice. It is worthy of notice that both Mayor Busse and Chief Steward have paid no attention save that of scornful reference to this protest.

PREAMBLE.—Let us understand what is meant by the term segregation. If it were socially what it is medically we might have some patience with it. But segregation of vice in this city is not quarantine of the social evil but an exploitation of it.

Segregation is a police policy by executive order for the regulation and control of institutionalized prostitution.

Segregation is the open combining of the house of ill fame with the lowest type of the liquor saloon.

Segregation is practical confiscation of property because the owners of property in a segregated district must sell or rent their property for illegal purposes or take a very low rental if the property is rented for legitimate uses.

Segregation is a cruel injustice to the poor. The poor who are unfortunate enough to live in a segregated portion of the city are compelled to witness the infamous trade of prostitution, forced to see their children grow up accustomed to the lowest sort of social life. Few children can escape moral ruin under such conditions.

Segregation is the most deplorable promotion of crime. This policy gives over a portion of the city's domain to the most loathsome criminals of the world, whose trade is to debauch the innocent and to prey upon the debauched.

Segregation is recognition of a frightful evil in such a manner as to commend the wrong to those loose in morals and the untaught, thus drawing many more thousands of youth into sin than would be the case under a policy that enforced the law against such an evil business.

Segregation is a temptation to the city officials to exploit vice for private gain. It has come to pass in our great cities that the political balance of power is in the hands of the corrupt politicians, who represent the segregated districts, or at least the evil forces of the city.

Segregation is the policy that is most pleasing to the keepers of evil resorts and to the white slave traders of all nations. Such districts invite and protect the white slave trade.

Segregation is the assurance of immunity to all sorts of criminals of which they are not slow to take advantage.

Segregation is the most successful means of debauching the country people who come to the city for trade. Such districts become one of the great sights of the city, to which some merchants either take or send their country customers.

Segregation spreads disease much more rapidly than could be the case under strict enforcement of law. Men take it for granted that the so-called inspection is a protection, when as a matter of fact the best physicians testify that no amount of inspection or treatment affords any protection against the awful diseases that are the inevitable fruitage of the social evil.

Segregation is a woeful deception. It is claimed that such districts protect the resident portions of the city. Even cold statistics disprove this assertion. Take, for example, the Twenty-second street red light district. The police say there are about 1,100 immoral women there, but over 1,200 outside as far as Thirty-first street.

It is proved by recent investigations that all portions of the city, even the remoter suburbs, are becoming infested by houses of ill-repute. Woodlawn is a notable example of this sort.

Segregation as a policy for the restriction and control of the social evil is an expensive failure. It reverses the divine order by making the way of the transgressor easy instead of hard. Other cities have tried and discarded this method of dealing with prostitution, and it is time for Chicago to do the same.

Whereas, There exists in this city of Chicago, by executive order, the policy of segregation of vice by which certain districts of the city are surrendered to the open business of prostitution; and,

Whereas, The policy has been in force for many years and therefore can be judged as to its merits as a method for the restriction and control of the vicious business so segregated; and,

Whereas, It is now clear that this policy has utterly failed to restrict or diminish the social evil or even to restrict it to the portions of the city set apart for its existence; and,

Whereas, This discredited policy is now a menace to the social and political advancement of this city, hanging like a mill stone on the neck of our official life and like a cancer poisoning our entire social being; and

Whereas, We believe that honest officials desire the most rapid advancement of our city in every worthy thing, and recognizing that the present administration inherited from past regimes the policy of segregation; and

Whereas, There is now an enlightened public sentiment aroused against this ruinous policy of segregation which demands its overthrow and which calls for the righteous enforcement of the laws against all evil resorts; and

Whereas, To continue the present policy will mean the spread of vice in a greater degree than at the present time, thus stigmatizing the good name of our city and fixing more firmly in the mind of the world our reputation for wickedness; and,

Whereas, Every holy instinct of our nature is outraged by such open recognition of sin, intolerable in a Christian civilization;

Therefore be it resolved, That We, the Baptist Ministers' Conference of Chicago, most seriously urge upon our city government the immediate abolition of the red light districts, that the policy of segregation of vice be brought to an end and that institutionalized prostitution in Chicago be stamped out.

2. We emphatically demand that the proper officers of the law immediately institute legal proceedings against the keepers of houses of prostitution and the owners of property used for such purposes.

3. We heartily recommend the public press of Chicago, for its endeavor to lessen crime and to clear our city of the criminal elements, but we respectfully call the attention of the editors of our daily press to this obvious fact, that the continued existence of the policy of segregation of vice makes any thorough cleansing of the city impossible. Therefore we urge upon the press continued warfare against the red light districts by the public exposure of the debasing conditions in these vice districts till an end is made of this infamous policy of segregation.

4. We expect our great police force to so safeguard this city that no visitor thereto can find a house of prostitution without an evil guide. To this end we demand that prostitution be driven into the dark and kept there. It is an unspeakable shame that such houses are allowed to so adorn themselves with lights, gay colors, leaded-glass canopies, and other insignia and boldly declare their character to every passerby. To this end we suggest that extreme legal measures be employed to abolish all such public houses.

5. We send an earnest, anxious call to all pastors, teachers, editors, judges, and other leaders of the people to do their utmost in closing the dens of iniquity with which our city abounds, and especially to aid in the speedy abolition of the red light districts.

6. We direct that copies of this expression be sent to his honor, Mayor Fred A. Busse; to Honorable LeRoy T. Steward, general superintendent of the police; given to the public press, and spread upon the records of this conference.—National Prohibitionist.

County presidents, please urge your Unions to push The Union Signal subscription work. Readers of The Union Signal have a broad outlook upon the temperance work of the world and upon our Nation that makes them valuable members. Our interest in a subject is according to our information. One dollar a year for a weekly sixteen page Woman's Christian Temperance Union official paper. Every member should read The Union Signal.

MARCH, 1910.

Everywhere W. C. T. U. women should be informed upon the civic conditions near their own homes.

The disregard for law is very general. Officers are sworn to enforce the law. Instead, we know in some instances where they cause an "interpretation" to be made of such laws as they deem undesirable. The assertion is made by such officials that the people do not want such a law.

Are there places of vice in our Indiana cities that are protected? In Indianapolis, yes. With red lights in doors or transoms. Houses of prostitution are known to all classes by their red lights. Those who walk or drive along the streets of an evening can tell exactly where these houses are located.

The places are thus advertised by their red lights to the people who come into Indianapolis for business or pleasure. Some lines of the interurban pass several noted places.

In order to clean up this evil all Indiana women must work unitedly. It is well to clean up at the home town first and then to help the good people of the state and of the city of Indianapolis to clean up Indianapolis.

The evil resorts of the Capital City thrive from the patronage from outside cities and towns.

W. C. T. U. women know that saloons and prostitution thrive side by side.

The County Institutes will be a great agency for the advancement of our cause if the local Union advertises and works hard for three weeks previous to the date set for the institute.

Failure will be the result of procrastination in advertising. Really that is the great hindrance to our work. The women in charge do not begin weeks in advance to organize and advertise for their meetings. Yes of course, there is much seeming indifference, still there are many who will assist in decorating, entertaining, etc., or will take part in the plans for getting up a big chorus or something else if asked weeks in advance. No, of course, they cannot if only asked a few days or a week in advance when other plans are made. A short program well arranged and well carried through will be appreciated.

Never submit to a long program. Think of a contest with ten speeches and music. Those who attend that who are not vitally interested will never get into another such W. C. T. U. meeting.

Begin on time if only five people are in the house. Its a great mistake to wait for musicians or the person to lead devotional service.

If an audience is assembled and it is time for the program the reputation of the W. C. T. U. is at stake, do not delay the program for anybody.

The presiding officer should not whisper or talk to others on the platform and should not leave the platform, go down in the audience and talk to someone. Dignity, always maintain. All cannot be wise, but all can be dignified, and all can be gracious and kind. These are requisites in a presiding officer.

Definite arrangements should be made previous to the day of the meeting for taking a collection. Women of known worth, who are appreciated in their home community, should take the collection unless young women or young men are invited to do so. Residents should always take the collection instead of strangers to place of meeting.

Where the programs are not long and the adjournment is by 8:45 or 9:00 p. m., audiences are much larger.

In every Institute please appoint someone to take subscriptions to The Union Signal, $1.00, and Crusader monthly, 25c. All subscriptions addressed to Evanston, Ill.

Sing temperance songs—many are now published—of course, in order to have them learned and sung, they must be bought many weeks before needed. Temperance singing will help to bring the victory. Teach the boys and girls to sing.

Some of the department superintendents in Indiana are doing very helpful, intelligent work. The printed matter sent out by a few state superintendents would be a credit to a National Department Superintendent. Indiana women are very capable. What every officer and superintendent in every county needs is to be careful and prayerful, and the records at the end of the year will make the state superintendents rejoice. It is the painstaking, thoughtful individual who really counts for most in the mighty warfare we wage.

A campaign for better ventilation methods in public buildings has been started by the Chicago Chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers. The Illinois member of the central publicity committee, has taken steps to secure the co-operation of the Chicago and State Medical Societies in the organization's efforts to acquaint the general public with the dangers of impure air. Legislation on this matter is needed.

LAWLESSNESS.
In our cities there is a lack of respect for law. The laws are not enforced but substitutes are made in the form of regulations. It is so generally. In Chicago our W. C. T. U. women have raised one of the most important issues on the civic life of that city. Prostitution is prohibited by laws of Illinois. It is the duty of public officials to enforce the law. We watch with interest the outcome.

Dice boxes and dice throwing is very common in hotel offices, usually on cigar stands. Here young men and boys participate in or watch the process. Many fathers know this, others do not. It is a subject that should be considered. To raise up a nation of gamblers will not require many decades, with mothers playing cards for prizes and men and boys throwing dice in other places as well as hotel offices. Christian men and women should investigate conditions in their communities and arouse public sentiment to action against the gambling habit.

Social Hygiene vs. The Sexual Pleagues is the name of a health circular issued by the Indiana State Board of Health, Indianapolis, Ind. Order copies of this health circular from the State Board of Health, the State House, Indianapolis. Copies sent free upon application. Read the letter to the General Public and to parents in particular, aloud in your W. C. T. U. meeting. Get the ministers to read it to a meeting of men only, and Sunday School superintendents to read it to an after meeting of all the boys and men in their Sunday Schools.

If the medical observation indicating that 80 per cent of men between 18 and 30 have an unclear disease is correct, the women of Indiana should be aroused. If only twenty men out of a hundred are decent for our daughters to associate with, the mothers must not rest until there is a change. A diseased man may be the cause of a young wife becoming ill or perhaps an invalid. Consider this subject and pray for ability and opportunity to do something to help to remedy conditions.

The power of the Mayor of a city is very great as we see occasionally when someone is particularly bold. The fact that this is true encourages us to believe that much can be accomplished in every town by the united efforts of the women or by a Law and Order League toward any desired reform.

W. C. T. U. women must be well in formed if they will exert an influence. Read! Read!! READ!!! It will pay. Read your best city town or county paper. Read The Union Signal. Then keep your ears open for mention of magazine articles on reform measures, read them. From The Union Signal you get each week a resume of the temperance and reform measures before United States Congress.

Pray for discretion. Armed with information and discretion enter heartily into the Missionary Society work and in the other Church organizations. When there is opportunity—and it will come—seek to arouse an interest among those with whom you work in the temperance and purity work. The saloon and the brothel are twin evils and exist so generally.

Interest and enthusiasm is easily raised for a poor family with sickness, etc. This should be, but of so great is the need of preventive work. The slow process of educating public sentiment makes the interest and enthusiasm of the many lag.

It is far easier to raise money to rescue a white slave victim than to raise money to post warnings in public places and to secure systematic workers to disseminate information concerning the evils of the Traffic in Women.

Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, the editor, has been spending a little while at the Battle Creek Sanitarium in Michigan. This, a rendezvous for Christian and W. C. T. U. people who need rest and treatment.

During the Missionary Conference just held in this world-famed sanitarium, Dr. T. S. Johnson and Bishop Thoburn, of Indiana, were prominent with men and women representing twelve different countries. The Medical Missionaries of many countries created much interest.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton is spending this cold weather with her son in Texas. She will return to Indiana in April or the first of May and be ready for service.

Rev. J. L. Buyer.

The following is an extract from the report made by the presiding elder, J. Wise, of the Ft. Wayne District, at the last annual conference of the Evangelical Church:

The work accomplished by Rev. J. L. Buyer, pastor of Linn Grove Circuit, is wonderful. Not having been an eye witness it will be impossible to describe the conflicts and persecutions through which this modern Luther passed. Within his parish he is better known, perhaps, by his appellations: The Sunday Baseball Fighter, The Saloon Ouster, The Fighting Parson from Kentucky, than by his real name. Missels were hurled from ambush in the darkness at this fearless preacher while on his way to and from his appointments. Could you now behold the egg bespattered parsonage you would conclude that the persecutors of the Christian Church are not dead yet. Notwithstanding the fact that this preacher was hissed by the bad folks and looked upon with some suspicion by the good people, he did not declare the battle off until the Sunday baseball players and booze-sellers of Linn Grove, Vera Cruz and Geneva were put out of business.

Rev. Buyer is an honorary member of the Linn Grove W. C. T. U., and was the first man to circulate a remonstrance in Hartford Township, which was successful in removing three saloons from the little town of Linn Grove. He was a zealous worker in the successful county local option campaign in Adams County.

A Prayer.

Oh, God of earth and Heaven, too,
We women of the W. C. T. U.
Are ready, waiting, one and all
To answer to the bugle call.
Ready to march right into the fray,
Ready to work in any right way
If it will help our nation to save
From a drunkard's disgraceful grave.
Oh, help us save the children dear
By warning them of wine and beer;
Help them to shun the very first glass
Also the gay saloon to pass
For in them is our future hope
And with temptation they must cope
For small drinks as the mustard grows
Bearing a tale of many woes.
Thou knowest, Lord, how hearts are breaking
For our country's falling men,
Fallen by the effects of rum
More cruel than the sword or gun.
How the mothers' hearts are aching
For their boys that enter in
The saloon with gilded trimmings
Hiding death within its glass
And may Thy infinite wisdom
Bring world-wide prohibition to pass.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:

Immediately after my return from Omaha I went to De Kalb County to help our folks in their local prohibition fight. The W. C. T. U. all over the county worked day and night until the ballots were counted out and when the dry victory was announced they wasted little time on the jubilee but made plans at once to help Indiana go dry.

I have spent the past two months in a vain effort to save our Wayne County boy from the electric chair in Ohio. I am now getting letters from all over the country because the newspapers gave out the report that this boy was my nephew. I am sure you will all be glad to know that this is not true. I am not related to him by any ties of blood at all, but I have known him from childhood, he grew up at my door and belonged to my Sunday school class and to one of the best families in Indiana. The woman who led the boy to believe that she loved him above all others was written up by the press as an angel of light and he painted as a vile murderer. I do not condone his crime, but I do say if he had been given fair treatment, both before and after the tragedy, he would not have been legally murdered by the state.

Indiana is by no means guiltless for this boy was a victim of Wayne County's well-regulated saloons.

On his way to the execution chair he took a coin from his purse and sent it to me with a prayer on his lips for my work.

Now I am going to have this coin carved: "Harry Bief, murdered by the state of Ohio, Jan. 19, 1910, J. B. Harmon, governor."

I am going to give my life to wipe out capital punishment. This bill must be pushed in our next General Assembly. If any body has a plan and wants to help, write me at Liberty, Ind.

I am now in Evansville for ten days' campaign. God bless the brave women of old Vanderberg, they still serve 25-cent dinners for 15 cents in order to get the men in off the street long enough to read their flaming prohibition posters and ask them to sign our petition for woman suffrage and state-wide prohibition, and now, dear sisters, hence forth I must add to the above the abolition of capital punishment, for this is a relic of barbarism and does not punish the criminal nor reduce crime; it only kills the family of the victim who have committed no crime.

I go home Feb. 1.

Loyally,
ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BANCH.

Dear Editor:

A fine Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. was organized at Saratoga on the 27th of January, by Miss Clara Sears. Fourteen young people signed the pledge and put on the white ribbon.

The following officers were elected:
President—Miss Eva Pontiss.
Vice President—Mr. Bennie Fouse.
Corresponding Secretary—Mr. Gath Barnum.
Recording Secretary—Miss Ida Warren.
Treasurer—Miss Ruth Orr.

I hope to be able to report another Y. P. B. soon at Huntington, and trust that at other places the work is being carried on and that many new branches may be reported soon. Surely the dear women of Indiana will grasp the opportunities before them of enlisting the young people in this noble work for clean and right living. May God bless us all and help us to make the best of the time as it speeds us on and on to the day of reckoning when we must give account of our stewardship.

Yours for the young people of Indiana,
LAURA CAMMACK.

"FLOWERS ARE GOD'S OWN MESSENGERS."

Dear Flower Missioners:

How can I express my deep gratitude to all Flower Mission Comrades for making possible the excellent report of 1909. I want to thank all who so kindly remembered me while I was sick, with letters, beautiful post cards and bouquets. I want to assure you each remembrance I received was a benediction to me. Now with grateful hearts for God's blessings upon Flower Mission activities in the past two years, let us look forward to the work of 1910 with new hopes and fresh courage, almost half the year has gone, let us begin now with a determination that the present year shall outrank all previous years. Dear sisters, let us do more and better work for the Master than ever before.

Recommendations for 1910:

More bouquets; more text cards; tree planting exercises by every local Union on Arbor Day; more flower mission meetings held by local Unions and in public institutions.

Preparations for the observance of June 9, Jennie Cassaday's birthday, by each local Flower Mission Superintendent.

Report blanks will be sent in August for the annual report. Keep records.

Tenderly yours,

VIOLA R. HARVEY,
State Superintendent.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE CALL TO PRAYER.

April 3 to 10, inclusive, will be observed as the World's Week of Prayer for a better observance of the holy Sabbath day. For thirty-two years societies in Europe and America have been trying to protect the Lord's day and are asking that God's people set aside one week in April as Lord's Day Week for special prayer.

In twelve or more states efforts have been made to legalize Sunday sports, mainly Sunday ball games, and they are planning to make this attack still more vigorous the coming year. Hence we appeal to all lovers of God and humanity to rally at once to the "help of the Lord against the mighty."

But first we must praise God for His gift of one day in seven to shut out ordinary work and worldly pleasure and let Him have full possession of the inner life. Will each one prayerfully ask himself the following questions: 1. Do I appreciate the value of the Lord's Day to body, mind and soul, and so spend it that its cleansing and quickening power beautifies my home, social and business life, my relations to my employees or my employer and gives me power to put down evil in my community?

2. Do I realize the cruelty of driving many to Sunday toil in order to give others amusement on that day?

3. Am I doing all in my power to better Sabbath conditions in my own community?

Such careful self-examination will prepare for the effective prayer and labor.

Let us pray and labor especially that all christians may make the whole Sabbath a holy day of joy to young and old, and their homes free from Sunday newspapers and social functions.

That all employees may be secured a full rest day each week; and that the Christian forces of each community may federate for kind, persistent work to educate all to obey Sunday laws.

REV. T. T. MITCHELL, M. D.,
President International Federation of Sunday Rest Associations of America.

KATHRYN WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent of Sabbath Observance Department.

HEALTH AND HEREDITY.

This is an important department and every American should be interested in it, and especially the "White Ribbon Army." I feel that every Union in the state should consider this work in some phase. Use it in your mothers' meetings if you feel you have not a competent superintendent now. But as soon as someone in your membership will please make it a specialty in your year's work. I would like for every county institute to give it a place on its program and emphasize how important good health is and no one can do their work right who is not well and strong. Parents, with vicious appetites unchecked, passions and diseased bodies, transmit to their children, frailty, a tendency to sickness and weakened will power.

I know the results in this line of work are slow, but it will pay in years to come and if you are in earnest that will not seem long.

It is difficult for a healthy person, with a strong will power to have full sympathy or pity for one whose appetite and passions control him, but "fiery liquors" and poisonous drugs that have been used for so long have made such inroads on the health of the nation that such people are common in this day. I will gladly help anyone who will write to me about the work. Success to all. Let us be about our Father's business.

MRS. ODESSA ROYLE,
State Superintendent.

431 West Howard street, Muncie.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Dear Superintendents:

Our call to prayer leaflets for 1910 are now published and can be had of our national superintendent, Mrs. V. F. Cox, Vienna, N. J., at 10c per 100.

I am sending a copy of the same to each superintendent whose name I have and wish very much that this call may have a very wide circulation this year. Have them printed in your daily and weekly papers, for the press is a mighty power. If you do not receive a copy you may know that I do not have your name.

I have had some Sabbath Observance post cards, with special scripture texts printed in colors that may be had at the rate of 5 cards for 6c or $1 per 100, postage prepaid.

Yours for a better observance of the Sabbath,
KATHRYN WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

WOMAN'S PROTEST.

In a mass meeting of Chicago women Dr. Anna Blout of Chicago was the first speaker. She said:

"Statistics show that seventy-five per cent. of all men patients have disease resulting from this traffic. Out of 2,000 patients, all in good society, a leading city physician reports fifty-five per cent. thus afflicted. Forty per cent. of miscarriages result from this. Fifty per cent. of so-called women's diseases have the same cause, for the reason that men infect their wives. It has become almost a question whether women dare marry at all. Under the 'professional code,' so-called, a man has the right to know his own disease, but a wife has not the right to know either her own disease or her husband's. Here is the cause of much sterility which is falsely called 'race suicide.' Divorce is granted for tuberculosis which is concealed—why not for concealment of this 'pague'?"

Dr. Emma Wixroni of Finland gave a beautiful picture of the innocence of that people, and told of the delusions under which they come to America. She pleaded for "homes" for unemployed Finnish girls.

Mrs. Stella C. Brubaker of Chicago said: "It is even claimed that our girls would not be safe were it not for the brothels. (Cries of 'shame!') We scorn the claim that this corruption is the savior of our daughters. If the Christian manhood were once aroused, men would be elected who would protect our daughters and make Chicago streets safe, as they are not now. This fight ramifies into the whole world, and it is the lasting shame of Chicago and her faithless officials."

A devoted missionary, formerly a white slave, was introduced and said:

"The drink is more effective than iron bars in keeping girls in this terrible life. After a period in Chicago, many girls are sent to the lumber camps. I have known brothers to sell their sisters into shame—and husbands their wives, and live upon them."

The Indianapolis South Side W. C. T. U. held a silver-medal contest, Feb. 11, at the Emmanuel Baptist Church. A large number was present who enjoyed the "twelve" temperance recitations given by the children. Several pieces of music were rendered by three young ladies, to vary the exercises.

The opening song by the choir was "Crush It Down."

Eight-year-old Eunice Thatcher won the prize. Three others were scarcely a point behind her.

The South Bend Pleasant View W. C. T. U. held their annual Frances Willard memorial service Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Whitmore, 1422 Michigan avenue. After the business session, Mrs. Ralph Smith took charge of the program. Mrs. Alfred E. Beyer gave a very interesting paper on the life of Frances E. Willard. Her life was so Christ-like there is always something to be learned from those who study her biographies. Purity in literature and art was explained to the Union in different forms followed by a recitation by little Miss Margorie Hicks.

Contest colors were pinned on the ladies and a social hour followed in which refreshments were served by the hostess. A song and prayer closed the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Uhl, of VanBuren street, will entertain the Union March 9, at the close of the contest.

LaPorte Union, on Jan. 28, held a parlor meeting at the home of one of its new members, Mrs. William Robinson. There was a good attendance. Nice refreshments were served by the hostess. On Feb. 11 was held the Willard memorial services, Rev. Cole, of the Christian Church, gave an interesting address on the life of our departed sister. The vice president, Mrs. Ella Canary, who has just returned from Chicago, where she had been engaged in prohibition work, told how the temperance people were working there for the betterment of that wicked city. At the close of the exercises our president, Mrs. Fred Hanchet, invited us to a good luncheon. At the parlor meeting one new member was added to the White Ribbon Band.

Madison.—The liquor traffic in Madison and in Jefferson County will meet its deadly foe for many years in the organized forces of the Senior and Junior Loyal Temperance Legion.

The Madison Daily Democrat published the following report of one of the Senior meetings, sent in by their worthy press superintendent:

"Madison Senior L. T. L. met Tuesday night, Feb. 18, at its rooms on Mulberry street, and was attended by a very large crowd.

"The Gigarette-Smoking Boy" is the title of a little bulletin written and published by Prof. William A. McKeever, Manhattan, Kan. Price, 1 cent per copy.

Vincennes.—The home of Mrs. C. E. Asbury was filled with the W. C. T. U. ladies and friends Tuesday afternoon at the Mother's Meeting. The devotional was led by Mrs. Lillian Farrel, who told in her own impressive way many things in regard to mother love, mother's prayers and mother's tears; no one gets so far away or so low but these attributes of a mother follow them. She then read a part of that beautiful chapter of Proverbs, the 32d, beginning with the 10th verse. Mrs. John Tharp sang most effectively, "My Mother's White Ribbon." Rev. Wilhite was introduced and spoke of the great nation-wide influence of the W. C. T. U., also giving some clear prophecies of the near future. He also showed very clearly the existing conditions today in Kansas, his home state. The benefits of prohibition in their splendid improvements and low tax rate. He greatly inspired and encouraged the ladies who showed their appreciation by frequent applause, and at the close arose enmasse, giving the chauntauqua salute, thus thanking him for his splendid talk.

Matthews.—The monthly meeting of the Matthews W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. May Boyer on West Seventh street, with a good attendance.

An interesting business session was held and one new member gained, after which an interesting and instructive program was given on the following subjects: "Law of Indiana, with Reference to Giving Tobacco to Minors," Mrs. May Boyer; Round Table topic, "How Can We Best Fortify Our Boys Against the Tobacco Habit," discussion led by Mrs. Margaret Trissel; "The Cigarette at the Bar of Justice," Mrs. Allie Millhoen; "Is the Use of Tobacco Increasing Among Women?" Mrs. Lena Shaw.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Eunice Bartlett, on East Seventh street.

Hartsville.—A silver-medal contest was held in Hartsville, Ind., U. B. Church, New Year's eve. Five of our members took part. All did well. The audience greatly appreciated the effort. Mr. Markland, of Columbus, Ind., a winner of a grand gold medal in a recent contest, was one of the judges. The other two were Miss Mary Anderson, a teacher, and Miss Clara Westhafer, teacher of English in Taylor University. They awarded the medal to Mrs. Rebecca Craig. Rev. F. M. Westhafer, of the M. E. Church, entertained the audience by reciting selections from an "Evening With the Poets," while the judges were out. Special music also added to the pleasure of the gathering. It was a pleasant, profitable ending of the old year.

The Seymour slot machines and other gambling devices, which have been operated for several years, have been ordered stopped by the mayor.

Seymour has been a wide-open town and the better element of citizens are pleased with the action of the mayor.

Indianapolis Nickel Theaters are open on Sunday and give much money to charity.

The Cold Springs Union made several of the schools a Christmas present of a beautiful framed picture of Frances E. Willard at the Mulford School, taught by Miss Sadie Barkley, the picture was presented by Mrs. Flora Walker in the presence of a large number of the patrons of the school. The one to the Heaton School, taught picture of Frances E. Willard. At the Mulford by Mr. George Gilmore, was presented by Mrs. Della Williams, where there was also a number of the patrons present. At the Bossong School, taught by Miss Canfield, it was presented by Miss Emma Walker. All seemed to be greatly appreciated and we hope much good may be accomplished by the presence of the pictures.

Mathews W. C. T. U. held a regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. Allie Garretson, Friday, Jan. 14. The meeting was in charge of the president, Adeline Black. After a business session there was reading, a sketch from the life of Frances E. Willard, by Mrs. Black; Lena Shaw read a paper entitled "Our Boys;" Eunice Bartlett read very beautifully the poem, "Beautiful Snow;" Alice Garretson read a paper on "The White Slave Traffic," followed by an interesting discussion by the Union on the influence of a Christian home. One new member, Mrs. Fleda Williams, was received. Our Union has been organized but a short time, with only a few members, but all seem to be greatly interested in the work.

Father C. P. Baron, of Yorkville, Ind., has written a little booklet, "Catholics and Prohibition," which should be in the hands of every Catholic in Indiana before the question of constitutional prohibition comes to the final issue. No Union where there are Catholics in the community could do better work than to carefully place these booklets in their hands for reading. They are sold by Father Baron at cost, 5 cents each or $3 per 100 copies.

CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

Send All Subscription, 25 cents per year, to the Crusader Monthly, Evanston, Ill., and ask that they be credited to Mrs. Ida Mix. We want Indiana to be on the honor roll. Subscriptions to The Union Signal, $1 per year, address Evanston, Ill. Ask that subscriptions be credited to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, state superintendent.

Stuben County has just had the pleasure of a visit from Mrs. Mary Sibbitt, of Kansas. She spoke before every Union in the county, and made a visit to Orland. At every place she was well received and all speak in terms of highest praise of her lectures. Old Stuben has had a shaking up by "The Kansas Cyclone." She cleared $8.10 for the county treasury.

At Ray, Mrs. Sibbitt spoke in the church in the afternoon and the teacher and his pupils were present as the School Board closed school for the occasion.

Mrs. Sibbitt would be welcome in Stuben should she again visit our state.

Mortgage Torn Up.—During the holidays the "Frances E. Willard" W. C. T. U., of Richmond, Ind., was made the recipient of a magnificent Christmas gift. The $700 mortgage, on which the Union had for years paid a high rate of interest, was released and we have now a neat little sum accruing monthly from rental of tenement rooms, etc., in our Temple which will be used for benevolences, temperance and charity.

MRS. D. L. HOPKINS, Treasurer and Trustee "Frances E. Willard" W. C. T. U.

Miss Mary Sibbitt, of Kansas, gave her beautiful lecture, "The Davids of the New Century," at the First Christian Church, Huntington.

At the close of the lecture several gave their names for membership in the local Union of Huntington.

This brave worker and efficient speaker kindly consented to address the students of Central College, Ubee, Ind., in the evening. The students of the college, as well as the citizens of Ubee, were delighted with her talk and thirteen gave their names for membership.

Miss Laura Cammack, secretary of the Young People's Branch, has been notified of the result of this meeting and will come in the near future to effect an organization, at which time most, if not all the students will be identified with the Y. P. Branch of the W. C. T. U.

Arba Union met at the home of Mrs. Iso Brown. Mrs. Ida Parker was a very pleasant visitor and lead the devotional exercises. Roll call was answered by nine members. The following committee was appointed to select new song books: Iso Brown, Ona Thomas and Bertha Bowen. Because Fred Bowen, through the influence of the temperance Union, has been led to see the folly of the use of tobacco and has abandoned its use, he was made an honorary member of the Union for one year. A declamation by Allie Bowen, "Whose Boy," was very much appreciated by all and especially touched the hearts of mothers. Round-table topic on "What Does the Average Boy Demand of His Home," was ably discussed. Reading by Ona Thomas, "The Coming of the Prince of Peace," was good. The national convention report was read from The Union Signal by Iso Bowen. After singing No. 52, "We're Coming, Dear Leader," we were dismissed by prayer.

Mr. Brown served all to some choice apples, and Miss Ruby Brown entertained us with splendid piano music, and all greatly enjoyed the afternoon.

Ray Brown also assisted in the hospitality of the home.

Newburg, Ind.—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley gave her beautiful, stirring lecture, Jan. 27, at the Methodist Church in the afternoon and also a little talk to the school and at the Mission Hall in the evening, which were crowded with eager listeners, many of which said they never heard such a lecture before, never had they heard the liquor traffic so exposed and the great need of state-wide prohibition. Many signed the petition and twenty-one ladies gave their names as members of the W. C. T. U. We have the Model Program and are trying to carry it out as near as we can.

Oxford, Benton County.—The meeting for Jan. 21 was held at the home of Mrs. Amanda Smith, with a good attendance. The leader, Mrs. Adda Hawkins, had prepared an excellent program. A leaflet on "The White Slave Traffic" was read by Mrs. Petree. From the facts brought out in this paper it behooves every parent to instruct their sons and daughters on the necessity of purity in their lives and the dangers attendant on an impure life.

A paper on "Dress" by Mrs. Hawkins, and a talk by Mrs. May Graves on "Art and the Effect on Our Life of the Pictures We See and the Books We Read" were full of good suggestions.

The social hour which followed was made the occasion of a farewell for Mrs. Hattie Gillette. Mrs. Gillette has been the efficient and beloved president of our Union for the past three years, and has endeared herself to every member. Under her care the Union has continued to grow in membership and usefulness.

Rev. and Mrs. Gillette go to their new home in Montpelier, and we extend to them the kindest wishes of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for success and happiness in their work there.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a number of the ladies brought gifts for Mrs. Gillette as tokens of their appreciation.

LAURA B. EVANS,
Press Superintendent.

South Bend Pleasant View W. C. T. U. met with its president, Mrs. T. Vanbuskirk, 1502 Michigan avenue, Wednesday afternoon, with a good attendance considering the disappointments and changes on short notice. A membership contest was planned which will end March 9.

Mrs. Augustine gave a very interesting paper on "What does the Average Boy Demand of His Home." Child life was very ably discussed by a number of the Mothers' Club. Miss E. H. Hull read extracts from President Taft's Message, relating to the white slave traffic. Mrs. George Turner, 707 Sherman avenue, was present and gave a very interesting talk on medical temperance.

The indications are clear that if effective temperance work is to be done among the young it must be undertaken at an early age and continued beyond the span of youth.

Greensboro, Henry County, Union met the second Tuesday in January, at the home of Margaret Wood, the oldest member of our Union, being 85 years of age. She served refreshments of her own preparing and entertained us to the number of eighteen members. The devotional services were conducted by Mrs. Amanda Adams, a blind member of our Union who performs her duties as faithfully as any member of the Union. On Jan. 31, Greensboro was favored with a visit from Mrs. Sibbitt, of Kansas, who gave us a very rousing and instructive lecture, one that was appreciated so much that the president, Mrs. Allie Grey, asked her to stay another night. She consented and gave us something to remember long after she had left us. Mrs. Sibbitt is a great power for good, and has done much for Henry County, of which we are glad. Greensboro has a very live and interesting Union. We met with Mrs. Menerva Cook on Feb. 8. Devotional service was led by Mrs. Ann Harden. Very interesting papers were read by Mrs. Allie Hudson and Mrs. A. A. Grey. We were served to popcorn, candy and nuts by our hostess.

"Love" Union, of Grant County, is not idle. Not two years old yet, but working eighteen departments. During the winter season a number of "sewing bees" have been held and the poor and sick have been assisted. At these meetings there is always a devotional service and literary work done along the line of some department. About twice a year we have a reception for the husbands in the evening. Just now we have a series of Sunday afternoon services at the church planned. Last Sunday our L. T. L. had full charge and a splendid program was rendered. Next Sunday, Rev. Shannon will deliver one of his excellent talks to parents. The Lines Trio will furnish the music.

We are hoping that in numbers we will reach the hundred mark before the next convention.

The Oxford Union gave a demonstration meeting in the Christian Church, the evening of Nov. 30, 1909. We tried to make it as nearly like the state meeting as we could, but of course, we do not have all the departments. We have seventeen and all our superintendents gave something on the program, and our singing members sang our W. C. T. U. songs and our program ended with a tableau on "Mothers' Meetings."

We had a good audience and our collection was liberal. We gave the entertainment free, but took an offering.

Many complimentary things were said about the demonstration and women who have not yet enlisted said they understood more than ever before what the W. C. T. U. stood for.

The Lebanon W. C. T. U. held a public meeting in the M. E. Church in memory of Frances E. Willard. It was a most interesting and impressive service.

Roll call was responded to with reference to some phase of Miss Willard's character or some of her many wise sayings.

Mrs. Jessie Coons read an excellent paper on the life of Miss Willard; Mrs. Adams, wife of the Baptist minister, gave a splendid talk on the life of this great woman as an inspiration to college girls. She spoke of her intense friendship, her real womanliness, her affection, her loyalty, her devotion to her life-work, giving herself entirely to the cause she espoused, one of her prayers for girls being "Lord help us to always be what in our best moments we desire to be."

Mrs. Addams, at one time in her native home, Birmingham, England, had the great pleasure of meeting Miss Willard and Lady Henry Somerset, and hearing them lecture. Mrs. Mary Haggens told in a very interesting way how we may perpetuate Miss Willard's influence. Mrs. Mary Hendricks gave a short sketch of her home life at Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill. The Rev. Dunlap of the First Christian Church was present and gave a short talk in which he said Miss Willard's whole life might be expressed in two words, "God, humanity." The program was interspersed with some good musical selections by the Misses Golding Grove, Emile Smith, Ruth Coombs and Mary Marvin.

Mrs. Jessie Coons and Mrs. Jesilene Woodard had charge of this service.

The Vanburen W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Mary A. Duckwalls, with a good attendance. Our meetings always have a good attendance. It matters not how bad the weather is. We have learned to love the cause and are doing all in our power to further the work. Meeting opened by the president, Mrs. L. L. Dimit; scripture lesson by Mrs. J. A. Sullivan, Hebrews, first chapter; prayer by Mrs. W. E. Murry; song. Business of the meeting was transacted. Several talks on "The Hadley Home." The meeting was given over to our leader, Mrs. P. S. Howard. The literary program followed. Paper by Mrs. Lytle, "A Tribute to the American Woman;" Mrs. Tony sang a very beautiful solo, "Some Mother's Boy;" Mrs. I. C. Mills read a very touching story, "The Shoemaker and the Little White Shoes." We feel and know that there are so many dear children in this beautiful land of ours that have been robbed of the comforts of life by the saloon, we want to banish this forever. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Duckwall.

The Indianapolis Frances Willard W. C. T. U. last met at the home of Mrs. Geyer, 2917 North Capitol avenue. A large number were present to hear and participate in the memorial exercises of the Union's namesake. Mrs. McDermid, who had been appointed to give a sketch of her life, was followed by several others who had enjoyed knowing Miss Willard. Among them were Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Hathaway, Mrs. Noah, Mrs. McKee and others. The last mentioned lady told of Miss Willard putting her arms about her (Mrs. McKee's) three children and asking for a blessing on their lives. Mrs. McKee also sang the song, "Wear the White Ribbon," with beautiful intonation; Mrs. Noah giving the history of its origin. Mrs. Geyer's little grand-daughter also sang a song for the entertainment of the company, after which refreshments were served.

Our Promoted Comrades

MOORESVILLE.—Ruth H. Hadley, in her 80th year, received the welcome into the Glory Land of "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." Some one has said, "who shall estimate the value of her years of fruitful service as president of the first Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Morgan County." To know her was to love her. The Mooreville W. C. T. U. extend our deepest and heartfelt sympathy to "Uncle Miles," her aged companion, and her daughter, Mrs. Mina Farmer, who has so tenderly and devotedly cared for her aged parents in their last days.

As I read from month to month the list of our promoted comrades I am reminded of the words: "These all died in faith, not having received the promises but having seen them and greeted them from afar." The prayers, the faith, the works of the loyal, devoted women are recorded, and can we doubt that there is joy in Heaven, as they see the seed they sowed in tears, bearing fruit, and that so many have entered into their labors.

FRANCIS POTTER.

The Oxford W. C. T. U. has been called to mourn the loss of one of its most cherished members.

Mrs. Frank Talbot departed this life at the Home Hospital, in Lafayette, Jan. 13, 1910. Only such a short time before she had been in our midst, active and happy, the meeting of Dec. 3 having been held in her home, which always had an open door for the W. C. T. U. or any church society.

She has gone to that better home. We cannot call her back, but we shall miss her. She leaves a husband who has the sincere sympathy of our organization.

The funeral was held in the Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member, Jan. 16, 1910.

Rev. Johnson, of Fowler, conducted the service.

THE WATER WAGON

(The Water Wagon was sung at the Omaha National Convention Jubilee Night. A large picture of a water wagon occupied the rear of the stage in full view. The names of the different states can be substituted. It was sung to the tune, The Gospel Train.—Ed.)

The water wagon's coming
I hear it just at hand
I see its banners waving
As it rumbles through the land.

CHORUS.

Get on board, Miss Utah,
Get on board, Nebraska,
Get on board, Missouri,
There's room for many a more.

The water wagon's coming,
It's leaving in its train
The wreckage of the traffic
That fills the world with pain.

Maine, Kansas, North Dakota
Are making room for you;
The six white Southern Sisters
Are riding in full view.

The water wagon's ample,
'Twill hold us one and all;
We're bound for Prohibition
In this old carryall.

NEW YORK CITY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

In an address delivered in New York City Dr. T. Alexander MacNicholl, of wide reputation as a physician and scientist, said:

Year by year alcohol is making appalling and ever-growing ravages in the ranks of New York's public school children. The increased numbers of cases of St. Vitus' dance, epileptic seizures and other functional and organic disorders are directly attributable to the saloon.

Thirty-nine percent of the public school children today are drinkers.

The saloon already has done so much directly and through the effects of an alcoholic heredity to break the vitality of New York's school children that something must be done at once if the next generation is to be saved from degeneracy.

That is really the problem, and the great one before New York's people. What are they going to do to arrest the cumulative effect of the saloon upon the children?

In the study which is going on all over the country today the facts as to school children in New York are more to the point than of any other city in the country.

People simply have no conception of the state of affairs here. The saloon has been flourishing here practically unregulated for several generations, and we are now beginning to feel and realize a little of its effect.

The statement that 39 per cent of the school children of the city are drinkers appears sensational, but these are the facts, borne out in investigations in the schools conducted by myself and other physicians. The facts are true, and so glaring that it is hard to believe them.

Stop and consider the prominent place the saloon has occupied in the city for years, and the statement becomes believable.

The direct influence of the alcohol center is not the worst. When you remember that 66 per cent of the public school children have physical defects dragging them constitutionally below standard in studies it becomes a potent fact that 90 per cent of these children are the descendants of drinkers.

The city is notoriously a bad place for children to be reared. More than twice as many city children are below par mentally and physically as country children.

It is the saloon which is to blame for this. Unless this constant corrosive effect of alcohol on the nerve centers of the young is taken into consideration, there is no telling how great these effects may grow."

Philadelphia White Ribboners circulated 10,000 invitations to the meeting which was addressed by our beloved national president, Mrs. Stevens, and Miss Gordon, Feb. 17.

Liquor advertising in the newspapers is a subject of interest to The Message. Please send on a post card the name of the newspaper in your community that does not insert liquor advertisements. State whether daily or weekly. We desire to publish the list.

The White Slave Traffic is the subject of an editorial in the March number of Good Health Magazine that should be read by every W. C. T. U. woman.

McClures, for November, contains the report on the subject of an investigation of conditions in the United States, such as has been never before made in the history of the world. This should be read by all parents and teachers.

It cost McClure $10,000 to make the investigation necessary to secure the facts as given.

The New York City Board of Estimate recently granted District Attorney Whitman and the Special Grand Jury $25,000 to defray expenses of further investigating the "White Slave" traffic in New York city.

Adolf Kraus, of Chicago, with other Jewish leaders, is conducting a systematic warfare on the "White Slave" traffic. Former Assistant City Attorney Clifford G. Roe, acting as general counsel for B'nai B'rith, a Jewish organization, the Commercial Club and other civic bodies, has launched a war against the traffic that will bring great results. United States Attorney Sims leads the power of the government forces in the investigations, also assists personally. For information as to results, write to these men.

The National Congress of Mothers has a department of Good Roads. It is stated by those who have given much time to investigation that 50 per cent of our nation's children never have more than four months' schooling a year and 10 per cent of those in the rural districts do not have any, all on account of "bad roads." It is reported that 139,000 children in Texas did not attend school last year on account of "bad roads." The women of many states are greatly stirred over the enforced ignorance of the children on account of "bad roads." Compulsory education laws are not, and can not be effective until roads are passable.

The National Congress of Mothers includes this first "good roads" work of women for the country children's welfare.

Women have a right to arouse public sentiment in favor of good roads on account of their children and on their own account.

A RAILROAD MAN'S PRAYER.

The following words were found posted up in the office of a railroad man in the state of Washington:

"Now that I have flagged Thee, lift up my feet from the rough road of life and place them on the train of salvation. Let me use the safety lamp of prudence, make all my couplings with the links of love; let my hand lamp be the bible; and keep all switches closed which lead off the main line into sidings with blind ends. Let every semaphore block along the way show the white light of hope, that I may make the journey in safety; and when I have finished my run on schedule time and pulled into the terminal, may Thou, Superintendent of the universe, say: 'Well done, good and faithful servant, come into the general office and sign the pay roll and receive your check for everlasting happiness.'"

Put this prayer into the hearts of all railroad men and there would be fewer lives sacrificed to carelessness and inebriety.—Exchange.

LORD'S DAY WEEK.

April 3-10, 1910, should be observed as Lord's Day Week. "If the Sabbath be destroyed, Christianity will perish."

Sunday baseball is legalized in 12 or more states—Indiana among them. The automobile takes thousands out of the cities and towns on the Sabbath. Empty pews in the churches on the Sabbath shows the low tide of spirituality prevailing all over our state.

Christian women have much to do in the home and social circle to counteract this condition. Work should be systematically planned to reach the children of the church membership and enlist their interest and help.

Local option elections are being held all over the country, thousands of towns and small cities will be added to the "dry" list.

A score of Michigan counties will hold an election in April.

California temperance folks are set for state-wide prohibition.

Indiana Anti-Saloon League has announced its intention to work for state-wide prohibition.

Preliminary announcements of the World's W. C. T. U. Convention, Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11, 1910, note that the city of Glasgow will extend hearty hospitality to the delegates. A World's "Y" Summer School is to be held at Arden Connel House, Row, Gareloch, from June 11 to 18. All literature and periodicals for the literature exhibit, including photographs illustrating various phases of W. C. T. U. work should be sent to Miss Anderson, 10 Park Terrace, Glasgow, Scotland. Interesting news is summarized from England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Switzerland, Italy, India, Japan, Ceylon, Burma, Egypt, Palestine, Bulgaria, Australia, Cape Colony, New Zealand, and Chili. During a six months' engagement in Australia, Mrs. Catherine Lente Stevenson addressed 249 meetings.

POINTERS.

From Associated Prohibition Press.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has just decided that every seller of near-beer must pay the liquor high license tax of $1,000, exactly as if they sold more strongly alcoholic beverages.

Nearly 10,000 delegates from every part of the South attended a recent conference of negro farmers and industrial workers at Inka, Miss., so the press dispatches say. Strong resolutions endorsing Prohibition were passed.

"The Manufacture of Denatured Alcohol," based on the operation of an experimental still at Washington, D. C., and a course of lectures delivered in connection therewith, by H. W. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, is a most valuable government document of 166 pages, just issued by the Department of Agriculture. The document describes the sources of alcohol, the preparations of materials used in its production, the operation of industrial stills; a description of denatured alcohol and denaturants, together with a number of special drawings illustrating the various stages of the process of manufacture. It may be secured from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. Price 20 cents.

Details of a remarkable establishment for the manufacture of alcohol from sawdust at St. Marcel, in Southern France, is given in the daily Consular and Trade Reports No. 3626. The process consists in exposing sawdust to sulphurous acid gas, whereby a chemical action is induced, which enables the alcohol to be generated and extracted without being mixed with or contaminated by the sulphur, as had always happened when sawdust was macerated in a solution of sulphuric acid under the old processes.

Two thousand, two hundred and four pounds of sawdust (one metric ton) yield 27.47 gallons of alcohol, 42 pounds of acetic acid, the residue or spent sawdust being pressed into briquettes and used as fuel. It is claimed that the process is very profitable. It is patented in both France and the United States.

A novel plea for the nomination of a young man's ticket by the coming Prohibition State Convention in Kansas was made in a recent issue of The Prohibitionist, by John A. Shields. "I believe the Prohibitionists ought to do a little skirmishing in the political battle of 1910, and that the young men ought to be very prominent in the fight," declared Mr. Shields. "I believe the young men should be recognized, and it should be generally known that the Prohibition Party, of all parties, is a young man's party."

Mr. Shields closes his plea by naming a number of aggressive Prohibitionists of the younger class and urges, especially, that a young man who is enterprising and a vote winner by nature should be selected for the nomination of Lieutenant Governor.

COCO-COLA AND SODA FOUNTAIN DRUGS.

Indiscriminately, the drugs of the soda fountains are used by persons of all ages.

Many drugs are used. These, if given at all, should be given under the direction of a physician.

Boys and girls, as well as men and women, call at a soda fountain and get as many doses of Coca-Cola or other poison-containing drugs as desired.

Dr. H. W. Wiley, of the U. S. Agricultural Department, and a chemist of world-wide fame, has said that a glass of Coca-Cola contains as much caffeine as a cup of coffee. Dr. Wiley says: "Parents who would not think of allowing their children to indulge in coffee, allow them to visit the soda fountain and help themselves to any of the perincious brain and nerve destroying concoctions which they find there."

One writer says: "Thousands of people have acquired the Coca-Cola habit, and drank anywhere from ten to thirty glasses of this disease-breeding mixture every day. The result is arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, one of the most deadly and incurable diseases. Indigestion, Bright's disease, disorders of the liver dropsy and other less grave disorders may be directly traced to the continued use of caffeine and allied poisons."

Just where you are in the conflict,
Stand in your might.
E'en tho' the struggle seem useless,
Desert not the right.
God placed you there for some purpose,
Whate'er it may be;
Rejoicing to thus be deemed worthy,
Stand loyally.

APRIL, 1910.

Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler, state and associate national superintendent of Sabbath Observance, has issued some very appropriate department post cards. Send to her for samples. Her address is 749 Howard avenue South Bend, Ind.

June 9 is our National Flower Mission Day. Now is the time to lay plans and appoint committees for that day. This year June 9 comes on Thursday. Interview the officials of your public and private institutions and make definite arrangements now for the Union to hold services. Get up an appropriate, interesting program for each institution to be visited. On Saturday the boys and girls can assist—use as many of them as possible. To do this will necessitate the immediate appointment of reliable committees. Temperance songs by the boys and girls in some places will be greatly appreciated. Then, too, every boy and girl who "lends a hand" will become interested in the W. C. T. U. For the use of the committee for visiting the "shut-ins," white ribbon trimmed carriages or automobiles would provide a way for taking flowers and the boys and girls to sing beside the committee.

Pictures of Miss Jennie Casseday, with the story of her life, should be used freely on Flower Mission Day. These can be secured of Miss Ruby T. Gilbert, 137 Wabash avenue, Silversmith's Building, Chicago. The Union that begins now to arrange for Flower Mission Day, and persistently follows up all details, will not only do much good but will arouse an interest in W. C. T. U. work in its community. The newspaper men will be glad to use a cut of Miss Casseday and an account of her life, with a splendid write-up of all the visits made on Flower Mission Day, if the plans are a success.

Information concerning Miss Casseday, the cut, etc., must be furnished to the newspaper a week previous—then the write-up of "Flower Mission Day," by a friend or member of the Union must be handed to the newspaper people that same evening or next morning in accordance with arrangements made previously.

* * * * *

The Message editor will greatly appreciate reports of all public or special W. C. T. U. meetings, especially if they are sent not later than a day or two afterward.

The editor very much desires to use the faces of the state superintendents, organizers, county and local presidents and others in The Message. In order to do this it is necessary to have a newspaper "cut" made from a good, plain photograph, at a cost of from $1.15 to $1.50, according to size, at the Expense of the person. The "cut," of course, would only be loaned for use in The Message and returned. If photographs and money are sent to the editor, she will gladly have the "cuts" made.

* * * * *

The recent decision of the Supreme Court of New York, to the effect that all drug stores selling patent medicines containing a large percentage of alcohol must take out a saloon license is certainly a step forward. Peruna and some other nostrums will be relegated to the saloons where they belong.

* * * * *

The Successful Institutes are those that have been well planned and well advertised. It takes three weeks of persistent effort, much work and much printers' ink usually, to advertise a meeting. Some meeting may be counted a success that had less time and effort used in advertising, but no doubt they would have been far better with a full three weeks' advertising.

Newspaper and bill poster advertising is used extensively by the great commercial enterprises. We cannot succeed and do less.

* * * * *

At every temperance meeting the songs should be rousing temperance songs. No W. C. T. U. meeting should be held without the singing of two temperance songs. This is a duty.

The singing of "Some Glad Day," by our White Ribboners so frequently in some communities has been wonderfully educational. Do you know there are young folks today who begin to sing those words when they hear the old tune, "Old Black Joe," played by the band? That tells a story. Today there are many temperance songs set to the old familiar airs and all aggressive local and county presidents will use them. The time is past when our work will progress without the singing of the sentiments. To have several hundred song cards printed would cost little money and every Union should have the songs.

* * * * *

Indiana White Ribboners will serve the cause well if they will encourage and keep all newly-organized Unions, especially should the newly-organized Unions and colored L. T. L.'s be helped by personal encouragement.

* * * * *

The Union Signal should be read by every family connected with the W. C. T. U. For general information concerning the temperance work among women, it is an absolute necessity. The number of women who are subscribers in Indiana is not what it should be. Your Unions will not thrive and do as aggressive, important and good work without the members read The Union Signal as they could and otherwise would do. Reader you smile and say "I know more to do now than I can possibly do." That may be true, but are you doing your best for your Union and for your community?

To be generally well informed it is absolutely necessary to keep pace with the world's work When you do this then you enlist the attention of educated, intelligent people. One such person might be able, if aroused to action, to greatly help your cause, because of his power and influence.

Indiana W. C. T. Unions rank in influence and power largely in accordance with their general intelligence upon the mighty temperance reform. To have intelligence upon this reform movement means far more than county or state conditions. It means a nation and world-wide view. To get this the W. C. T. U. woman must read The Union Signal. It is our paper. We as a national W. C. T. U. own and edit it. Price $1 per year. Address The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill.

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

My Dear Superintendents:

I hope you have all done your work well and had a good rousing meeting in our department during the month of March. I have sent literature and plan of work to every county in the state that has a W. C. T. U. Great responsibility now rests with the county superintendents and county presidents. I hope you followed out my plan and supplied every Union in your county with the literature I sent you. Don't lay it aside, dear sisters, nor put it off until you have more time, but do it today. I know of one superintendent who received a package of plans of work from one of our state superintendents. She gave it to the baby to play with and he tore it up. I am thankful that was not in my department, however. These things are precious, dear sisters, and the State W. C. T. U. is depending on you to use it to the best advantage.

There is a new pamphlet out now by Prof. W. S. Hall, of Northwestern University Medical School, Chicago. Send to Mrs. M. M. Allen, Marcellus, N. Y., and place one of these in the hands of every physician in your county. The price is only 40c per 100. I know of nothing better to educate the women on the subject of patent medicine and giving drugs to children, than the entertainment, "A Lark at Nonatuck Hall and the Sick Baby," these can be had of Mrs. Allen. Begin now in preparation for your second July meeting. Send to Mrs. M. M. Allen for the tract, "What Are the Most Efficient Remedies for Shock, Syncope, or Temporary Exhaustion." The other tracts for that meeting I have already sent to the county superintendents, and if you have not received your share, write to your county superintendent. Where you have no county superintendent I have sent to the county president. Send to Mrs. Allen for some good leaflets to distribute at this meeting. A good one is "Beer drinking Injures Health," 30c per 100. Now, dear workers, don't neglect to keep a strict account of all you do so our reports may show up fine at our state convention.

Yours for service,

MRS. G. E. DENNY,

State Superintendent Medical Temperance.

YOUNG PEOPLES' WORK.

Dear Sisters:

As you plan for the Institute in your county do not fail to appoint someone to present, discuss and arrange plans for the young people's work in your Local Unions over the county.

You cannot afford to neglect this important work of enlisting the young men and women in the great fight that we are making for a cleaner, safer, more moral and more sober country in which to live.

All time spent in this direction will be well invested and who can tell what the harvest will reveal. I am glad, indeed, for the many requests for literature and helps for this department, but hope for many more.

I am trusting in the Institute Leaders to do and say much for the young people's cause. If any one of them has not received one of the Year Books, please notify me at once and one will be sent.

Yours anxious to serve,

MISS LAURA CAMMACK.

RAILROAD DEPARTMENT.

National Railroad Men's Day, Sunday, March 6, was observed in Lafayette. At 10:30 a. m., Rev. L. S. Smith, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church, preached to railroad and shop men. At 7:30 p. m., Rev. O. R. McCay, pastor of the First Baptist Church, delivered a sermon to railroad and shop men. Both were exceedingly appropriate for the occasion. These were under the auspices of Central W. C. T. U. At 4 p. m. a railroad and shop men's meeting was held at the Monon Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Christolite W. C. T. U., of West Lafayette. An excellent program being given, consisting of temperance and sacred readings and music. Each man attending was presented with a beautiful red carnation. One pleasing feature was a temperance reading, given by one of our street-car conductors. There was a large attendance. After the close of the meeting a railroad man came to me and said he wanted to tell us that he was converted to God and temperance at one of the shop meetings held by Jennie Smith, in Illinois, in 1883 and he is still with the right.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Dear Superintendents:

There are four things to which I wish to call your attention at this time. (1) I have just received a letter from our National Superintendent, Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, urging that the signed Teacher's Total Abstinence Cards be in her office not later than the first of May, as it will give you a little more time to work with them than if you sent them to me, you may send them directly to her at 561 Thirty-third street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, but keep account of them and report to me as per question 15, in the report blank. I hope all will attend to this as she cannot use any received later for she must get them ready for her demonstration at Glasgow, Scotland, at the World's Convention. We want our share in that glory. I hope you have been working faithfully with these cards, so that our share will at least not be the smallest.

(2) Mrs. Davis is publishing a quarterly, which promises to be very useful to us as superintendents as well as toteachers. Some time ago I sent her as complete a list of county and local superintendents as I could secure, and a list of the local presidents, so that a sample copy has been sent to every county and local in our state. I hope all superintendents of this department will become subscribers to this quarterly and work hard to get many of them into the hands of teachers.

(3) For the last two years I have had a number of calls for a leaflet on the "Origin of Scientific Temperance in the Public Schools." I was not able to find such a thing in the form of a leaflet. I have prepared one which I hope will meet the needs, and these may be had of me for 30c per 100.

(4) I am hearing good things from some of the counties and locals in regard to the Prize Essay Contest Work, and hope there are many who are pushing this line of the work. Remember the school year is drawing to a close when this part of the work is difficult to do, so let us work while it is yet today and send the prize essays to me by the last of June.

Yours for service,

MRS. ETHEL E. BAIR,

State Superintendent.

WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

(The following is a resume of the year's work done by our valiant and most efficient Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, state W. C. T. U. organizer among colored people.)

Knowledge gleaned, through house to house visitation preparatory for local-option election, has caused me to become more and more convinced that the liquor business is the most nefarious of any extent in our Republic. It is exceedingly worth while for us to labor assiduously for the complete annihilation of the traffic.

March 14, 1909, a few days previous to obeying a call to Muncie, Delaware County, I secured nine pledges for regular membership and two for honorary membership, in Corinthian Baptist Church in Indianapolis, organized a W. C. T. U., Mrs. Rev. Martin, president, 522 Spring street, Indianapolis, Ind. Then on to Muncie, where I found White Ribboners and other folk getting ready for the mighty battle of ballots. I spoke seven times on the all-absorbing question during my three weeks' stay in that county; tried to so convince the populace of Whately (a suburb of Muncie) that the liquor traffic was man's greatest foe; secured many promises from voters, that they would vote YES, this was done. So evidenced by the surprising majority in favor of no saloons on their option election day.

THE MESSAGE

April 19, secured 12 pledges; organized a W. C. T. U., Mrs. Lydia Thompson, president, address 1201 East Jackson street, Muncie, Ind.; also organized three L. T. L.'s, two in Muncie and one in Whitely, membership of not less than 60.

April 20, hastened to Madison, Jefferson County, where the dear Temperance Women needed help to get ready for battle, fierce it proved to be, but victory was ours through Christ. While there I lectured four times, helped to change the minds of several voters.

May 1, secured nine pledges (four honorary) organized a W. C. T. U. with Mrs. Letitia Taylor, president, address 417 West Fifth street, Madison, Ind.

April 24, held L. T. L. meeting in M. E. Church (colored); organized an L. T. L., 18 pledged members. From Madison I went to Indianapolis, secured needed rest, then went to Anderson.

May 15, labored in keeping with the hour, to secure the interest necessary among my people to insure co-operation on Election Day. Such was done, and "No Saloon" ballots were in the majority on May 26.

May 22, I obeyed a call to New Albany, Floyd County; labored as never before against the enemy entrenched behind fearful excuses; witnessed doings at the polls which plainly said "rum will rule in these parts."

From that point I labored in Clark County; found conditions the same as those in Floyd County. Fraud! Fraud! When will it cease to be practiced in this land of the free and home of (shall I say) brave?

June 9, after the election in Jeffersonville, I left for home, rested a little, then on to Bedford, subject to a call from White Ribbon Sisters of Lawrence County. Did some speaking; revived the work among my people.

July 4, secured 15 pledges among children; organized an L. T. L., with Mrs. Ora Wynne, secretary, address 1305 Ninth street, Bedford, Ind.

July 6, went to Mitchel; made house to house visits.

July 7, held mass meeting; secured 15 pledges; organized a W. C. T. U., with Mrs. Rosa Voundtree as president, address Mitchel, Ind. Then on to Columbus, from thence home and on July 18 addressed a mission Sunday school in Riverdale, Richmond, Ind.; pledged 15 children; organized an L. T. L., with your servant as secretary, assisted by Mrs. M. E. Thomas, address 1400 North F street, Riverdale, Richmond, Ind., and in that way we are striving to promote the cause for God, home and native land.

March 10, 1910—Believing that it would prove interesting to all co-laborers to know that something continues to be done for the promotion of the cause we love. It gives me pleasure to say that since our last convention, I have perfected four organizations, viz: A W. C. T. U. at Lafayette, with eight charter members and nine honoraries, president, Mrs. Carrie Willis, address 1436 Kosuth street; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. C. Elve, corner Sixteenth and Hartford streets; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Hill, 1427 Tippecanoe street; treasurer, Mrs. M. Johnson, R. R. No. 9. At Princeton I organized a W. C. T. U. with 43 charter members and five honoraries; president, Mrs. S. L. Jackson, 721 East State street; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stella Paxton, Princeton; treasurer, Mrs. Harriet Tucker, North Prince street, Princeton, Ind. Also at Princeton I organized a Y. P. Branch, 20 members, and an L. T. L., with 50 members.

Hope soon to do more throughout the state.

M. A. McCURDY,

State W. C. T. U. organizer among colored people.

Field News

Warwick County.—The W. C. T. U. of Boonville is not dead, nor is it asleep. We are doing some good work. While we feel that our work does not look very "big" sometimes, still we know our influence is felt in the community. We had Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley with us a few weeks ago, and she gave us some good talks, which was an inspiration to us and renewed our zeal for the work. We observed Miss Willard's Heavenly birthday with an appropriate program. We hope to take up some of the department work soon. A superintendent for the Mothers' Department has already been appointed.

Bedford W. C. T. U. held a Frances Willard memorial service in the parlors of the First Presbyterian Church. An impressive Bible lesson was given by Mrs. Charles Norton, from the 91st Psalm. A very interesting talk on "February Birthdays" was given by Rev. E. E. Valentine, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Mrs. T. Rainbolt spoke on "Principles and Precepts of Miss Willard." So many of the experiences of Miss Willard's life was told in beautiful words and expressions in this short talk. "How We May Perpetuate Miss Willard's Influence," was the subject of Rev. H. A. Denton, pastor of the First Christian Church. His talk was instructive and helpful. A beautiful vocal solo, given by Miss Byrl Foster, ended the program. The meeting was lead by Mrs. A. J. McDonald. A large crowd attended and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

The Millgrove W. C. T. U. met at the home of our vice president, Mrs. Bessie Robbins. Rev. Abigail Winslow lead the devotionals. After the business, Mrs. Barley's reading, "An Empty Wagon," was good. Our county president, Mrs. Stahl, gave a very interesting address. Miss Bogue sang, beautifully, "My Mother's White Ribbon." Miss Robbins gave a fine reading and Mrs. Sample and Mrs. Robbins sang a song. After the meeting, refreshments were served.

Goshen W. C. T. U. Winter Picnic.

It was a noble band of temperance workers, 120 strong, that gathered at the home of Mrs. D. M. Bowser to enjoy our "winter picnic" and they came early and remained late. Elkhart Union was well represented. The home was gaily decorated with pennants, bunting, flags, mottoes and portraits of our departed leader, Frances E. Willard. After greetings by our local president, Mrs. Emma Garver, scripture reading and prayer was followed by an address of welcome by Mrs. A. Z. Vall and responded to by Mrs. Wert, county president. Mrs. Brown and Miss Ada Miller gave fine readings; an address by Rev. S. K. Staudt, who took for his theme: "The Temperance Tidal Wave." This program was followed by a social time. A bounteous dinner was served. The afternoon program began at 2 p. m. Mrs. B. F. Hammond and Miss Grace Smith gave readings. The first address was made by E. A. Starbuck, who took for his subject, "What Next." Rev. Roberts made the second address, his subject being the "White Ribbon." Following this, the president announced the round table. At least a dozen took part in the discussion. The affair will do much to bring new enthusiasm into the Local W. C. T. U. Five new members were added to our number, with the promise of others. The program was exceptionally fine and much enthusiasm prevailed.

The Rockport W. C. T. U. is in a flourishing condition. There are now 58 members, four of whom are honorary members. We have been greatly benefitted by the recent visit of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, with her wonderful logic and magnetism. The Junior L. T. L. numbers 20 boys, who are particularly interested in anti-cigarette work.

The Bridgeport Union held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. Edythe Brandt, with a good number of our members present. We were delighted to have with us Mrs. Lizzie Heath, of Indianapolis, our county delegate to the Oklahoma convention, and the time was given her to report. The entire report was splendid, and was given in such an interesting and practical way that we could almost imagine we had had a glimpse into the great convention itself, and we felt enthusiasm stir within us for the great cause of the White Ribbon; we are sure it will be a lasting good to us. After adjournment our hostess served refreshments, and a very pleasant social hour was spent.

Wells County W. C. T. U. is somewhat disorganized because of the resignation of our beloved county president, Mrs. E. A. Willis.

Our county institute will be held some time in April. This late date is made necessary on account of the session of M. E. Conference which will be held in Bluffton the first week in April.

Mrs. Theodore Ellingham is acting president until the meeting of Institute. Wells County has just finished a local-option fight, in which the "drys" won by a large majority. In this the local Unions helped all they could.

Poseyville W. C. T. U. held the annual Frances E. Willard memorial service at the home of Mrs. Emma Fletchall, Feb. 24. Reading and talks were given on the beautiful life of Frances E. Willard. Services led by Mrs. Law Rogers, president.

Laporte Union held a Mothers' Meeting on Feb. 25, an interesting program was given. At the close Mesdames Canary and Titus served refreshments. One new member was added. On March 11 a business meeting was held with a good attendance. Mrs. William Robinson served refreshments. Feb. 18 was also a business meeting. At this time $5 was voted to Hadley Home, $2 for memorial fund and $1.50 as organization fund. The secretary, Mrs. Tease, served oranges and bananas.

The Morgantown W. C. T. U. held a public meeting in the M. E. Church, Feb. 25, in memory of Frances E. Willard. Owing to the bad weather on Feb. 17, the meeting was postponed. The L. T. L. furnished most of the program. The professor of the High School, gave a very interesting talk on the W. C. T. U. work. A collection was taken in honor of Frances E. Willard for organization. One new member was added to our roll, which was the High School professor's wife. Several interesting talks were given by members on the life of Miss Willard.

We have added the Mothers' Department to our Union this year. We are planning to have work done along this very important line.

The Van Buren W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. P. S. Howards, with about 35 ladies present. Mesdames Anna Stockhouse, Agnes Howard and Allie Mathes being hostesses for the day. The meeting was opened by our leader, Mrs. E. Anderson. Prayer, by Mrs. A. Wilson; subject for the day, "Narcotics;" a paper was read by Mrs. James Atwell, on "The Opium Traffic in China;" paper by Mrs. J. Stockton, on "Men and Tobacco;" another by Mrs. Lillie Kirkpatrick, entitled "Slaughter of the Innocent by Using Soothing Syrups, Patent Medicine, Etc." We then had a general discussion on narcotics, which was very profitable. The Union is strong in Van Buren, and is not only fighting the whisky traffic, but other evils as well. The cigarette habit is a great evil, and ruining hundreds of our young men today. The opium habit is a great curse not be overlooked, 1,000,000,000 Chinamen are victims of the drug. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Syracuse Union was greatly aroused by Miss Mary Sibbitt, of Kansas. Recently representatives of the Union met with the Town Board. We are expecting good reports of the work done by this Union at our state convention in October.

The Indianapolis North East Union held an interesting meeting with Mrs. Bresette, 1638 North Arsenal avenue, on Feb. 25. "Anti-Narcotics" was the subject ably handled by Mrs. J. N. Lambert. Mrs. Noah spoke of her franchise work, which was very interesting. Superintendents were appointed for the departments of Anti-Narcotics and Franchise, and the work as outlined for the county and state will be followed. A Martha Washington tea, given in honor of our elderly ladies, was much enjoyed. There were eight present, three of whom had been "crusaders."

The Indianapolis Frances Willard Union met with Mrs. Perrino, 1644 Hall Place. A large number were present. Mrs. Artman, county president, gave a beautiful address on the work in general and franchise in particular. Mrs. L. E. Scott gave a brief account of her jail and prison work. Mrs. Peter McDermid gave some account of the promising South Side Union. She also read a letter that was to be sent to Mayor Shank, in the name of the Union, in appreciation of what he is trying to do with the laws as he finds them. Mrs. Kemp gave a short parliamentary drill. Mrs. Daugherty had a good Flower Mission report. One out of town visitor, Mrs. Croxson, from Little Rock, Ark.; two ladies from South Side Union, Mrs. Pryor and Mrs. Burton, were present.

The Syracuse, Kosciusko County W. C. T. U. held a memorial service in honor to Frances Willard, at the Evangelical Church, Feb. 16, which was well attended. Good interest and new members added to the Union. Rev. Johnson, of the Church of God, gave a beneficial talk along the line of temperance work, and was followed by Rev. Weaver, of the M. E. Church, who spoke about the life of Frances Willard and what great good was coming to the American people from her life of consecration to the temperance work. This was followed by J. T. Riddle and Jacob Kilgore, who are earnest workers and are always ready to assist the W. C. T. U. sisters. A very helpful talk was given by the president, Mrs. Josephine Wood, who is an untiring worker. Miss Courtland sang a beautiful solo and Miss Anna Bently gave an appropriate recitation.

This enthusiastic meeting was followed by a very much appreciated lecture by Miss Mary Sibbitt, of Kansas, on Feb. 18, and our Union has been much enthused by these meetings and fourteen new members added.

The South Bend Frances Willard W. C. T. U. met Feb. 9, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Snoke, 118 East Keasey street, with nearly all the active workers present. This Union formerly held its meetings twice each month, but at our last yearly business meeting it was decided to hold but one session each month, hoping thereby to increase the interest and attendance. This last meeting was full of interest and well attended. After the devotional and business part of the meeting, a brief program was given, which was followed by a parliamentary drill, each member participating with a great deal of pleasure. An old worker in the ranks of the W. C. T. U., whose home is in Chicago, was with us and gave us a talk on the work in her city and also in Kansas, where she had also been an active worker. Her remarks and suggestions were quite helpful.

The Brazil Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Mrs. Ella Keith, on Tuesday afternoon, to commemorate the heavenly birthday of our beloved leader, Frances E. Willard. Our president gave us the Bible lesson and Mrs. Mary Krider offered an earnest prayer for the work. Many beautiful and touching phases of the character of Miss Willard were spoken of in response to roll call. Mrs. Anna Wilkins then gave an account of the statue placed in Statuary Hall in our Capital City. A most impressive solo was sung by Mrs. Robson, followed by an excellent paper, "How We May Perpetuate the Influence of Miss Willard," by Mrs. Cora Stober. Miss Myrtle Coughanour rendered a beautiful piano solo. Last, but not least, one of our dearly beloved charter members gave a fine paper on "The Temple," our memorial building at Chicago, of which we are proud to state our Union holds a part. Splendid refreshments were served.

St. Joseph County Institute was held March 14 and 15. Monday evening, March 14, Mrs. Rose Pearce, institute leader, gave an address at River Park in the M. E. Church. The male quartette of the church furnished excellent music. The sessions of the Institute were held at the First M. E. Church of South Bend.

The principal paper of the forenoon session was by Mrs. Ralph Smith on "Child Labor." It proved so full of live interest that an animated discussion of the subject followed. An arousing paper by Mrs. George R. Turner on "The White Slave Trade" was read in the afternoon and created intense interest. Miss Briston told of the Y. M. C. A.'s investigations locally and of the active interest of that organization. A visiting White Ribboner from Chicago assured us the unbelievable was true and warned us that girls are brought into these slave houses more from smaller cities and towns than from the large city and Indiana women should be awake to the danger. Other papers of the afternoon were on "Child Training," by Mrs. C. C. Beyrer, and "Our Organization and Why We Belong," by Katherine Wert Holler, both very instructive and inspiring papers which would have brought out profitable discussions had time permitted.

At the evening session excellent music was furnished by the carefully trained chorus of young people from the Westminster Presbyterian Church under Mrs. Phena Rodgers. Rev. George Hicks, of the Anti-Saloon League, spoke very optimistically of legislative prospects, and Rev. Henry L. Davis, of the First M. E. Church, gave a forceful address on "Scientific Temperance and Its Teaching in the Public Schools," and its great importance to the civic state in rearing and training citizens.

Goshen W. C. T. U. Silver Medal Contest, held at the First Brethren Church, was a success in every way. The contestants delivered their speeches with telling effect. The music was exceptionally fine throughout the evening. A solo was given by Miss Cleo Myers, also by Miss Hildah Hammond; piano solo by Gerald Wysong, also on violin; piano solo by Arthur Parker; the Goshen College Quartette furnished fine music; a duet by the little people; Miss Arlowine Forney and Master Carl Wysong captured the audience with the song, "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam;" Mrs. Brown gave a reading while the judges decided, they were Prof. Byer, of Goshen College; Mrs. Wheeler Kercher, and Prof. Weaver, superintendent of schools. The medal was awarded to Miss Grace Smith. Mrs. C. K. Staudt presented the medal and addressed the class in eloquent terms—it was an address long to be remembered.

The W. C. T. U. of Bright held a meeting in the form of a contest in the Presbyterian Church, Feb. 20. The contestants were Mrs. Tillie Henshell and son Charles, and Mrs. Maggie Gibson, Mrs. Flora Sykes, Mrs. Mary Lynas, Mrs. Emma Sufferman. No medal was given. A silver offering was taken for the Frances Willard memorial fund.

The Roll W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Gertie Helmet. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. E. Likely; scripture lesson prayer, by Mrs. R. Ittel; business of the meeting was transacted; roll call was responded to with quotations from Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens. The meeting was given over to the leader, Mrs. S. Harrold. The literary program followed—Paper by Mrs. M. Kelley, Mrs. M. Alexander and Mrs. S. Adams; Mrs. Likely gave a short talk on "How May Our Literature Department Be Made More Effective?" Recitation by Miss Ivel and Dessa Guiler. The attendance and interest was good and one member was welcomed into the Union.

The Perkinsville W. C. T. U. met with the school Friday afternoon, Feb. 25, in a very pleasant and profitable meeting, in memory of Frances E. Willard. A very interesting program was rendered, consisting of sketches of the life and works of Miss Willard, interspersed with songs by pupils. A beautiful portrait of Miss Willard was presented to the school. Also a meeting was held March 1, in honor of the birthday of Mrs. L. N. Stevens. A sketch of her life was read by members of the Union. A solicitation was also made for The Union Signal.

The Williamsport Union held a public Willard memorial service on the afternoon of Feb. 20. A good program was rendered in which all the churches took part. Pastors of the Presbyterian and the Methodist churches were present and each gave an interesting talk. Our president, Mrs. E. A. Biggs, presided and a liberal collection was taken. Our Union is growing in interest and in numbers, and we hope to do some work that counts before the end of the year.

Oxford, Benton County.—The Willard memorial service, held in the M. E. Church, Sunday evening, Feb. 6, was greeted by a large and appreciative audience. The church was prettily decorated with flowers, and the seats reserved for the members were designated by large white bows, and the younger ladies of the Union, who acted as ushers, wore white bows. Mrs. Hallie Morce, the president, presided and made the welcome address. The children recited the 23d Psalm and sang an appropriate selection. Mrs. May Graves read a sketch of the life of Miss Willard, and Mrs. May Wann told of the uses of the memorial fund. Rev. standforth, of the M. E. Church, made an address, urging help and co-operation with this movement. The Methodist Choir gave us excellent music, Mrs. Johnson's solo being very tender and beautiful. A good collection was taken.

The Literature Department of this Union, under the auspices of Mrs. Belle Benedict, held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Alma Tharp, last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Laura Evans read a paper on "How Our Literature Department May Be Made More Effective." Mrs. Petree gave a good talk on how we may keep in touch with the things that are being done in Washington through the letters published every week in our national paper. Mrs. May Wann read a story from the Mothers' Department. Several new subscriptions were secured for the Union Signal. The Union will give an old-fashioned entertainment some time in April.

The Lafayette Union held a Frances Willard memorial service at the home of Mrs. H. H. Moore, 308 Waldron street, West Lafayette. The program was as follows: Devotional, Mrs. John E. Chamberlin; answer to roll call, quotations from Miss Frances Willard's writings; paper, "What Miss Willard Did to Unite the North and the South," Mrs. Moore; Anti-Cigarette Law of Indiana, by Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics, Miss Meta Taylor; memorial thank offering; several solos were rendered by Mrs. George Jamison. There was a large attendance and refreshments were served.

The Central Union held its memorial service Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 16, at the home of Mrs. George B. King, on Heath street. The program was as follows: Devotional, Mrs. Gildersleeve; roll call, responded to by scripture quotations from each member; piano trio, Misses Cleone Brown, Helen Downin and Helen Cannon; vocal solo, Miss Zoia Wood; paper, "The Life of Frances E. Willard," Mrs. L. S. Smith; vocal solo, Miss Naomi Jester; paper, "On Memory's Canvas," Mrs. Conn; Vocal duet, Misses Bright Cole and Edith Stoney; memorial thank offering; piano solo, Miss Cleone Brown. There was a good attendance of interested ladies. After the program a social hour followed. Ice cream and cake was served by the hostess.

The Frances Willard Union held a memorial service on Thursday evening, at the Congress Street M. E. Church, with a good program: Organ voluntary, Mrs. W. R. McCarty; hymn; scripture reading, L. T. L.; opening address by the president; vocal solo, Miss Alma Shively; biographical sketch of Miss Willard, Mrs. Bull; hymn; "Frances Willard's Influence on Young People of Today," Rev. A. L. Miller; recitation, Lois Jackman; vocal duet, the Misses Jester; paper, Mrs. L. S. Smith; remarks on Frances Willard Fund, Mrs. R. P. Cole; an offering was received.

The December meeting for Central Union was very interesting, being held at the home of Mrs. John Priest, on Main street. Mrs. Seney led the devotional and after a very interesting business session a short program was rendered under the supervision of Mrs. R. P. Cole. The committee for Flower Mission work under the leadership of Mrs. Seney, reported three baskets of food given to worthy poor for Christmas, and was greatly appreciated by the recipients. Many garments and delicacies of various kinds have been given out by this Union during the first six months of the year.

Lafayette Union met at the home of Mrs. I. S. Wade, Fourteenth street, Friday afternoon, March 4, with a goodly number present, and much interest was manifested. A feature of the meeting was the closing of a contest, under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Williams and Mrs. Shook, a prize having been offered by the president to the one securing the largest attendance through her efforts. The prize was given to Mrs. Williams who was a beautiful W. C. T. U. pin. Another contest was entered into, the Union being equally divided under the leadership of two captains, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Green, a prize to be given to the one securing the most new members, also one to the lady securing the largest attendance. After the business was transacted a social hour followed, and dainty refreshments were served.

The County Executive held its regular monthly business session at the home of Mrs. Jennie Conn, Feb. 18. Various topics were discussed and plans made for the Spring Institute, which will be held in April. Mrs. Peterson, of West Point, presided at the new Union recently organized there, was present and we tried to encourage her all we could, although she feels a little fearful of maintaining a Union there. Tag Day was discussed by the members and it was decided as best not to take it up in this city as there is one Tag Day here set apart by our Industrial School.

Moore's Hill Union held a very interesting Willard memorial service on the evening of Feb. 26. Papers on Mrs. Willard's influence on College girls and "How May Her Influence Be Perpetuated Among the Young," were read and an address on the Willard statue in the Hall of Fame. These were the principal topics of the meeting. The music was exceptionally good, and the offering, generous. There was a fair sized and very appreciative audience, and we feel that much good was accomplished. MRS. A. E. RYNERSON.

A Gold Medal Contest will be held April 2, Mooresville. This will be under the auspices of the Boston Union.

Allen County.—The Unions in this county are holding some very good meetings. The Frances Willard memorial meetings were very interesting and the offerings were sent to the Memorial Fund.

The Rest Room in the Court House (Ft. Wayne) has been secured. For this we feel we owe much to the unceasing efforts of our county president, Mrs. Ridenour, and her co-workers of that city, who have worked so well and successfully for this much-needed room.

The W. C. T. U. ladies of the city are now working to get the liquor advertisements out of the city directories and telephone books, and because they seem to know no such word as failure we feel confident of their success in this effort. Surely this should, in justice, be granted.

Mooresville W. C. T. U. entertained, recently, at the beautiful home of Mrs. T. E. Lawrence, in honor of the teachers of the Mooresville schools the ministers, physicians and the editor of the Mooresville Times. The house was profusely decorated with potted plants, cut flowers and a unique use of white crepe paper and roses with large bows of white, the emblem of purity predominating. The program for the evening was in charge of the president, Mrs. Grant Stalling. "The Red Niagara" was the subject of a fine reading by Miss Gladys Stalling. The address of the evening was given by Mrs. Vayhinger, state president of the W. C. T. U., subject: "The Relation of the Public Schools to the Temperance Reform." The address was interesting and inspiring, and profound interest was manifested by all present. The most touching and beautiful part of the program was given by Mrs. Sadie Day, when she presented to the High School, through Prof. Payne, a beautiful framed picture of Frances E. Willard, with the book of her life. Mrs. Day's presentation speech was certainly sublime. She said in part: "Prof. Payne, in behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, I present to the High School, of which you have charge, the picture of our beloved leader, Frances E. Willard, and as your pupils go in and out and gaze on her calm, sweet face, her benign and noble expression of countenance, they will want to know something of her beautiful character. So we present to you the book of her life, and being the Godly man we know you to be, we feel sure you will impress upon your pupils the value of a knowledge of the grand life she has given to the world. In the truest sense, hers was a life lived for the interests of others, with love flowing from a great, warm, tender heart, she sent forth a message of sweetness and light to help elevate the race to sobriety and purity, which was as incense of a sweet prayer, a charming melody, whose influence upon the oppressed was as the warm and gentle sun rays to lifeless nature. Underneath the frayed and tattered garments of broken and sinful humanity, she ever saw the hidden possible Christ. May the mantle of her pure consecrated life fall upon the youth of our community and weave the mystic thread from heart to heart, until each one will form a new link in the lengthening chain of love and loyalty that holds humanity to God. And may her memory be highly cherished by all who love the truth.

This was responded to by Prof. Payne in his usual eloquent manner. After the program the guests were seated with place cards at 15 small tables and were served with a dainty luncheon of brick ice cream, cake and coffee. Mrs. Vayhinger, toast mistress, was responded to by Mr. H. C. Searce, a member of the school board, his subject, "Miss Willard's Life an Inspiration to the College Girl," and Miss Newman, a teacher, with "How Is Scientific Temperance Taught in Our Schools." Four new members were added to the society.

On Sunday morning the M. E. Church was filled to overflowing, when Mrs. Vayhinger delivered one of the most practical and interesting sermons ever listened to in Mooresville. And her address in the afternoon held the people spellbound, while her earnest appeals for patriots to defend our children and our homes by putting good men in the Legislature, touched every heart. At the close of this meeting nine new members, making 13 in all, donned the white ribbon, to help in the battle for "God and Home and Every Land." Mrs. Vayhinger's coming to Mooresville has certainly been an inspiration to all who listened to her, and will doubtless prove a lasting benediction to the community.

THE CIGARETTE-SMOKING BOY.

(Home Training Bulletin, No. 1) by William A. McKeever, professor of philosophy in the Kansas State Agricultural College, is the title of an illustrated pamphlet of twelve pages containing most convincing experiments against the cigarette observations by physicians and specialists, statements from eminent teachers, who are authority on the subjects upon which they speak.

This brochure would not only be ammunition in the hands of the temperance worker but might prove an eye-opener to some young men who are becoming addicted to the use of the weed. Prof. McKeever says "Now, if you will urge your readers to order this bulletin in quantities from me at one cent per copy, prepaid, which just about covers cost, I will use all the money received for printing more." Prof. McKeever's address is Manhattan, Kan.

Our Promoted Comrades

PERU—On Jan. 21, death claimed a dear sister of this Union, Amelia B. Ward. Most of her life was spent in this city. On Nov. 15, 1867, she was married to Dr. J. O. Ward, who, with a son and daughter, mourn her departure. Converted at an early age, a devoted Christian, she has from early life been identified with the temperance cause. A faithful worker in the W. C. T. U. and all lines of temperance work. Although in poor health, the past two years she did not give up her evangelistic work in the Union or her Church until a few days before the Master called her home. We sadly miss her, but our loss is her gain.

Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.—Proverbs, 110-15.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XV. No. 6

ANDERSON, IND., MAY, 1910

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

White Slave Traffic—One thousand persons in Indiana, who read these lines, are urged by The Message editor to send a post card request to Hon. W. P. Dillingham, Washington, D. C., for a copy of "The Report of the Investigation Commission to Congress on the Importation and Harboring of Women for Immoral Purposes, Senate Document No. 196." This report of the wonderful investigation made by the Immigration Commission will be sent free on request. Our white ribbon women must be informed.

The American saloon as an institution, and the excessive use of alcoholic drink consequent upon its presence, are responsible for 25 per cent of the insanity, 33 per cent of the poverty, pauperism, and dependency, and 50 per cent of all the crime in this country, together with the countless wrongs to childhood.—Ex-Governor J. Frank Hanley of Indiana.

Iceland, about the size of Indiana, has no jail, no penitentiary; there is no court and only one policeman. Not a drop of alcoholic liquor is made on the island, and its 78,000 people are total abstainers, since they will not permit any liquor to be imported.

There is not an illiterate person on the island, not a child ten years old unable to read, the system of public schools being practically perfect.—Crusader Monthly.

President Taft's decision as to the labeling of whisky, departing from the former opinions of President Roosevelt, Attorney General Bonaparte, and the findings of Federal Judges Robb, Thompson and Humphry, is meeting with keen dissatisfaction on the part of the friends of the pure food law, who fear it may prove the entering wedge to a return of the evils of adulteration. Very strong resolutions condemning his decision have been passed by the National Consumers' League.

"A friend of mine," said Hon. J. G. Wooley, "was taken with pneumonia. He was a splendid specimen of physical manhood, forty-six inches chest measure, and set up like a Greek god. To the amazement of his friends he died in the first onslaught of the disease. The comment of the doctor was, 'You can't bank on a fine physique when pneumonia grips a drinker. When life and death meet in a tug of war, drink takes the graveyard end of the rope.'"

Parents' parliament has been a very attractive and interesting feature of Thousand Island Park. Why not have such a parliament at all the assembly meetings in Indiana this year? Parents and teachers need to get into just such relationship. Speak to your pastors and see if at least a few hours can not be devoted to consideration of the parents' and teachers' problems.

The Union Signal—Subscriptions, Oct. 9, 1908, 633; Oct. 9, 1909, 611. Percentage of subscriptions to state membership, 8.

The states in the "upper ten" list of subscriptions for 1909 were headed with New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Massachusetts, Maine, Kansas, Missouri, Ohio and California.

Indiana is not on the list. Of the 115 unions in the United States with a subscription list of over 25 per cent of the membership, Indiana had one, that of the Fairmount Aaron Worth Union, with 30 per cent.

This year we surely will have more. In North Dakota one union had 127 per cent. All members took the Union Signal and then subscriptions were sent to others. Every member in another North Dakota Union were subscribers.

Maine had 15 unions with 25 per cent or one-fourth of the members who were subscribers. Many states with many unions with 25 per cent of members who were subscribers.

Surely a better understanding of our work and a familiarity with the temperance work of the women of the world gives intelligent inspiration to the W. C. T. U. woman who reads the Union Signal that enables them to successfully do much aggressive excellent work.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DEFICIENCY.

A careful study has been made of ten license and ten no-license cities, and it has been found that the average school membership in the no-license cities was 88.3-5, while the average membership in the ten license cities was 73, which shows that 17 children out of every 100 in license cities were debarred of an education, and that 47 out of every 100 boys and girls who get through the grammar class are kept from going farther. Prof. J. V. Collins has determined that 45 per cent of the inmates of the Home for the Feeble-Minded and 37 per cent of the inmates of almshouses owe their mental difficulty and inability to care for themselves to the liquor traffic. Dr.

Howe, after careful investigation, found that one-half of all the idiots in the state of Massachusetts examined by him were the children of intemperate parents.

OWEN COUNTY'S HEARD THE BUGLE

(Tune, Annie Laurie.)

Owen county's heard the bugle
Oh, army, tried and true.
She is marching, she is coming
To pledge her faith anew
To pledge her vows anew,
To win or die with you.
You may count on Owen county
Till the stars fade from the blue.

We are out for prohibition,
Our forces are afield.
We have heard the marching orders,
Not one brigade will yield;
The clarion call has pealed;
Not one brigade will yield;
We are out for prohibition,
Our forces are afield.

Where your snowy flag is floating,
And white stars dot the way,
You may count on Owen county
In the thickest of the fray,
In the thickest of the fray,
The white stars dot the way;
You may count on Owen county,
She's sure to win the day.

We are out for prohibition,
We know 'twill not be long,
Till free from Rum's oppression
We'll sing the victor's song.
Yes the great White Ribbon throngs
Will sing the victor's song
For we're out for prohibition—
State-wide we'll have ere long.

DANCING SCHOOLS IN PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Milwaukee—That the halls in the public schools should be opened up for the use of people who like to dance is the conclusion that has been reached by Alderman Irving H. Tarrant in the investigation of the feasibility of his municipal dance hall ordinance.

The city should engage dancing masters to handle the patrons of the school hall dances, Alderman Tarrant declares. He would provide high-grade instruction in dancing.

In answer to critics who might say that the municipal dance is going a step too far toward paternalism, Alderman Tarrant calls attention to the fact that Uncle Sam teaches dancing to the students at the West Point Military academy and at the Annapolis Naval academy.

THE CIGARETTE-SMOKING BOY.

Prof. Wm. A. McKeever, of the State Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kan., is publishing for the assistance of parents a series of free bulletins on the problems relative to the home training of boys and girls. The four numbers thus far issued are, "The Cigarette-Smoking Boy," "Teaching the Boy to Save," "Training the Girl to Help in the Home," and "Assisting the Boy in the Choice of a Vocation." This cigarette bulletin ought to be read by every school boy and by his parents, for it sets forth in a clear, scientific manner the serious effects of the cigarette habit. The author has made a study of 2,500 cigarette-smoking school boys and gives pictures to show how weak their hearts are, and other data indicating the mental, moral and physical debility of such boys. All interested persons are urged to order this pamphlet in quantities at one cent per copy and to distribute it where it will do good.

The other bulletins may be ordered in quantities at the same rate.

Mrs. Grace Julian Clark, of Indianapolis, president of the Indiana State Federation of Women's Clubs, replying to a newspaper reporter concerning her opinion of school suffrage for women of Indiana, said in part:

"There are two ideas relative to the basis of suffrage, one that it is the natural right of all adults, the other that it is a privilege bestowed by the state upon such persons as are capable of exercising it intelligently. I insist that on either of these bases woman is at least as well qualified as man. But granting that it is expedient to continue the old injustice as to suffrage in general for a while longer, what reason can any one give for withholding the school franchise from one-half the adult population? Does the other half sufficiently represent it? No; woman's relation to children and to educational questions is a peculiar one.

"She has demonstrated her greater interest in the schools by the promotion of mothers' clubs all over the country. The women who are in these clubs do not feel that they are neglecting their household duties. They consider it their business to follow their children in her effort to do the very best for them; to know what the school board is trying to do, and how well it is succeeding.

"There is no detail of school affairs that does not appeal to the intelligent mother. If she is a widow, or has property of her own, her property is taxed to support the schools, and she is naturally interested in the disposal of the money thus raised. But whether she is a widow or has separate property does not alter the situation.

"She is an equal partner, and the woman who successfully manages the affairs of home displays quite as much intelligence, foresight and careful consideration as does the man who succeeds in his business. Why should she not have a voice in the disposal of the taxes?

"The New York Mail said recently, editorially, that if the women ever got together in united support of a definite issue, they would constitute a power in our national life which no far-sighted, practical politician would dare to ignore.

"The Indiana State Federation of Women's Clubs has flung its banner to the breeze, inscribed with such sentiments as 'manual training and domestic science in the public schools,' 'pure food and pure water' and 'the school franchise for women.'

"Perhaps all these are comprised in the proposed keynote of our next annual convention: 'Childhood's Bill of Rights.'

"Every child has the inalienable right:

1. To be born right.
2. To be loved.
3. To have its individuality respected.
4. To be wisely trained in body, mind and soul.
5. To be protected from evil persons and influences.

"To bring about all this requires the united efforts of both women and men. Overworked and underfed women can not bring forth the right kind of children. We are interested in industrial problems, especially relating to women and children. To be wisely trained in body, mind and soul presupposes the right kind of parents and the right kind of a home, as well as the right kind of a school. The child of today is the citizen of tomorrow. No effort in his behalf is too great. We honor men for the good they have accomplished and feel that we can assist them to yet further and better achievements."

ALICE FREEMAN PALMER ON WOMEN'S DUTIES

Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer, former president of Wellesley College, wrote an interesting article for a pamphlet compiled by the College Equal Suffrage League of Massachusetts, entitled, "Objections to Woman Suffrage Answered by College Women." Each college woman contributing to the symposium answered a separate objection. Mrs. Palmer replied to the argument that "women are already fully occupied with higher duties." She wrote:

What are the political duties?

What are the higher duties?

How far does the one kind obstruct or assist the other?

The political duties are: Informing one's self on the state of the country, on policies at issue, or candidates for office, and going to the polls and depositing a ballot.

The so-called higher duties of a woman are the bearing and rearing of children, and making a home for family and friends.

How much time must she spend on her political duties? If she belongs to the well-to-do class and hires others to do her work, she has time for whatever interests her most—only let these interests be noble! If she does her own housework, she can take ten minutes to stop on her way to market and vote once or twice a year. She can find half an hour a day for the newspaper and other means of information. She can talk with family and friends about what she reads. She does this now; she will then do it more intelligently, and will give and receive more from what she says and hears. If she does this reading and talking, she will be better informed than the majority of voters are now.

The duties of motherhood and the making of a home are the most sacred work of women, and the dearest to them, of every class. If casting an intelligent vote would interfere with what women only can do—and what, failed in, undermines society and government—no one can question which a woman must choose. But it cannot be shown that there are any large number of women in this country who have not the necessary time to vote intelligently, and it can be argued that study of the vital questions of our

In every school house a Parent-Teacher Association should be organized and W. C. T. U. women should not fail to be identified. The knowledge and power of W. C. T. U. women in such organizations will be of great benefit. These organizations need our literature, our own help and our speakers. In turn it is a wonderful opportunity for the dissemination of temperance and purity information.

In this issue appears a county song, a parody on our State Song. We hope all counties will have county songs but of course we would not expect another parody on our State Song. Any way the tune of "Annie Laurie" is a little hard for very general use. By the time of our county conventions this autumn every county should have a song. If there is not a competent song writer in the Union, ask some one else with this remarkable ability to write a song. Many people can write verses without meter, but the best is none too good for the W. C. T. U.

Children should retire early and sleep with plenty of fresh air. To sleep in the open during the spring and summer months is fine. Porches, screened, can be utilized splendidly for sleeping and will be a boon to adults as well as children. Coffee and tea and red meats are unnecessary for health. Nature's foods are wholesome, such as fruits, vegetables, nuts, milk, honey and eggs.

Distribute literature. No one person ever need to wait for another in order to do this work.

Every woman who is equipped for this temperance and purity warfare will always have on hand a good supply of leaflets on various subjects. It takes but little money to secure hundreds of leaflets.

Many magazines are now, from time to time, publishing articles on temperance and other subjects of great interest to W. C. T. U. These should be read and discussed in the home.

The young people in the home are interested in the things that they hear about.

The summer time will soon be here, now is the time to arrange for special W. C. T. U. days at the assemblies. All assembly programs are planned early and wise W. C. T. U. workers will seek places early. Now is the time. Call on the managers now or write them letters immediately.

Flower Mission Day, June 9, should be observed by every union in Indiana. Unions that desire to visit institutions should arrange program and plans during the first week in May. When institutions are visited where it is proper to take boys and girls, it is well to engage carriages and automobiles weeks in advance, and arrange to go on a Saturday. Many boys and girls would gladly learn songs and help on programs besides bringing flowers.

All "shut ins" should be visited. Many of them could be visited by different committees if carriages and automobiles are secured. Boys and girls who sing or recite would do beautiful service in such visiting in company with one or two W. C. T. U. women.

When the boys and girls thus help they, too, are benefitted.

Flower Mission Day can be a great day in many places if well planned for. Whenever the day is a big success one year it will be a still bigger success the next year and the newspapers will help.

How many subscribers to The Union Signal in your union? If you are discouraged because the members do not seem as much interested as you would like, just ask each one to become a reader of The Union Signal.

Literature that will help. Program Committees in county and local unions should be supplied with literature on many subjects. Literature superintendents who have found helpful temperance leaflets will confer a favor on the editor by sending information so that the title and address of the leaflets may be published for the advantage of others.

In every W. C. T. U. home a five-cent package of flower seeds, planted in boxes or garden now will be a blessing in blossoms after a while for the sick and aged. Mothers that help the boys and girls to raise flowers for such purposes will be gratified to see how much beauty is added to child character besides the cheer given to others.

The prevalence of soda fountain patronage by boys and girls is increasing at an alarming rate. Ices are not healthful, they are unnatural food or drink from an appetite for them because of thoughtless parents' neglect.

Cocoa cola and other concoctions served at soda fountains are deleterious and should not be used.

Send a card to the Indiana State Board of Health asking for two or more copies of "Health Circular on Social Hygiene." A copy of this of this should be put into the hands of every member of the School Board, every school commissioner, school teacher and earnest parent in Indiana. If Pastors would call Sunday afternoon "men's meetings" and have them addressed upon social hygiene by physicians who are familiar with the work of the State Board of Health, certainly great good would result.

Oratorical contests—An honor roll in the October Message will contain the names of all Medal Contest superintendents who have held seven or more contests during this year—ending Sept. 15.

The Ladies' Home Journal, in the May number, opens a department entitled, "How Shall I Tell My Child?" of which department Mrs. Rose Woodallen Chapman is to have charge. As superintendent of the Purity department of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Mrs. Chapman will have opportunity to teach the 1,300,000 subscribers of that magazine the principles of purity in which we all so sincerely believe, and hence this is a fact of interest to all members of our organization.

Every member of our organization may help to establish this department in greater permanency, if she will but take the trouble to write a personal letter to the editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, expressing her gratitude to him for having opened this department, or showing her interest in it by the questions that she asks. Editors judge of the value of a department by the number of such letters received. These letters, however, should not be written as coming from W. C. T. U. members so much as from individual women who are interested in the welfare of children, from teachers who know how much such help is needed, or from mothers who ask for assistance for themselves. Questions will be answered by Mrs. Chapman personally, if stamp is enclosed.

ALICE FREEMAN PALMER ON WOMEN'S DUTIES.

government would make them better comrades to their husbands and friends, better guides to their sons, and more interesting and valuable members of society. Women of every class have more leisure than men, are less tied to hours of routine, they have had more years of school training than men. All this makes simple the combination of public and "higher" duties.

The objection to the political woman and to the educated woman present some instructive analogies. Fifty years ago it was seriously believed that knowing the classics would ruin her morals, philosophy her religion, and mathematics her health; in general a college education would take away her desire to be a good wife and mother. To protect a being so frail, the colleges were carefully closed against her. Now, with the approval of wise men, more girls than boys are preparing for college, and this in the public interest. It may be found in politics, as in education, that the higher duties of women will be assisted, not hindered, by intelligent discipline in the lower.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

My Dear Superintendents:

We are reminded that one-half of the year has gone since we met in state convention and no doubt you have done your very best work for the department you represent. There is no line of work so needed as the work of christian citizenship represents. If every town and city had a good live C. C. organization the "blind pigs" and gambling and other law violations would decrease and "blind officers" would receive their sight. The question is often asked the W. C. T. U. woman why don't you stop these "blind tigers?" Our men are looking to the women largely to take the lead in this work. So my dear sisters, if you have no organization that represents our department, organize one at once. I sent to you my plan of work as soon as I received it. I hope you have read it carefully and planned your work accordingly. Ask your ministers to preach sermons on this subject the first Sunday in July. Don't fail to keep a strict account of work done, so we may have a full report when we meet again in our annual convention. Now a word to our county presidents. I have supplied you with "Plan of Work." I am sure you feel the importance of this department and can trust you to use every opportunity to work it even though you have no county superintendent. If you have appointed a superintendent in your county since state convention send me her name and address so I may supply her with literature. Now the local presidents within a few days will receive my "Plan of Work." Study it. Do not lay it away so carefully you cannot find it. You notice the program in the State Minutes for the first July meeting is on "Christian Citizenship." I ask you to carry out this program in full. I very much desire that every union observe this day as Christian Citizenship day and now the fourth of July—why not capture the day and have a sane patriotic program? In conclusion do your best and don't forget to keep a full report of work done.

Faithfully yours,

GERTRUDE FULTON.

TAG DAY

Letters and postals are coming in from local unions of the various states, giving reports of the amounts raised on Gift Day. Many unions are slow in reporting and are not able to give the results as yet, but we shall later give a statement of all monies sent in by states, in which all personal gifts will be included.

Many unions finding it inconvenient to observe March 19, have chosen a later date, thus taking advantage of the extension of time to June 1, as published in The Union Signal of March 24. Those unions which did not use all their tags on Gift Day can retain these and continue the work of canvassing for members and raising money, if they choose, reporting the results by June 1. The reports thus far show that Lincoln, Neb., leads in the amount raised. Mrs. Heald, the president, says:

"Tag Day in Lincoln resulted in $700 in cash and 'seventy hundred' in agitation. The whisky men were mad and gave special attention, patrolling the streets and trying to intimidate the women. Their work only increased the admiration of the better classes for the W. C. T. U. and woke up many to the real situation. The badges were worn by men, women and children and are still seen on the streets. It was worth all the work in creating the enthusiasm and sentiment and the money goes a long way to keep the campaign expenses up. The committee of fifty men had already been in the field securing pledges for the campaign, so we did not ask for large sums. The average gift was 10 cents. One check for $10 was reported and one $5 bill. There were some doubting Thomases before Tag Day, but not one is to be found now. All agree it was a great help."

Nearly every union thus far heard from has added materially to the funds of their local union, their state and the national. Beresford, S. D., raised $81.30. Eleven dollars and eighty cents were secured by a member over eighty years of age. An Oregon union in a city with a population of 6,000 and having thirty saloons, raised $61 on Gift Day. The president says: "Our few temperance folk must work night and day; we are praying and working for Oregon dry in 1910." A Pennsylvania town reports $115.80 as a result of the day and the writer says: "We might easily have had $500 if more women had worked." A union in Ohio says: "We feel it worth the effort it took and are in hopes of installing a fountain with our share of the proceeds of Gift Day."

No other organization has given such service and can show to the public such wonderful work accomplished as can the state and national Woman's Christian Temperance Unions. We know it well, and why should we hesitate to call attention to our organization and ask that help be given for the furtherance of the work that has brought such widespread beneficent results?

Local unions which have not already observed the day are encouraged to do so by the approval and success which has come to the unions which have already reported.

Any unions desiring tags and advertising matter will receive the same prepaid on application to the National Treasurer, providing the number of tags desired is stated and that arrangements are made to carry the plans some day prior to June 1.

THE WOMAN'S CHARTER

Delegates and visitors to the International Congress in London last year will remember the able presentation of Lady McLaren of her Woman's Charter. This is a full compendium of the laws for women in Great Britain and a statement of the changes which are vitally necessary in justice to women. The delegates were urged to prepare a similar digest of the laws in their own country and present it to law-making bodies. Lady McLaren has done this in the English Parliament, and her husband, Sir Charles McLaren, has introduced eight bills for revising these laws. In a letter to the editor of Progress she says:

"43 Begrave Square, March 15, 1910.

"I am sure you will be pleased to hear what a great success has attended the introduction of the Women's Charter into the House of Commons. All the newspapers are full of it, and some of them have given leaders and columns of approval, with interviews and comments, and so far there has been no damaging attack from any quarter. Had these reforms been advocated singly no notice would have been taken of any of them; but the fact that all the injustices have been put together has aroused public attention to the wrongs of women. I do ask you to bring this success before the leaders of thought on the women's questions in America, urging them to draft a bill, or bills, containing various reforms, and to have these introduced into the state legislatures, so that the law which in some states is in favor of women should be raised in backward states to the same level. I believe many of those old injustices which have their root in the ancient common law of England lend themselves to attack. They are like some crumbling monument, which a vigorous blow would cause to topple over, and could such a blow be delivered by the women of each state, all striking together, it would be the most effective weapon they could use to obtain, not only revision of the laws, but admission to the franchise.

"LAURA McLAREN."

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART

Dear Co-Workers:

Again I will use The Message as a means of reaching you with a few ideas and suggestions. I am very sure the work of our department is making great progress this year, and I know that unions and counties that are neglecting the work of this department will feel later on that an opportunity has been missed.

This seems to be a time of reforming in our country and while the air is permeated with the enthusiasm of reform we ought each one to do our share towards banishing from our land every thing which has a tendency towards tearing down the moral and christian life of our people and putting our shoulder to the wheel of good influence, give it our strongest aid as it endeavors to go around.

I have had our state laws on obscene and impure literature and art and also the federal law regarding the mailing of same printed on cardboard and while I've mailed out a couple of hundred of these I still have a thousand or more copies which I hope you will send for and place them where there is any chance of them being needed.

I also wish you would send to Miss Ruby Gilbert and get some copies of the very latest federal law regarding this which Mrs. Emile Martin, of New York, who is our national superintendent, has had put out in the form of large posters, about 20x30 inches. These are out in attractive form and would draw the attention of the public more than the smaller "law cards." These posters can be had at the rate of ten for 25 cents, and it would be money well invested. Do not fail to do this. Mrs. Martin is very anxious that every union in the state send for these.

When you have done any work that attracts the attention of the public and is commented on in your local paper, be sure to send me the clippings. I want to make as large a collection of such items as I can.

Push the work all you can. Keep account of what is done and at the close of the year let us come up with a good full report in which we can feel a good reason to be proud of.

Wishing you abundant success I am

Very Sincerely,

ELENORA G. McNAUGHTON.

FLOWER MISSION

Dear sisters who wear the white ribbon:

"Thanks to the human heart by which we live,
Thanks to its tenderness, its joys and fears.
To me the meanest flowers that grow can Give thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears."

To give the principal facts concerning the origin, growth and methods of this most beautiful of philanthropies would require but small space, but if every little incident illustrating its influence could be known the world itself would scarcely be able to contain the books that should be written. The flowers have been called the "entering wedge" and they can be used in this way to help nearly every one, if not all of our many departments. Their help has already been acknowledged in The Evangelistic, Penal and Railroad departments, but we hope that every other superintendent will see that she may also use them to some extent. When all our members appreciate this, our whole work will be more beautified. Let each local union begin now to plan for a great day on June 9. Let us make this the banner day in the history of Flower Mission. Forget ourselves, our cares and our joys and devote that day to the unfortunate of our land. Nothing is more calculated to dispel the darkness of sin and sorrow and substitute the true joy and gladness than the flowers with "His live light in their beauty which brings the heart good cheer."

There are thousands of aching hearts in our poor houses, jails and penitentiaries that perhaps might be touched at the sight of a flower, and truly it is a privilege to take there "smiles of God" to the sick and discouraged who, no matter what the age or station in life, awaits them with outstretched hands. The message which the flowers carry is known only to God and the receiver, and it may have a far greater import than we have yet dreamed of. It is the duty of every white ribboner as well as a pleasure to do Flower Mission work and let each of us remember to report all our work to our local superintendent of this department. Remember June 9, Prison Day. The birthday of our beloved Jennie Cassaday.

Yours lovingly,

VIOLA R. HARVEY,
State Superintendent.

Field News

Jay County—One of the resolutions adopted by the Jay County W. C. T. U. institute was as follows:

"That we commend to our state officers that a full compendium of the laws for women of Indiana be made out and a statement of the changes necessary for justice to women be prepared and bills for such reforms drafted and presented to our coming legislature."

Should these laws be noticed singly it will not attract public attention nor point out reforms needed, but when all injustices have been put together it will make an interesting showing and become an education and a weapon to obtain not only revision of objectionable laws but admission to the franchise. There are many laws affecting the women and children adverse to that do not mention them, such as the liquor laws, labor, franchise, settlement of estates, taxation, sanitation and others.

Tippecanoe County—The Monon W. C. T. U., of Lafayette, held a very interesting meeting April 13, at the home of Mrs. M. H. Donoho, 1707 Underwood street. Four new superintendents were appointed and much interest taken in the work. Ten visitors were present. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess. Plans were made for a mothers' meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Bradley, in May.

Jonesboro—It has been said, "You can't get anybody out in Jonesboro if you say W. C. T. U. to them." But the Health and Heredity department by talking "in season and out of season," writing and posting our own bills, proved that saying a ghost. Sunday evening, April 17, the Friends' Church was packed to near Dr. V. E. Baldwin, of Greentown, lecture on "Health and Heredity." Dr. Baldwin is an eloquent talker and held the attention of the large audience throughout the evening and the very kind of people we wanted to hear it were there, the heads of families and young men. The Friends' minister, Rev. Hinkle, gave a splendid short talk; our county president made a call for men members to which both men and women responded, and we gained many new members. A big collection was taken and as our county president, Mrs. Gullia Shugart, expressed it, "It was certainly a wonderful revival for Jonesboro." May 1, through The Message, recommend Dr. V. E. Baldwin to superintendents of "Health and Heredity," "Purity" and "Mothers' Meetings."

Mrs. Cornelia T. Jewett, managing editor of The Union Signal, is to spend several months in Alaska. It will be recalled that Mrs. Jewett visited Alaska last year as a member of the party arranged by the National Editorial Association, and her decision to return to the far north is prompted by a desire for further information concerning the country and its future, as well as by a conviction of the great need and opportunity there afforded for temperance work. Mrs. Jewett has been commissioned by the General officers as special representative of the National W. C. T. U. to Alaska, and in that capacity she will visit all the important coast towns, en route to Seward, where she will make headquarters, presenting in each place the cause of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The Union Signal will contain Mrs. Jewett's letters from Alaska, which will be an interesting feature of the national organ.

The South Bend Pleasant View W. C. T. U. held a Sabbath observance meeting Wednesday, June 13, at the home of Mrs. David Augustine, with a good attendance. Mrs. Tilla Miller, who had a paper on "The Parent Day Tendencies," had charge of the devotional exercises and the program; Mrs. Bertha Ness gave a reading which was a spiritual uplift and a strengthening of temperance sentiment. The afternoon was delightfully and profitably spent. The next regular meeting will be held with Mrs. Howard Webster, 118 East Navarre street, May 11. In the fierce struggle that is on between the forces of the home and the forces of the saloon in our state it seems we can ill afford to loose a single comrade, but we have to record the name of one dear sister, Mrs. Margaret A. Culver, who passed away at her home on Diamond avenue. Mrs. Culver was born in Rochester, Ind., Feb. 11, 1847. She resided with her son Simon, her only surviving relative. Our beloved sister was called to her Heavenly rest. We, the members of the Pleasant View W. C. T. U., desire to keep in remembrance her example of faithfulness in all duties. She is yet with us. We do not live to die, but die to live again.

Madison—The Medical Temperance Department of the W. C. T. U. held an open meeting at Bregade Hall, the Union's new quarters, Tuesday evening, March 29, at 7:30 o'clock. The program was as follows: Scripture reading and prayer, Mrs. Rosa Jamison, the president; piano solo, Mrs. Frank Thomas; paper, "Reaction of Alcoholism to the White Plague," Miss Mary Bayless; reading, Mrs. Sherlock; talk on temperance, Miss Lula Deitz. The regular business meeting for April was held April 10, at 2:30 p. m., with a good attendance. The Union is preparing for the semi-annual rummage sale to be given about May 6 and 7. The proceeds to go toward making the last payment on the new piano. Some good work has been done during the winter and several "blind tigers" have been made to see.

Delaware County—The five unions of Delaware county met in annual spring Institute at Albany on April 7. Representatives were present from each union in the county. On account of the illness of Mrs. Rose Pearce, Mrs. Rhett Jones was present as leader and did very acceptable work. The state program was followed closely. On account of the illness of Mrs. C. D. Dile and Mrs. Amy Masters, who had places on the forenoon program, the subjects they were to have discussed were used as round-table discussions, under the leadership of Mrs. Jones. In the afternoon a good paper on "Child Labor" was read by Mrs. Stella B. Grissom. The paper was written by a high school student of Eaton, Ind., and we appreciated very much the kindness of both the student who wrote it and the teacher who allowed it to be brought to us. We are glad to note that high school students are given more practical subjects for essay work than was formerly the custom. Mrs. Della Chambers, of the Normal City Union, read a splendid paper on "Woman's Ballot for the King's Business." On account of the lateness of the hour there was not time for the discussion which the paper deserved. J. S. Long planted a Norway maple tree on the church lawn during our meeting and it was named the "Frances E. Winard Maple," for which he received a vote of thanks from the Institute. Mrs. Jones gave the address at the evening session in her usual happy style and every body felt that we had had a very pleasant and profitable day. The following young ladies added much to the enjoyment of the Institute by furnishing good music: Misses Pearl Hawk and Edith Rhea, of Muncie; Miss Quirk, of Shidler; Misses Mary Dowden, Ersu Rittenhour and Mrs. Cleverdon, of Albany. The Albany Union received our gratitude for the gracious manner in which they entertained us.

The speeches made at the prohibition convention at Indianapolis contain valuable arguments and information. The Patriot Phalanx has issued a convention special, which will contain these speeches. For sale by the single copy or by the hundreds. Address Patriot Phalanx, 119 West Maryland street, Indianapolis.

The Prohibition Party of Indiana advances. "The liquor traffic must die" is their slogan. "No compromise," their watch word. The state convention was held in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis, April 6 and 7, with more than 1,000 representatives present. The convention opened by singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow;" prayer by Rev. W. V. Harrell, of Chicago. There were some excellent speeches and the convention nominated splendid candidates who stand on a sound platform. They are as follows: Secretary of state, George Hitz, Indianapolis; auditor of state, Dr. J. O. Morrison, Anderson; state treasurer, Samuel W. Thompson, Shelbyville; attorney general, Charles F. Holler, South Bend; clerk of Supreme Court, Emory A. Richardson, Oakland City; superintendent of public instruction, Walter S. Smith, Arlington; state geologist,

THE MESSAGE

Charles Hill, West Terre Haute; chief of bureau of statistics, Albert Stanley, Indianapolis. Since the Republican party convention resolutions are silent concerning the local option law and do not mention the liquor business at all. Surely good people will consider the need of a party that stands for what is expressed in principles and platform by the Prohibition party.

Waterloo Union held a mothers' meeting at the home of Rev. Overmyer, April 5, with members and guests to the number of about 45. Mrs. Cora Bartholomew, the vice president, led the devotional service, followed by the Lord's prayer in concert, after roll call and minutes of the previous meeting the union listened to a very interesting and instructive address by Mrs. Mary Ehlers, of Auburn. Light refreshments were served. Six new members were added to the union.

World's convention trip, Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11, 1910. The attention of white ribboners all over the country is turning especially at this time, to the World's W. C. T. U. convention to be held in Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11, 1910. Following the convention, tours have been arranged through Scotland, England, The Hague, to Paris, Brussels, Cologne, The Rhine, Switzerland, the Passion Play at Oberammergau and through Italy. The lowest prices possible have been secured both on the steamships and for the trips. Competent conductors will have the various parties in charge, and everything will be looked after in the most efficient fashion. Circulars giving the various trips in detail, with prices ranging from $245 to $500 are now being sent out, and will be freely sent to anyone who asks for them. Send the names of your friends who might be interested in such a trip and they will receive the little book. Address Minnie B. Horning, 628 Library street, Evanston, Ill., chairman of transportation, National W. C. T. U.

The Van Buren W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. L. H. Miller, with a large attendance. The hostesses were Mrs. Judson and Mrs. Miller. After singing "Blessed Be the Tie," the scripture lesson was read by our leader, Mrs. Atwell; prayer by Mrs. Judson. The subject for the afternoon was "Sabbath Observance." Papers were read by Mrs. J. L. Henderson on "The Sunday Train;" by Mrs. James Dunkins, "Lest We Forget;" by Mrs. Kribs on "Overlooked Purposes of the Sabbath;" by Mrs. A. Wilson on "A Sabbath Well Spent." There were several good talks on the reasons why we should keep the Sabbath holy. We had the pleasure of pinning the white ribbon on Mrs. Harry Sullivan. We have about 45 members in our union. "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," was sung, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Kate Lee Union, Deputy, Ind.—The framed, life size picture of Miss Willard was presented to the intermediate school with a program by that and the primary departments which consisted of the song, "Saloons Must Go," and essays which were a credit to the children and their teachers. Mrs. Dora Gredgel gave a short address. As the weather was very unpleasant and only three members of the union were present. Union Signal Day was observed at the home of the president, Mrs. Rebecca McClelland, who had Signals from 1892 and later years on the table from which readings were given by Mrs. Nettie Sullivan, Mrs. Anna Dixon and others. Mrs. Hansel, the treasurer, reported one new member who had paid dues and others who were members have renewed payment.

The Indianapolis South Side W. C. T. U. met at the home of their treasurer, Mrs. Saucer. The speakers for the afternoon were Mrs. S. R. Artman; county president, Rev. J. R. Henry, of Emmanuel Baptist Church, and Mrs. O. R. Rash, of Brightwood Union. Mrs. Artman's remarks were very inspiring and the several beautiful poems given by her were greatly enjoyed. Rev. J. R. Henry took the topic for the afternoon, "Anti-Narcotics," and gave many illustrations of the baneful effects which came under his personal observation. Mrs. Rash spoke words of encouragement to all those in the work. South side has a membership of 40 (besides 4 honorary members) with an average attendance of 28, a gain of 7 has been made in the last four meetings. South Side is not a year old yet, but the women are working daily to have a good strong membership for their first anniversary.

South Bend—At the home of Mrs. Joseph Augustine, 1813 Michigan avenue, the losers in the membership contest of the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. had the honor of entertaining the winners. The decorations were in red and white, the colors of the winners, these were used in the luncheon. A very interesting afternoon was spent as the program was interesting and entertaining. Mrs. Ponger, of Gary, Ind., gave several readings and Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler gave a talk and reading on "The Need of the Hour." It was good seed sown in the midst of all who had the pleasure of hearing it. The musical program was well rendered by Miss Margaret Plant, Miss Ethel Steel, Mrs. J. P. Dillon and Mrs. Brekler.

Mathews W. C. T. U. was entertained by Mrs. Eunice Bartlett and the house was well filled. Sixteen were present from Fowlerton and one from Upland. Session was opened by Mrs. Black, the president, and the following was the program for the afternoon: Prayer, Mrs. Hanks, of Fowlerton, followed scripture reading by Mrs. Bartlett. By request of the Fowlerton ladies our union gave a physical culture drill, after which we listened to a very interesting and instructive talk by Mrs. Hanks. Mesdames Milson, Dickerson and Duling, of Fowlerton, each gave a very delightful reading, which was very much appreciated by all. Meeting closed by singing temperance song "Onward" and repeating the Lord's prayer.

La Porte—The ladies of this union are busy finishing up their quilt. Twenty names outlined on each block, they expect to place more than $40 in their treasury through this effort. They are also doing rescue work with the help of the prosecuting attorney. They were able to get a man paroled from jail who, through strong drink, neglected to care for a wife and five children. He became very penitent and asked the street commissioner to pay his wages to the W. C. T. U. ladies to use in caring for his family. A committee was appointed to take charge of this. So far he has been true. He and his family attend church and Sabbath school.

The Evansville Frances Willard Union is alive and doing things. Plans are on foot for a series of meetings to be held at various churches and to end with a great union meeting at Evans Hall. On April 22-23 an Institute will be held. The program is very interesting and insures success. We had Mrs. Stanley with us in February, and she created quite a bit of enthusiasm and also organized a new union in our town. Our members are all good, earnest workers and are doing good personal work. Our vice president came across ten young girls who had left comfortable farm homes for the sweatshops in the city. She quickly showed them their mistake and they returned to their homes. Since the state convention we have gained 31 new members and 8 honorary members.

Whitley County W. C. T. U. held a County Institute in the U. B. Church at Churubusco, March 30-31. The first session was held Wednesday night, March 30. Special music was furnished as follows: Two selections by the Churubusco High School Octette; a temperance solo by Mrs. Aita Smith; duet by the Misses Slagle; several selections by the W. C. T. U. Choir and a temperance solo by Rev. Avis, U. B. minister. Recitations were given by Miss Mary Keene and Miss Bessie Benward. A good address was given by Mr. Young, superintendent of Churubusco schools on the "Strength and Weakness of Indiana's Local Option Law." He said that the county unit is not enough that we should have state-wide and nation-wide prohibition. He also said that honor was due the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for its work in behalf of fallen humanity. He said he doubted if the men would have had the courage to have taken up the temperance question alone. A good talk was also given by Mr. Humpke, principal of Churubusco High School, on "How Stands the Question of Sunday Baseball?" Thursday's session was devoted to the subjects prepared by state superintendent of institutes. Many good points were brought out by those that had prepared papers and gave talks on the different subjects. Mr. Reichelderfer, the M. E. minister, gave a good talk on the necessity for Federal legislation, to make state prohibition effective. He illustrated his work by a cartoon on the inter-state commerce law. He also said that prohibition will prohibit when the United States government is back of it. On the second evening the W. C. T. U. Choir and the High School Octette furnished the music. An able address was given by Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, on the subject of the "Liquor Traffic." She gave a good explanation of high license, the Model License League and many other things concerning this awful traffic. Seven new members were received at this institute for Churubusco Union. The attendance was good and much interest was manifested throughout the institute. We were well pleased with our leader and a hearty vote of thanks was given her before adjournment. The collections amounted to $5.65. Our county convention will be held at Columbia City next September.

The Hanfield Union met at the home of Mrs. Alice Eckroat, Thursday afternoon, April 7. The meeting was lead by Mrs. Flora Cox. After a song, "On to Victory," Mrs. Eckroat led the devotions. Roll call was responded to by scripture quotations and Mrs. Lucy Pugh and Miss Mary Campbell favored us with a song, "Sabbath, 'Tis of Thee;" Mrs. Melva Cav announced the subject of the day, "Sabbath Observance;" discussion followed; leaflet, "My Boy and the Sunday Paper," was read by Mrs. Sarah Hall; "Sabbath Well Spent," Mrs. Ada Knetzer. After a collection and song, "Away, Away Tey Bawl," adjournment was made to meet May 5 with Mrs. Flora Cox. We have been slow in sending in a report of our meetings each month, but we are a wide-awake union and our meetings are growing in interest as well as in number and we want to do more for the cause this year than we did in the past.

The Spencer Union still lives and is on the move. We held a public meeting on Sunday afternoon, March 20. The people showed their appreciation of our position by filling to overflowing the large audience room of the Christian Church. After the meeting requests came in from both men and women, asking that we give more such meetings. The men called a meeting at the Opera House one night, the week following, to consider plans for dealing with the drug stores. A good lawyer moved into our town recently and he, with a few other good men, is intensely in earnest about the illegal sale of liquor and it is believed that something will be brought to pass in Spencer.

Jay County Institute was held in Redkey on April 8-9. It opened with a suffrage contest in which Mrs. Millie Leavell was the winner. The large M. E. Church in which it was held was beautifully decorated with white, yellow and our national colors. The keynote of the institute was state and nation-wide prohibition. Mrs. Rettie Jones, as leader, brought out a fine discussion on local option, which showed an agreement of opinion that local option, even with "blind tigers" was better than the wide open saloon. Mrs. Nettie Stouvenour read an excellent paper on child labor. Mrs. Gertrude Campbell, county press superintendent, took the opportunity to urge more use of the press, the daily and weekly papers, open forums, agricultural and labor papers. Mrs. E. B. Smith, of Pennville, treated the subject of "Traffic in Women;" Mrs. Henly, of Portland, "Juvenile Courts," and Mrs. Gertrude Fulton, the legislative side of the liquor question; Mrs. Gildum started the round table on "Blind Tigers and Blind Officers," which brought out many experiences and during the discussion Simon K. Bell, a visitor from Portland, said the town officers do not need affidavits but can go in and arrest persons who are conducting "blind tigers" without. It is their duty to make arrests when laws are violated and it is what they are paid to do. Rev. Fred Steverson also spoke, and said a third more goods were sold in Portyand during the holidays than when saloons were there, and the payments were mostly in cash. There was little time for music during the session, but the solos of Miss Lena Lacy, Lynn, were very much enjoyed. Mrs. Bessie Smith, of Jonesboro, told of work in Marion and Mrs. Elmira Jones, of Pennville, gave some brier but pointed talks. The unions of Portland, Pennville, Belfontaine and Dunkirk were well represented. The convention will be held at Portland at a date to be fixed by the county officers.

Jackson County Institute was held at the First Baptist Church in Seymour, April 8-9, under the supervision of our county president, Mrs. M. C. Carpenter, and state evangelist, Mrs. Ella Kroft. The institute proved to be one of the most interesting ever held in the county. The pastors of the different churches of the city were present at each session, leading the devotional exercises and entering into discussions upon the various topics under consideration with marked interest. Friday evening the principal feature was an address by Mrs. Kroft. Miss Edna Doane also recited in her usual pleasing manner. Saturday morning a ten-minute testimony service by ten persons, each giving a scriptural or scientific reason for working against the saloon followed the devotional exercises. "Indiana's Local Option Law"—"Its Strength," Miss Dora Deppert; "Its Weakness," Mrs. F. H. Hadley, was followed by a very interesting discussion. Other papers were: "Child Labor, Mrs. Alvey Zarincy;" "The Passing of Advertisements of Intoxicating Liquors, Tobacco Etc., From Our Best Papers and Magazines," Mrs. Wilbur Pfaffenberger; and "The White Slave Traffic," Mrs. C. R. Hoffman, were products of much thought and were very instructive. The noontide prayer closed the morning session. An excellent dinner was served at the church. The afternoon session opened with devotion, led by Rev. James Omelvena, followed by a solo, "Bow of Ribbon White," Miss Annie Carter; "The Coming Legislature," a paper by Mrs. Florence Burrell; "Blind Tigers and How to Open the Eyes of Blind Officers," an address by Rev. F. M. Huckleberry, were each received with much enthusiasm and were very instructive. A beautiful selection by the Ladies' Quartette, of Seymour Union, was enjoyed. Plans for work were discussed, led by Mrs. Kroft. The entire day was helpful alike to members and visitors.

Redkey local union held a public meeting in the M. E. Church with a good audience on Sunday evening, April 10, with Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, as speaker. She took as a subject the ten commandments vs. the liquor traffic and made many telling points. Mrs. Jones is a clever witty and convincing speaker and will hold the attention of an audience as long as she occupies the platform.

Our Promoted Comrades

MARSHALL COUNTY has suffered the loss of one of her local presidents in the going home of Mrs. Alma Overmyer. She gave a years' faithful service to the Pleasant View Union which had been organized just a year to the time of her death. She will indeed be missed by the county and the Union which she served. A. R. SHEDD.

MOORESVILLE—"Dear beautiful death, the jewel of the just." Again the death angel has entered our ranks and called from work to reward our beloved sister, Eliza Atkinson. But we have the assurance that our loss is her gain. We deeply sympathize with her aged husband and commend him to our Father, who said: "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you."—Isaiah, 66:13.

POSVILLE union mourns the loss of Mrs. Ida Tiltan, the first member to be called home since the organization five years ago.

Mrs. Tiltan stood boldly and fearlessly for temperance a tall times and she always wore the white ribbon. The funerals was held in the M. E. church, services in charge of Rev. Griffith.

ANDERSON, IND., JUNE, 1910

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

THE HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FARM WAS SOLD TO THE "CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY."

"God setteth the solitary in families, was written long ago, and it is in carrying on this divine work that the Children's Home Society is engaged. It takes fatherless and motherless little ones and finds fathers and mothers for them; it takes them out of evil environment and places them in the family circle where life is pure and wholesome and where they may be surrounded by the influences which go to the making of good men and women.

Attention is everywhere being centered on the child.

Indiana is doing much for the care of her children.

We are glad that the desire of Addison and Martha Hadley is being carried out in the work for children. The Children's Home Society place hundreds of children in good homes every year. Homes suited to the individual needs of the child.

The children will be cared for in the Hadley home until permanently placed in good homes. Each child will have a home where he can have the benefit of good moral and Christian influences and affectionate care.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.

Members of the W. C. T. U. frequently ask if a warrant is necessary before a man violating a liquor law can be arrested.

It is claimed by many officers, especially those in smaller towns, that an arrest cannot be made without a warrant. In chapter 38, section seventh, of the Statutes of Indiana, we are informed:

"All judicial officers, sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, coroners, constables, marshals, deputy marshals, police officers, watchmen and the conductors of all trains or cars carrying passengers or freight within this state, while on duty in their respective trains or cars, may arrest and detain any person found violating any law of this State, until a legal warrant can be obtained."

The claim that an officers must have a warrant made out by a private citizen before he can arrest a person conducting a blind tiger is simply a cowardly subterfuge resorted to in order to escape the duties for which the people employ him. If a warrant must be in possession of an officer before he can arrest a person for violating the temperance laws, it is necessary for him to be in possession of such warrant before he can arrest a person for robbing a bank, store or private residence, or setting fire to a building or shooting down people indiscriminately on the street. Such an excuse for an officer not performing his duty would be amusing if it were not contemptible.

MRS. GERTRUDE Q. CAMPBELL,
Red Key.

The above should by vote of the Union be sent (with a note stating that fact), to the newspaper for publication. In some instances, if not acceptable as news matter, it should be published as a "paid advertisement."—Editor.

THE SALE OF HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The institution so long known as the "Woman's Christian Temperance Union Hadley Industrial School for Girls," has been sold to the "Children's Home Finding Society." This is a great disappointment to many dear women who have felt that this school was one of the noblest of our undertakings, but those in close touch with the management felt that under existing circumstances it was impossible to carry on the institution in a way to be a credit to our organization without greatly crippling our other work. Appeal after appeal has been made to the local unions for funds to carry on the work, and the small responses have led us to believe that the unions have lost interest in the institution.

Last year much less than $300.00 was paid in for its support, while our matron and farmer alone cost us $45.00 per month. The farm was in such condition that a large outlay for fencing and ditching was absolutely essential to successful farming, and no funds were available for the purpose. The Children's Society was compelled to seek more commodious quarters, and made a proposition to buy our place. The State Executive committee was called in January to consider the matter, and after a careful and exhaustive review of the situation, authorized the trustees to sell the school. We have felt that it was most fortunate that we were able to dispose of the property to this society, whose work is so nearly in line with that for which the institution was founded. The price agreed upon for the buildings and 110 acres is $12,000, $1,500 of which was paid down, and the deferred payments secured by mortgage. We still own sixty acres, which will sell for four or five thousand more. The farm would have sold to much better advantage had their been only an ordinary farm dwelling on it. It should be remembered that as it has been a charitable institution, we have never been taxed, but had someone bought it simply as an investment or for farming purposes, he would have been taxed for the improvements, which would have eaten up his profits. Thus the buildings have proved an incumbrance instead of a help in the sale.

While the trustees have received some severe criticism for our action, we are sure that if the whole situation could be made plain, every candid woman would agree that we have acted in the best interests of our beloved organization.

MANHOOD AND MONEY TO KILL THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

(By Bishop Joseph H. Berry.)

The question of the saloon will never be settled in the prayer-meeting. We will pray and ask God to show us our duty, and to prepare us for the fight, but if we sit still in the prayer meeting, with this liquor curse going on, the problem will never be solved and the curse will never be done away. Go from the prayer-meeting better prepared citizens because you have been there. In a recent primary election in New England, there was a question of license or no license to be decided upon. On the night of the primary, there were six men, members of a prominent church, there. They went to the mid-week prayer-meeting. By spending a half-hour each and getting to the prayer-meeting a little late they might have gone to the primary and cast their votes to overthrow the saloon. But they went to the meeting. All six took part and one of them led. Next morning it was discovered that the majority was for license by five votes. Now I claim that unless those brethren could have gone to both places, they had no business at the prayer-meeting on that particular night. There are prayer meetings every week, but the election comes only once in the year at most, and we must pray as we vote, and vote as we pray.

We shall never do very much with the problem until we are prepared to give vast sums of money. I do not mean hundreds or thousands, but hundreds of thousands and millions, to agitate for the fight. It is not a sentiment and cannot be battled with by sentiment. To sustain the liquor business there are invested every year millions of dollars, and where there is a real fight on, there is no lack of funds, while the combined forces of the temperance cause give little dribbles of contributions. Men who give money for educational purposes, and to build churches, and to sustain pastors, must give for the closing of the saloon.

We must have money to match money. Money from the men who are disciples of Jesus Christ. We will never do anything worthy of the temperance cause until we pour out into the treasury vast sums of money.

THE LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

Of Indianapolis, is comprised of seventy-two societies of women, with an aggregate membership of about seven thousand. The women, believing that a more intimate knowledge of one another's work would result in larger mutual sympathy and greater unity of thought, and therefore in more effective action, certain associations of women in Indianapolis, interested in philanthropy, education, literature, art and social reform, organized the Local Council, and became an incorporated body. There is a board of fifteen directors elected for three years each. Several of the members of the Board of Directors are members of the W. C. T. U.

The Local Council meetings are held on the first Tuesday afternoon of the month for eight months of the year and are open to visitors.

Each affiliated society is entitled to be represented by two persons, the president and an elected delegate, who are voting members of the council. All members of all societies affiliated are members with all privileges except voting.

Our Marion County W. C. T. U. is affiliated, as also are the following unions in Marion County: Broad Ripple; Brightwood, Indianapolis Central. Indianapolis Frances Willard; Mapleton; Indianapolis Meridian; Indianapolis North East, and Palmer.

Each affiliated society pays an annual membership fee of $2.00.

The following is a list of the Directors:

Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke.
Mrs. Frank Wells.
Dr. Rebecca Rogers George (W. C. T. U.)
Mrs. J. H. Byers (W. C. T. U.)
Dr. Amelia Keller.
Mrs. Corinna R. Barnes.
Mrs. Winfield S. Johnson.
Mrs. Charles M. Walker (W. C. T. U.)
Mrs. Wm. H. Hart (W. C. T. U.)
Mrs. Martha L. Gipe (W. C. T. U.)
Mrs. J. F. Barnhill.
Mrs. Edgar Perkins.
Mrs. Henry Reisenberg.
Mrs. S. D. Farrabee (W. C. T. U.)
Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter (W. C. T. U.)

Our dear and brilliant Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols, former President of Indiana W. C. T. U. was the third president of the Indianapolis Local Council of Women.

Among the literary, philanthropic, educational and social reform organizations of the capitol city the W. C. T. U. women are prominent. They are a noble band and loyally stand as a unit upon any measure or for any purpose needed.

Among the many speakers who represented great and powerful organizations upon the Local Council program this year—which closes in May—none were more courteously received and listened to by the audiences representing many classes of people than Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, the former, and Mrs. Samuel R. Artman, the present president of Marion County W. C. T. U. These ladies spoke at the November meeting in a "Symposium—United Societies of the W. C. T. U."

Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, was in New York recently, on his way home from the conference of Governors in Washington. Speaking of his State, the Governor told many interesting things. "There is not in Kansas an open saloon or a gambling house," he said, "and the problem of social evil does not exist there. In more than one hundred counties the prohibition law is thoroughly enforced. Nearly half the jails are empty, and frequently half the poor-houses and poor-farms are unoccupied. We have less illiteracy than in any other State, with a few exceptions; fine schools, universities, colleges and the people are of high moral character. We have more money per capita than any other State. Mortgages are well cleared up and the farmers own 80 per cent of the $200,000,000 of Kansas bank deposits. The sale of merchandise in "dry" towns has increased 25 per cent; debts are promptly paid; the women and children have better clothes, and the cost of police administration has decreased."

Michael I. Fanning spoke twice a day for sixteen weeks at Illinois county prohibition conventions and concluded his Illinois campaign last week. He has held 192 meetings and raised in cash for county committees, $1,009.13, and pledges amounting to $1,860.95, making a total in cash and pledges of $2,870.08. In addition, he has raised for the state prohibition committee, in cash, $1,672.15 and pledges amounting to $2,451.55, a total of cash and pledges for the state committee of $4,123.70. This shows a total of cash and pledges for all committees of $6,993.78, an average of $437.10 per week.

PEACE.

Comrades of Peace:—I believe this to be one of the best years our Peace Department has yet known in Indiana. Now may I urge that we make it a special object to do or say something to commemorate the 18th day of May. What does that day mean to us? Why, on that day, 1899, occurred the formal opening of the conference of the Hague; an event which will be notable in the history of the world, and concerning which the people of all nations ought to be at least particularly informed. Let us then make mention of it in some suitable way. Encourage, and assist whenever it may be acceptable, the teachers of your public schools to have such exercises as may help the children to understand the significance of the event, and if nothing more can be accomplished, hold a meeting of your own Union on that day; inviting in as many of your friends as you can, and entertain with readings, discussions, songs and exercises in praise of Christian Citizenship, Patriotism and Peace.

Here is another way in which you may do some effective peace work. By courtesy of the Lake Mohawk Conference, the Association for International Conciliation, and some other organizations, I have at my disposal for distribution some excellent peace literature. Amongst these pamphlets are the addresses of Hon. Richard Bartholdt of Missouri, Hon. James A. Tawney, Mr. Andrew Carnegie and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President Columbia University. These addresses are almost a peace education in themselves. They are sent out in envelopes bearing Congressman Bartholdt's frank, and can be sent without payment of postage. Will not my comrades in the State assist in the early distribution of these pamphlets by sending me addresses of ministers, teachers, business men and others, men and women who will be likely to read them, and I will direct and mail them; and so we may reach hundreds of readers who otherwise might not receive them at all. I should like to "make honorable mention" to the state convention of the three, or possibly the five, who send me the longest list of names. Let us make the most of this opportunity.

Yours to help,
H. LAVINIA BAILY, Supt.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS.

The Superintendents of H. H. E. will remember that one of our lines of work is to inaugurate a practical advocacy of better methods of celebrating our great National Holiday.

Suffering sorrow, maimed limbs and conflagrations have not been sufficient to change the present customs. Insurance companies stand in terror of this day's proceedings; sometimes offering large sums to be relieved of the day's fearful consequences.

While the prosiness of life reminds us that we should not oppose all diversions, it is evident that a part of the large appropriations for the so-called celebration of the Fourth could be more wisely and humanely used.

An effort to secure the cooperation of Sunday schools and city officials in a trip to the woods with an address and recitations in keeping with the spirit of the day, would be a valuable lesson in patriotism and history, and another demonstrating that we can find entertainment within ourselves, leaving money thus saved for charitable and other purposes.

While planning for a more civilized Fourth, let us not forget the principal object for which Household Economics was organized, viz: teaching, the industries, trades and crafts in the public schools. After considerable effort we secured in the Girls' State School and the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, scientific cooking, and now as the school term is drawing to a close it is time to appeal to the County Superintendent of Public Instruction for a more extended teaching in the industries that the humblest child of the state be not neglected. It is believed that no child becomes a delinquent because of pure badness, and that the truant school can be abolished by two methods. First, to learn that some children are not adapted to continuous menial work. Second, that medical inspectors should be employed whose skill and knowledge enables them to discern mental defects often unobservable to parents and teachers. Pitiful instances could be given of this class.

This work, dear sisters, we owe to the rising generation, and we all rejoice daily that we are of a great organization that does not want to shirk duty.

MARY A. MOODY,
State Superintendent.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK.

A Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. was organized on April 2nd at Cold Spring, by Mrs. Flora Walker. President, Mr. Ansel Walker, Moore's Hill, R. R. 1.; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Mr. Floyd Haltegel, Cold Spring, Texas. Gladys Turner. Six members paid dues on joining, and the prospects are good for others. Thus the good work goes on. Who will be the next to report a Y. P. B.? Wish many branches could be reported soon.

Yours for service,
LAURA CAMMACK.

The Unveiling of a Frances E. Willard Memorial Window in the First M. E. Church of Guthrie, Oklahoma, by the pastor, Dr. Fairfield, and the local W. C. T. U. was an event of great interest.

A Year Ago Congress passed a fake interstate liquor measure with Speaker Cannon in the leading role of temperance advocate. Today, six months after this Knox amendment to the Penal Code went into effect, the people of every prohibition community in the land are convinced by bitter experience that the measure was a subterfuge. For more than ten years every one of the scores of interstate measures introduced "on request" by more or less indifferent senators and representatives, has been quietly but promptly smothered in the rooms of committees packed to do the bidding of the brewers and their liquor allies at the nation's capital.

It has taken the people a long time to wake up, but the trumpets are sounding in all sections of the land at last, and there are everywhere signs that the absurd anomaly of license politicians heretofore representing scores of prohibition districts throughout the United States cannot last much longer.

Nine states have state-wide prohibition laws, with eighty-five representatives in Congress, yet not a single one of them has ever proposed an interstate prohibition liquor law, nor do we believe one of them will stand for such a law, so that our only remedy is the election of Prohibitionists to Congress who will make this a prominent issue in national legislation. When we get a law of this kind, and only then, can the states enjoy real Prohibition. Without it, they have not Prohibition because the National Government breaks down the Prohibition laws by permitting the shipment of liquor into the states, and the last law passed, which went into effect January 1st of this year, has not remedied this evil.

There are several precedents for an interstate prohibitory law in national legislation, the most conspicuous of which was the legislation against the Louisiana lottery. Congress first passed a law prohibiting the use of the mails for the lottery, and then, when they began resorting to the express companies, Congress enacted a law prohibiting the shipment of lottery tickets across state lines. This was the death blow to the old Louisiana lottery. If Congress has the power to prohibit the shipment of lottery tickets from one state to any other, it certainly has the power to prohibit the shipment of lottery liquor from one state to another.

Lincoln, Nebraska, maintains the Prohibitory law by a splendid majority.

To advertise intoxicants in Oklahoma is a criminal offense, according to a recent decision of the State Supreme Court.

The Ohio Senate, Republican by 20 to 14, has defeated the Black bill, which would have afforded the people a chance to dismiss nullifying public officials and others who connived at liquor lawbreaking.

A fight for State prohibition in Arkansas is being renewed, the intention now being to concentrate the struggle on the election of a State Senate favorable to a State-wide bill. The House of Representatives has long been overwhelmingly for prohibition.

The Report of the New York Red Cross Hospital and Training School for 1909, is published, and shows encouraging results of the treatment of disease without the use of alcohol are still maintained, and in successful surgical operations this hospital is second to none in New York City. The claim that alcohol is an absolute necessity in certain diseases has been proved to be a false claim by this hospital. The Red Cross Hospital is located at 395 Central Park West, corner of One Hundredth street.

The Christian Endeavor World, April 2nd, has this to say of the American Prohibition Year Book for 1910: "No serious-minded Christian can be indifferent to the cause of temperance or can afford to be ignorant of the evils that follow in the train of the drink traffic. This volume is crowded with facts that pierce the armor of the evil trade at every point. Here are statistics, illuminating articles, quotations from men of world-wide reputation, figures exposing the misrepresentation and falsehood circulated by the brewers, the opinions of scientists, writers, scholars, editors, leaders of every kind, reformers and business men, all condemning the drink traffic. In fact, this Year Book is indispensable for every temperance worker. It should be in the hands of every Christian man and woman, and especially in the hands of the many that through lack of knowledge are still sitting on the fence." Copies of the Prohibition Year Book for sale at 25 cents, of Chas. R. Jones, 92 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

The March Number of "The Indiana Bulletin of Charities and Corrections" contains records of all the charity, of each county, report of the International Prison Congress of 1910. Tuberculosis Situation in Indiana Statistics of State Institutions. The papers read before the Prison Congress are greatest interest. A free copy of this very valuable information will be sent to any person who will send a request by post card to Mr. Amos W. Butler, Secretary, State House, Indianapolis.

NOTICE.

All communications concerning subscriptions to The Message should be sent to the State Treasurer, Miss Clara Sears, Anderson, Ind., and not sent to the editor.

All communications intended for publication in The Message should be sent to the editor (whose name appears on the second page of every issue), and not to the State Treasurer. When letters are sent to wrong addresses that means extra work for those receiving, extra postage and delay. Recently a person, whose name is on the State roster, sent her "letter" to The Message to the State Treasurer. Every month there is extra work for the treasurer and editor and extra postage because of carelessness or ignorance.

SYSTEMATIC GIVING.

Dear Sisters:—Let me insist that you push the plan of "Systematic Giving" in every Union. Surely each woman who wears the white ribbon cannot afford to be at ease in this great work. When we read of the desires of the hosts of Satan, among all classes, and on every hand, it surely behooves us to renew our zeal. More than sixteen thousand pages of literature have been sent out to the different Unions, on which we are asking God's blessing. Do not fail to report to me what you are doing on this line.—Mrs. Olive M. Wright, State Supt., Hartsville.

FRANCES E. WILLARD.

In every town and city in Indiana there should be a high school building or other large school building named for Frances E. Willard.

The school boards have the power, and if properly and tactfully petitioned they will grant the request. If all the ministers in the community are asked many weeks in advance to use some phase of Miss Willard's wonderful life as a subject for a sermon on a certain Sunday, many people will become interested.

Miss Willard had a remarkable Christian experience, which influenced lives.

Every minister who is asked to preach on her life should be supplied with a copy of "The Beautiful Life of Frances E. Willard," by Miss Anna Gordon, or a copy of "Glimpses of Fifty Years" by Miss Willard herself.

HOW TO KILL A UNION.

Attend only occasionally.

Never make preparation.

Never pray for its success.

Talk to outsiders of how little it accomplishes. Give as reason for non-attendance, "They do not do enough."

Encourage jealousy toward the helpful ones.

If you cannot manage the whole, refuse to countenance any of its undertakings.

Give dues only, and not yourself.—Exchange.

"Mothers' Day" has been widely observed this year. The second Sunday in May, as "Mothers' Day" will become a great factor in helping to re-establish a quiet Sunday and we hope to see it made a Holy Day.

Connersville—The Ladies of the W. C. T. U. of Connersville held a surprise on Mrs. Jobe Ashworth Monday afternoon with the Aid Society of the First Baptist church, of which she is a member. Mrs. Ashworth has been the treasurer of our Union for two years and has served well in her office, and the ladies wished to show their appreciation by giving her a silver gravy ladle as a remembrance, with W. C. T. U. engraving, to take to her new home at Indianapolis. The afternoon was spent socially. Music and recitations added to the enjoyment of all. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, after which the ladies left wishing Mrs. Ashworth happiness in her new home. Fifty ladies were present.—Mrs. Ernest Ward.

The W. C. T. U. ladies and their husbands of Connersville had a surprise on Rev. Burkhardt and wife, May 24th, with 56 present. The ladies presented Mrs. Burkhardt with a beautiful silver gravy ladle and Mr. Burkhardt with a gold tie clasp with W. C. T. U. engraved on both, as tokens of the love and esteem of the people. We feel that we are losing a friend and helper in Bro. Burkhardt, as he leaves to go to a new field of labor, as he has always stood by us ready to advise and encourage us, and it is with sorrow we see him go, but hope he can do as much in his new field for the temperance cause as he has done for Connersville. The evening was spent with music, recitations and speeches. After a pleasant evening the people left at a late hour, wishing Rev. and Mrs. Burkhardt Godspeed.

South Bend.—Mrs. Howard Webster, of 118 East Navarre, entertained 35 ladies of the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. Wednesday afternoon, May the 11th. The subjects on the state program were the topics for discussion. The meeting was opened with instrumental and vocal music by Mrs. Alice Cogestine. Devotional by Mrs. J. Roy of whom we were pleased to have with us after so long absence on account of ill health. After the business session a brief history of the Mormon religion and the present conditions in Utah was read by Mrs. L. Wells, and was followed by a lively discussion by a few that had visited there in their travels. A responsive reading and discussion on medical temperance by Mrs. Alice Argentine was followed by a piano solo by Miss Hazel Marcome. A reading on a Sunday in Salt Lake City by Miss Wilo Plant was appreciated, as well as some very fine selections on the piano; Miss Zears sang a lullaby, "Slumber Seas." The young ladies and the piano played a good part in the program, which was appreciated by all. With such musical talent there is always work in plenty for their hands to do, something waiting every day that none may try but you, burdens that you may lift, steps that you can take, heavy hearts that you may comfort, for the blessed Savior's sake. A good paper on the immigration question was read by Mrs. E. L. Hull. A social hour and a luncheon followed the program. Mrs. C. Uldine, 1407 Michigan Ave., will entertain the Union June the 8th.—Mrs. J. Miller, Cor. Sec., 2304 Michigan Ave.

CHICAGO'S WAR AGAINST VICE.

The following was addressed to the Mayor of Chicago by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, on Jan. 27. About 400 women marched to the City Hall and placed in the Mayor's hands a letter which read as follows:

The Hon. Fred A. Busse, Mayor,
City Hall, Chicago.

Dear Sir:—In behalf of the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Cook County and other good women of Chicago, we desire most respectfully to call your attention to the attached copy of the statutes and ordinances in reference to disorderly houses and to request that the same be rigidly enforced.

These laws and ordinances expressly prohibit the keeping or patronizing of such resorts and the statutes forbid the corporate authorities of any city, town or village from licensing such houses.

We would also call your attention to the fact that in spite of the law, and with the apparent consent of the corporate authorities, literally miles of streets, almost in the center of this our city, are given up to vice preserves—to say nothing of the outlying colonies of vice and the hundreds, probably thousands, of evil resorts now scattered throughout the residential sections of the city.

In our opinion, which is supported by the highest of medical authority, these so-called segregated districts are no better than pest-houses. From out of the doors of these resorts flow streams of disease more terrible in physical results than cholera or small-pox.

The peril is so great that menacing, not only to the male frequenters of these resorts, but to their innocent wives and families as well, that we call upon you, as the chief executive officer of the city, to use the power at your command to suppress them utterly and to arrest, or cause to be arrested, the keepers, the inmates and the patrons of these places. From a sanitary standpoint they should be abated as public nuisances.

From a moral standpoint we would call your attention to the ruin of character, caused by these unlawful and utterly indefensible places. They not only debauch and debase our young men, eating out their moral fiber, but they are the real white-slave markets where girl victims, not of Europe alone, not of the country towns alone, but of our own Chicago as well, are sold to lives of vice and misery and to untimely death from dissipation and disease.

It is sometimes argued that to close the red light district would result in scattering the houses of shame throughout our city. In reply to this, it may be said that they are already scattered. There is hardly a residence section of the city today that is free from them and so long as they are tolerated and given quasi-official sanction in some sections they will invade all sections. If they can be segregated (as now is attempted) they can be practically suppressed and that is what the law requires and the development of the human race demands.

We shall be glad to co-operate with you in any way possible in the work of reclaiming the present unfortunate inmates of these resorts, and restoring them to lives of usefulness and respectability. A fallen woman is no worse than a fallen man.

We know that fallen men and women are the finished product of these vice preserves and that the longer they exist the more victims there will be to be taken care of. Nothing honorable is to be gained by delay. We therefore insist that you at once take such action as will immediately wipe out these plague spots, the continued existence of which is a disgrace to our city and a permanent bar to the making of a "Chicago beautiful."

We desire a definite answer from you within one week from this date. A failure to respond will be considered a negative answer.

MRS. EMILY M. HILL,
President

DR. MARY V. MAXSON,
Superintendent of the Purity Department.

The moral condition of the children in the public schools is one of the most difficult problems of the present day. We know that the situation calls for action, but when we think of attempting to cope with it we are almost paralyzed at the magnitude of the task.

New York City has made a beginning, and it has seemed to be a step in the right direction that might well be followed by every town, city and hamlet in our broad land. Through the lecture fund of the American Society of Sanitary and Moral Prophylaxis, who furnished the lecturers, and the successful work of the Parents' Meeting Committee of the Public Education Association in arranging the meetings, twenty lectures were given to the mothers of the children in as many of the city's public schools. These meetings ranged in size from sixty to over five hundred mothers. They were held on the East Side, among the poor and ignorant, and they were held upon the West Side, among the wealthy and cultured, but everywhere the reception of the instruction was the same. The mothers had, in some way and at some time, felt the necessity of giving their children something that would protect them from the contamination of the impure words, the direct evil teachings of chance companions; but they had not known what steps to take. They felt powerless in the face of what seemed to them a terrible necessity.

To have someone come to them who not only urged upon them the necessity of protecting their children, but who brought to them a practical answer to the great question of what would be a wise and adequate protection, was to earn their outspoken and undying gratitude.

This never-failing attitude of the mothers who heard these talks was convincing proof that this first step toward the solution of the moral problems presented by the school children was the right step. The mothers were ready and eager for enlightenment along this line.

Not every town is supplied with funds to pay for lectures along this line; possibly not in every city could be found lecturers able or willing to present this delicate subject. But the necessity exists everywhere. Everywhere children are in danger, mothers need awakening and instructing.

It was to meet this universal need that Mrs. Rose Woodallen Chapman, National Superintendent of Purity for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, issued her little book, "The Moral Problem of the Children," which contains—with additional material—the lecture she has given so many times before the mothers of the public school children of New York. Mothers everywhere will find this book most inspiring, for in it is given the "story of life" as it may be told to the little child, and those who find it helpful for themselves can lend it to other mothers. School teachers, who have been wondering what they can do to change the unhealthy mental atmosphere in which so many of their children seem to live, can call the mothers together and read to them selected portions of this book. Mothers' Clubs can read it in their meetings; Women's Clubs could also use it to good effect. W. C. T. U. workers everywhere can make use of it to arouse interest in purity work and to instruct those who are ready to learn. For a copy, send 20c to Mrs. Rose Woodallen Chapman,

FORT WAYNE.

To the editor of The Message—We wish, in way of expressing thanks to the superintendents of the 26 different departments of the State W. C. T. U. who have so kindly responded to our request and sent samples of their literature for the demonstration of the work of the W. C. T. U. before the Woman's Club League of Ft. Wayne. Many persons asked for literature which was given them so they might learn more of our work and several of the most prominent women of the league, including their president, joined our union, put on the bow of white and said they wished to help when the state convention met in Oct. 14-18. Through your help we were able to make the meeting of April 2, when Mrs. Florence Richards spoke to us, a grand success.

Indianapolis Meridian W. C. T. U. gave a reception Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. John Morgan, 2029 Broadway, having Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and Mrs. S. R. Artman as guests of honor. The decorations were very attractive, the colors of the W. C. T. U. and woman suffrage being carried out in the dining room in the white and yellow crocus and wax candles. The ices, cake and mints showed the same colors. Drawing room had peach blossoms, azalia and ferns. The entrance hall was bright with the prettiest flag ever made—the star-spangled banner. Mrs. Nettie Cohea, president of Meridian Union; Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Artman and Mrs. C. W. Oakes welcomed the guests. Mrs. Lizzie Hann, Mrs. Heath, Mrs. Sarah Reynolds and Mrs. William King assisted Mrs. Morgan in extending the hospitalities. In the dining room were Mrs. George Thornton, Mrs. B. J. Bence, Mrs. A. D. Masters, Miss Nellie Scott, Miss Beulah Bressette and Miss Nina Brigham. Mrs. Stanley made a brief address on popular departments of W. C. T. U. work that ought to appeal to all women, closing with that touching poem, "The Appeal of the Crucified." Mrs. Artman gave a humorous monologue. Miss Elizabeth Kline, in a piano solo, "Convent Bells," showed careful study. Miss Lillian Bernice Trusler rendered a violin solo, "Holy City," which was so pleasing that an encore was asked. The response was "Kuganiak." Mrs. M. E. Silvius favored us with two numbers, "The Betrayal" and "The Bird on the Wing." Miss Kline accompanied both musicians. Four new members were secured. Mrs. Stanley's work in Marion county has been very acceptable and must do good. We are happy to have her for our Institute Leader.

The Marion County W. C. T. U. held its annual institute March 29-30, in Englewood Christian Church, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, state vice president was the leader. A gold medal contest, conducted by Mrs. Cora Harper, was held first evening. The male quartette, of Mapleton, the children's orchestra, and Miss Birdie Tyler furnished the music. Norman Quinn was the successful contestant. Wednesday forenoon session opened with devotions by Mrs. Ellen Davis. A ten-minute testimony service followed, local presidents giving reasons for working against the saloon. In her usual happy manner Mrs. S. R. Artman, county president, gave the words of greeting. Response by the institute leader.

"The Strength and Weakness of Indiana's Local Option Law" was ably considered by Mrs. Stanley. She showed how large a part the women have taken in the option campaigns, and thought if women were given the ballot they would vote the saloons out.

The Rev. Charles M. Fillmore spoke on "The Model License League." Model license admits and states that the managers of such saloons must now "be good" if allowed to continue in the business. Temperance people feel that even the best saloon is not good, and that past violators will continue to violate the law to the fullest extent possible—hence they feel the model license shows the extremity of the liquor interests.

Frank D. Loomis then spoke on "Juvenile Court, Anti-Child Labor and Industrial Education." This is a department taken up by the last state convention, with Mrs. Martha L. Gipe as state superintendent. Mr. Loomis spoke in high terms of the work of Judge Stubbs in the Juvenile Court, saying this court is one of the best in the country.

In the afternoon Dr. Martha Kellar gave a brief talk on her department work.

Some aspects of the social evil were considered by Dr. Joseph Morrow. The doctor feels this evil to be even a greater menace than the liquor evil. Traffic in women was the subject taken up by W. M. Likens. Mrs. Stanley then spoke on "The Coming Legislature," and said the W. C. T. U. women of Indiana expect to ask two things of the next legislature—state-wide prohibition and women suffrage. E. S. Shumaker spoke on "Blind Tigers and How to Open the Eyes of Blind Officers," which closed the program for the day.

The evening session was as follows: Piano solo; song; invocation, Rev. Orcutt; whistling solo, Miss Spence; piano solo, Miss Weaver; address, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley.

Mrs. Stanley spent a week in the county giving addresses under auspices of the various unions.

"As ye sow so shall ye also reap."—Following leaflets are 15 cents per 100: "Does It Pay?" Prof. Scanlon; "Save the Children," Rev. John F. Hill, D. D.; "May I Ask?" Prof. Scanlon; "African Missions and the Liquor Traffic," Robt. E. Speer; Temperance Day Programs with music and recitations, 8 pages, $1 per hundred. The Presbyterian Temperance Year Book, a rich storehouse of information, 8 cts. per copy.

Mrs. Frances B. Heald, president of Nebraska, says: The Institute is the fountain of life and knowledge to every W. C. T. U. worker, a practical demonstration of every line of our work. Socially and spiritually its value cannot be overestimated. Some of my county presidents have taken the month of February to visit every union of her county, holding a day and evening Institute and then at the close of the month review it all in a County Institute of two days.

Year Ending September, 1909, there was a total of 1,039 Institutes held with attendance of 163,270, an increase of 30,000 over the year 1908. Greatest number in any one state was 217 in the Baptist ministers' denunciation of the segregation of vice in Chicago, says:

Who can deny the charge that houses of ill fame are in alliance with low-grade saloons for mutual profit, and that even now, with all that Chief Steward has done, this alliance is not broken as it should be? Who can deny that the existing system is so "institutionalized" that the growth of the white slave trade, with all its frightful injustice and brutality, is fostered? Who can deny that breeding places for all manner of crime are operated? Who can deny that an alliance of corrupt politics with institutionalized vice is so strongly established that it even parades itself in froc-coated self-righteousness? Who can deny that the central districts of vice are continually throwing out their colonies in all parts of the city, and that neither in the central districts of vice nor in the residence districts supposed to be free from vice are there proper efforts at suppression?

Fayette County W. C. T. U. held their Institute at the First M. E. Church. Our state president, Mrs. Vayhinger, could not be with us on account of death in the family—an uncle. But the vice-president, Mrs. Stanley, came as a good substitute. Everybody around Connersville likes to hear Mrs. Stanley's plain facts along temperance lines. The different Unions around the County were represented. The attendance was not so large as we would have liked, on account of the May Festival, but there was the best of interest among those who attended. A picnic dinner was planned on Wednesday noon by the ladies. A silver medal was awarded Mrs. Katherine Krueger in the afternoon. Several new members were added to the Union.—Mrs. Ernest Ward.

Mrs. O. U. Siebenthal of Bloomington has been very seriously ill at a hospital in Indianapolis, but is sufficiently recovered to be returned to her home. Mrs. Siebenthal is the Monroe county press superintendent. Through the distribution of literature and dissemination of information through the Press she has done much for our cause.

Mrs. Josephine Walmer and daughters, of Bluffton, Mrs. Amanda Shedd of Argos and Mrs. A. T. Whitson of Indianapolis sailed from Montreal, Canada, with the great White Ribbon company for Liverpool. They will all attend the World's W. C. T. U. convention at Glasgow, Scotland.

MRS. LUELLA F. McWHIRTER, Editor,
No. 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis.

JUNE, 1910.

Mrs. H. C. Foote, of Huntington, organized a Young People's branch of the W. C. T. U. of nineteen members, on May 15, at Central College, near Huntington. Much is expected of these dear young people, who represent homes from different parts of the state.

Mrs. Rose Pearce, State Recording Secretary and Superintendent of Institutes has been very ill. For one month she was in South Bend at her daughter's home so ill with pneumonia that she was not even permitted to have any mail, except family letters. Mrs. Pearce has improved sufficiently to be taken to her home in Darlington, where she is expected now to speedily recover.

All over the state the many friends and admirers of Mrs. Pearce will be pleased to know of her improved condition.

Winona Lake is an attractive place and the Assembly is one of the best in the United States. The Bible Conference attendance was estimated to be fully ten thousand last year. Many W. C. T. U. members and friends from several states visit Winona every year. This year would it not be a good plan for those going to arrange to go about the same time? Then there could be some little time for us to have the delightful association always enjoyed by the W. C. T. U.

If those going will arrange some plan by which all who go may know when to expect to meet other White Ribboners the Editor of the Message will be glad to make the announcement in the July Message.

Miss Clara Sears, State Treasurer, was prevented from filling some important engagements on account of sickness. We are glad to know of her return to health. The Treasurer's work has been increasing in interest for several years.

Our membership as a state organization is rated by the number of dues received. With a thousand increase in membership there is added work and responsibility for all officers, and especially for our Treasurer. Her painstaking care and persistent work for new members in every union has done much to arouse individuals and unions to actively seek new members.

An increase of one member in the June report of every union will encourage and help our Treasurer. If every member who reads this will "do just a little to help" this will be done.

Battle Creek Sanitarium: Ye Editor is glad indeed to be at home again, with greatly improved health after a stay of many weeks at the Battle Creek Sanitarium and not taking any medicine. It was indeed a real pleasure to be in such an institution where the use of tobacco or liquor was not permitted—not even on the grounds.

There is a beautiful Christ spirit everywhere evident in the entire Institution. In the splendid chapel services were held on Sabbath and "Morning Worship" was conducted every morning just before the breakfast hour. On Friday evening the great lobby is seated for a service and hundreds of people attend a Gospel Song Service. Officers, physicians, attendants and nurses are nearly all Christians—some of them returned missionaries. Among the nurses there are a number who are in training for medical missionary work. The men have men nurses and the women have women nurses—that is as it should be.

There are thousands of people in a year at the Sanitarium. While there I saw persons from Canada, India, China, Japan, Sweden and England. There were many White Ribboners, and there is a Sanitarium W. C. T. U.

For the many kind letters and messages of love and sympathy received from the W. C. T. U. sisters I am very thankful. They cheered and helped me through many a long day. Words fail to express my deep appreciation of the devotion of those dear busy White Ribboners who set apart a certain hour every day and stopped a while to pray for my restoration to health.

The Union Signal is indispensable to every intelligent earnest officer of the W. C. T. U. It is not enough that an officer of a union know all the conditions of her own community and something of the progress made in her own state. She should know what the conditions are in the other states and something of the progress of reform movements in the countries of the world.

Why is it that good earnest women will be much more concerned about the paper on their walls and the curtains at their windows than they are about having fifty-two visits a year (for a dollar), of the greatest reform and philanthropic journal published today? When that question is answered it will be easily seen why so many W. C. T. U. women do not have the sympathy and co-operation of their "grown up" children, and in many instances their husbands.

How could the Union Signal make conditions different in that home? If the Union Signal was carefully read every week by the W. C. T. U. woman she would soon get so much intelligent information about the temperance and reform work in many states, the national Congress, and in other nations that she would arouse an interest in her household by means of such knowledge. The power of knowledge is very great. A discreet, tactful woman under such circumstances could soon make herself very interesting and entertaining to those assembled around her table. No! Certainly such knowledge and enthusiasm would not be gained by the reading of a few issues of the Union Signal, but after a few months.

Why will the average mother and home-keeper spend so much time, strength and money for the things that last but for a season, and neglect the things that last for all time and eternity?

All W. C. T. U. officers should decide now to immediately equip themselves for their positions and all earnest members should decide what is of the most value to them in their homes.

The Shame of Many Cities is the utter disregard for the laws. The officers, whose sworn duty it is to enforce law openly refuse to do so. This is true concerning the sale of liquor and of prostitution. When there is a "good spell" on some city officials, it is frequently announced that the liquor laws will be enforced—then the lid is on, for a few Sundays or for a few weeks.

After unusual publicity concerning some poor young girl being rescued by parents from a house of prostitution or some "raid" being made and the woman victims brought into court there will be statements made through the press that the officers are seeking to clean out such and such resorts. This is read by the lawless element with a knowing smile that of course this spilt will last only for a little while and then things will again be "all right." The good people read the same things and seem astonished that such places and conditions exist but are pleased because the officers are diligent and enforce the law.

W. C. T. U. women do not think this condition of affairs should exist. Our greatest work is along the lines of agitation and education. Every woman has influence in some home, some neighborhood and some society. For the good of young untaught girls and of poor ignorant untrained women much needs to be done. Our work for total abstinence should be personal and persistent.

Then, too, there is much to do by way of agitation and education against the non-enforcement of law concerning the keeping of houses of prostitution and assignation. These exist in our towns and cities regardless of the Law of Indiana, which reads:

"Whosoever keeps a house of ill-fame resorted to for the purpose of prostitution or lewdness, or knowingly lets a house to be so kept, or knowingly permits a house which he has let to be so kept, shall be fined not less than ten dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months."—Section 2357 of Burn's Indiana Statutes of 1908.

Indianapolis resorts are known to the police and to the city authorities, just as those in all towns and cities are known to the officers. Indianapolis officials ignore the law and make a set of "Rules Governing Houses of Prostitution and Assignation." For your information and for the information of your society and some others you know, send a post card addressed to the Mayor of Indianapolis and ask him for a copy of the "Rules Concerning Houses of Prostitution and Assignation in Indianapolis. If your husband, father or brother signs your card of request it may have more prompt attention. Anyway, do not fail to write asking for a copy of these Rules.

Information concerning such conditions will arouse some good men to sound the alarm in some towns and cities that submission to such lawlessness cannot be endured. The Pulpit and the Press can arouse sentiment against "Blind Officers" who disregard the liquor laws and the explicit law against houses of prostitution. The Pulpit and the Press must have definite information. Much can be done by the busiest mother and housewife in Indiana simply by writing a card or a letter occasionally and securing information and then sending that information where it will be used to arouse interest in and sentiment against the undesirable conditions of the community.

SECRETARY'S LETTER.

Dear Comrades of the White Ribbon:

Only a little more than one quarter of the year remains to us before our great harvest home gathering in Ft. Wayne, October 14-18, which we expect to make the greatest convention ever held by Indiana W. C. T. U. Ft. Wayne is one of the strongholds of the liquor interests in this state, so we are to invade the enemy's own territory. Let us go with such faith and enthusiasm that the power of King Alcohol may be broken in that fair city. We want at least one delegate from every union in the state. Begin now and plan your finances so you may not be without a representative who can catch the spirit and enthusiasm of the convention and carry to her home union such inspiration as will help the work throughout the year. It is too early to announce the features of the convention, but the program committee are already busy planning a feast of good things.

Every union should be sure that you make a gain in membership this next quarter, so that we may bring our membership up to the 8000 mark this year. Hundreds of women in the state can be brought into our organization by a little effort, the first effect of the local option elections in counties that voted "dry" was to make women feel that the work was done. No one but a deaf and blind person will think so now. With 22 "wet" counties in the state so located as to make it easy for any thirsty man to get his dram; with one of the old political parties sounding a retreat through its platform, and the other maintaining a cowardly silence, it is evident that there is yet much work for the W. C. T. U. to do to drive the liquor interests out of our state. Nothing will help us more in our legislative work next year than a largely increased membership. Then let us bend our energies the next three months to making this gain. Our state organizers are now through with institute work and should be kept busy visiting local unions and going into unorganized localities to work up new organizations. County presidents should plan a trip in their own counties, for one of these organizers, and leave no effort untried to increase the number of your local unions.

Only a small number of new unions have been organized up to date, but these are at work, and many old unions report a large increase in membership. Push the good work along.

A letter from a comrade in a "dry" county says "We have more 'drunks' in jail now than we had when we had saloons." Another says "We have more drunken men on our streets than we had when we had saloons." Now this may be true, but it does not prove that there is more drinking. Not at all. It was the business of the saloons to cover up their work as much as possible, and drunken men were laid in some corner or back room to sober up before going out on the street, now they are pushed into the street and put in jail to make it seem that conditions are worse than when saloons were licensed, with the hope that people will become dissatisfied and say "If we have the drinking any way, we may as well vote the saloons in again and get the license. See! Oh, sisters, don't let the enemy deceive you. We have an unscrupulous foe to fight, so let us buckle on our armor a little tighter and push the battle to the gates. Let us hold every foot of ground upon which we have set our feet and go right on to conquer our state for prohibition. If you have any doubt as to whether or not conditions are better without saloons, seek out some drunkard's wife and ask her. Hundreds of them will testify as did one in Lebanon that while they had saloons she had to wash for a living, but now her husband supports his family, and added "Don't let the saloons come back."

There is no cause for discouragement though victory seems long delayed. God's promises are all on our side and he faileth never.

Yours for Prohibition,

MARY E. WOODARD.

Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Hutchins nee Luelita McWhirter, have gone abroad for a year. After traveling through southern Europe. They will spend much time in Heidelberg, Berlin, Vienna and London, where Dr. Hutchins, who is a specialist in brain and nerve diseases, will study and do research work in the great universities.

While traveling in Italy they stopped for some time in Rome. On Sunday, May 1st, they attended service in the Methodist church and met there Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson, a personal friend of Mrs. Hutchins and our World's W. C. T. U. Missionary.

AN ALL DAY MEETING.

The Broad Ripple W. C. T. U. will hold an all day meeting on June 8th, at the beautiful country house of the president, Mrs. Thomas Hesong. Every member is expected to attend and the friends of the union and the W. C. T. U. workers in Marion County are invited to be present. Those going out from Indianapolis can ride right to the gate of the grounds by taking a Logansport Local car and getting off at Broad View station, just north of Broad Ripple. The Logansport Local cars leave the terminal station at 9:40 and 11:40 a. m.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters:—We are just closing the Institute season, which I trust has been a time of up-building for our cause. We have gathered in these county meetings and discussed the questions which are of such vital importance to this reform, and I believe many have received new light and inspiration for the future. We have added to our family the following unions:

Scottsburg—Mrs. Mary Brengle, Pres.
Spartansburg—Mrs. Chas. Mann (Crete R. R.) Pres.

Saratoga—Mrs. Melvina Bailey, Pres.
Lafayette (colored)—Mrs. Carrie Willis, Pres.
Princeton (colored)—Mrs. S. L. Jackson, Pres.
Evansville—Miss Christina Gerbel, 1007 Chestnut, Pres.

West Point—Mrs. P. A. Peterson, Pres.
Milton—Mrs. E. K. Vanwinkle, Pres.
Zanesville—Mrs. Lida Bel, Pres.
Haydon—Mrs. Grace Sullivan, Pres.
North Summitville—Mrs. Ellen Hiday, Summitville R. R. 6, Pres.

Mrs. Elma Reynolds of North Vernon was elected president of Jennings County.

We welcome these new recruits into our ranks and pledge them our help in every possible way. There never was a time in our history when we as much needed 10,000 women in Indiana, as at white heat, reading, talking, working and praying that the powers of the devil may be driven back and God's men given a fresh baptism of boldness and courage to run up the black flag of no quarter for the rum traffic.

Dear Sisters, unless we get busy about this matter we will see worse times in Indiana before we see better. Will your Union not make a systematic effort to make a net gain of ten this year? Please do not lay this Message aside until you have pledged to do this thing. We must free ourselves of the weights which hold us back and bend our energies to the task to which God called us. The victory must come as sure as God is God—but when depends on you and you and me. You have read in one of our great dailies that "The temperance wave is receding." It will recede while men stop to wrangle over United States Senatorships, tariff bills, etc., unless the women hold firmly to their task and with renewed zeal and greater faith in their cause, push the battle as never before. May God help you to catch a new glimpse of the great need of the hour! Study up on the subject, then talk and write and write and talk. Use every dollar you can get to scatter literature on the necessity of state-wide prohibition; to hold public meetings with well informed speakers; to hold medal contests using the children and young people. Go into the country school houses, into the groves, anywhere—but GO, preach and teach the truth. Idleness this year means defeat next year. I know you will not fail us in this hour of deepest need.

Yours for service,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

Field News

Brightwood Union, Marion County—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, our state vice president, spoke to the mothers and teachers of Lowell school the afternoon of March 29. She urged closer relation of parents and teachers to lift our youth to a higher standard. She especially urged parents to co-operate with teachers to keep cigarets and tobacco from the children. The principal and one teacher put on the white ribbon. In the evening she spoke in the Methodist Church on the various lines of our work. We feel that the seed sown will yield much to our cause.

The Indianapolis Meridian W. C. T. U. is planning to observe Flower Mission Day at the Woman's Prison. Mrs. Sarah B. Reynolds, the enthusiastic local superintendent of Flower Mission Work, has this so deeply on her heart that she has thus early arranged a program which she hopes will be not only interesting but of lasting benefit to the unfortunate women who will attend this service. To reach the heart and soul is the real object of this ministration of love. As outlined in Mrs. Reynolds' mind the program is as follows:

Scripture lesson, prayer and a few words of loving exhortation, Mrs. Ellen Davis, county evangelist superintendent; "All Around the World the Ribbon White is Twined," to be sung by all from printed leaflets which the prisoners are asked to keep; talk on Flower Mission work, Mrs. Martha L. Gipe; violin solo, Master Elvin Bressette; recitation, Miss Gladys French, vocal duet, Miss Florence Sayer and Miss Mabel Brown; distribution of flowers and text cards; closing prayer, Mrs. Reynolds.

Matthews W. C. T. U. held their regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. Margaret Trisell on May 15 at 2:30 p. m.

Meeting opened with song and prayer by the president, Mrs. Lena Shaw. Reports from the different superintendents were good.

The subjects for discussion were: "A Brief History of the Mormon Church" and "Should Foreign Immigration Receive Further Restrictions?" Subjects were read and discussed by the different members.

Through the removal of Rev. and Sister Adeline Black to another charge, the Union lost a good and faithful president.

Mrs. Lena Shaw, superintendent of contest work gave her second silver medal contest at the M. E. Church in East Matthews on the evening of May 14th. Miss Hall was awarded the medal. Considering the age of the contestants, they all did remarkably well.—Mrs. Allie Garretson, Press. Supt.

Seymour W. C. T. U. held a very pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. G. A. Anderson. Interesting reports of the very successful County Institute held April 8th and 9th. "Blind Tigers" discussed and an earnest desire expressed that something be done to close these places and gambling also. Two new members added to list. Plans for contest considered.

The New Castle W. C. T. U. held a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. Ella Richards on A. Ave, May 10. Sister Mumbus answered to roll call with Scripture passages. The devotionals were led by the president, and song "Some Glad Day," sung by the Union. After the business session a varied program was rendered. Mrs. Wencke gave a talk on "The Influence of a Christian Home"—the theme: Train up a child in the way he should go and he will not depart from it, and that no Christian teaching is lost even if the child go astray. Sometime, somewhere, the counsel of the parent will come back to a prodigal son or daughter.

The discussion following Mrs. Wencke's remarks was animated and many excellent thoughts were expressed by different members.

A paper, "What Does the Army Boy Demand of His Home?" was read by Mrs. Robson, and it were well if all mothers had her conception of a boy's needs.

Mrs. Payne read "My Boy and the Sunday Paper," a leaf that should be read by the fathers of many boys.

The children of the hostess added not a little to the enjoyment of the meeting by rendering music and recitations. The program concluded with a recitation from Master Harold Richards, "What a Boy Can Do." We think it a commendable act on the part of our hostess to have the children assist in the entertainment of their guests. We felt that Mrs. Richards was giving a delightful object lesson on Mrs. Wencke's talk and the paper read.

Since our last meeting one of our oldest members, Miss Anabelle Gohen, has heard the master's summons and gone to her reward. Mrs. Gohen was a faithful Christian and a loyal W. C. T. U. woman, and although not an active member on account of age and impaired health, her prayers were always with us.

Our Union has lately added several departments to its work and the newly appointed superintendents are showing a good deal of interest, which bids fair to give some good results in the near future.

The Mothers' Department, Social Purity, Flower Mission, Literature and the Press, Sabbath Observance, and Red Letter Days we feel to be vital organs of the great Cause of Temperance.

Madison County rejoices over the organization of a new Union at North Summitville, organized by the earnest, faithful and energetic county president, Mrs. Retta Jones. The officers are:

President, Mrs. Ellen Hiday, Summitville, R. F. D. No. 3.

Vice President, Mrs. Mary Ewing.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Cowgill.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lena Price.
Treasurer, Mrs. Adelia Brown.

The Spencer County Institute met at Christing April 28, 1910. Meeting called to order by the county president, Mrs. Hall. A ten-minute testimony by members, giving a Scriptural or scientific reason for working against the saloon, was given. Words of greeting by Local President, Mrs. Hincle, were given a response by Mrs. Retta Jones, Institute leader. The first subject: "Tools in Type," by Mrs. Crandall, of Christing, was handled in an able manner. The next, "Strength and Weakness of Local Option Law," was discussed by the institute. "The agitation for High License, a most excellent paper, by Miss Anna Kriegie, of Christing. The subject of Child Labor was discussed, and it was clearly shown that if the liquor traffic could be stopped the question would right itself. Mrs. Gentry, of Rockport, followed with a paper on "The White Slave Traffic," which was listened to with great interest and ably discussed. This with the appointment of committees, distribution of literature and soliciting of new members, closed the forenoon session. In the afternoon a paper by Mrs. Burlingame, of Christing, on "Some Practical benefits of the Indiana Local Option Law," was followed by a general discussion. "State-Wide Prohibition the Only Real Solution of the Liquor Problem," by Mrs. Hincle, of Christing. "The Model License League," an interesting paper by Mrs. Bays, of Christing. Mrs. Haines of Rockport, gave an interesting talk on "Women's Ballots for the King's Business." All who heard her could be but convinced that at least one woman was competent to use the ballot. The "T. T. T." by Mrs. Hackleman, of Rockport, was handled in her usual bright manner, telling how to interest and hold the young people. The question of Sunday Baseball, by Rev. Dorney, and a talk on Anti-Narcotics, were both helpful and interesting. Mrs. Jones gave a talk on "When We Have State-Wide Prohibition What More Will There Be for the W. C. T. U. to Do?" Reports by the Christing and Rockport Unions closed the afternoon meeting.

At the evening session first on the program was a reading by Grandma Machey, one of our new members, in her 79th year; subject, "An Old Woman's Lament, that Men Will Use Tobacco and Spit Ali Over Everything." It was amusing and instructive and was roundly applauded. Mrs. Jones then gave the talk of the evening on "The Licensed Saloon and the Ten Commandments," which was listened to by a full house. Mrs. Jones, both as leader and lecturer, was very much enjoyed, and we will be glad to have her with us at any time in the future.—Mrs. M. R. Haines, Rockport, Spencer Co., Ind May 18, 1910.

The Keystone W. C. T. U. held a special meeting at the home of Sister Poulson, May 6th, at 2:30 o'clock. This meeting was for the purpose of closing the "membership contest" between the reds and the blues. The reds won, and the blues had to entertain all members, including the new members. There was a short program in charge of the president, Mrs. Black. After an interesting devotional service there was a piano solo by Goldie Lenning and a select reading by Mrs. Marsh. A piano solo by Hazel Tetley was followed by a select reading by Mrs. Bennett. A duet by Goldie Lenning and Hazel Tetley. Rev. and Mrs. Coomer, the former pastor and wife at Keystone, were present. He made a fine impromptu talk which was enjoyed by all. His commendation of the work and workers was especially appreciated. He urged them to be faithful, not only in the temperance work but in all work for the up-lift of humanity and the cause of Christ. After the program a two course luncheon was served of which all partook very freely.—Ella Bennett, Press Supt.

The Madison, Jefferson County, W. C. T. U. held their regular monthly business meeting at Brigade Hall on Tuesday afternoon, May 10th, with a goodly number present. Mrs. Rosa Jamison, the president, in charge; Mrs. Frank Vander, Secretary. The meeting opened with a song, "It's Coming, the Morn for which We Pray"; Responses, Scripture Reading, the Crusade Psalm; Prayer by Mrs. Jenkins; Superintendents of departments made reports. Mrs. Denny being absent, Mrs. Augustine reported the splendid work being done by the Senior and Junior Loyal Temperance Legions. A foundation is being laid by this little mother, Mrs. Denny, on which the future generation will raise a pedestal and call her blessed. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Mannal the paper on "An American Problem, or Should Foreign Immigration Receive Further Restriction?" was postponed.

The meeting adjourned to meet the second Tuesday in June.

The Madison Union held a Semi-Annual Rummage Sale, May 6 and 7, and finished May 13 and 14. The results were good and added much to the treasurer's fund.

The resignation of Mrs. Charles Linden, Flower Mission Superintendent, has been accepted and Miss Mary Bayless has been elected.

M. E. B.

Auburn has just closed a very successful membership contest, there being eighty-two new members, making a grand total of two hundred and eleven. A reception and welcome will be held Friday evening, May 13, at the spacious home of Mrs. Frank Hogue on North Main street.

Sardinia W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Josephine Meredith on the evening of April 23rd, to celebrate the second anniversary. The ladies with their families were entertained in a very enjoyable manner with a good musical program. The report of the past year's work was read by Mrs. Allie Shera. The Union has a membership of thirty-three. After the program dairy refreshments were served in two courses. About thirty-seven persons were present. Many expressions were heard concerning the very enjoyable time and wishing for another year to be as profitably spent together. Very Sincerely, —Zula Shera Kenady, Press Correspondent.

The Summitville Union was organized May 4, 1096, with ten members, which has now increased to forty members. We have lost but one member by death in the four years of our organization. On the 14th of April, 1910, Mrs. Retta Jones, our county president, came to Summitville, and accompanied by the local president, Mrs. Elizabeth Peele, went to North Summitville and organized another Union, known as North Summitville Union, with a membership of seven, and at the first meeting another member was added.

The Posey County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at the First M. E. Church in Mount Vernon, April 21. Though Intemperance reigns in Mount Vernon and Posey County and in the "Pocket Region" yet the W. C. T. U. Institute was a great success. Most of the members on the program materialized in good form and Mrs. Retta Jones State Organizer, was ready with the proper word at the proper time throughout the entire institute. She was an inspiration to every one who heard her, and her work while here was quite a stimulant to our Posey County W. C. T. U. Renewed efforts are being put forth to make the Union stronger, and we are looking forward to better things in Posey. The ministers of the city were present and manifested an interest. Vanderburg—The County Institute was held in the rest room of Frances Willard W. C. T. U. rooms. The preceding evening an entertainment which gave us all encouragement. The discussions of all the papers were full and helpful. The Ladies' Quartette rendered excellent service.—Mrs. J. W. Hanger.

The DeKalb County W. C. T. U. Institute, which was held at the Presbyterian church, at Auburn, April 27 and 28, was a success in every particular. Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, the institute instructor, was assisted by Miss Ola Smithson, whose charming original solos were in perfect harmony with Mrs. Vayhinger's work, and an inspiration to all. The Institute opened Wednesday evening, April 27, with a silver medal contest, which comprised six young girls from the different unions of the county. The medal was awarded to Miss Mabel Keyser, of Waterloo, and by kindness of Ven Eyck & Son, florists, the other contestants each received a bouquet of white and red carnations, which were presented by Mrs. Vayhinger after the presentation of the medal. Thursday's sessions were filled with interest, the program as arranged by the state being used, and all on program were present to give their work; so there were no omissions nor interruptions, and much interest and enthusiasm was manifested. Mrs. Vayhinger's address Thursday eve, entitled "What Next," was a splendid climax to the work of the Institute and much appreciated by the large audience. Aside from the special music furnished by Miss Smithson, there were two numbers furnished by Waterloo, and excellent numbers by local talent. The decorations were in white interspersed with flags, potted plants and ferns. Miss Williams' picture occupied a prominent place. This institute eclipsed those of former years, both in point of interest and attendance, and DeKalb is eagerly looking forward to the state convention at Ft. Wayne in October.

Poseyville, W. C. T. U. Regular meeting was held April 20th at the M. E. Church. Mrs. Retta Jones, institute leader, stopped, enroute to Mt. Vernon to teach the institute. She gave a fine lecture in the afternoon and one at night. We enjoyed having Mrs. Jones visit our county.

Dearborn County Institute was held at the M. E. Church in Bright May 3rd, under the supervision of our County President, Mrs. Ella Kroft, of Bloomington. The Institute proved to be one of the most interesting ever held in the county.

The strength and weakness of Indiana Local Option Law, the Agitation for High License; What is It? Who Wants It, and Why? were very interesting subjects of the forenoon.

"Our Young People; the National Plan" was presented by Mrs. Jennie Ward. An excellent dinner was served in Woodman Hall to over one hundred persons.

The afternoon service opened with devotions led by Mrs. C. G. Hester, of Homestead. "The Coming Legislature," "What the Temperance Forces Will Try to Accomplish, and What the Liquor People Will Seek to Accomplish, What Can We Do to Help the Former and Defeat the Latter," were subjects of great interest, Mrs. Kroft, leader. A very interesting selection on "State-wide Prohibition the Only Real Solution of the Liquor Problem," read by Mrs. Jennie Ward.

The following subjects: "Woman's Ballot for the King's Business," was presented in a very earnest and interesting manner by Mrs. S. C. Leffingwell. "How Stands the Question of Sunday Base Ball? What More Can We Do?" "Anti-Narcotic Department," "When We Have State-Wide Prohibition What More Will There Be for the W. C. T. U. to Do?" were discussed by members and visitors. A talk on "The White Slave Traffic" was given by Mrs. Kroft. Supper was also served in the Hall to many who remained.

The evening program consisted of two special songs and a very interesting and instructive address by Mrs. Kroft. A recitation was given by Miss Mary Mason, of Guilford. There was a free will offering of ten dollars. There was a large and attentive audience and sixteen new members were secured and much temperance sentiment created. The county convention will be held in September at Guilford.—Mrs. Sallie Bonham, Press Supt.

The Smithville W. C. T. U. held an all-day meeting with Mesdames Wm. and Curtis Reynolds on Thursday, April 28. The morning was spent in pleasant and helpful conversation, and at noon a bounteous dinner was served.

At 2 p. m. the gathering was called to order by the President, Mrs. Louis Litz, who read Hebrews 2. The Union joined in singing Nearer My God To Thee and were lead in prayer by the Vice-President, Mrs. Louisa Leonard. The following program was enjoyed: Reading, "A Snake Bite and Its Cure," Mrs. G. W. Oldham; General Discussion on the Use of Liquor Now and in the Past, and the Sale of It by the Italians to the Men Employed in the Quarries. Reading, "Water Purer Than Wine," Mrs. Fox; Reading, "Lord Give Me a Mother," Mrs. Edith Bowers; Reading, "A Railroad Man's Prayer," Mrs. Leonard. Business Discussion in which one new member was added to the Union.—Edna Hainey, Press Supt.

The College Corner, Ohio, W. C. T. U. gave a farewell reception to Rev. W. M. Lorimer and wife at the home of Mrs. Bertha Miller, April 29. Rev. Lorimer has been the pastor of the United Presbyterian Church at this place for the past five years, and has stood boldly for temperance came dry. The W. C. T. U. will miss both Mr. and Mrs. Lorimer as members and staunch friends and we trust their work may be blessed at all times, and especially when the town be-wherever their lot may be cast.

Grant County Central Committee held a meeting recently at which Mrs. Angelina Pearson of Fairmount, was appointed county superintendent of Sabbath Observance in the place of Mrs. Lillie Baird, who resigned on account of ill health.

Hamilton County Institute was held in the Friends Church, Westfield, April 26-27. The first session Thursday evening, April 26. The church was elaborately decorated for the occasion. A drama, "An Evening With Miss Willard," was given by Westfield Union, and a Flag Drill by the young people, and an exercise by the ladies of Sheridan Union was one of the pleasing features of the evening, ending with a tableaux.

Wednesday morning, 27th, the Institute opened with devotional services by Grace Sloan. A testimony service by several ladies giving a Scriptural or scientific reason for working against the saloon, followed the devotional. The Strength and Weakness of Indiana Local Option Law was discussed and brought out many strong points, showing the necessity of delving at the root of this evil and of itself is a failure. "Tools in Type" was briefly discussed, and the sentiment prevailed that the members were not as familiar with our literature as they should be, and the call for subscriptions resulted in six new subscribers and three renewals to the Union Signal, and seven to the Crusader Monthly. Noon-tide Prayer, by Carrie Hutchens.

The devotional for the afternoon session was led by Rev. Wm. H. Bertram, followed by singing Crusade Glory Song. "Some Good Reasons Why Sunday Baseball Should Not Be Legalized," "The Coming Legislature," "Blind Tigers," and "Anti-Narcotics" were the subjects which occupied the afternoon, and were all ably handled and many truthful and logical statements were realized.

The address of the evening, by Miss Mary E. Woodard, was delivered in her own pleasant manner, and to an appreciative audience. In closing, all felt they had had a pleasant and Profitable day.—Melissa Emry, Secretary.

The Union County W. C. T. U., consisting of the College Corner (Ohio), and Liberty Unions, held an Institute at Liberty, with Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley as leader.

There was a good attendance of the county membership and some from other counties. The State program was used and many helpful discussions of live subjects. An excellent paper was read on The White Slave Traffic, which was ably discussed by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and others, much interest was manifested. A Matron's Contest was held in the evening, conducted by Mrs. T. W. Records. There were seven contestants. All did well and deserve mention. Mrs. Clara Egan received the medal.

On account of the death of a near relative Mrs. Vayhinger was called from an engagement and Mrs. Stanley had to leave her own county Institute to fill Mrs. Vayhinger's date.

The County Vice-President, Mrs. Elizabeth Coughlin, was in charge of the evening meeting, which was a success—she was assisted by one of the members. There was a good house, door receipts over fifteen dollars.

Liberty Union is having a membership contest—the members are divided equally, the reds and the blues. Both sides are working hard. Mrs. Coughlin writes: "We hope to make a clean sweep of Liberty and vicinity by getting every woman that is now outside of the W. C. T. U. Whichever side beats must give a reception to the new members and to the defeated side."

Floyd County Institute was held at Galena, April 13-14 in the M. E. Church. It was opened with an oratorical contest. The class consisted of five young ladies. Miss Cecil Farnesby carried off the medal. Mrs. Kroft, state evangelist and institute leader, delighted the audience contest evening with a song "Victory," which was very inspiring. The morning of the 14th Mrs. Kroft took up the regular state program, carrying it out in full. All seemed very much interested in the different subjects and took an active part in the discussions that followed, more especially the subjects "Sabbath Observance" and "The White Slave Trade." An excellent dinner was served by the ladies of the local union at the home of the local president.

In the evening Mrs. Kroft gave a stirring temperance address, preceded by a reading by Mrs. Ida Woefling, entitled "The Factory Chimney." Great interest was manifested by the people throughout the entire Institute. Much good must follow.—Mrs. R. K. Pritchett.

The Steuben County W. C. T. U. institute was held in the Congregational Church at Angola Friday and Saturday, April 29-30. Delegates from Ray, Freemont and Pleasant Lake were in attendance. The Angola union had made great plans for the convenience of their guests, and for the success of the meeting. The ministers of the town showed their interest in the work, both by their attendance and their readiness to take part in the program.

We were very sorry that our county president, Mrs. Mary McTaggart, was not able to be present, but considered ourselves very fortunate indeed to have our state president, Mrs. Vayhinger, with us as institute leader. Also Mrs. Perkins, of Ft. Wayne, was with us all through the meeting and won the hearts of the women by her very helpful and interesting talks.

The state program was carried out as nearly as possible and the subjects were very ably presented by those having them in charge. The result was a very interesting and helpful institute. Miss Bertha Clawson, who was an Angola lady, but who for twelve years has been a missionary in Japan, was presented to the institute and gave a short talk on Intemperance in Japan, which was much appreciated. The young people of the town furnished music during the different sessions.

Mrs. Vayhinger lectured in Freemont on Saturday evening and preached in Ray on Sunday morning. Mrs. Perkins spoke in the M. E. Church in Freemont on Sunday morning, and both returned to Angola for Sunday evening, where they held a mass meeting of all the churches.

As a result of the institute Angola and Freemont are both rejoicing over several additional members, both active and honorary, and the slogan for the county is "One Hundred New Members Before Convention Time Next Fall."—Elnora G. McNaughton.

Warrick County Institute was held at Boonville in the Main Street M. E. Church, April 25 and 26. Mrs. Retta Jones, leader. An oratorical contest for a silver medal was held on the first evening. There were six girls and one boy in the contest. All did well. There were five musical selections interspersed between speeches. Miss Opal Morrison, a silver medal holder, sang while the judges were out. Miss Elda Jenkins won the medal. In behalf of the Boonville W. C. T. U. Mrs. Retta Jones presented all of the contestants with a bunch of carnations tied with white ribbon.

The Institute proper was opened the next morning, with Mrs. Jennie Roegle, county president, in the chair. There was a good attendance and much interest in "A Ten Minute Talk" by ten ladies, giving a Scriptural reason for working against the saloon. Address of welcome by Sue K. Hart, response by Mrs. Retta Jones. In the afternoon Mrs. Snyder, of Evansville, read a paper on "The White Slave Trade." Mrs. Marion Parker read paper on "Anti Narcotics." The discussions were interesting and helpful. The evening meeting was well attended and Mrs. Retta Jones made a good address which was well received. There were eight new members received. The Boonville members were pleased to have the Institute and feel profited and encouraged.—Mrs. George Trimble.

Huntington County W. C. T. U. Institute was held in Roanoke, April 21-22, with Mrs. C. J. Vayhinger, state president, as leader. On Thursday evening, the 21st, a gold medal contest was held, and on Friday evening an interesting and inspiring address was given by Mrs. Vayhinger, subject, "What Next?"

County superintendents were appointed for the following departments: "Medal Contest," "Work Among Railroad Employees," and "Purity in Literature and Art." Topics presented: "The Strength and weakness of Indiana Local Option Law," "State-wide Prohibition the Only Real Solution of the Liquor Problem," "The Necessity for Federal Legislation to Make State Prohibition Effective," "Child Labor," "Purity," "Traffic in Women," "Juvenile Courts," and "Co-operation with Missionary Societies." The attendance and interest was good and during the Institute several gave their names for membership in the W. C. T. U.—Mrs. H. C. Foote, County Pres.

Everton, LaFayette County, W. T. C. U. met with Mrs. Sophia Piper, April 13. Interesting selections and a paper were read, and talks by the members in regard to examples of parents and elders before children, who are great imitators, and whose models should be always the best. After the program a social hour was enjoyed, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Eva Piper, serving refreshments of cake, fruit and coffee. A pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent.—Mannie Trusler Bonifel, Press Supt.

Lawrence County W. C. T. U. held an Institute at Oolitic, April 15th and 16th. Friday evening was devoted to a program for the children. Solos and choruses, together with readings by six little girls, made every one glad they were there. Saturday morning the audience sang "The Fight Is On," which seemed very appropriate. Rec. E. A. Hartsaw led the devotions, conducting a ten-minutes testimony meeting, each giving a good reason for working against saloons. At the noon hour the ladies repaired to the Kern Hotel with their lunch boxes and a bountiful repast was enjoyed by all. The afternoon was devoted to reading papers on various subjects and discussing "What the W. C. T. U. will do After State-wide Prohibition is Assured." In the evening Miss Mary E. Woodard gave an interesting talk on the different departments of work, encouraging the band of workers to press on, victory is ahead. She expressed herself as being pleased to find such an enthusiastic little Union in our town. Her presence and helpful words gave us new confidence in ourselves, and we're more determined to stay with the army of W. C. T. U. workers until the kingdom of old alcohol is completely overthrown.—Mrs. Chas. Farmer, Cor. Secy. Oolitic Union. was given which was highly enjoyed by all. The Institute opened at 9:00 a. m. by singing the National Temperance Song to the music of the Glory Song. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Hahn of Indianapolis. After several splendid papers on the leading topics of the day were given by the members of the Frances Willard Union and visiting members, Mrs. Schneider gave a most excellent convincing and inspiring paper on the White Slave Traffic. It showed us all there was a great work to be done in that line. We then adjourned with noontide prayer. The afternoon session opened with singing "I need Thee Every Hour." Mrs. Cosby read six chapters of John for the Scripture lesson. A circle of prayer was then held, in which many took part. After singing "Nearer My God to Thee" the minister took part the remainder of the afternoon. There were four subscriptions to the Crusader and one new member, and also four subscriptions to the Union Signal. The regular meeting of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. was held in the rest rooms on Monday, May 2. In place of the regular Bible reading, the Union will hold weekly gospel temperance meetings in different sections of the city, the minister belonging to our Union will conduct the service. Our next meeting will be a social meeting for the reception of new members. There were eight members present and one new member.—The Frances Willard Union, Evansville, Ind.

Wayne County W. C. T. U. Institute met in South Eighth street, Friends' Church, Richmond, with Mrs. Culla Vayhinger as leader, May 6 and 7. On Friday night Mrs. Vayhinger gave one of her characteristic addresses, showing the effects of alcohol in heredity and other evils that flow from the drink traffic. On Saturday, in spite of the unfavorable weather, a goodly number of the faithful met to confer on the subjects that are of such vital interest to the welfare of the nation. The session opened with an interesting testimony meeting on "Why I am a Member of the W. C. T. U." conducted by Mrs. O. N. Huff. A plea was made for our official papers under the title of "Tools in Type," by Mrs. Nettie Traum, and a few subscriptions taken. Mrs. Hannah Stanley spoke earnestly on "What Will There Be for the W. C. T. U. to do when we have State-Wide Prohibition." She said state-wide prohibition will not solve the problem. If it did, for fifty years we will have work to do in taking care of the results of the saloon. The world will never outgrow the need of organized mother love, and we need it in Uncle Sam's housekeeping, as well as other places. Women have blazed the way in many lines and made it possible for men to do great things. "The Strength and Weakness of the Local Option Law" was ably discussed by Mrs. Vayhinger. Under our present law we have some dry spots that would not be dry under a smaller unit. Homes and business have been helped by voting out saloons. The principle of local option is wrong for God has given but one rule for dealing with evil. It gives a county the right to vote the saloon out, but it also gives them the right to vote them in, and settles the question for only two years. "We'll make the map all white," was sung with spirit by Mrs. Emma Hadley, the institute joining in the chorus. Judge Fox, who was to have spoken on the "Work of the Juvenile Court," was too busy to be present, and Mrs. V. remarked that since Grant County has voted out saloons the judges have time to come. Rev. Truman Kenworthy gave an interesting talk on "The White Slave Traffic." He said thousands come into this country through ports of entry under various disguises for immoral purposes. There is great danger of the segregation of vice in our cities. The tendency is in that direction. On Sunday morning Mrs. Vayhinger spoke in Cambridge City and in the afternoon she addressed a mass meeting in Richmond.

Blackford County Institute. A great success. It was held at Montpelier in the M. E. church, and was pronounced by the state and county workers as being one of the best that they ever attended in Indiana. Every Union of the county was represented, as members were present from Hartford City, Millgrove, Roll and Fairview. Rev. T. E. Kinneman and wife were in attendance from Petroleum. Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, in charge. On the first evening Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, state president, delivered an excellent address: Her subject was What Next? The situation in Indiana was reviewed. In part she said: "We now have seventy counties that have voted out the saloon, but we have twenty-two that have retained them. What has been the object of the expenditure of the vast sums of money, the energy and time in doing this work? Has it been that Grant, Madison, Delaware and the other sixty-nine counties have done this in order that they may receive no more money from this unholy traffic? Has it been because we have decided we will no longer lengthen our school term with this bloody revenue? Is it that we have desired to put out a saloon here and one there, in this county or that? No. It has been an effort to get rid of the effects of the liquor traffic. This we have not done because the law which gave the men of Grant County the right to vote out the saloon gave a vicious or misguided majority a right to vote it in in Blackford, Cass and Wayne Counties. What shall be the attitude of the state under these conditions? The highest purpose of the state is to protect its majority in the exercise of its rights, as well as protect every community from a selfish or vicious majority which forgets the rights of other men, women and children in the exercise of what they please to call their 'personal liberty.' These wet counties accept the revenue, apply it to local government, then send to our state institutions the larger part of the products of their saloons and the tax payers who have conscientiously voted theirs out must help maintain these institutions. In justice to her men, women and children, Indiana can do nothing less than give us state wide prohibition." The musical selections were good. "Protection for Your Home" and "Fill the Ranks with Voters" were sung with spirit. A beautiful and touching solo by Miss Edna Shannan was followed by the splendid anthem "Stand Up for Jesus," by the choir. There was a good attendance of representative citizens. The first day of the Institute opened auspiciously by the Leader, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. "Make the Map All White" was sung with enthusiasm. A hearty welcome was extended all visiting members by Mrs. Stahl in her earnest sweet manner, responded to by Mrs. Stanley. Rev. Meyers spoke on the weak and strong points of local option law which is a means to the end—the end being total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the state. The subject of Rev. Bardemeiers' talk was "The Agitation for High Licence." He made plain the fact that a thing which is in itself wrong can not be made right by license and spoke of the limit to woman's help in the temperance work because they are denied the ballot, though they are the chief sufferers from the saloon. Prof. L. E. Kelley, in his talk on the Juvenile Courts emphasized the great need of work among the unfortunate children. While women are handicapped by not having use of the ballot, they can do, and are doing, most effective work in this line. Mrs. Elizabeth Likely gave an interesting talk on "The Passing of Advertisements of Intoxicating Liquors, Patent Medicines and Other Habit Forming Drugs from Our Best Papers and Magazines." This was followed by a discussion of the White Slave Traffic by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, and noontide prayer. The members then adjourned for dinner, which was served by the local Union in the basement of the church.

The evening preceding the Institute a silver medal contest was held by Mrs. T. S. Wade, county superintendent of medal contest department. The judges were Mrs. H. B. George, Prof. Joseph H. Shock and Miss Ruth Springfield. The program opened with an organ voluntary by Ora B. Slater. There were six contestants. The speeches were all well rendered. Several selections were given by the quartette of the West Side Baptist Church, and there were vocal solos by A. E. Cobb and Mrs. Joseph Pauly. A piano solo by Cleone Brown and a violin selection by Charles Martin. The medal was awarded to Miss Mary Blinn, after which Mrs. Kroft made a short address.

Mrs. Gillette read a good and instructive paper on Woman's Ballot. This was followed by a physical culture drill by Mrs. Ritter of Hartford City. Mrs. Ritter was followed by an interesting paper physical culture. A duet by Mrs. Sample and Mrs. Ritter was followed by an interesting paper on Anti-Narcotics department of the W. C. T. U. by Mrs. Shannon. A very good and interesting paper was read by Mrs. Wearly on "When We Have State-wide Prohibition." "Relation of Dress to Vice" was the subject of a cleverly written paper by Miss Poer, followed by a temperance song by Mrs. Wearly "When Indiana's Dry." Mr. and Mrs. Morris of the Main Street Church, spoke words of cheer and encouragement. The closing session of the Institute, which was the best ever held in the county, opened by special music by the choir and solos by Miss Meeks and Mrs. Kramer. Mrs. Stanley's address of the evening on "The Tricks of the Trade" was a splendid effort. Mrs. Stanley has been in every county in the state since her last visit to this county not long ago, and has obtained for her own use in lecture work statistics from the county records, so that her statements were from personal knowledge and carried conviction with them. She emphasized the point that while the saloon forces make a strong point of how much they put into the school funds, they do not say a word about the board bills of the drunks at the county jails. She found that in the past year there were in the county jails 13,437 able-bodied men, 563 women, and 49 boys under 14 years of age, because of drink. Certainly the expense of keeping these would be no small matter. It was found that in ten states 56 per cent of insanity was due to the use of alcohol. And among 1,200 young men confined at Jeffersonville 90 per cent of them were born in drunken homes. She also reviewed the great prosperity of the dry states, such as Maine, which has $22,000,000 more money in its banks than Ohio with six times the population of Maine. She also told of the splendid condition of Kansas since adopting state-wide prohibition, as told in a letter which she received from the governor of that state. In closing she said "The saloon has been forced to move from one wet spot to another until they don't know where they will camp at night. We are going to camp at the place of the next Legislature and present a petition, yards long, asking for state-wide prohibition and that it be made a part of the constitution. All that the people want in order that they do the right, is to see the right." A solo by Mrs. Watts was very appropriate and enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Johns, of Hartford City, conducted the devotional service in the afternoon. "Some Practical Results of the Local Option Law," incidents that have come to the knowledge of the W. C. T. U. workers, was forcefully presented by Mrs. Stahl. The spirited discussion that followed was led by Mrs. Vayhinger. "What the Temperance Forces Will Try to Accomplish and What the Liquor Forces Will Seek to Do" was discussed in an interesting manner by Mrs. Stanley. "Blind Tigers, and How to Open the Eyes of Blind Officers" was the subject of a practical address by Rev. Hallman, of Willgrove. The "Model License" League, What Is It? was discussed by Rev. McCormick, of Hartford City, who told of existing conditions in Blackford county which resulted from non-enforcement of the law.

Our Promoted Comrades

MRS. CATHERINE M. STEVENS.

The Sweetser W. C. T. U. sustained a great loss in the death of one of its charter members, Catherine M. Stephens, who went to her Heavenly home April 10, 1910, at the age of 82 years, five months and seven days. She was united in marriage to Alfred M. Stephens May 29, 1849. Nine children blessed this union, four being members of the Sweetser W. C. T. U.: Mrs. Anna Fox, our beloved president; Mrs. Amanda Flinn, Mrs. Kate Stevens, our secretary, and Benoni Stevens. She became a member of the M. E. Church at the tender age of 10 years, and was a devoted Christian all her life. Her faith was remarkable in its childlike simplicity. Three years ago the 13th of March the husband and companion of her youth passed on before her. Since that time she has resided with her daughter, Mrs. Amanda Flinn. She carried out the principles of the W. C. T. U. in her life of hopefulness to all, and especially to the most needy. Surely her life exemplified the truth of the old hymn she loved to sing:

I'm on my way to Canaan, I'll bid this world farewell;
Come on my fellow travelers, in spite of earth or hell;
Though Satan's army rages and all his hosts combine,
Yet Scripture doth engage us the strength of love divine.

Our Union is poorer and heaven is richer.

Mrs. M. G. Davis was called to her heavenly home in February, leaving a two weeks old baby and four other small children. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her, for she was of a cheerful disposition and always kind to all who knew her. Her heart was in the temperance work. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved husband and family.—Montpelier W. C. T. U.

Mrs. William Law, a faithful member of the Newburgh Union, died April 3, aged 52 years. She was the mother of five children, two of whom preceded her to the great beyond. She was a faithful wife and devoted mother. The Christ whom she had sought and found as a personal Saviour in her early girlhood days and had gladdened her life ever since, steadied and comforted her in her last hours. She lived a life that daily grew brighter until it ended here, to brighten into the perfect day hereafter. Her children will think of her happy spirit, and will recall how she gladdened the lives of all who came within the scope of her influence. Religion to her was a life unfolding itself in good deeds. She had a full, rich, happy religious experience and lived in communion and fellowship with God. She was laid to rest in beautiful Rose Hill Cemetery, Revs. Godbey and Lawburgh, officiating.

LIQUOR DEALERS IN NATIONAL CONVENTION DECIDE TO "EDUCATE THE PEOPLE."

Declare "Prohibition a Proved Failure," But Agree to Continue Nation-Wide Fight Against It.

(Associated Prohibition Press.)

"Go into politics heart and soul!"

"Oppose the enforcement of 'unjust' and 'oppressive' laws!"

"The education of the American people in the matter of liquor legislation must be undertaken by our organizations!"

These were the keynotes of the half thousand drink sellers who gathered from all sections of the United States as delegates to the fifteenth annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, held in Cincinnati, May 23 to 27.

The significant feature of the council of war is the new attitude assumed by this organization of drink distributors, which is epitomized in these words of Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular for May 25:

"The 1910 convention brings with it the dawn of a new spirit and hope in the trade; a new idea that is backed by a manly courage and a grim determination to see it through.

"This new thought has to do with the Prohibition scourge. Heretofore this problem has been met always on the defensive. The new idea is to change this condition; to place the trade in an aggressive mood. This is to be done by inaugurating an energetic campaign for the licensed saloon—the saloon with Model License regulations."

Council Contradicts Own Optimistic Claims.

The convention was notable for its paradoxes and surprising contradictions. Although from first to last practically every speaker vied with all the rest in picturing the alleged failure of Prohibition wherever it has been "tried," yet, despite the wild and boastful claims that the so-called Prohibition "wave" was fast receding, the convention betrayed rather startling lack of confidence in its own assertion by determining upon the most vigorous and nation-wide agitation ever undertaken by the association.

The chief emphasis of the session was placed upon the suggestion of President Westheimer that steps should be taken to "bring our national and state associations into an immediate and close league or union."

"Think of the power of our united trades organized on the lines of United States of America, a state association in each state for all state questions, a national association composed of state associations to protect us in national affairs,"—this was the climax of the eloquent speech made by the president for the welding into one powerful unit of national influence and authority, the various divisions of the liquor traffic.

The convention rejoiced to learn, through a number of its speakers, that the factional fights between brewers and distillers were being eliminated, and that the entire trade was moving forward together more harmoniously than ever before.

Go Into Politics to the Limit.

The active participation of the liquor trade in politics was both defended and strenuously advocated by officers and delegates alike.

"Let us go into politics heart and soul," boldly exhorted the president, adding the plausible excuse, "so as to release our business from the political game,"—"releasing" of course, by the expected control of the states and grip upon dominant politicians which the "trade" blithely hopes to secure and maintain for all time to come.

That this thought was really in the mind of the president when he made his appeal to the delegates of the convention, is shown in a later paragraph of his annual address.

"As a matter of policy and as a means of securing permanently better conditions, it seems clear that our best efforts should be employed in aiding in the nomination and election of a better class of legislators," continued Mr. Westheimer.

"Educate the People"—Cry the Liquor Dealers.

Next to political action the "education" of the people as to the wholesome, moral and patriotic qualities of the alcoholic drink traffic appeared to be the pet hobby of the leaders at the Cincinnati council.

"The education of the American people in the matter of liquor legislation must be undertaken by our organization," declared Emil Nathan, millionaire maker of cocktails, brandies, cordials and wine, who by reason of popular "ignorance" as to the great economic value and social importance of his "business," has been compelled to recently pack up his wares and machinery and move out of the fanatical state of Tennessee into the more liberal license atmosphere of Missouri and her metropolis, St. Louis.

"There could be no better vehicle for the dissemination of information than the machinery of this organization," continued Mr. Nathan, "and what is a matter of absolute impossibility for any one person or one locality to accomplish, can be accomplished by united intelligence, and by well-organized effort."

In accordance with this line of thought millions of leaflets have been circulated in no-license campaigns across the country by the liquor dealers during the past few years. Millions of dollars have been spent in the newspapers for "legitimate" trade advertising as well as for anti-Prohibition argument; but the most ambitious production yet ventured is a large volume just painstakingly compiled by Joseph DeBar, secretary of the National Association, in which is compiled a great mass of anti-Prohibition testimony from men prominent in one way or another during the past century.

A copy of this book of DeBar's has been sent to each of the three thousand five hundred libraries throughout the United States which have over five thousand volumes listed in their possession. The book has also been freely distributed to United States Senators, Congressmen, Governors of all the states in the Union, and other men prominent in the political and professional world. "That this book possesses a wonderful educational value no one will question," comments Bonfort's Circular as it "embodies the views of many such as President Taft, President Eliot of Harvard, Governor Patterson of Tennessee, all of whom are quoted at considerable length."

Advocate Law-Breaking—But Denounce Law-Breakers.

"We have for years through our national and state organizations, fought a gallant fight opposing the enforcement of laws which are as clearly unconstitutional as they are unjust and oppressive," the liquor dealers' president declares in his annual address, recalling by its peculiar similarity, the brazen advice of the Brewers' Journal for May, that "the liquor trade cannot and will not observe laws made to cripple them."

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY AGAIN TAKES HIGH GROUND ON PROHIBITION.

Despite Misleading Dispatches, Official Council of Great Denomination Enthusiastically Adopts Declaration on Political Attitude Presented by Homer Castle.

Again Endorses National Inter-Church Temperance Federation, and Favors Congressional Commission of Inquiry to Investigate the Liquor Traffic.

Prohibition enthusiasm reached high water mark and registered in militant declaration at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church just closed at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

The aggressive work carried on by its permanent committee on temperance was heartily approved by the Assembly, and in ringing resolutions that spoke with concrete effectiveness, the official representatives of the great Presbyterian denomination went squarely on record as opposing every compromise and complicity with the liquor traffic, again voiced its approval of the National Inter-Church Temperance Federation, warned its members both against the use of intoxicants, signing applications for saloon licenses, renting property for liquor purposes, endorsing bonds of saloon-keepers, or "in any other way aiding or abetting this heinous evil."

But the most impressive and significant pronouncement of the Assembly on the liquor question was that presented by Hon. Homer L. Castle, the nationally known Prohibition leader of Pittsburgh.

This resolution provoked some discussion on the part of the more timid and conservative commissioners present, but despite the misleading press dispatches, the Assembly approved it word for word as introduced, with overwhelming applause. The text of this resolution is as follows:

"The Presbyterian Church must ever be the open, active and persistent enemy of the liquor traffic in all its forms. We declare any form of license under any name or guise is permission and not destruction, and therefore unchristian. We solemnly admonish our people to keep themselves socially, financially and politically separate and apart from the liquor traffic, and to touch not the unclean thing, to the end that this traffic may, by organic law, be expelled from our land and our people saved from its despoiling influence."

In addition to this action, the Assembly authorized its permanent committee to memorialize Congress in favor of the passage of legislation creating a commission in inquiry to investigate and report upon every phase of the liquor traffic; to favor the passage of the Gallinger-Bennett Bill for the District of Columbia; to favor the passage of the Hamilton-Owen-McGuire Bill establishing a Prohibition zone of 25 miles around all Indian territory; and to use its utmost effort in behalf of such legislation as will adequately protect Prohibition territory against interstate shipments of liquor.

The Assembly approved of an appropriation of $35,000 for the Permanent Committee's use during the coming year.

At the great temperance rally on Friday evening, May 27, addresses which stirred the vast audience to tremendous enthusiasm were delivered by the Rev. E. Trumbull Lee, D. D., of Pittsburgh, the Hon. Homer L. Castle, and the Hon. Richmond P. Hobson, Congressman from Alabama.

The Permanent Committee on Temperance reported that during the past year nearly 850 meetings were held by representatives in twenty-five states and territories; the equivalent of more than eighteen million pages of literature in seven languages distributed; more than twenty-five thousand personal communications mailed to church workers; seventy-five thousand copies of Temperance Program and more than fifty thousand pledge cards issued and used on Temperance Sundays; while two Associated Secretaries and one lecturer on Scientific Temperance have been employed during the entire year and two other field workers for a part of the year; all at a total aggregate expense of less than $22,000.

COLUMBUS, O., June 7.—The Ohio Supreme Court decided today that a brewer can not make beer in a "dry" territory and then sell it back into the "dry" county from a "wet" one. The case was that of August Walder, who has a brewery at Archibald, Fulton County, and offices in Henry County. The court held that he must pay a fine of $170 for selling in Fulton, which is "dry."—Indianapolis News.

The convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, held a few days ago, pledged a fund of $150,000 for "defense," which money will doubtless be spent in circulating ingenious leaflets written to contradict prohibition statements, and to try to subsidize the press. If you want to know the best arguments in refutation of these misstatements they will be found in The Union Signal and other publications issued by the National W. C. T. U.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

The Supreme Court of Illinois a short time ago, handed down this decision: "We are of the opinion that the statute limiting the time to ten hours in any one day in which a female shall work in any mechanical establishment or factory or laundry is a legitimate exercise of the police power of the state." In connection with the opinion this statement was made "what is known to all men and what we know as men, we cannot profess to be ignorant of as judges." This knowledge is of course, that women have very sharp physical limitations, even if the average woman does have a 24-hour day while her children are small, as her face clearly indicates in a few years.

It is estimated that 30,000 women and girls who are working more than ten hours a day will at once be free from overstrain, by the rigid enforcement of this law, and many more will be relieved of the necessity of working overtime in periods of overwork.

The Supreme Court of Arkansas on yesterday decided that growers of grapes or berries may make wine thereof and sell same in original packages of not less than five gallons, when properly labeled, even in prohibition territory, in the absence of special statutes.—Exchange.

The new bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture is called the "Farmers' Bulletin 393," and after reviewing the unsatisfactory effects of loosely restricted legislation, federal, state and territorial, which has been in force for some years past, declares that the only practical way of dealing with the question of habit-forming drugs is the four-fold plan of education, absolute national Prohibition, district, state and federal supervision of the sale for scientific and medicinal purposes and the complete forbidding of shipment in interstate commerce of habit-forming drugs or preparations containing them, except through the customary channels of trade, and then only when complete records of all transactions are kept.

"Enact laws forbidding the sale of all pernicious habit-forming drugs such as cocaine, morphine, opium, heroin, etc., and their derivatives and preparations, at retail, except on prescriptions of physicians, dentists, or veterinarians,"—so runs the recommendation made by Dr. L. S. Kebler, chief of the division of drugs in the government bureau of chemistry in this Bulletin 393.

Except for the nation's complicity in the liquor business the awful results of the use of alcohol would also demand attention and legislation.

All W. C. T. U. Members who can attend Winona Assembly or Bible Conference this year are asked to meet at 2 p. m. in the grounds at the front of the auditorium on Saturday, August 20.

JULY, 1910.

Spectacular Parades—The temperance people have the subjects for very spectacular floats, pennants, streamers and horse blankets (I Pull for Prohibition for instance).

If three months' time was taken in which to quietly plan for a temperance parade, hundreds and thousands of people could be interested.

To select some Saturday afternoon and see the leaders of all Sunday schools in the county or township, leaders of all the temperance organizations and active temperance men, make definite plans for a parade and proceed to business. Much advertising would bring many into the parade and also bring great crowds of people to town. The announcement that this would be an annual affair would help to increase the attendance another year.

Our temperance people must do something to arouse sentiment everywhere against the liquor business.

The State L. T. L. convention at Greensburg should be attended by all W. C. T. U.'s who live convenient to Greensburg.

To wish a cause to succeed is not enough. Help it on. Every person who is present will help to inspire the young people. Go!

Indiana needs the efforts of young people to help overthrow the saloon and brewery. The boys and girls can do much, and will if they have the unselfish encouragement of a thousand men and women.

The amount of real interest you have in the L. T. L. convention can be measured by what you do to help it on.

To be sure it is a young people's meeting, but the meeting will be greatly benefited by the presence of yourself and some one young person you can invite to go with you. The reason Indiana does not now have prohibition is just because not enough people want it to really count.

Attend the L. T. L. convention at Greensburg!!

The Prohibition Tent meetings are being well attended. Everywhere our temperance people should help these meetings. Encourage the boys and girls to help by songs, speeches and especially by attending.

The Union Signal subscription list grows. Who will receive the ten dollars in gold offered to the person who secures the greatest number of annual subscriptions before September 1?

The Crusader Monthly would be an appropriate gift to each contestant who fails to win a medal My, but such seed sown would surely reap a rich harvest. We must secure the boys and girls for our temperance work.

WINONA BIBLE CONFERENCE.

August 21 to August 30.

At this time great numbers of W. C. T. U. members and their friends will be at Winona Lake.

A W. C. T. U. Register will be placed in some public place about August 18 and remain there until close of Bible Conference. All White Ribboners are urged to register. Announcement of place of the W. C. T. U. register will be made in the postoffice.

Prohibition Advance—States dry, nine: Maine, Kansas, North Dakota, Georgia, Oklahoma, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina and Tennessee prohibit the manufacture and sale within their borders.

Many states have dry territory.
Indiana with 92 counties has 70 dry counties.
Ohio has 88 counties, 66 dry.
Texas has 250 counties, 185 dry.
South Carolina has only six wet counties.
Florida has a few wet counties and in November the people of the state will vote on Prohibition.
New York has over 400 dry towns.

Clinton County W. C. T. U. held its convention and institute at Mulberry M. E. church, April 20-21st. The morning session of the first day was devoted to the business of the convention. In the afternoon the delegates and visitors were greeted by a few well chosen words by Mrs. Bertha Rothenberger. In response Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, our State President, gave a talk on the organization of the work. There were also interesting and instructive talks given by Rev. Seiberling and Rev. Trinkle. At the evening session an able address was given by Mrs. Culla J.

Vayhinger, her subject being "What Next." Miss Orpha Smith favored the audience with a solo, "Nearer Lord to Thee."

Thursday morning's session was devoted to the following subjects: "Woman's Ballot For the King's Business," "Our Young People's Word—National Plan," "Blind Tigers and How to Open the Eyes of Blind Officers," and "White Slave Traffic." This session was perhaps the most interesting of the convention. Thursday evening there was a Gold Medal Contest and a large audience was in attendance. Will Sheffler of Rossville, won the medal to the satisfaction of the audience.

There was special music by the M. E. choir which was very much appreciated. The Mulberry Union is glad for the opportunity it had of entertaining the County Institute, although it is already very much awake, having a membership of over one hundred. The Convention aroused interest and did much good which will result in a renewed zeal among its members.

MRS. AMANDA SMITH,
Oxford, Ind.

Who has the love and respect of all Benton County W. C. T. U.'s as she has served them so loyally and faithfully as President for the past nine years. We have accomplished, and are going to continue accomplishing many things under her efficient leadership for our beloved cause.

The Sixteenth Annual Convention of the Senior Loyal Temperance Legion of the State of Indiana, will meet at Greensburg, Ind., on July 6-7-8. First Session will be held July 6, at 1:30 p. m., and convention will close at noon July 8.

The Convention will be entertained by the Greensburg Women's Christian Temperance Union. This annual meeting shall be composed of the executive committee and all paid-up graduates in attendance. Annual dues are 26 cents, and must be paid by June 20th.

The Executive Committee is composed of President, Vice-President, Corresponding Secretary, and State Organizer, together with State General Recording Secretary, Treasurer, Financial Director Secretary, State Superintendents of Departments, State Agent for Crusader Monthly, County and Local Superintendents and County Presidents.

Leaguers let us make this the Greatest convention ever held. Let its influence and enthusiasm spread far and wide. We need to rally around our standards as never before, during this crisis of our beloved L. T. L. Every senior legioner in Indiana is welcome in this convention. Come and bring enthusiasm with you.

BLANCHE THORNE, President.

The Loyal Temperance Legion State Convention will be entertained by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Greensburg, July 6-7-8. Let every Legion in the State send delegates. The first session will open at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday, the 6th. Be on time, and hear our President's address. That evening will be given over to the Graduates and Alumni Association, with an address by Rev. Shannon of Marion. The second day to reports of Officers and Superintendents, with an address by our State W. C. T. U. President, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger. By this time I know all reports have been sent in, and every Legioner's dues sent on to our State Treasurer, and you are all ready to start to Greensburg on the morning of the 6th, and I will meet you there. Yours truly, MRS. IDA M. NIX, Kokomo, General State Secretary.

NEARLY $100,000,000 MORE ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS BOUGHT BY AMERICAN VICTIMS SO FAR THIS YEAR THAN LAST, IS RECORD AS COMPARED WITH PRECEDING TWELVEMONTH.

Not less than 58,172,337 more gallons of beer were used during the past nine months than during same nine months of the preceding fiscal year. Everywhere the liquor business is showing a remarkable recovery from the temporary ebb of its trade and commerce during the twenty months following the 1907 panic.

The liquor press has changed its tone and spirit. From picturing the somber and expected doom, they have turned to delightful unrestrained rejoicing over what they claim to be a triumph of the traffic over all the forces allied against it.

Prohibition Officers are necessary to the enforcement of prohibition and local option laws.

KANSAS MAYORS IN CONVENTION BOOM PROHIBITION STATE.

The league of Kansas municipalities held its first meeting in Wichita on May 18. Thirty-five mayors from the principal cities of the state came together and the testimony was notable for its enthusiastic endorsement of the new system of Prohibition enforcement.

Perhaps no feature of the meeting was more interesting than the report of public improvements in which every city in the state seemed to share. Practically every town either owns its electric light plant or is preparing to purchase it. Almost without exception the cities and towns of the state are supplying their own water. All Kansas mayors said that their cities were getting a dollar's worth for every dollar invested, and few of them were on other than a cash basis. The splendid effect of commission rule government were emphasized by many. It seemed to be common opinion that practically every city in the state would change to the commission form as soon as the matter can be referred to popular vote.

PROHIBITION WITHOUT A PARTY BEHIND IT.

Tennessee's Democrats outraged at the treachery of their Governor and his alliance with interests of graft and drink, have just held an extraordinary meeting at Nashville at which an independent ticket for judges was put in the field and defiance of their state machine voiced in ringing resolutions, but strange as it may seem not a single word escaped the lips of the Resolution Committee or any speaker on that occasion regarding the Prohibition issue which just now is a paramount question before the voters of that state.

In Georgia, new evidence transpires as to the conspiracy which is developing among Democratic politicians for the overthrow of State Prohibition. Judge Richard B. Russell of the Georgia Court of Appeals and a well known Democratic leader has just announced that he will be a candidate for the Governorship of Georgia on a plank demanding return to the local option method of dealing with the liquor traffic.

40,000 MARCHING PROHIBITIONISTS STIR MINNEAPOLIS.

"Nail up the Brewery and the Distillery,—and the Saloons, Blind Pigs, and the Speak-easies will take care of themselves,"—this pointed slogan shone out from a thousand pennants carried in the greatest Prohibition demonstration ever seen in the West, at Minneapolis, Saturday, May 14th.

Every division of the great army of liquor-fighters was strongly represented. Hundreds of floats and beautifully draped automobiles and carriages were in line and even William Hamm, a big local brewer boss, was dumb with amazement at the sights and refused to say a single word for publication, although repeatedly importuned to do so.

The splendid impression made upon the public in general by the demonstration is thus voiced by the Minneapolis Journal:

"In the greatest temperance demonstration ever given in the west, Minneapolis people, engaged in fighting the liquor traffic, marched through the downtown streets yesterday, cheering, singing temperance songs and waving thousands of banners and flags bearing mottoes of their principles. Music from many bands and the playing of patriotic hymns on the courthouse chimes added stimulus to the marching column. The line marched without interruptions and it was an hour and a half in passing.

"The demonstration was at once enthusiastic and spectacular, and the actual participants were rivaled in their show of spirit by the thousands who lined the streets through which they marched.

"From windows, temporary platforms, balconies and fire escapes along the route, occupants of the downtown buildings viewed the marching column, while the sidewalks were packed with spectators from the curb to the building line.

"Songs from marching men, women and children and patriotic airs from the bands were answered by cheers from friends of the marchers who were on the walks.

"Almost every creed in the city, every organized temperance body, and every class of private citizens were represented. The church denominations were mingled with the temperance societies. Prophecies that it was to be a women's and children's parade were not realized, for there were long columns of marching men. The children and women were there in force, but the men were there as well."

The Tribune, in much the same vein, says: "Practically all business was temporarily suspended, street car lines were tied up, and citizens turned out en masse for a period of over two hours.

"Business houses and department stores along the way found themselves without customers during the progress of the parade and were compelled to give their employes a temporary holiday. With scarcely an exception every window was filled with spectators, while in many cases the people had crowded out over the cornices and on the sills.

"It seemed as if the entire population of Minneapolis was out.

"Scarcely a more spectacular parade was ever witnessed in the city. The unique design of floats, the band and drum majors, the flying pennants, prancing horses bedecked with ribbons and draped with ensigns that bore inscriptions, the automobiles, the marshals wrapped in their red and white sashes—all combined to form a scene that has had few parallels."

FLASHLIGHTS.

Disgrace comes not from standing alone, but from being wrong.

There were 786,000 arrests in the United States last year of which 350,000 were of drunken men.

An International War Council and Congress of brewers will be held at Brussels, Belgium, July 23-26, 1910.

The Panama Canal will cost, it is anticipated, nearly $400,000,000. With the money paid for drink each year nearly five such canals could be completely paid for.

Clinton N. Howard has been secured to address a great rally in the largest hall of Kansas City, Kans., the Portsmouth Auditorium, on the evening of June 25.

For more than three hundred miles, or all the way from Little Rock, Arkansas, to Dallas, Texas, there is not a single wet town, the last one, Marshall, Texas, having been voted dry recently by two hundred majority.

A case involving the constitutionality of the recent amendment to the Prohibition law in Kansas, prohibiting the sale of liquor for medicinal or mechanical purposes or on the prescription of a physician, is now before the United States District Court of Kansas City, Kansas.

Prohibition and anti-narcotic literature is now being sent out in the Chinese language through the Oriental Secretary of the International Reform Bureau, Rev. E. W. Thwing, now located at Tientsin, China. He may be addressed at that city, care of the American Board.

A most interesting and suggestive article appears in the American Review of Reviews for May, which all Prohibitionists should read. It is entitled "The Problem of Waste in Public Expenditure" and the author is Myron T. Herrick. The startling extravagance of license city governments is extensively detailed.

One of the best indications of the growing importance of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the large amount of space given it by the editors of our newspapers. Last year 80,489 columns are reported as being regularly filled, while 37,000 papers are reported as receiving and printing our communications.

"The evils of the night messenger service" is a stirring article which should fire the heart of every patriot. It appears in the Success Magazine for June, and is written by Leroy Scott, who with power and eloquence exposes the startling conditions under which thousands of youths are being degraded in our large cities where the liquor traffic is protected by the dominant parties.

We can evangelize the world in this generation. We now send rum to the nations of the world.

We will hasten the former by taking away the brooch of the latter.—Northwestern Patriot, Brookings, S. D.

Germany:—In Mecklenburg the dining cars and railroad restaurants are now compelled to serve non-alcohol drinks at low prices and to "offer" them as much as they do alcoholic drinks. The trainmen are allowed 50 per cent off on these drinks but nothing on alcoholic drinks.

The American Pharmaceutical Association in national convention at Richmond, Virginia, May 4, again placed itself on record as advocating the abolition of alcohol as a commodity of sale in all American drug stores. It also earnestly urged the elimination of all traffic in what is termed "habit-forming drugs."

The United Societies for Local Self Government (the champion of the brewers of Chicago and surrounding communities) is planning to extend its organization throughout the state of Illinois, and Sabbath Day, May 29, was desecrated by great rallies held in Chicago, at which time twenty-two cities were said to be represented in the organization.

Another straw which shows the growing trend of public sentiment in the South is found in the South Atlantic Quarterly of current date, in which William Garrett Brown declares that political solidarity is no longer a fetish with southern voters, and he declares the time is at hand when southern voters may assert their right of freedom to belong to any political party they choose or to no political party.

The World's Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in Glasgow, Scotland, June 4-11.

There was a large attendance, great enthusiasm. The following officers were re-elected:

The Countess of Carlisle, England, President; Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, United States, Vice-President-at-Large; Miss Agnes Slack, England and Miss Anna Gordon, United States, Honorary Secretaries; Mrs. Mary E. Sanderson, Canada, Treasurer.

The Countess Carlisle, President, did not preside but a few times during the entire convention.

Our greatly admired and beloved Mrs. Stevens, presided with her usual dignity and splendid ability.

Many delegates and others would have been pleased to have had Mrs. Stevens placed at the head of the great world's W. C. T. U.

The Latest Idea of the Brewer's Press Bureau is the presentation to libraries throughout the country of the most seductive and plausible arguments that they have issued regarding the alleged fallacies and errors of Prohibition.

The liquor press states that a systematic plan is being adopted to give to every library in the United States the current literature being put out in pamphlet and book form by the brewer's editors.

Field News

Palmer W. C. T. U. of West Indianapolis, held two interesting meetings in May. On the evening of May 13th at the home of Mrs. Nellie Fox the union entertained the husbands of the members and the Senior L. T. L. There was a very nice program. The decorations were the national colors, and the favors were small flags. There were sixty-four present.

The meeting on May 27th was held in the Morris St. Christian church. Mrs. Cummings, Superintendent of the Italian work; Mrs. Noe, Superintendent of Franchise; Rev. Welker, pastor of Blaine Avenue M. E. church, and Rev. Doney of the Christian church, were present, and all gave very interesting and enthusiastic talks.

MRS. NELL COFER.

Westfield Union observed Flower Mission Day June 9th, in a beautiful way at the home of Mrs. Keister. As each lady entered the home, a bouquet of flowers was pinned in her hair or on her dress. A very appropriate programme was given, which consisted of responsive reading. A paper by Miss Clara Blair and one by Mrs. Hodgkin, Superintendent of Flower Mission work. Each member brought flowers which were distributed to the "shut-ins." The next day the work was continued by going to the jail and county farm at Noblesville. twenty ladies taking flowers and cheer services conducted by Annie Tomlinson.

ELLA BRILES, President.

The Evansville Frances Willard W. C. T. U. met on June 6, at the rest rooms in Evans Hall. We first sang "Christ in the World in Song," after which our President, Mrs. Davidson, read the scripture lesson.

This meeting was a social affair to welcome new members. We have thirty-seven active members and eleven honorary members. The visiting committee gave a splendid report of work done in the past.

Our weekly meetings are growing, and are very interesting. Our own local nineteen members of our union are delivering the addresses, and show themselves willing to do and keep on doing. We have temperance song sheets printed for our use. Pray for our sisters that our cause may succeed here and everywhere else.

Seymour W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Howard Brown.

Local Superintendent Canierlwork appointed. Mrs. Short gave a Bible Teaching on the Sabbath.

Leaflet—An American Problem, was read by Mrs. E. Perkinson.

Music by Mrs. Pfaffenberger and Mrs. Gertrude Wylie, were especially enjoyed.

June 3rd meeting was with Mrs. H. H. Allen at the M. E. Parsonage. An interesting paper on Flower Mission was read by the President, Mrs. Pfaffenberger, a sketch of the life of Jennie Casady by Miss Dora Deppert.

A parliamentary drill was given by Mrs. Short. Flowers were sent to City Hospital and all reported as ill or "shut in."

There was good music.

L. C. VANHORN.

South Bend:—Instead of offering a larger prize for the best paper on Physiology and Hygiene, Colfax Avenue Union offered to the B grade of the Laurel School a year's subscription to The Youth's Temperance Banner to each, whose paper should grade 85 or above. Twenty-one of the pupils received the high marks. When a copy of this bright, illustrated temperance story paper, comes each month into these 21 homes (two of them I believe, are saloonkeepers' homes)—and we are trusting that some of this seed, sown thus broadcast, may find good soil and grow. The teacher of the grade, Miss Florence Scott, and another teacher of the school, were also given a year's subscription to the paper. Over two dollars of the fund raised for this purpose still remains, and will probably be used to buy temperance story books for the reading library of the school. All this was made possible by the generosity of Mrs. John Donnahue, a member of the Union.

The members are greatly enjoying the regular Bible Study course conducted by our Evangelist, Superintendent Mrs. Carl Rogers.

MRS. W. M. WELD.

South Bend:—The ladies of the Pleasant View W. C. T. U., forty-in number, were very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. C. M. Uldine, 1407 Michigan avenue, on Wednesday afternoon. The state programme was followed by the Flower Mission by Superintendent Mrs. H. L. Kellogg, who gave a very good reading on Flower Mission Work. It is true, if flowers are exception of God's love to us, we should from our loyalty to Christ and humanity by His examples; we realize that opportunity and new fields are open to us on every hand. Mrs. L. A. Lydick recited a beautiful poem on Flowers, which was followed by a piano solo by Miss Esther Oberlin.

Mrs. David Augustine gave a medical temperance study, the Effects of Alcohol on the Heart and Mind. A violin solo by Miss Esther Fulton was very much appreciated by all.

Miss Violet Johnson, a recitation, Tommy's Bager, which was fine.

A paper, "Woman's Influence in Reform Movements," was given by Mrs. Ralph Smith.

Mrs. E. L. Hull reported two prize essays on scientific temperance by the pupils of Muessel School.

Sveral selections on the piano by Miss Mills Plant, closed the programme and a social hour was enjoyed by all, during which refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next regular meeting will be in Leeper Park, July 13, when the ladies will give a picnic dinner.

MRS. JACOB MILLER.

2304 Michigan Avenue.

Madison L. T. L. Tuesday night, May 31, at Brigade Hall, the L. T. L., under the direction of Mrs. George Denny, held another silver medal contest in the presence of an appreciative audience.

The contestants were: David Cox, Alma Askins, Haven Sherlock and Harry Killun.

They all rendered their selections with so much ability that favorable comment was given on all sides. Haven Sherlock was awarded the prize medal.

While the judges were out Miss Florence Demaree gave a selection of negro dialect and a group of L. T. L. girls gave a little dramatic song. "Gossip," was its title. The judges were Mrs. Jamison, Mrs. Keenee and Prof. Symms. The medal was presented by Hon. Harry Cope.

M. E. B.

LaPorte Union:—The essay contest place was very successful. The three prizes were won by the following young ladies first, Miss Ruth Seymour; second, Miss Florence Martin; third, Miss Marjorie Chulip. All the essays written were very good, and the pupils are much complimented for the interest and time they took in writing them.

Dr. David Paulson's lecture was fine. Space will not permit to give the programme in full—it was all good and interesting and a large audience was present to hear it. After serving the contestants with ice cream and cake the ladies sold over eight dollars worth. Much credit is due the committee in charge: Mrs. Ella Canare and Mrs. Eva Kregle.

MRS. SETH PEASE,

Press Superintendent.

Colfax Avenue W. C. T. U., at their June meeting by unanimous vote, placed themselves on record as passing such legislation as may be necessary to have members of school boards and trustees elected by direct vote of men and women who can read and write English.

One woman said "I used to vote on school matters in Illinois," another "So did I in Michigan." "Why yes," still another, "My mother has voted every school meeting for thirty years I guess in New York state." "Indiana is behind the times."

SECRETARY.

The VanBuren W. C. T. U. met at the beautiful country home of Mrs. John Pilkington Wednesday afternoon; it being a fine afternoon. There were about 45 present. Mrs. I. C. Mills, Superintendent of Mothers' Department, leader. She had charge of a very entertaining programme with several short papers. After devotional service there was a song by Miss Howard. Mrs. Wilson read a paper on "Mother and Child." Another paper was by Mrs. Artwell on "Individuality of Conscience in the Voter." Song by the Union, "Some Sweet Day." A paper was read by our President, Mrs. Dimit, on "The Workingman Should Know." Paper by Mrs. Harry Sullivan, "The Inside of a Saloon." Song by the girls, after which the meeting closed. Refreshments served by the hostess.—Mrs. L. F. Martin, Press Representative.

Broad Ripple:—Marion County Union held the annual "All-day meeting" on June 8th, at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hessong. Mrs. Hessong is the beloved President of the Union.

An indoor business meeting was held in the forenoon, and in the afternoon the company assembled under the spreading branches of a fine old beech tree on the great lawn, and enjoyed an interesting programme. Dr. Rebecca Rogers George read, by request, a comprehensive paper on "Motherhood, the Untrained Profession." This paper was prepared for and read by Dr. George before the annual convention of the State Federation of Clubs.

Mrs. McWhirter opened discussion on Dr. George's paper, in which much interest was shown and many remarks made. Mrs. S. R. Artman, County President spoke interestingly. Mrs. G. V. Woollen gave a reading.

There was spirited singing. At the noon hour the generous hospitality of the Broad Ripple W. C. T. U. was enjoyed by about a hundred and fifty people. A sumptuous dinner was spread on tables out under the trees, and much enjoyed by a happy and merry company. After dinner ice cream and cake was served to all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hessong, their two beautiful daughters and Mr. Mustard, the genial father of Mrs. Hessong, were most cordial in their hospitality.

The day was ideal and greatly enjoyed by all, especially by the favored guests of Broad Ripple W. C. T. U.

The National Congress of Mothers met in annual convention in Denver, June 10-15.

Mrs. Frederick Schoff, the president, is quoted thus:

"The child is God's greatest Gift to mankind." "The trend of the century is to prevent rather than cure."

"As guardians of infancy, as guides of childhood, and teachers of youth, the mothers have been meeting and studying all these years to learn the relation between cause and effect, to see why the healthy baby dies before it is one year old in four cases out of five, to learn why the sweet, innocent child develops into the selfish, self-seeking politician, the careless father, the irresponsible, frivolous woman, the drunkard and thief, the dissolute and degenerate members of society.

"Is there any subject more vital than to learn why their lives are blighted and destroyed?"

"After long study of the failure of the home to perform its function with efficiency, it seems to me that the fundamental reason for its failure is the belief which is centuries old that mother instinct enables a woman to bring up children, that with the child comes the ability to give it proper care physically and morally. Abolish the idea that mother and father instinct can give a child his rightful care, and substitute for it the idea that fatherhood and motherhood require even greater preparation than for any other profession and the first step will be taken toward the welfare of the child."

"Nine-tenths of the children arrested for various offenses owe their condition to their homes, to the inefficiency of their parents. Every one who follows juvenile crime will confirm the statement that parental and community ignorance of childhood's needs is the principal cause of juvenile crime. Therefore the home bears a direct relationship to crime. Let it assume the blame for juvenile crime, and study the causes."

The Deer Creek union presents flowers to all the High School and College graduates belonging to the families in its membership.

Mrs. George B. Love, President of the North Marion union, conducts a mothers' meeting, with good speakers, at her home every Friday evening.

Mrs. Moranda Wright, a local Flower Mission Superintendent, has furnished each member of her union, a report blank which she has prepared, with the request that it be fastened on the kitchen wall and whenever flowers, garments, money or anything is given away, the entry be written in the proper column and returned to her at the September meeting.

The Marion Central union is receiving from one to five new members at every meeting.

Mrs. Sarah C. Lenfesty, County Treasurer, reports an increase in membership of about sixty over this time last year.

County President, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart, is busy visiting families, speaking in churches, nursing and encouraging weak unions, distributing literature and lending a hand wherever it is needed. Mrs. Shugart is just now spending much of her time at the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Jay, who has been ill for several weeks. Mrs. Jay is a veteran white ribboner of Grant county.

The South Wabash Union celebrated June 8 as "Flower Mission" day, with Mrs. Emma Smallwood.

The programme was arranged by our efficient Flower Mission Superintendent, Miss Pharaba Ridgway. Every number was good. Our Superintendent secured the best speakers and musicians of the South Side (most of those taking part were not members of the W. C. T. U.)

This was a red letter day for our union, it being one of the best, largest and most enthusiastic parlor meetings we have ever held. There were fifty present, a number of whom were not members, but expressed themselves as favorably impressed.

We made and distributed sixty-three bouquets with a printed text-card tied with white ribbon on each. Also placed flowers on the graves of our deceased members. The members of the union were asked to arrange their flowers into bouquets at home to save time and also give greater opportunity to arrange the flowers. Our florist, Mr. Ulsh, gave a large donation of carnations. These carnations with other flowers were arranged by our flower superintendent into seventeen beautiful bouquets, tied with white ribbon and a printed text-card. She also tied a bow of white ribbon on a text-card for each of the bouquets brought in by the others.

We are glad that we have this day set aside to give cheer and comfort to those less fortunate than ourselves.—J. R. C.

The Madison County Institute was held in Alexandria at the M. E. church. After the devotional service we were welcomed by Mrs. India Reed, the local President.

Miss Mary Woodard was our leader, and the anxious of the county were well represented. Rev. Emerson of Summittville, was present and spoke on the "Coming Legislature" which gave us much encouragement. The state programme was carried out, and our meeting was interesting throughout the day. Miss Woodard lectured at night, and the evening before, she spoke at Anderson.

At the meeting of the executive board we decided to hold a picnic at Bulean Park, Alexandria, on July 4. A good programme with a Gold Medal contest in the afternoon, will be given. A basket dinner at noon. Remember this and be sure to attend.—Hattie Coxen, Rec. Secy.

Mrs. H. C. Foote, Huntington County President, organized a local union at Zion church near the city of Huntington on June 5.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl writes:

By invitation and planning of our sister, Malvina Baily, we visited the Saratoga Union May 21-22; held three meetings, and secured 16 new members for the union. We shall not forget the kindness of the good people or the courtesy of our dear Bro. Singer, pastor of the M. E. church.

Benton County:—The ladies of the Oxford Union gave an "Old-Fashioned Exhibition" on the evening of April 15th that was one of the most entertaining events of the year.

The programme as carried out, consisted of old-time declamations, songs, dialogues and drills; the ladies appearing in costumes and bonnets of by-gone days and using names of a former period.

An apron sale and exchange at which refreshments were served was held on the afternoon of the same day.—Mrs. L. B. Evans, Press Supt.

The Wells County spring institute was held at Six-Mile church on May 11-12. There was a large attendance, due partly to the fact, that the new B. G. C. traction line was just about done and special cars for the occasion, run. While there was a good attendance there was also much interest manifested, and we think much good done. There was a goodly number of members added to the membership list of the county, and many added subscriptions to the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly. The ladies of the church served free dinner and supper, and there was a bountiful supply of good things to eat. All had a happy time and went home feeling that it was good to be there.—Mrs. Jennie Bickel.

Keystone:—Mrs. Jennie Lincoln, local contest superintendent of Keystone, held a good silver medal contest at Chester Center, Friday night, April 29th. Attendance good and much interest. The speakers all did well, especially Miss Edna McCullick, who won the medal. A gold medal contest was held at the M. P. church at Keystone, May 12, conducted by Mrs. Lincoln. The contest was well attended. "The Drinking House Over the Way," was spoken by Miss Anna Baldwin, who was the successful contestant. There is to be a vocal contest held at this place in the near future.—Ella Bennett, Press Supt.

The Matthews W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Flora Smith in East Matthews, June 10, at 2:30 p. m. The regular order of business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Lena Shaw, as it was Flower Mission Day. Mrs. Margaret Trissel, superintendent of that department, was in charge. The "Life of Jennie Cassiday," was read by Mrs. Trissel which was of interest to all present.

Mrs. Hall read a poem, "The Mission of the Flowers," which was very beautiful.

The subject, "What a Flower Mission Should Mean to Our Community," was discussed by the members.

The library, well filled with flowers to be distributed among the sick. One new member was added to the union.

Mrs. Cora Osburn was appointed superintendent of the Mothers' Department.—Mrs. Alice Garrettson, Press Superintendent.

Madison:—On June 1st, Revenue Collector Lee destroyed a large quantity of beer at Webber's Brewery. They claimed they found it not profitable, but rather a loss for them to ship away, and have shipped on return the home beer they had on hand. They sent for Deputy Revenue Officer Lewis A. Lee of Lawrenceburg and that officer destroyed the beer by running it out through a sewer to the Crooked Creek bottom. They estimate the value of the beer destroyed at between $2,500 and $3,000.

The Elks' club here was raided the forenoon of June 11 by Special Policeman Pate, who swore out the affidavit. Chief John Shuler, Policeman Hollis and Deputy Ebenezer Gray. The officers, after securing the keys from Janitor McDermott, entered the basement of the building and there found and confiscated thirteen barrels and two tubs of bottled beer and nine bottles of whiskey. The wet goods were all removed from the building by the officers to the city treasurer's vaults where it was stored.

The course of legal procedure was the notification of the officers of the club to appear before the mayor and show why the liquor should not be destroyed. The notice was given that afternoon. The club had ten days to answer, but they did not wish that time and demanded an immediate trial. Saturday night, after the noon trial another violator's case had closed. The jury took the case of State vs. The Elks' Club, charged with having intoxicating liquor on hand illegally and was tried in the Mayor's Court, Judge Perry E. Bear defending. The results of the case was dismissal of the charge, and the liquor ordered returned to the club. Before recording his verdict Mayor Harper made a short address assuring the public his intentions were to enforce the law, and in all cases brought before him the law would be strictly enforced and that citizens knowing of any violators and making affidavit to same, the law violators would be punished if proven guilty.

Special Policeman Pate, the prosecuting witness, was discharged from further duty by Mayor Harper by advice of the League committee who had him appointed. Quoting the Saturday's Madison Herald, it says: "The goods seized was claimed to be the individual property of members of the club, and was secured on their own orders, each package being marked with names of those who had ordered it to whom it belonged. The club is a private organization, and is composed of some of the best citizens of Madison. What ill-judged or misdirected zeal that led to the raid is not known, but it is certainly a mistake, and a big one, that brought it about. It will only serve to injure the cause of those who have instigated it, and is an infringement of private rights in a most marked manner."

Saturday night, after the Elks' trial, at the City Hall, while Special Policeman Pate was standing on Hargan's corner, some one said to be a Mulberry street bartender, bumped up against him, and, on Mr. Pate's resenting, struck the policeman over the head with a cane, knocking him down, and then ran. Mr. Pate claims he knows who his assailant was, and will prosecute him.

Madison's W. C. T. U. held a very interesting business meeting at Brigade hall Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Reports of good work was given and all were enthusiastic to press onto victory.—Mary E. Bayliss.

The Madison Union held an open meeting at Brigade Hall, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Jamison, the President, in charge.

The following is the programme which was worthy of her untiring efforts:

Song—L. T. L. chorus.

Scripture Reading and Prayer.

Solo—"The World Is Dying for Want of Love," by Martha Cofield, Mrs. Frank Thomas, accompanist.

A paper on "Brief History of the Mormon Church," by Mrs. W. W. Renolds.

Reading by Miss Anna Sherdock.

Address—"Present Condition of the Mormon Church in Utah," by Rev. McDowell of Trinity M. E. church.

Allen County Institute a Grand Success. It was held in Monroeville M. E. church, April 25 and 26, beginning the evening of the 25th with an address by the State President, Mrs. Culla J. Vanhinger, which was excellent and enough to convince any one of the righteousness of our cause. Good music was rendered by a special choir, and, Miss Smithson of Fairmount, who accompanied Mrs. Vayhinger, sang some beautiful solos.

The morning of the 26th many ladies from Fort Wayne came in on the interurban, and a busy and profitable day and evening were spent. Our County President, Mrs. Ridenour, was on hand and busy as usual with all good works, and the way was paved for the good increase in membership we have made since, in our membership contest. A good attendance was had throughout, and contest evening, standing room was at a premium.

Monroeville:—The W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. B. Miller, Superintendent of the flower mission department. After the business session a very interesting programme was rendered under the management of Mrs. Miller. The programme was very touching, relating as it did to the beautiful mission of flowers. Many flowers were brought in by the ladies to be sent to the Fort Wayne flower mission department to be distributed among the sick at the different hospitals, etc. At the conclusion of the programme came the closing of the membership contest. Mrs. Wm. Erwin, Captain of the Blues, reported fifteen new members; Mrs. W. C. Miller, Captain of the Reds, reported thirty-five new members, making a total of fifty members, of that number fourteen are honorary. A reception in honor of the new members will be held on the evening of June 17 at Youse's Hall. At the close of the meeting it was decided to continue the work of securing new members until the date of the reception. The next meeting will be at the country home of Mrs. Clayton and will be a mothers' meeting, in charge of Mrs. Fannie Edwards, Superintendent of that department.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

Everton Fayette County W. C. T. U. in conjunction with the G. G. G. Culture Club of Everton, held a splendid meeting at the home of Mrs. Eva Piper, June 8, Vice-President Mrs. Alma Lake, presided, in the absence of the President, who was ill.

Opening hymn, "Work For the Night is Coming." Lord's Prayer in unison scripture, 46 Psa., read by the hostess. Roll call answered by scriptural quotations. Papers, "What the Flower Mission Should Mean to Our Community," Mrs. Myer; "Womans Interest in All Reform Movements," Mrs. White; "The Necessity of the Positive Influence of Woman on the Side of Temperance," Mrs. Floyd, were all fine. Several other appropriate readings and selections were rendered besides both vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. W. L. Bell of Kansas City, Mo., who was a guest, and who is identified with movements for uplift and education, interested all with a splendid and instructive talk along the line of "Woman's Advancement and Happiness, closing with "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and benediction by Mrs. Floyd. A social hour was enjoyed. Cake and lemonade was served. The hour for departure came too soon, all pronouncing Mrs. Piper a charming entertainer and the day one of the brightest links in the chain of our W. C. T. U. meetings.—Mrs. Annie Trusler Brumfiel Press Superintendent, Connersville, R. R. 5, Box 49.

Tippecanoe County:—The Monon W. C. T. U. of Lafayette, met June 8 at the home of Mrs. G. M. Batt, 1718 North Eighteenth street. After a short business session the afternoon was devoted to the flower mission department. Bouquets with text cards being sent to the sick and aged, and hearts made glad by the gift of flowers, one of God's beautiful gifts to His children.

Encouraging talks were given by Mrs. H. H. Budge, Mrs. C. C. Robinson and Mrs. R. P. Cole, who, with several others, were guests of the afternoon.

Our Promoted Comrades

The LaPorte W. C. T. U. is mourning the loss of a dear member, Mrs. Austin Cutler, who was called to her reward March 26th. Mr. Cutler is also a member and he has the sympathy of the organization in his bereavement.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. XV. No. 9

ANDERSON, IND., AUGUST, 1910

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Dear Sisters.—We are in the last quarter of the year. Our slogan at the opening of the year's work was "10,000 Women for 1910." We have thus far made a small gain—about 150. If we hold our own this year we must pay dues for 2,711 (two thousand seven hundred and eleven) members in this present quarter. If we reach our "10,000 members," we must pay for 5,088 members in this quarter. My heart has been going out after the women of the state for the W. C. T. U. We must have them. The liquorites are massing their forces in Indiana this year as never before. Will the mothers sleep while these vandals overrun our domain? May God help each union to plan at once for a systematic canvass for members. If you love the cause, sacrifice some time in the next month in enlisting new women. Who will join me in praying three times a day, morning, noon and night, for these 5,088 women in this quarter? Prayer and work will bring them! Yours for service,—Culla J. Vayhinger.

ATTENTION.

The Liberal League at Indianapolis is sending to the libraries over the state, books and leaflets containing the same old falsehoods concerning prohibition that have been used for the last fifty years and refuted time and time again. These need your attention. Will you not visit your library, see if they are there, then if they cannot be removed, procure literature containing the truth about this matter and see that plenty of it is there for use. They hope by these lies to defeat prohibition in Indiana. Let them not catch us napping.—Cully J. Vayhinger.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH.

Dear Comrades.—As the busy days go by and time is hurrying us on to another state convention, are we all doing all that we can in our blessed cause? It is indeed gratifying to know that some work has been done for our young people in the state, some unions organized, but how I wish that more work could be done, several more unions reported ere the time for gathering in our reports.

Dear sisters, please don't neglect the young men and women. We need them so much, and they need us and our help. So won't you who read these lines make a harder effort than ever before to enlist the young people? Get them interested in our work, in the scientific study of alcohol in all the different departments of our loved cause, and your time is well spent, and much good will result from all the effort you put forth.

God bless you and me in our work, and lead us aright. Yours for the young people.—(Miss) Laura Cammack, State Y. Sec., Converse, Ind.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CONVENTION.

The sixteenth annual convention of the Indiana Loyal Temperance Legion was held in the Second Presbyterian church at Greensburg July 6, 7 and 8.

A splendid program, well carried out, delightful weather and ideal hostesses made the convention a success in every respect.

Some of the best features of the program were the well written papers on the subjects given: "The History of the L. T. L.," by Miss Irma Smith, Marion; "The History of the Y.," by Miss Laura Cammack, Converse; "The Juvenile Court and What Has Been Accomplished," by Miss Rosa Hainlen, Marion; "Alcohol, Narcotics and the Coming Generation," by Dr. Nettie Bainbridge-Powell, Marion; "Temperance and Industrial Efficiency," by Mr. Roy J. Colbert, Greencastle.

The addresses of Rev. Johnson, pastor of the Christian church of Greensburg, and Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, state W. C. T. U. president, Upland, were especially fine.

Many splendid reports of work accomplished during the past year were given.

The following officers were elected: President, Miss Blanche Thorne, Marion; vice president, Miss Vera Fisher, Greencastle; corresponding secretary, Mr. Kenneth Hoffman, Elwood; recording secretary, Miss Irma D. Smith, Marion; treasurer, Miss Harriet Stockton, Kokomo; musical director, Miss McLean, Greencastle; organizer, Mrs. Ida M. Mix, Kokomo; organizer among colored people, Mrs. M. A. McCurdy, Richmond.

Immediately after dinner following the close of the convention, the business men furnished automobiles and took the conventioners to the I. O. O. F. Home, a mile east of Greensburg, where arrangements had been made to receive the young people, and which was a great treat.

The State Rally Cry was given several times, as were the local cries.

State Yell.

Taste not, want not, care not,
For whisky, brandy or rum,
Tobacco profanity, we vow to have none.

The liquor traffic, we must quell,
Then how proud will be the yell!
Indiana senior L. T. L.!

FROM THE STATE SECRETARY.

Dear Comrades.—2,711. What does it stand for? Just this: Our state treasurer says we must collect dues from 2,711 members this quarter in order to hold our own in membership this year. Will we do it? Of course we will. Indiana W. C. T. U. must take no backward steps, neither must we stand still. Right on to greater victories must be our watchword. Your state officers so hoped that we might bring our membership up to ten thousand this year because of the greater influence it will give our organization before our coming legislature. In order to do this we must collect dues this quarter from 5,088 members. The time is short, but it can be done if every member will do her best to bring it to pass. Will you?

Plans are afoot to send our organizers out to visit local unions in order to strengthen the work and help in winning new members. Unions will receive due notice of the time of the visit, and will be expected to entertain the organizer and arrange meetings for her, and in every way try to make the most possible of her visit. But do not wait until the organizer arrives, but begin now to try to increase the interest in your work and to win new members.

Plans for our state convention are progressing with every prospect of a great gathering of the clans at Ft. Wayne. That peerless orator, Clinton N. Howard, has been secured to address the mass meeting on Sunday afternoon. Other features of the convention will be announced later. Every local union in the state should send the president and at least one delegate. Don't fail to be represented. Yours for service.—Mary E. Woodard.

MRS. ROSE PEARCE'S LETTER.

Dear Sisters and Co-workers.—I wish to convey to you all, through the pages of the Message, my thanks for and appreciation of your loyalty to the department I represent, and to the plans made for the work of the same during the past spring. In His wisdom the all-wise Father saw fit to permit sickness to lay me aside just at the time when I was expecting to be in the institute field, thereby meeting many of you face to face, receiving from you an inspiration to further service, and doing my best to help you in your work. I can never tell you how much you helped me by your hearty and loving co-operation in the work, and the sweet and lovely way in which you received the substitute leaders sent to fill my dates; neither can I ever sufficiently thank those leaders for their help at that time. Cheerfully and willingly they laid aside their own plans and did extra field work, that the cause we love should not suffer. The institute season is over, the reports are in and as I gather up the results, I rejoice to tell you that in 1910 the work took a step forward. I have received many letters bringing words of thanks and appreciation of the program prepared, because it dealt with living, vital issues. I want also to thank all those dear sisters who so lovingly sent to me in my sickness, letters of sympathy and cheer. I shall try to answer them all, but should I in any case fail, please understand that you are not forgotten nor unappreciated.

And now the weeks are rapidly passing, bringing us near to the close of another year of service, in which we have been working and praying for the overthrow of the liquor traffic. When we come up to our great Harvest Home at Fort Wayne on October 14 next, what shall we have to report? Shall we rejoice over the fact that ten thousand of Indiana's best women wear the white ribbon and stand pledged to work, to fight, to pray that the white flag of Prohibition may float over the homes of our beloved state, protecting our sons and daughters against King Alcohol?

If our membership reaches the 10,000 mark—if these dear women who mean so much to the work are to be won, it means that every union, every member of every union, must get to work in earnest, for the time is short and will admit of no procrastination. Do you realize how watchful and active the liquor men are this year? Have you considered the methods they are using? They are using, as never before, the power of the press to reach the people. They are sending out volumes bearing titles which will cause people to read them. They are printing extracts from these books, in the secular papers. They are mailing to the homes of the people leaflets and tracts. I need not tell you that these books, leaflets and extracts are all in favor of the traffic, and therefore a menace to the home; and whilst they will none of them cause you or I to deviate one iota from the path we are in, let me remind you of the thousands who have no fixed principles along this line; who are, may be, on the "fence." These are the people we want to win to our cause—these are the people this pernicious literature will affect. Did you ever stop to consider how many good people there are who read what is placed in their hands, but who never, for various reasons, search for proof of or more information concerning a subject thus brought before them? They simply accept the statement of the printed page. Let me urge each and all of you, even if you have but little time for personal work, for the sake of the wives and mothers; out of pity for the ruined homes all over our state; for the protection of the youths and maidens, and out of love for the little children—will you not furnish yourselves with temperance literature—real, live, up-to-date literature—and then scatter, scatter, scatter it. Mail it to your friends and neighbors; mail it to the people you know, and to people you do not know. Place it in your churches and Sunday schools, in your stores, in your railway depots—anywhere and everywhere that it may carry the message. Let us put into the few weeks that remain to us for service before we close the year's record; work so earnest and faithful; prayers so full of faith and power, that we may come up to our convention at Fort Wayne, that stronghold of the liquor men, "with rejoicing, bringing in our sheaves." Again thanking each and all of you and looking forward to meeting you, lovingly yours.—(Mrs.) Rose Pearce, State Recording Secretary and Superintendent of Institutes, Darlington, Ind.

FLOWER MISSION SERVICE OF W. C. T. U. ON THURSDAY.

Special Program Observed by Muncie Organization at M. P. Church of This City June 21.

An unusually interesting meeting, a flower mission session, was held by the members of the Muncie Women's Christian Temperance Union at the Methodist Protestant church in East Jackson street at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. A special program had been arranged for the special meeting.

The program is as follows: Donations of flowers, plants, fruits, garments, etc., for flower mission; hymn, "Some Glad Day," congregation; reading from flower mission text cards; prayer, the Rev. P. W. Dierberger; "Lead, Kindly Light," sung by boys' chorus; national flower mission report, Mrs. Odessa Rayle; reading, "The Story of Jennie Cassidy," Mrs. Jennie Thorp; "What the Flower Mission Means to the W. C. T. U. and the Community," Mrs. C. D. Dille; reading, "Why a Flower Mission?" Mrs. Mary Baker; topic for debate, "What Are the Duties of Flower Mission Superintendents?" Mrs. Nettie Hawk; "Are We Living Up to Them?" County Superintendent Mrs. Chambers; reading, Miss Lola Howell; "Some Glad Morn," quartet of M. P. church; flower mission responsive reading, by 26 W. C. T. U. members; distribution of flower mission literature and text cards; hymn, and "White Ribbon" benediction.

FAIR AND OPEN-AIR MEETINGS.

Dear Sisters of the W. C. T. U.—To my mind this is one of the greatest departments through which to reach the public in our work, and there are so few county superintendents. Will not the local and county women please do something in this line during these summer months? Then send the reports to me by Sept. 20, so Indiana may be recognized as having done something in this line of work.

I will do what I can, but my report depends largely upon you. By gathering here a little, and there a little, we may be counted among the first, where we deserve to be.

If any who do work have not received blanks, please write me. I send out reports to all superintendents and many others early in the year—for a reminder. As our department work all comes in the warm months, I feel it's useless to ask for more than one report each year.

I want to urge you again to please help me in this work. Prepare out-door programs, contests, etc. Distribute literature. Fix up booths at fairs. Do something! Most earnestly and lovingly.—Mrs. Lizzie Heath, 810 E. Walnut St., Indianapolis, Ind., State Supt.

AUGUST, 1910.

State convention, Oct 14-18, at Fort Wayne, Ind.
National convention, Nov. 12-17, at Baltimore, Md.

To the state convention every union is entitled to send the president, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty paid members. Now is the time to plan to go to Fort Wayne. That will be a great convention.

At Winona Lake many White Ribboners will meet during the Bible conference, Aug. 20 to 31. Wear your ribbons.

Indiana W. C. T. U. in influence and power is measured by her membership. Some dues are not collected and our membership must be increased. The Indiana legislature meets Jan. 10 and there are some laws we greatly desire passed. Our strength will be estimated according to our numbers. Now let us all help the local treasurers collect dues. A little effort and a few afternoons in pleasant calling by several women in each community will bring great results. According to our interest in the success of the temperance work is our willingness to help a little. Never were there so many grand, good women, unselfish and energetic women, working unitedly for any great cause as are working in the W. C. T. U.

The liquor men are busy night and day with a campaign of literature and personal effort to overthrow the dry legislation. They are accomplishing much. Everywhere our W. C. T. U. people must be active. We must scatter temperance literature and collect dues. We must win. God will help if we do all we can. He will not do for us what we can do for ourselves.

Indiana W. C. T. U. women are proud of their girls and boys. We are so glad to know that our folks are appreciated and honored when they move to other states. Mrs. Mamie White Colvin is attending the Glasgow convention, a delegate from New York state. She and Mr. Colvin sailed from New York on the "Celtic" May 21. In a letter written to her mother, Mrs. Belle White, in mid ocean, she says: "Today we sent a wireless message to the 'Canada.' 'Celtic White Ribboners salute you. Trip delightful. Hallelujah!' They answered, '130 comrades on Canada send greeting. Every one well and happy. Meet you at Queenstown Sunday morning.'"

As her letter was postmarked Queenstown, May 29, they reached there on time.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, first superintendent of the schools of Chicago, has been elected first president of the National Educational Association. Mrs. Young received 617 votes and the man who was the choice of the nominating committee, received 376 votes.

Miss Laura Cammack, our beloved state Y. secretary, is under the shadow of a great bereavement. Her mother has recently passed away after years of suffering and invalidism, during which time this daughter was almost constantly with her.

Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Hutchins are spending June and July in Zurich, Switzerland, where Dr. Hutchins is studying and doing research laboratory work under the famous brain and nerve specialists of Zurich University.

Dr. Hutchins writes: It would surprise you to see how many restaurants and public houses do not sell alcoholic drinks. There is a decided sentiment here against alcohol. I was talking the other day with Prof. Monakow (He is the professor of anatomy, pathology and nervous diseases in the University of Zurich, in whose laboratory I am working, a world-famous man), and he told me that he is an anti-alcoholer. He said his study of the nervous system caused him to note the effects of alcohol and he became a total abstainer. Also, Dr. Farel, one of the most noted pathologists in the world and the man we came here especially to see, has given up medicine entirely, and devotes all of his time writing articles against the use of alcohol. Words from Farel will command the respect of any scientific man. On a little trip one day over to Schaffhausen and Newhausen, Germany, to see the Falls of the Rhine, in the old town of Schaffhausen, Dr. and Mrs. Hutchins came to a beautiful big five-story stone villa within the enclosure of an iron fence and great gate posts, on a street near the fine bank building, and what did they see but a gilt sign, "Alkoholfreies Restaurant" (free from alcohol). They found that it was beautifully furnished and decorated in the arts' and crafts' color and the ceiling with gilded designs in fresco. German only was spoken. There was a "Ladies' Dining Room" and a big general restaurant. Dr. Hutchins was told that this had been established a year and the same people owned another elsewhere. In this building all kinds of meetings, parties, etc., are held. It is a success financially. The men of Schaffhausen have organized an abstinence league. All this in German.

RAILROAD DEPARTMENT.

Dear County Superintendents.—Remember your reports have to be in by September 15. Collect your local reports in time to fill out your own, so that each of you may receive credit for the work done in your county. The first of the year I included the interurban and street car employees in my list to each of you. The suggestion has come to me that we give that line special attention. Very truly yours.—Mrs R. P. Cole, State Supt., 214 South 6th St., Lafayette, Ind.

FLOWER MISSION.

Dear Sisters.—Another year's work is recorded on the pages of the past, and only a few more days remain for us to complete our final report. Has each White Ribbon woman done what she could in this beautiful work for the Master? Have we visited the sick and unfortunate? Have we given a helping hand and spoken the words of cheer and hope to those in the depths of despondency? "Let your lights so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."—St. Matthew, 5:10. In the 25th chapter of St. Matthew we find positively this is God's own plan. This is the Master's work and we are his servants. "Let us do with our might what our hands find to do."

The report to be given at state convention in October is dependent largely upon the local superintendents. Many of the best county reports last year were sent in too late. Don't fail this year. Local reports must be sent to county superintendents by Sept. 10. All county superintendents will receive their report blanks in this month. Lovingly.—Viola R. Harvey, State Superintendent, Mooresville, Ind.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

July 4, 1910.

Dear Sisters.—On our great national holiday I find myself in Amboy—in the home of our beloved comrade Jennie Ridgeway. We miss the cheery welcome of her noble husband, who greeted us on our last visit to Amboy, but as one goes down, another clasps the white banner of prohibition and bears it forward to victory. More people today stand for a safe and sane 4th of July than ever before, and today we are going to the grove to enjoy the annual rally of the Prohibitionists of old Miami and expect a great day.

I have really been too busy the past month to write you as I desire. The water-wagon is moving rapidly and Indiana must go forward to statewide prohibition or lose her opportunity. The "dry" counties of the state are pleased with improved conditions in spite of law violation, and the "wet" counties are disgusted with their undesirable neighbors and criminal court docket. This is the opportunity for the W. C. T. U. Get the women and children, and men will eventually follow. The past month I have had good audiences in Rush county, Tipton, Hamilton, Franklin, Wayne and Miami. Have been called by our good prohibition brothers to the tent meetings in places where we have no W. C. T. U. to make our plans and have held afternoon meetings at the tent for women and children and presented our cause in the Sunday school and churches at each point, in hope of getting our 10,000 women before state convention. O, sisters, will you not get up contests with a good, strong class and do local work now? Many of our L. T. L. boys and con test workers will cast their first ballots this year. God grant that those ballots may harmonize with L. T. L. battle cries and church resolutions so that the doom of the traffic may be sealed right speedily. Yours for victory.—Elizabeth T. Stanley.

THE UNION SIGNAL.

Circulation of National Official Papers.

The subscription report of Indiana for the month ending June 15, 1910, is: The Union Signal—New subscriptions, 52; discontinuances, 13; present subscription list, 558.

Y. P. B. Edition—Subscription list, 14.

The Crusader Monthly—New subscriptions, 39; discontinuances, 95; present subscription list, 514.

The subscription report of your state for the month ending July 15, 1910, is: The Union Signal—New subscriptions, 8; discontinuances, 22; present subscription list, 544.

The Crusader Monthly—New subscriptions, 9; discontinuances, 17; present subscription list, 506.

W. C. T. U. women of Indiana, this list clearly indicates that all of our county officers and local union officers do not read the Union Signal weekly. Wherever the membership reads the Union Signal the unions do the most aggressive work against the liquor traffic, tobacco and the social evils. In order to be well informed upon the condition of affairs in the reform ranks it is absolutely necessary to read the news.

Our W. C. T. U. women live in good homes.

They have well-trained children and they all dress well. Many of them are well educated and nearly all spend money for things they desire. Why is it they do not subscribe for the Union Signal, $1.00 per year, and secure for themselves the temperance and reform news of this and other countries.

What would we think of the pastor of a church who did not read his church paper? Likewise, what may we expect of the reading, educated people of our vicinity who know that our local and county officers do not read their own official paper, the Union Signal?

Of course they know those who do for they are so filled with real facts and information concerning conditions of temperance and purity that they are known as being well informed. Readers of the Union Signal are informed upon the temperance, gambling and purity situation in this country and especially congressional and legislative matters.

Those who desire this information to come into their homes for less than two cents (2) a week, please take a dollar with you to your next W. C. T. U. meeting and have your subscription sent to "The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill."

I offered to give $10.00 in gold to the person who would send in the greatest number of subscriptions to The Union Signal that were credited to the state superintendent before June 15. Now I will extend the time of that offer to Oct. 1 and will award the prize at the state convention at Fort Wayne. State officers and institute leaders not included.

All subscriptions to be sent to the office of The Union Signal, Evanston, Ill.—(Mrs.) Luella F. McWhirter, State Supt. Dept. Nat'l Official Paper.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

Dear County Superintendents and Presidents.—Within the next few days I will mail to you my report blanks, one for each local union in your county. Will you please be faithful in sending them out to the local superintendent (where you have one), and to the local president, where there is no local superintendent of this department. Indiana stood again for honorable mention in last year's national report. It was due to your faithfulness that this was accomplished. Can we not do better this year in gathering up and sending in the reports? I wonder who will carry home the Christian Citizenship penant this year. Will you? Faithfully yours.—Gertrude Fulton, State Superintendent.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

Dear Co-workers.—Our year is fast drawing to a close and let us not forget to send in our report. It is my aim to reach every county with report blanks, but if for any reason you fail to receive any, please send a reply to the following questions and it will do exactly as well:

1. No. talks delivered on this subject.
2. No. lectures given.
3. No. sermons preached.
4. No. papers read.
5. No. copies state law placed before public.
6. No. meetings devoted to this subject.
7. No. impure pictures removed.
8. No. pictures of Frances Willard placed.
9. No. articles sent for publication.
10. No protests made to editors.
11. No. pages literature on this subject distributed.
12. What have you done about the bill boards?
13. What have you done about obscene post cards.
14. Amount spent in this department.
15. What else have you accomplished?

The above fifteen questions are the same as the report blanks, so do not wait for these beyond the time limit. If there is a county superintendent for this department I will send blanks to her, and if not, I will send to the county superintendent, hoping that the one who receives them will send them to each union.

Get your reports in early, and we'll come up to state convention feeling proud of our work. Yours very sincerely.—Elnora G. McNaughton.

GLEANINGS FROM MARION CO. W. C. T. U.

The keynote to all success in this life is earnestness and I can truly say that the women of the Marion County Women's Christian Temperance Union are clearly showing that they are in earnest; that they are taking an active interest in all leading questions of the day.

I believe every member of our W. C. T. U. is alive to the issues of the hour, and awake to the influences that are so rapidly writing on the scroll of our times the history of our people.

So swiftly has the Woman's Christian Temperance Union gained ground; so rapid its development from the very first, that not even our women themselves can fully comprehend the scope of its interest or the extent of its influence.

The W. C. T. U. has proved that it is not a fad, to be taken up only to be cast aside after the newness has worn away. It is not a banding together of women who desire power and position. It is a result of the greatest moral awakening this world has ever known.

Our women all over this land have been touched as never before with the moral and spiritual life of the times. Out of a darkened, heavily-laden past comes a cry for more light on the part of every member of our W. C. T. U.

As the light dawned and her eyes became accustomed to the light, woman saw clearly that with every moment of her leisure time there was for not an added moment; a new measure of responsibility.

MRS. SAMUEL R. ARTMAN,
President Marion County W. C. T. U.

Since being elected president of Marion County, I have with the aid of my co-workers organized one new union—details given in Dr. Keller's report—organized one new mission Sunday school, details given in other reports. Have visited 10 unions, held monthly executive meetings, every month but one—being very sick in March—chaired by corresponding secretary.

Have made forty-nine talks up to date, July 9, of which 55 have been public addresses, on several occasions speaking to two, three, and at one public meeting at Y. W. C. A. there were five hundred and fifty women present.

Have supplied 25 meetings with speakers and many requests for speakers could not be granted. So many demands and so few speakers.—Mrs. Samuel R. Artman, Pres. Marion Co. W. C. T. U., 1933 N. New Jersey St., Indianapolis, Ind.

Dr. Martha E. Keller, Vice President of Marion County and Superintendent of Medical Temperance Department: I have made 17 addresses, read two original papers before the Marion County Homeopathic Medical Society, one on "Heredity and Parental Education," one on "Life," interesting discussions followed. Have put the white ribbon on 19 women; given out 2,500 pages of literature; placed 37 garments in worthy families; gave the Day Nursery two dozen and eight cans of baby food. On October 25, 1909, I delivered an address on Medical temperance at the Harley Gibbs Mission, 909 West Washington street. Judging from the surroundings in this locality, I was impressed with the importance of practical temperance work being begun at once, and had the pleasure of putting the white ribbon on two noble women, who pledged themselves to remain loyal to the cause, and said they would join a union at any time we could organize in that part of the city.

On the 6th day of May Mrs. S. R. Artman, our county president; Mrs. Bressett, our county superintendent of Sunday school department, and myself organized a union with nine members at 1425 West Market street, and gave it the name of "The Mothers' Day Union." When putting the white ribbon on them, I also gave each woman a white carnation, explaining the meaning of the Mothers' day, and significance of the white carnation. This new union is prospering. On May 8, Mothers' day, this same committee organized an undenominational Sunday school at the above number, which has been regularly adopted by the executive board of the Marion County W. C. T. U. and is known as the West Side Mission Sunday school, under the supervision of the W. C. T. U.

You may better appreciate the great necessity for this temperance organization and Sunday school in this locality when we tell you that the day we organized, May 8, there were 27 persons present, and on June 5 there were 103 present. For lack of space we cannot give a list of the good people that have been specially interested in this work.

I have secured one column, or as much as we want, of space in the Indianapolis Sun for temperance items each Saturday.

Reports of the work done in each union to be sent regularly and not later than Friday noon.—Martha E. Keller, M. D., vice president Marion Co. and Supt. of Medical Temperance.

Sunday School Organized.

There being great need for a Sunday school in the West Side, two front rooms were secured in a dwelling house at 1425 W. Market street and the W. C. T. U. West Side Mission Sunday School was established Mothers' Day, May 8, 1910. Mrs. S. R. Artman county president; Dr. Martha E. Keller, county vice president, and Mrs. Louise S. Bressett, county superintendent of Sunday schools, were instrumental in the organization that was so much needed and desired in that section of the city. Mothers' Day Union was organized at the same rooms Friday night, May 6, with a membership of nine. The county superintendent of Sunday schools has made six addresses in behalf of the Sunday school, and received $1 from Mapleton union for the work. The following are the officers and teachers of the Sunday school.

W. C. T. U. WEST SIDE MISSION SUNDAY SCHOOL, INDIANAPOLIS.

Mr. Ray V. Jones, superintendent; Miss Mary F. Kirk, secretary; Mr. Albert Hussung, treasurer; Miss Beulah L. Bressett, primary superintendent; Miss Addie Lancaster, junior; Mrs. Chas. H. Harper adult Bible class.—Louise S. Bressett, Marion Co. Supt. S. S. Dept.

Italian Work in Indianapolis.

The work among the Italians in Indianapolis was organized by the Methodist Episcopal church and its missionary, the Rev. N. Accomando, is supported by the Home Missionary Society of this denomination. The Woman's Home Missionary Society of this church, seeing the need of house-to-house visitation, appointed Miss Lottie Connor, a deaconess, to this work. She finds a welcome entrance to the homes and teaches the mothers the English language, the niceties of American ways, gives music lessons to some and clothing to the needy, and by example is a living epistle that is accomplishing much good.

After this organization the W. C. T. U. of Marion county made it a department of its great work, and appointed the writer superintendent of the Italian work.

The Fletcher Place M. E. church has freely given the room for a school open to an Italian who wish to attend for the purpose of learning to speak and write English. This school meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week and the results are wonderfully successful. About 200 young men have here received more or less of instruction that is already showing in a higher religious and civic life. Our temperance work is largely in showing them that they can get better positions if they do not drink, and that the best places are all closed to the drinking man. Their education has been so different on this subject that we have to use the greatest care not to offend and keep them from the school.

The outlook is very encouraging in every direction.—Mrs. E. B. Cummings, Supt. Italian Work.

Marion County Department Household Economics.

Mrs. Mary A. Moody, Supt., 219 E. 10th St.: Eight essays read, 4 newspaper articles written, 1,000 pages of literature distributed; made an effort to secure a woman on the city health board; resulted only in promises; this should not discourage women in other cities from making a similar effort. I can see detail work that a woman would do that is neglected by men. Three women have been placed on the committee for medical inspection of schools of Indianapolis.

Marion Co. Dept. Work Among Railroad Employees.

Mrs. Susie Miller, Co. Supt.: Indianapolis North East union, 1,004 pages literature; Indianapolis Palmer union, 60 pages of literature and keeps a wall pocket supplied; Indianapolis Vayhinger, 2,869 pages distributed; Brightwood union, distributed 250 pages and keeps pocket filled in Y. M. C. A. Committees from Brightwood and Palmer unions distribute literature on the street cars.

The county sends the Union Signal and prohibition papers to the men's reading room at the Union Station. The county superintendent distributed 2,414 pages of literature and each month takes literature to the Union Station.

Contests.

Marion county has had several contests this year, all with great results for good, one of which was the diamond medal contest held April 5 in the Y. M. C. A. in connection with the Prohibition state convention. Although the evening was very stormy, attendance was fine. Total receipts were $43.25; disbursements, $36.90; balance, $6.35.—Mrs. Cora Harper, Co. Supt. Contest Dept.

Mapleton.

Mapleton union is increasing in members and is active. Visited The Colored Orphans' Home, gave the children 80 bouquets and 84 sacks of pop-corn, 3 bushels of potatoes, 6 meals given, 2 quarts grape juice, 1 quart of peaches, 1 quart of jam and tomatoes sent with flowers or cards to the sick; $5.00 spent in money.—Mrs. Bailey.

Indianapolis.

Palmer W. C. T. U. has had 13 meetings. Had one lecture by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. Secured one new member at this meeting. Have had six of the county superintendents and the county president with us at different meetings. Held one very successful reception. Forty-eight visits were made to the sick. One member has helped conduct 52 services in the work-house and 600 in the city hospital. About 1,000 pages of literature, besides text card and papers, have been distributed. Flowers, fruit, canned goods and eatables have been given out. Four schools have been visited in the interest of scientific temperance. One school accepted the Crusader Monthly. Flower Mission day was observed by giving flowers to the sick.—Mrs. Cofer, Pres. Palmer Union.

Indianapolis Harriet Brand Union.

Has held 3 evangelistic meetings at colored orphanage. Furnished solos for 4 evangelistic meetings; held 2 cottage prayer meetings; arrangements made for a funeral and singers furnished; bible reading and prayer at 3 houses; one conversion result of the cottage prayer meeting; 2 public meetings in churches.

Flower Mission—Coal, $3; garments, $18; groceries, $2; meals, $2.50; donations, $5.75; sick calls, 50; flowers, $1.25; bedstead and mattress given away. This union has interesting meetings and is increasing in membership. The president, Mrs. Lancaster, of 1235 Brookside avenue, gave three days to work for the election of Miss Mary Nicholson to the Indianapolis school board and worked one-half the day of the election at the polls.

Indianapolis Vayhinger W. C. T. U.

Calls made on sick, 39; in interest of union, 61; on members, 17; invitations to meetings, 61; 46 were written; visits to schools, 12; attended school receptions, 3; attended mothers' meetings, 10; number of bouquets and text cards, 38, besides Flower Mission day at the Children's Orphan Home. There we gave flowers and cards to 120 children and 6 attendants; pages of all departments of literature, 7,939; press notices of meetings, 18; reports to message, 2; 6 growing plants to school and $1.50 cash for school hedge; world's temperance Sunday specially observed in 4 churches; addressed 1 young people's society on temperance and life of Frances Willard; presented a 19x25 picture of Miss Willard, framed, to (No. 15) the Gregg school; Bible study classes attended, 22; attended state Sunday school convention 3 days; attended Juvenile League 2 meetings; reported 2 cases to Juvenile League; held a mothers' meeting with topic of "Sabbath Observance," or how to entertain the children on Sabbath; sermons on Sabbath observance, 2; addresses on systematic giving, 2; Frances Willard Heavenly birthday observed; held three public meetings, 2 special speakers on first quarter temperance Sunday; attended all but one county executives; attended 4 sessions of county institute; assisted in 2 medal contests.—Mrs. Grace Altvater, President, 564 Hamilton ave.

Work of the Thurman Union and of the Presidents From October, 1909.

Meetings held in homes, 6; public meetings, 7; total abstinence pledges signed, 110; new members, 7; distributed bouquets and 54 pages of literature to patients in Lincoln hospital and in some homes; given substantial help to 3 families in distress; assisted a young woman working her way through school; 100 pages of literature given to Colored Industrial school; secured work for needy widow with children and helped her in other ways for 6 months. I have made 121 calls, and under the head of Evangelistic Department, I have 10 families reading the Bible daily and sending in reports; journal work, 36 inches of advertising matter. As county superintendent of colored work, I attended the state Federation of Colored Women's Clubs in Indianapolis, in May, and then the National Federation of Colored Women's Clubs in Louisville, Ky., in July. I was able to interest several in our work at both conventions. At the national I listened to several excellent papers and reports of temperance work as it is being done in all parts of the country.

Under the Department of Mothers' Clubs, I have on three different occasions secured temperance lecturers to speak to gatherings of mothers of Indianapolis. Each of these meetings has been successful. Respectfully,—(Mrs.) M. A. Clark, Supt. of County Work Among the Negroes.

Indianapolis South Side Union—A New Union Last Year.

Of literature 2,444 pages have been distributed since last September. The Sabbath observance superintendent has distributed in churches possibly 100 pages of tracts. The L. T. L. is doing nicely under the leadership of Mrs. Saucer. More children being present at the last meeting than at any time since organization, but helpers are needed. The L. T. L. will picnic with the union at Brookside park July 19, after which they will disband until fall. The South Side union is going to circulate a petition to induce South Side grocers to close stores all day on Sunday. The women will begin at once. They realize the work they have undertaken is no easy task, but believe that even if the end desired is not accomplished, the W. C. T. U. will be better known on the South Side.

Recently a little child was seen going into a saloon carrying a bucket. A policeman had just gone into the saloon. A woman who had seen both, waited until the little one came out, and asked what it had in its bucket. The child let her see for herself. She was very indignant and waited for the policeman to come out of the saloon. When he did she asked him why he had permitted the saloon keeper to sell beer to the little child. The policeman told her to "go her way, mind her own business and would attend to his." The woman has the name of the policeman and name of the child and has a witness. It has been taken up by the union and will be, within the next few days, presented to Chief of Police Capt. Hyland. If he does not take action, the matter will be taken to Judge Stubbs, of the Juvenile court.

We hope to do more work for our Master as the days go by. We have nearly doubled our membership since last September. Very truly.—Mrs. Henry, Pres., 920 Laurel St.

Indianapolis Central Union is honored in having on its list of membership several county officers and county superintendents, whose work is not counted wholly in the union. Among these are our county president, Mrs. Artman, and county vice president, Dr. Keller. Early in the year we were greatly bereaved by the loss by death of our dear beautiful president, Mrs. J. M. Schneerer. Later the work was taken up by dear, capable Mrs. A. N. Bonham. In a short time on account of serious illness in her home, it again became necessary to seek a president. Mrs. W. N. Norris, a woman of fine ability, whose hands were full, was prevailed upon to serve as our president. Mrs. Norris had served for several years as superintendent of Mothers' meetings and had accomplished much in that line. At the present time Mrs. Norris is the president of the Parent-Teacher Association of School 52. This great organization is the outgrowth of the parlor mothers meetings held under the auspices of Central union by Mrs. Norris. These meetings were held all year once a month, with mothers and teachers at the school building. Before the close of school a unique entertainment was given. In the open yard there were physical exercises by the pupils of the school. There was a fish pond and a baby show, for which tickets had been sold, and there were refreshments sold. Net profits were over $200, money to be used for Rest room for teachers and pupils and benefit of the school. Eight parlor Mothers' meetings have been held.

The July meeting was an all-day picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick. The program consisted of after-dinner speeches by Hon. F. T. McWhirter, Mrs. S. R. Artman, Mrs. Carrie Quinn and Mrs. Darby. Eighteen thousand pages of literature have been distributed, 350 papers and 35 magazines. The union is affiliated with the Local Council of Women and its members are actively interested in Civic conditions. Two members are probation officers for the Juvenile court. The Door of Hope receives much help from the union. Four of the seven members of the board of managers are members of the union—Mrs. Moody, Cowan, May and Miss Dame. Mrs. L. D. B. Cowan is the evangelistic superintendent and Mrs. Una Franklin assistant. Mrs. Cowan arranges for speakers for all Gospel services at Door of Hope. Mrs. Franklin has assisted in twenty factory meetings, made twenty-five calls on the sick, distributed 1,000 pages of religious literature and over 300 religious papers, 50 cards and leaflet, held cottage prayer meetings in homes and does much Gospel work.

Some rag rugs have been made and sold by the union. Central union united with others in holding a Flower mission service at Door of Hope. Flowers are given and visits made to the sick every week. Temperance songs are sung in the meetings and much work for prohibition and purity is done by the membership, a goodly number of whom read The Union Signal and Phalanx.

Central union has a Loyal Temperance Legion that is doing excellent work under leadership of Mrs. Marie Leck Yount.

Brightwood W. C. T. U. since last September has gained five members and five have moved away. Total of 33 paid members.

We pay toward the salary of the chief lady probation officer in Police Judge J. A. Collins' court and have pledged $1 per month to the county W. C. T. U. Foreign Mission Sunday school.

On May 10 we entertained our husbands at the home of our Press and L. T. L. superintendent, and received 10 honorary members.

The three ministers spoke on temperance and a railroad engineer who will soon be ordained to the ministry, led the devotional service. We have held three public meetings with our county president, Mrs. Artman, county treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Heath, and state vice president, Mrs. Stanley, respectively, taking an offering at each meeting.

At Christmas time we took fruit and vegetables to the Door of Hope. On Flower Mission day bouquets of flowers tied with white ribbon and text cards were taken to the same institution. Rev. J. L. Stout, of the M. E. church, accompanied us. On arriving we found some of the Central W. C. T. U. women present and held a union service. Rev. Stout led the devotional service and spoke very helpfully. There have been 35 bouquets and 21 text cards given out, $2.92 contributed for this fund, besides food, over 500 pages of literature given. A sick man in our community, who is almost an infidel, broke down and cried when given a bouquet of flowers with the text card. The superintendent of work among colored people visited one of the colored unions, getting two women put on white ribbons and a colored minister was won to the cause of prohibition. She is planning a meeting among the colored people of this part of the city to be held in the near future.

The L. T. L. work among the children is our specialty. We have 47 enrolled members, 18 paid members, held 50 meetings, given out 1430 pages of literature, 52 social visits, 12 visits to sick, loaned books, given out flowers and fruit and clothing; also $5 to our foreign mission. Our superintendent of mothers' meetings in Houghville moved away in April. However, she held two good meetings, one with the Kindergarten mothers at the Kindergarten hall, Mrs. McWhirter being the speaker. Also one at School No. 51, Mrs. E. Stanley speaker, the principal and her chief helper put on the ribbon. A meeting was held at the home of our new superintendent, Mrs. Etta Cannaday, 2366 Adams street, June 16. Mrs. Martha Gipe gave a very excellent talk on woman's work in all reform movements and the work of the mothers' department. Our press superintendent sent two items to the Message, one to the Brightwood Messenger and one to the Gazette, the latter being local papers.

Literature given out by our superintendent and others, 772 pages. Our superintendent has been greatly hindered all winter and spring on account of rheumatism.

Sunday school superintendent has given out nearly 1,000 pages of literature, got 209 pledges signed, had one temperance talk and one recitation on one of the temperance Sundays, gave out two Sunday school programs. She also being our superintendent of Sabbath observance, has had two Sabbath observance sermons preached. Union has held one meeting on this department. Superintendent conducted devotionals at two of our mothers' meetings; also at one public meeting.

The superintendent of S. T. I. has made four visits to School No. 51, gave out 75 pages of literature on this subject, special talks given to pupils by two of our women. There is an hour and a half given each Monday morning to this department. The principal, Miss McGee, is very much interested in our work, and willingly assembles classes to hear talks and lessons on this department. Our evangelistic superintendent conducts devotionals at most of our meetings, and has given out some literature. Our superintendent of railroad work has also given out about 150 pages of literature. Other departments are being worked, but so far I am unable to report for them. Respectfully submitted.—Mrs. O. R. Rash, Pres.

Brightwood Union.

Indianapolis Meridian W. C. T. U., with a membership of 113 and 11 on the honorary list, is prosperous and doing her part as best she knows.

We have superintendents for 18 departments reporting as follows:

Evangelistic—Mrs. Hickman, superintendent, who has either filled the place herself in the absence of the one on the program or supplied a leader. We have made this a special feature this year and the superintendent has kept in touch with the work and notified those participating at each meeting. Mrs. Davis has been of assistance to us as the county superintendent, conducting the services at Woman's prison Flower Mission day.

Press—Mrs. Minnie Blodgett, as superintendent, has been unable to report our meetings as she had in her heart to do on account of sorrow in the family. Each meeting is announced and a few reports to our Message of good meetings held.

Fairs and Open-air Meetings—When the time comes, our superintendent, Mrs. Juday, will be on hands at State Fair with able assistants. A picnic is planned for August.

Anti-Narcotics—In Mrs. Lambert, our local superintendent, we have our county superintendent also, who is doing her best, never failing to speak a word for her department.

Mercy—Mrs. Mina Murphy, who has this work more to heart than any woman in our midst. She never loses an opportunity to assist the unfortunate, whether man or beast. This department has been especially active through Mrs. Shortridge, in an educational way. A prize of $10 worth of books was offered to the school whose pupils could write the best composition on "The Humane Treatment of the Horse." This was won by Tillie Steinberg, 8 B, of School No. 4, Michigan and Blackford. This makes $20 worth of books won by this school.

Literature—Mrs. Reveal has distributed many pages and secured several subscriptions to the Union Signal and Crusader Monthly Purity in Literature and Art. Mrs. Sherwood is a wide-awake superintendent, doing everything she can for her department.

Hadley School—Mrs. Hann. So long as we owned Hadley, we have been loyal in our support. Pledged $5 this year.

Sabbath Observance—Mrs. Morgan is especially interested at this time in assisting in getting for the Greek boot shiners their Sunday.

Flower Mission—Mrs. Reynolds. We have always been active in this department, this year no exception. We visited Woman's prison with text cards, literature and a good program. The jail with text cards and flowers; also "Door of Hope," Kalley Home for Aged, and many shut-ins, 265 bouquets in all. Esther union, Broad Ripple union and other friends participated.

As a union we contributed to the foreign work and are assisting as far as possible with the W. C. T. U. Mission school. Mrs. Bresett and daughter, with others from other unions, organized this school and Mothers' Day union.

We have observed Red Letter day, Frances Willard Memorial, February 17, Neal Dow, March 20. We held a reception for Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, securing 5 new members at this time. Observed Presidents' day in April, at which time letters of greeting were read from presidents of various unions. Several presidents responded personally, also some of our past presidents responded with encouraging words.

We are supplying 5 schools with the Crusader Monthly for one year. As special work and to make money, we pieced carpet-rags for rugs. We secured several good orders, all of which have been filled, and a neat sum of money turned over to our efficient treasurer.

A special feature, our visiting and refreshment committee, to promote interest and friendly feeling among our members, has been very gratifying when it was possible to give it necessary time and thought. We hope to do better another year.

As an affiliated society to the local council of women, we have a splendid report every meeting from our faithful delegate, Mrs. Mildred Stockman.

June 15 we observed as a special children's meeting, designating it "Story-telling Hour for Children." The program in charge of Mrs. Stella King, was enjoyed by all. Many children participated. Miss Margaret Perfect, one of our young women, of whom we are very proud, then entertained us with three interesting stories. All becoming as children and sitting in a circle 'round her, enjoyed the stories immensely.

Our July meeting, July 13, with Mrs. Murphy, 1219½ E. Vermont street, is a Mothers' meeting with Mrs. Stockman in charge. No meeting is held but that some department is presented.

We feel much encouraged with our work and will continue to press forward. Yours in his Service.—Mrs. Nettie Cohea, Pres.

Indianapolis Frances E. Willard Union.

The superintendents are active, willing workers.

Visits to sick, 225; care of sick, 10 days; bouquets and potted plants, 290; Sunday school pledge cards signed, 150; glasses of jelly, 25; preserves, 4 quarts; 6 dozen oranges; new suit of clothes, 5 pairs shoes; pages literature, 2,874; money spent, $16.28; pledge cards signed, 172; temperance Sunday school lessons taught, 11. A new plan is being developed. It is this: To select some unfortunate person to write a letter to once a month, endeavoring to interest them in the W. C. T. U. work, and when convenient, to pay the dollar dues for her (or his) membership in the union. Five elderly ladies' dues have thus been paid. Others have taken names and are sending letters.

There are now forty active members and five honorary. The union is affiliated with the Local Council of Women and assists in police matron work. One church meeting addressed by Col. Eli F. Ritter, Mrs. L. W. Gray, president.

Indianapolis Gray W. C. T. U., organized June 9, 1909, in a beautiful North Side part of the city by Mrs. Gray and Frances Willard union. Members, 15; honoraries, 4; meetings held regularly and much interest among the young people. Thirty boys have signed the anti-tobacco pledge.

Two young ladies in this union have been writing letters to older ladies and have interested them in the work and now have paid dues for two of them.

Observed Flower Mission Day Together.

The Frances Willard and the Gray union observed a pretty and appropriate Flower Mission service at the Home for Aged Women and at the Methodist Hospital Flower Mission day.

The devotions were in charge of the Rev. John Reagle, of Hall Place M. E. church. The song service was opened by singing "Let a Little Sunshine In," after which was a reading by Miss Gordon and a vocal solo by Miss Lancaster; then "Lead, Kindly Light," was sung by all present, and was followed by an address on the work of the Flower Mission by Mrs. S. R. Artman, our county president. Mrs. Artman said, in part:

"Flowers are the fairest, the most welcome of all God's messengers. They will win their way into the hardest hearts when everything else has failed. Often one tiny little flower given at the right moment will cause a saddened heart to turn heavenward and blossom forever in the sunlight of God's kingdom.

"We cannot tell whence came their bright colors, yet we know they are of God; sent to us to remind us of the eternal in everything. With Tenyson, 'If we could understand you, little flower, root and all, we would know what God and Heaven is.' More people are starved to death for love and sympathy than for bread, and what we need is the faith of the flowers to leave with God all we cannot understand."

After the address Mrs. W. W. Scott sang a group of spring songs and the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. George B. McKee, county superintendent of Good Citizenship. One hundred eighty bouquets were distributed.—Mrs. L. W. Gray, Pres. Frances Willard Union; Mrs. Bruce Shields, Pres. Gray Union.

Field News

FORT WAYNE.—Frances Willard Union must apologize for not sending more items to our Message. But the sisters of Frances Willard Union are so busy planning for our state convention to be held in our city this fall. Our president, Mrs. Ridenour, wishes through this paper to thank all of our state superintendents for their liberal contributions of literature, which we used in the showing of our many departments at our reception given with our club league ladies at our public library Saturday, April 2. There were about 150 guests in attendance. Mrs. Florence Richards, one of our national workers, addressed the meeting in the afternoon.

And our words of praise can't do her justice. She held her listeners spell-bound for one hour and twenty minutes. Following the address was a grand reception. Mrs. Richards, our president, Mrs. Ridenour; Mrs. Guildrie, president Federation of Clubs; Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Taylor, chairman of the day, stood in the receiving line.

We had 24 tables showing the different departments of our work.

Our state lecturer, Mrs. Perkins, introduced the visitors to our different departments, explaining our work as she went along. Dainty refreshments were served by our social committee.

On Sunday Mrs. Richards spoke at two of our churches and we have gained quite a few new members by her visit.—Mrs. N. J. Hunter, Press Superintendent.

LIBERTY, UNION COUNTY.—Flower Mission day was observed June 8. Meeting was held with Mrs. J. W. Norris at the county infirmary. In spite of the inclemency of the weather, there was a large turn-out, about forty in attendance, including members and visitors. The program included a reading, "Life Sketches of Jennie Cassady," by Mrs. Lizzie Coughlin; reading, "Work of Frances Barrett Caloway," Mrs. T. W. Records; paper, "Flower Mission Day," Mrs. Minnie Carson; recitation, "Why a Flower Mission?" Mrs. Ada Garrett. Mrs. Morris favored the meeting with appropriate song selections on the phonograph. Inmates of the asylum were remembered by the ladies with flowers and candies.—Mrs. Minnie Stivers, Press Supt.

Probably the most interesting meeting of this year was that of the local W. C. T. U. held Thursday afternoon, July 14, at the home of Mrs. Archie Wilson. The occasion was signalized by the entrance into the union of twenty-three (23) new paid members, and twelve (12) part paid, these being secured by two divisions of soliciting members under the title of the "Reds" and "Blues," the "Reds" winning, and with the new members, will be banqueted by the "Blues" later on. This ingathering of new membership adds great strength to the local union and makes more certain effective work for good in the future.

The program of Thursday's meeting with Mrs. Chas. Martin as leader, was one of pertinence and real interest throughout. There was a lively running discussion of each paper and reading presented, and the discussions were participated in by a larger number than is usual, bringing out many good thoughts and suggestions. Program as follows:

Scripture reading, prayer and song; paper, "Parlor Gambling" Mrs. Clara Egan; reading, "Society and Society Women," Mrs. C. E. Carson; paper, "Be Temperate in All Things," Mrs. Chas. Filer; reading, "Is Cider Harmless?" Mrs. Chas. Coughlin; reading, "Spirituous Liquors Not Needed in Medicine and the Arts."—Mrs. Chas. Stivers.

MADISON.—The Senior L. T. L. with their friends, was entertained at the home of Miss Golden Skeldon on North Jeff street Monday night, July 11, from 7 to 10 o'clock. A very pleasant program was given, consisting of reports of delegates of the convention at Greensburg, who brought home four pennants. Readings by Miss Florence Demaree and talks by Rev. Renolds and wife, Rev. Childs and wife, Mesdames Denny, Augustine and Jannison. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed a jolly, good time. The Madison Seniors are hustlers. Awake, ye W. C. T. U.'s or they will leave you in the shade.

MILLGROVE.—One of the most delightful days in the history of the Millgrove W. C. T. U. was Sunday, April 18, on account of the presence of the state president, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger. At the M. E. church, in the morning, she preached an interesting gospel sermon, and in the evening delivered a fine temperance address to a large and appreciative audience. The union was strengthened by her coming and at the close of the evening service a number of persons signed the pledge.

BRIGHT.—The Bright W. C. T. U. gave an entertainment in the town hall on the evening of March 25. Members of the unions and invited guests to the number of eighty-five were present. A short program was rendered by the gentleman selected. The pastor of the Presbyterian church concluded the program with a fifteen minutes' talk. He eulogized the women upon their good work in the cause of temperance, and along other lines of reform, all tending to the uplifting of fallen humanity. At the conclusion of the literary program, a two-course luncheon was served and greatly enjoyed by the gentlemen, who were the invited guests, some forty or more having responded. Six dollars and fifty cents was reported from the sale of tags; also one new member added to the union.—Mrs. Mattie M. Jackson, Corresponding Secretary.

BLACKFORD COUNTY INSTITUTE.

Blackford county institute was held in the M. E. church at Montpelier. The weather was fine, the attendance large, interest deep and enthusiasm high.

The ladies of Montpelier union spared no pains in providing royally for the entertainment of their guests and performed their part in a magnificent manner. They served a fine dinner and supper in the basement of the church.

The church was beautifully decorated in the colors of the organization and on the platform were bouquets of beautiful flowers and resting on an easel the picture of our sainted leader, Francis E. Willard, and above it a large white bow.

The White Ribboners were highly honored by having with them the two noble temperance leaders of the state, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger and Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, and with them on the platform sat the loving county president, Mrs. S. M. Stahl. With the presence and help of these three great leaders of the temperance army and the various ministers representing different churches throughout the county, the institute could not be otherwise than a great success. On Wednesday evening Mrs. Vayhinger delivered a stirring address to an appreciative audience.

On Thursday morning the meeting was opened by singing "Make the Map All White," after which Mrs. Vayhinger offered an earnest, effective prayer in behalf of the great work. During the day a large and interesting program was carried out, which consisted of various talks by the state leaders and ministers and interesting papers were read by a number of the white ribboners.

One of the most interesting events of the day was a lively discussion on the subject of capital punishment.

In the evening an excellent address was delivered by Mrs. Stanley and a nice musical program was rendered, which consisted of beautiful songs by the choir and a number of beautiful solos by different persons. The white ribboners then returned to their homes, feeling that it was one of the greatest meetings Blackford county ever held, and they were filled with new inspiration, higher aims and greater determination to pray more, make new and better plans and strive to accomplish much in the coming year for the great work of God and home and native land, and to not give up the fight until the map of old Blackford county is made white and "Old Glory," with her stars and stripes, will no longer be trailed in the dust, but can be unfurled to the gentle breezes of our state and nation, which will be free from the contamination of the fumes of the liquor traffic.

FAIRMOUNT FLOWER MISSION.—Flower Mission day was observed by the Fairmount W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Alice Bogue on June 9, where 50 bouquets were made and with texts cards were distributed to the sick and "shut-ins" of our town.

Many expressed their appreciation. We hope that seed sown in this way will not be lost.

We appreciate very much the assistance of Mrs. Asa Driggs and Mrs. Adkinson, members of the M. E. church, who were not members of the W. C. T. U.

EARL PARK.—Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, our state president of the W. C. T. U., gave a very good temperance lecture on the subject, "After Local Option, What Then?" in the Presbyterian church June 22. Miss Lois Vayhinger gave a very interesting reading.—Mrs. A. F. Jacobs, Press Supt.

MRS. BELLE WHITE, formerly of Indianapolis, is living at Leigh, North Dakota, and is busy working for the Master.

MRS. MARY A. MOODY, state superintendent of "Household Economics", is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Palmer, in New York city.

MRS. ELIZABETH STANLEY is called for two weeks' campaign in the district of Friends' Yearly Meeting of Eastern Indiana. She is also engaged for county teachers' institutes in Southern Indiana, and Chautauquas in August. These addresses will be on scientific temperance instruction.

CARMEL.—The Carmel W. C. T. U. met at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Hannah Garrity on Thursday afternoon, June 13. It was children's day for the union and a company of sixty-seven was present. The children gave an excellent program, consisting of readings, songs and short recitations.

Our hostess gave a short talk, speaking of the object of the W. C. T. U. and the good which it has accomplished. She thought every woman ought to be able to find a congenial place to work in some of the many departments.

Received an addition of two to our membership. After the program refreshments were served, and a social hour completed a delightful afternoon.

PORTLAND STREET CARNIVAL.—Here in Portland we have just lived through (some of us) a "glorious Fourth." The management had arranged for a street carnival, although the business men who gave the money to make it possible, were kept in the dark as to the nature and location of the "attractions." When, on Sunday, our brick streets were filled with filthy tents and filthy people, a mass meeting was hurriedly called, and after the regular church services in the evening, all congregations gathered at the Methodist church, which was filled. Indignation ran high, and a committee of 35 men, ministers and business men, was appointed to present to the mayor a petition signed by practically every person in the church, asking that the streets be cleared. Perhaps 75 people, men and women, called on the mayor immediately and presented the request. He called the head of the management, and together they flatly refused to do anything except to appoint a committee of the protestors to investigate the shows and promised, if they found anything immoral, to at once remove the show. The shows were investigated, though there was really no need to enter to render a verdict of immorality. Yet when the officer was notified, and the mayor had himself seen two performances, the show was allowed to go on. Some of our women took a stand in front of one of the worst (the Salome dancer) and although they were ordered off the street three times by the show manager, they remained. The crowd of men and boys respectfully and shamefacedly refused to enter while the ladies remained. Seeing this, the manager and his girls became insulting in their manners to the ladies; but they stayed until they decided to go for recruits, thinking to prevent any repetition of the show, by their presence. However, because of the great crowd, they failed to find the desired assistants, and the show went on. They want to give their experience to the W. C. T. U. women over the state. They feel that if the women prepare for these things, and if all other means fail as in our case, to take a stand before or in the tents. Great good would be done. Through the misrepresentations of the management here we were not prepared to meet it. Let us warn others, and beg you not to allow your young men and boys in knickerbockers to be defiled by such awful scenes.

One auto racer was killed and his mechanic seriously injured; two other men were injured by getting in the way of the trains. The son of one of our W. C. T. U. women was arrested for intoxication (in a "dry" town, into which it is estimated by the Sun, which upholds the management, about 7,000 bottles of beer had been shipped for the celebration). But the manager made a pile and the wail of the widow and orphans and broken-hearted mothers do not yet reach him. The judgment day cometh. "Whosoever offendeth one of these little ones who believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and he were cast into the sea." "Vengeance is mine," saith the Lord.—Mrs. Fred Stovenour, Pres. Portland W. C. T. U.

VAN BUREN.—The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Will Lytle on Flower Mission day. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers. After devotional service a paper was read by Mrs. Lytle. Subject: "Give Them the Flowers Now;" paper by Mrs. Henry Jones, "The Life of Jennie Cassaday;" paper by Mrs. Atwell, "What Flower Mission Day Means to Children in Large Cities." Think of the dear children in the cities who never have any beautiful flowers. How we should strive to make their lives more happy! Oh how we sometimes neglect to give the flowers! We should give them now and speak our words of comfort and cheer, for one day's neglect may be too late forever. Paper by Mrs. Dunkin on "The Shadows;" one by Mrs. Ida Cribbs; another by Mrs. Miller, "The Inside Saloon." Mrs. Octavia Newberger joined the White Ribbon band. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Lytle and Mrs. Roy Smith.—Mrs. L. F. Martin.

MT. VERNON.—The W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting June 9, the birthday of Jennie Cassaday, and sent to sick and afflicted 17 bouquets, with verses and white ribbon; to the infirmary, 29; to the jail, 9, making 55 in all. Each inmate at the infirmary and prisoners at the jail were given a generous supply of bananas, candy, cake and cookies. The ministers gave excellent talks. There were several recitations at the infirmary. Mrs. Kling, a lady who was injured on a traction car a year ago, to whom we had sent a bouquet, volunteered to give a concert for the W. C. T. U. Saturday afternoon, realizing $9.25 for us, for which we were very thankful.

POSEYVILLE.—The W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission day June 16 with the president. Several very interesting readings and talks were given on the life of Jennie Cassiday and the mission of flowers. Owing to the scarcity of flowers there were only 16 bouquets sent out. The aged, sick, afflicted and the ministers, editors and postmaster were all remembered with a bouquet with verse card tied with white ribbon. At the close of the service light refreshments were served.

MATHEWS.—The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Cora Osburn July 15. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lena Sham; vice president, Mrs. Cora Osburn; secretary, Mrs. Allie Garretson; treasurer, Mrs. Ina Keeghler. Leaflets read: "Righteous Citizenship," Ina Keeghler; "Who Shall Stay the Gambling Craze?" May Boyer; "Curfew Bells Must Ring Tonight," Mrs. Osburn; "Why Should a Church Member Belong to the W. C. T. U.?" Mrs. Eunice Bartlett; "Is It Wise to Give Alcoholic Remedies to Children?" Lena Shaw; poem, "What Makes 'Em Have Saloons?" Allie Garretson. Charley Shaw, one of our young contest boys, who recently won the silver medal, gave the reading, "Two Glasses," which was very much appreciated. The union is planning to hold a social August 10.—Allie Garretson, Press Superintendent.

KOKOMO.—The South Side Kokomo union is growing. The ladies are doing a great deal of good. Every meeting is well attended and spiritually uplifting. The last three meetings were parlor meetings held at the homes of Mrs. Kate Keck, Mrs. Lucy Albright and Mrs. Martha Richards, respectively. Mrs. Richards served light refreshments. There were present, besides our own members, the president and several members of the North union, who gave us some very pleasant and helpful talks. The North Side ladies are greater in number than our little union of the South Side. Both of our presidents are small of stature. We claim to be just as wide awake, and intend to be found in the front ranks of the W. C. T. U. work.—Mary Gibbs, Press Reporter.

LA PORTE.—The W. C. T. U. members are feeling good over the success of their essay contest. So much so that they expect to keep on doing and to gain still greater success. With such extremely hot weather and sickness in the homes of some of the members the last few meetings have not been so well attended. But as the work for the year is drawing near the end and reports will soon have to be given, all will become more interested. Several expect to attend the state convention.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

SOUTH BEND.—The annual picnic held at Leeper Park Wednesday the 13th by the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. ladies was attended by 75 in number. After a picnic dinner served by the generous hostesses, Mrs. L. A. Lydick, Mrs. Ora Miller, Mrs. Delia Chamberlain, Mrs. W. W. Hicks, a short but very good program was presented, consisting of devotional exercises, led by Mrs. Hicks; "America," sung by all; a reading by Mrs. O. A. Dalrim, on "Signing the Pledge;" Miss Margaret Williams sang "Sunbeams," and was followed by a reading, "Is It Worth the Sacrifice?" by L. A. Lydick. Little Miss Helen Geyer closed the program with a very fine recitation, "Poor Little Joe." After a few delightful hours were spent a lunch of cream and cake, by the hostesses, completed the day. The union will meet August 10 with Mrs. T. H. Jackson, north of the Michigan-avenue road half mile. We hope to see a good number out and the subjects on the state program well discussed.—Mrs. Jacob Miller, 2304 Michigan Ave.

GRANT COUNTY.—The Grant County W. C. T. U., through its local unions, is praying the board of directors of the Grant County Fair Association to exclude indecent shows from the fair grounds at Marion this year. The president of the board, John L. Thompson, of Gas City, Republican candidate for congress from the eleventh district, has asked for a meeting with the committee and has expressed his desire to make the county fair a clean institution and asks the co-operation of the W. C. T. U. in bringing that condition to pass.

Mrs. Mattie C. Gibson, of Jonesboro, a pioneer W. C. T. U. worker in both county and state, after a long confinement to her home on account of illness in her family, is in the field again, visiting unions, delivering lectures and performing all kinds of instructive and constructive W. C. T. U. work.

The Swayzee union passed resolutions deploring the state of morals that could tolerate the recent prize fight at Reno, Nev., and against the reproduction of the beastly affair by moving pictures.

Fairmount and North Marion unions held "safe and sane" Fourth of July celebrations, with a large attendance at each place. Excellent speakers, including Clifford G. Roe, of Chicago; Rev. F. C. McCormick, of Hartford City, and Dr. Verne Baldwin, of Greentown, delivered addresses on different phases of the great reform. Music was furnished by the Fairmount band, quartets, soloists, etc. Refreshments were served on the grounds.

Oak Ridge union has had an enlarged vision and is doing missionary work in an adjoining neighborhood.

Old Jonesboro, whom her sister unions thought almost "dead enough to bury," has had new life injected into her veins and has become one of the most active and aggressive unions in Grant county.

The Oak Chapel union, Mrs. Sarah E. Stout, president, has held a mothers' meeting every month this year. That their works keep pace with their prayers is evidenced by the fact that their Tag Day collection is twenty-one dollars.—Sarah E. Thomas, County Press Supt.

FORT WAYNE.—Independence day at Swinney Park, Fort Wayne, was appropriately celebrated. The Fort Wayne Morning Journal July 5 gave two and a half columns under the following bold head: "Sane Fourth at Swinney. Independence Day Fittingly Celebrated Yesterday. Three Thousand People Witnessed the Day's Doing, and Program Was Carried Out Perfectly—Old Glory Presented to the City." The reports indicate that there was great interest in a day devoted entirely to patriotism. The program as arranged was carried out perfectly, with Mr. Charles S. Bash as master of ceremonies. From 9 to 10 o'clock in the morning music was furnished by the band, interspersed with songs and drills by the children. At the conclusion of the preliminary music, children, under direction of Prof. Meyer, participated in drills and racing events, after which "America" was sung by all, followed by an invocation. The program was carried out on patriotic lines and was very interesting. The addresses of the speakers representing many vital subjects and teeming with interest.

The comment of the Fort Wayne Journal, under a sub-heading, "Presentation of Flag," was as follows:

"The best part of the day's program, especially the morning, was the presentation of 'Old Glory' to the city of Fort Wayne, a gift from the local Woman's Christian Temperance union, which was done by Mrs. C. D. Ridenour, president of the organization. The flag was elevated to the top of the pole and as it unfurled a great bunch of tiny flags was sent floating down through the audience. Mrs. Ridenour made the presentation to the city."

Then followed an extract from Mrs. Ridenour's address and also an extract from the response by Judge Owen N. Heaton, who, on behalf of the city of Fort Wayne, accepted the flag. The flag was 18x24 feet and cost $24.

Mrs. Ridenour's address:

Mr. Chairman, Citizens and Friends.—I come before you representing the Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Fort Wayne auxiliary to the national W. C. T. U., which is organized in every state and territory in the union, including the District of Columbia, Alaska, Canal zone, Hawaii and the Philippines, and locally in 12,000 towns and cities.

It is the largest society composed exclusively of women and conducted entirely by them.

We believe in the gospel of the Golden Rule and that each man's habits of life should be an example safe and beneficent for every other man to follow.

We believe that God created both man and woman in his own image, and therefore we believe in one standard of purity for both men and women and in the equal right of all to hold opinions and to express the same with equal freedom.

We believe in a living wage; in courts of conciliation and arbitration; in justice as opposed to greed of gain; in "peace on earth and good will to men." You ask, have men no place in this organization?

Yes, they are admitted as honorary members.

But why not as full members?

Because the need which called for a separate organization still exists. If, in the good day toward which we are hastening woman is to take her place side by side with man in all of life's relations, she must fit herself for that position. To him has been given the training of the ages; to her little more than a quarter of a century. Our organization exists, as did the law, "as a school mistress," to bring us to that better dawning when in Christ Jesus there shall be neither Jew nor Greek, bond nor free, male nor female."

Our lines of work are organization, preventive, educational, evangelistic, social and legal. Under these six chief heads are grouped various departments under the charge of a national superintendent. The total number of departments is 44. In the name of this grand organization, which is world wide, being organized in 50 different nations, with a membership of about half a million, under the motto "For God and Home and Every Land," and the badge, a knot of white ribbon, symbolic not only of purity and peace, but it includes all the correlated reforms that center in the protection of the home.

In the name of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union we present the flag to the city of Ft. Wayne, to be used in this park—the flag which history tells us was first designed by Geo. Washington and made by Betsy Ross, is a wonderful symbol, its colors, white for purity, blue for truth and red the blood of Christ. The flag should be immune from use for any other purpose except a patriotic one. The meaning of the stars and stripes should be taught to every child and every immigrant. It should be revered for what it represents. It is the flag of no one class of men, of no one party or no one religion. It is the banner of all, and all should protect it.

During Gen. Grant's canvass for the presidency a committee prepared a flag with his portrait on it. This displeased him and he ordered it off, saying, "No man is great enough to have his portrait on the U. S. flag."

When Jenny Lind was singing in New York the American frigate came into the harbor. She went aboard, and, looking up at the floating stars and stripes, she said: "I wish to salute your flag." Uncovering her head and holding her hat in her hand, she began to sing the "Star-Spangled Banner." When she had finished deafening cheers rang out from the St. Lawrence and were taken up by every ship near by, for all had been listening. They knew they heard one of the most inspiring songs in the world sung as they probably would never hear it sung again. But one of the things most needed by this country is patriotism. Men must be reminded of their patriotic duties every day. If the waving of the flag would keep men honest and just and clean, we could afford to fly a flag from every telegraph pole and from every shade tree in every town and city.

What good is there in hailing the flag in a crowd and selling a vote on the sly? How much sincerity is there in shouting for the flag by one who will give and take bribes and plan to trample the laws under foot?

We have queer thoughts when we see the flag flaunted over a place of business that breaks the laws and never loses a chance to belittle and oppose the enforcement of such laws as they wish. Such people are anti-patriotic—the opposite of what the flag stands for, and all who break the laws, no matter who they are, are against the flag.

The clearer we can make this in this county the better it will be for us all.

We are happy to present this flag to float over our park, where provisions have been made that no intoxicants can be sold nor given away; where vulgar and profane language is prohibited; and on the 4th day of July, when two more stars will be placed in the starry back-ground for the new states, Arizona and New Mexico, making 48 stars in all.

We all can say with one accord:

"Then conquer we must when our cause it is just.

And this be our motto: "In God is our trust!"

And the Star-spangled Banner in triumph shall wave

O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

SARATOGA.—A W. C. T. U. was organized at Saratoga early in January by Mrs. Sibbitts, of Wichita, Kan. Several very interesting regular and social meetings have been held, among which were the lectures given by Mrs. Stahl, of Hartford City, on May 21-22. On Saturday night she spoke to an attentive audience at the M. E. church. Sunday afternoon she conducted a mothers' meeting at the U. B. church, which was day night school on Friday evening very much appreciated by all present. On Sunday night a large audience assembled at the M. E. church and were well pleased with her splendid discourse.

Mrs. Stahl's presence was an inspiration to all and fourteen new members were received.

Miss Clara Sears organized a Y. union early in the year, which has been christened the "Sears Y. Union." Meetings are held weekly and a great spirit of enthusiasm is manifested by all. An enrollment of about 30 members has been received. Both societies were greatly invigorated by Mrs. Stahl's work.—I. M. B.

MADISON.—Madison W. C. T. U. held their regular business meeting Tuesday afternoon, July 12, at their hall. The devotional was led by Mrs. Jas. E. Crozier, consisting of scripture reading of the 15th chapter of Isaiah. Song, "Some Glad Day;" prayer by the Rev. Childs, of Franklin. Then followed the following program on "Christian Citizenship;" song, "America," with Mrs. Denny at the piano; paper, "Why I Would Abolish the Sale of Liquor," Mrs. Augustine; paper, "Why I Hate the Liquor Traffic," Mrs. Frank Venter; reading, "Gov. Hanley's Reasons for Hating the Liquor Traffic," by Mrs. Rev. Renolds.

After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, treasurer's report and that of the department superintendents. Mrs. Denny read her report from the L. T. L. convention held at Greensburg last week, which was inspiring to all present.

The four pennants brought home by Mrs. Denny as superintendent of this department, itself speaks highly of the work being done by the L. T. L.

After a rousing talk by the Rev. Childs on "How to Reach the Working Man," during which he recited the "liver-and-thick-steak" story, Mr. Augustine read an appropriate little poem, "Wear the White Ribbon." Mrs. Renolds gave a talk, which was both arousing and encouraging and was appreciated very enthusiastically.

Motion was made to adjourn and the benediction was voiced by Rev. Childs. Mrs. Childs, of Franklin, honored the meeting with her presence.—M. E. B., Press Sup.

HOW ALCOHOL DESTROYS THE MIND.

Five hundred and twenty cases of insanity and epilepsy from Philadelphia and neighboring counties in Pennsylvania investigated by Clyde R. McKinniss, M. D. (Scientific Medical Journal, Oct., 1909), showed that alcohol alone or in combination with some other condition was an important factor in causing 46 per cent. of the insanity, 41 per cent. of the imbeciles, and 34.5 per cent. of the epileptics.

Our Promoted Comrades

Mrs. Hannah Horn Cammack, wife of William Cammack and mother of our dear state Y. secretary, Miss Laura Cammack, died at their home near converse on June 22 after a lingering illness of more than four years. The burial was at Arba, Randolph county, in the vicinity where much of her earlier life was spent. She was in her eighty-second year and had been the mother of seven children, five of whom, with the aged husband, survive her. One son, Irwin Cammack, who has been prominently identified with the Friends' church, is now a missionary in Central America.

Mrs. Cammack had been a very beautiful woman. She had a keen, quick perception and much intelligence, always greatly interested in everything about her. With great appreciation of friendship, generous and kind in disposition, she had a host of friends.

For years she was in delicate health. For more than four years she was confined to her bed, during which time she was tenderly cared for by her loving husband and her devoted daughter Laura. At one time Laura's health became greatly impaired and she went to Battle Creek sanitarium for treatment. Since then she has been almost constantly at her mother's bedside.

Mrs. Cammack longed to be released from her sufferings and go to her Heavenly home, of which she very frequently talked.

She was a member of the noted Horn family. Two sisters, Mrs. Oliver Canaday and Mrs. Jane Lamb and a brother, Mr. Abel Horn, survive her.

Mrs. Cammack had a birthright membership in the Friends' church, was converted in early childhood and was a faithful member until death. The afflicted and needy always found in her a friend and helper. She was a kind and affectionate mother and true companion.

MRS. EMMA CORMICAN of Bright, Ind., wife of Charles Cormican, and a member of the Bright W. C. T. U., died in Christ's Hospital, Cincinnati, June 25. The seniors held a special service at her funeral. They placed a beautiful floral tribute on her casket. The family have the sympathy of the Union in their bereavement. Their loss is her gain.

The Lawrenceburg union sustained great loss in the death of Mrs. Sadie Bobrink, its vice-president. She was faithful in her attendance at the meetings and lived a beautiful christian life, for she had learned the secret of happiness.

No doubt her children will feel her sweet influence in the years to come. Lillie, five years old and Evelyn who always accompanied her mother to the W. C. T. U. meetings, will remember her precious influence. Evelyn was called our little W. C. T. U. girl.

The husband and four children have our deepest sympathy. We are mourners with them and a great host of friends.

We are praying for someone to take up her work in the Lawrenceburg union.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

THE FARMER'S WIFE AND THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

The farmer's wife does the cooking, washing, ironing, mending and sewing for the family, to which she adds the dishwashing, sweeping, making beds, tidying the rooms, dusting, arranging the furnishing, cleaning the walls, scrubbing, bringing in fuel, carrying out ashes, polishing stoves, brushing and airing the clothes. She works in the garden, often digs the potatoes. She gathers the vegetables and prepares them for the table after having cultivated and weeded the crop. She milks the cows carries slop to the pigs, feeds the calves and chickens, sets the hens, runs the incubator, cares for the young chicks, brings up the orphan colt and runt pigs. She nurses, bathes, feeds, dresses and cares for her own baby, looks after the older children, and often does the duty of nurse and doctor. She frequently drives the mower or binder and takes the place of a hand in the cornfield. She runs the cream separator, churns, makes cottage cheese, gathers the eggs, ties up the vines, whitewashes the coops and chicken houses, disinfects outhouses, barns, sinks, drains and wars always on flies, mice, rats and moths. She mows and waters the lawn, cultivates the flowers, gathers berries and other fruit, cans the fruit and vegetables, makes jams, jellies and preserves, bakes bread and cake, buys most of the groceries and clothing. She frequently mends the fences. She hunts up everything that is lost, pumps and carries water, cleans house, washes windows, beats rugs and carpets, paints floors, makes quilts, comforts, pillows, rugs, embroiders household linen, darns the hosiery, feeds the dog, puts the children to bed, winds up the clock and puts out the cat.

In addition to all this she often pays taxes and owns the farm. But the United States government, in collecting census statistics, says she is not self-supporting, has no occupation, and if her husband manages her farm it must be listed as owned by him, and when it comes to voting for more just law the wife is classed with minors, idiots and criminals. She has not sufficient intelligence to vote.—G. Q. C.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Nothing brings so much disrepute to law as its non-enforcement. Evidently every new law presumes the necessity of enforcement to make it effective. In time this necessity for executive interference will lessen. Law enforced is an educator of better conditions by virtue of habit and the results which follow. When the policy is conceded by the opposition to be fixed, the difficulty of enforcement is removed. To reach such point is the reason we have for officers.

If law could enforce itself; or, put another way, if every man were a law unto himself, then we would need no executive officers. But since such assumption is absurd and contrary to experience, we justify our plan of electing men to office for the purpose of enforcement of law.

However, the majority of officials act as if they were entrusted only to draw salary and lay schemes for re-election and for promoting a system of graft. New laws especially suffer in the hands of such officers. The opposition is always noisy and determined.

Such now is the condition of the recent liquor laws. The people have spoken. The law is plain. The officer should do his duty without the formality and solemnity of an oath. Yet he is sworn and on his honor made to declare that he will see that the law is obeyed.

When he fails in enforcement the people ought to inquire into the reason. If by majority the voters have expressed their desire to have the benefits of the law in their county, why does the local officer disregard his oath of office, his duty and the expressed will of the people?

The most reasonable answer seems to be that in his election he has deceived the majority. It is incredible that the voter would deliberately vote for any man if at the voting booth he felt sure his will would be disregarded by non-enforcement of law. The average voter, we believe, needs to think more closely and carefully.

Under our system of government no man is elected to any office wholly disrelated to his party. The policy of the party and its relation to every law is regarded and reflected by every nominee and official. If you would know, therefore, the policy and probable action of the official, you must know the policy of his party. Very seldom does an official rise higher than his party, and when he does he commits political suicide. For illustration, look at Seaborn Wright, J. Frank Hanley, Folk, etc. They are with the people, but not with their party policy. They vainly stick to their parties, hoping to reform them, but will be disappointed.

Reform grows through organizations free from the elements which oppose the reform. A vital policy of any party dies only when its party dies. The cancer of the liquor traffic is grafted into the tissue and blood of the Republican and Democratic parties and reaches into the moral fiber of every official of these parties. Whenever this cancer is disturbed the officer yields or is summarily cut off, it may be taking a part of the cancer to die with him officially; but the old roots are left to thrive and spread.

This is the weakness of local option. The traffic is only crippled. It soon adjusts itself to new conditions and takes on new life.

May the time come when a party wholly committed to the destruction of the traffic, root and branch, will be placed in office by the people!

STATE WIDE PROHIBITION.

The majority of the voters of Indiana want state wide prohibition. The politicians do not want it. Shall the people rule? If the voter is persistent and agitates as he can it may be that the liquor curse will get its due. Ask every candidate how he stands. Ask the legislative candidate to declare himself publicly. If he refuses or fails to do so, cut him off your ballot. The policy of the party can be changed only by a general shaking up of every candidate from constable to state official. Put the question plainly and insist on unequivocal answer. If your party candidate is weak-kneed, why not vote your principle and force your party to come to you or die?

CONSERVATION.

Why not conserve manhood as well as natural resources? The boy is better than coal or forests. The tempted man is worth more than gold or silver. Save him. Conserve manhood and womanhood. Count out the chief source of graft and vice and then push with greater success conservation of natural resources.

INSURGENCY.

It is hopeful to see the breaking away of insurgents. The fire has been hot and the frying pan is not so comfortable. Now where will our friends land?

We will see. New alignments are at hand. Why not follow the illustrious example of the men of 1856 and build around a great moral issue, a new mighty force which will bury deep Cannonism, Aldrichism and all the graft and corrupting influences for which the system stands?

With its death and burial the liquor traffic would also go.

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE.

Dear Comrades of the White Ribbon.—Our coming state convention, Oct. 14-18, promises to be a feast of good things from beginning to end. We have engaged that peerless orator, Clinton N. Howard, to address the mass meeting on Sunday afternoon, and Mrs. E. L. Calkins, state president, of Michigan, will be with us for an address on Tuesday. Monday night we will have a grand jubilee and demonstration of our department work. We will have a chalk talker, diamond medal contest, good music and "features" and surprises, besides which we hope to have the best reports from our departments that we have ever had. This last will depend on you, dear sisters of local unions, and on the faithfulness of your superintendents in reporting the work you have done. Let every local president urge the superintendents of her union to send in full reports and to send them on time.

Each union is entitled to be represented in convention by the president, one delegate at large and one additional delegate for every twenty paid-up members. Let no union fail to be represented for we all need the inspiration that comes from these large gatherings, and the next best thing to attending ourselves is having a wide-awake delegate to attend and bring back a report. Indiana, our loved Indiana, must be redeemed from the terrible curse of the liquor traffic, and we of the white ribbon army must be found in the "fore-front of the battle" until the hosts of rum are routed from the field.

Whether we make a gain in membership or not this year will depend upon the payment of dues by local unions. Every woman who pays dues counts one and these ones make up the thousands that compose our great white ribbon band. So let no woman think it does not matter whether she pays dues or not. It is a crisis in temperance work in the state and no woman can afford to lessen her influence and the influence of our organization at this time by dropping out. Begin now, dear local treasurers, to collect the dues. Let none get away. We have won many new women this year, but our treasurers' books will not show it unless dues are faithfully collected.

Ere you read this, report blanks and officers' blanks will have been sent to local corresponding secretaries. Elect your officers in September and fill out these officers' blanks and return to me for the state directory. Please do not neglect this. Many will not, I know, but others need to be reminded and urged. This once, dear local corresponding secretaries, please fill these blanks without a second notice. Last year after state convention I had to write to 75 local unions to get the lists of officers. This state directory is important to your state officers and superintendents and we want it complete, and you want the names of your officers in it, so send them in as soon as elected.

Remember, also, that each union is requested to pay 50 cents toward a convention fund, which should be sent to our state treasurer before her books close the 25th of September. Send it in with your dues.

Most of all, pray with your state officers that our meeting in Ft. Wayne may awaken the people and weaken the hold of the rum power in that fair city. Yours and His for service,—Mary E. Woodard.

AN APPEAL SENT TO THE CONGRESS OF MOTHERS IN CONVENTION AT DENVER.

(By Robert N. Wilson, Jr. Secy. Penn. Society for the Prevention of Social Disease.)

Addressed to the President, Mrs. Frederick Schoff.

Would a brief message to the representatives of your great body of American Mothers be in place; and would the fact that it comes in the form of an appeal from the father of one little American girl, who knows no better way of protecting her and her future home, warrant an expression of interest in your influence and in the work you are doing?

Especially at this time the physicians of the country need the help of every educated and intelligent woman in their effort to establish a single standard of morals for the two sexes because in such a standard lies the only possibility of a like standard for physical health. There is already apparent the need to safeguard the health and the permanency of the American people. No effort in their behalf can protect the innocent women and children of this land against the contagious diseases growing out of and spreading mainly by immorality, unless American mothers and girls are made keenly alive to existing conditions that are well known to men. The false teaching that immorality is necessary to the health of and to be condoned in boys and men has already cursed womankind with an invalidism of which she has neither realized the injustice nor the cause.

It is high time her eyes were open to the canker and its cure. Healthy women and children are necessary to national life and health. It is therefore almost beyond belief that a section of every American city is deliberately and publicly dedicated to woman's shame and physical undoing, and to the spread of contagious physical diseases which attack primarily the innocent mother and child.

Cannot and will not the Mothers' Congress go on record this year as pledged to the establishment of and to woman's insistence upon the public and private observance of a single standard of morals for men and women, not only because it is due woman by God's right, but because our scanty public records are giving evidence that without healthy mothers and children even our America may one day totter and fall?

There are at last men who are ready to help and even to lead!

Will you use them or no? Dare you ask each mother where her husband stands in this vital matter?

Confident of my faith and belief in the loyalty and intelligence of the American woman in all matters that concern honor, health and home, believe me faithfully yours,—Robert N. Wilson, Jr.

QUESTION TO CONSIDER.

Why should there be an age of consent to become immoral at all? And especially, why should a minor be legally(?) entrusted to violate a civil and moral law and legally denied the privilege of mortgaging and selling their real estate? The age of consent in Indiana is 16, but no woman is entrusted with her property until she is 21.—Gertrude Q. Campbell, Redkey, Ind.

SEPTEMBER, 1910.

Sing the temperance songs at all meetings.

Crusader Monthly subscriptions—25 cents per year—are wise presents for some young medal contest workers.

Since it is assumed that Colorado, because of its increase in population, is entitled to another representative in the national house of representatives, the women of the state have declared that Katherine Williamson shall fill the place. Colorado places women on an equality with men in voting.

Strangers have gone into towns and asked where the W. C. T. U. convention was in session and had to hunt up the minister's home before they could find out.

W. C. T. U. women do great work the influence of which would be doubled if the work was well reported for the local newspapers and for the superintendents of departments.

Why is it that the average woman to whom is assigned the duty of reporting a meeting does not sit down immediately and carefully write out a report? Then it would be ready for the earliest possible publication in a local paper and a condensed report could be mailed the same day to The Message.

Let Municipal Government be the subject of an afternoon meeting. Get information as to how the cities and towns are governed and if possible arouse an interest among women for a good clean city and town, where the laws will be enforced in regard to the Sabbath day and liquor selling, where woman's virtue will not be a market commodity in any illegal house of shame. Women can do much if they are equipped with definite information and act with discretion.

THE STATE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION WILL BE HELD AT FORT WAYNE OCT. 14-18.

Great preparations are being made by the Ft. Wayne White Ribboners and friends for this convention.

Plan to attend and invite your husband and son and daughter to spend Sunday there and hear the address of Hon. Clinton N. Howard on Sunday afternoon.

OLD COPIES OF THE MESSAGE WANTED.

The Message of the following dates are greatly desired by the editor to complete some files for binding: February, 1904; January, 1905; November, 1906; February, November and December, 1908; February, March, April and May, 1910; the entire year of 1909.

Persons having one or more copies of the above dates, who are willing to sell them at ten cents each, please write a card mentioning the dates, to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. CONVENTIONS.

The early announcement of all county convention programs will greatly help to make the convention a success.

The convention that is not well advertised, by press, pulpit, by announcement in all unions and many letters written about for at least two weeks previous to the date of holding, will not be the success it should be.

It is not enough to call a newspaper man over the telephone and tell him something of the plans for the convention. Write out every word plainly, give entire program, names of all persons and towns from which they will come and all facts about the program and plans. A concise, neat write-up sent in will be courteously received and used. If the "cuts" of some of the officers who are speakers can be secured, write the name, office and address and send in with the cut and it will be used and greatly help to advertise the convention.

THE MODERN REVOLUTION.

The women of England are making a heroic and dramatic stand for full citizenship and political liberty; one which will doubtless be recorded hereafter as one of the famous revolutions of the world's history. For the many in this country who are unfamiliar with their methods and principles, as demonstrated in the last four years, the lecture announced below, by one who knows the subject, will be a revelation as to the spirit of womanhood. It conduces to a heightened political ideal, and a higher civic courage:

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear Sisters.—As your secretary, I want to inform you that the program committee has planned for one night of state convention to be given for demonstrations. We will have an important part in this. Shall we not begin now to get ready for it, and not wait until we come up to convention, as we did last year? The awarding of pennants! Last year I carried home with me (as pennant custodian) not less than ten pennants. I advertised them through the Message; by that mean found where four belonged, and sent them. This makes extra expense and work. I hope you will make it very plain, in giving your report, where your pennant belongs, and see that the proper person gets it. I want to call your attention to recommendations on page 29 in annual report of last year, especially Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5. As there will be no advanced sheets printed, we will have a longer time to get our reports ready for the state secretary. I am sure she will be glad to receive them just before the convention.

Hoping to meet you at our annual gathering, I am yours truly,—Gertrude Fulton, Secy Board of Superintendents.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

A word to the superintendent of Mothers' Meetings: Dear co-workers, I have just sent an extra supply of blanks to every superintendent whose name is in the directory. Will you please fill them out and return the result of your co-work to me by Sept. 15? Don't disappoint me. The honor of the state in our department depends on you and your promptness. I know your loyal hearts, and my heart beats in unison with yours for the uplift of humanity and the death of the enemy of the home, the legalized liquor traffic. "Be not weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not." Yours in His name,—Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

MEDICAL TEMPERANCE.

Dear Sisters.—I hope you have each had a good porch meeting during this month, at which time you have discussed "The Soft Drink" question. We must keep ourselves well informed upon these questions, then do our best to inform others. We are a band of agitators, and "we'll agitate, agitate. Keep the ball rolling. Agitate, stir 'em up. Keep the ball a-rolling." I hope each union has supplied her physician with the new leaflet "Alcohol, a Food; Theory in the Light of Recent Researches," by Prof. W. S. Hall, of Northwestern University. These you secure from Mrs. M. M. Allen, Marcellus, N. Y., 40 cents per 100. The St. Louis W. C. T. U. has surely accomplished a far-reaching amount of good. At the recent American Medical Association at St. Louis, they presented to each physician possible a letter containing some medical temperance literature, reaching about 2,500 physicians. We might take up a work like that, dear sisters, at our state and district medical meetings next year. Let us think about it, and perhaps it could be arranged. The great problem in all these plans seems to be the money, but I believe that money spent in winning the physicians over to our cause would be "casting our bread upon the waters." May God bless you in all your efforts to spread the gospel of medical temperance.—Mrs. G. E. Denny, State Supt.

EIGHT GREAT REFORMS URGED BY TEMPERANCE WORKERS AT GLASGOW.

Prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

Enfranchisement of the women of all nations.

Establishment of courts of international and national arbitration.

Active opposition to all forms of state or authorities' regulation of vice.

An equal standard of morality for men and women.

The name white slave traffic to be changed to woman slave traffic, so as to include women of colored races.

Food reform as a help for the cure and prevention of inebriety.

The protection of native races against the destructive traffic of alcoholic intoxicants and opium.

WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

Dear Co-Workers.—I write, believing that it will be of interest to you to know that I have been out in the state on a six-weeks' tour, organizing and otherwise stirring up the women of my race to a sense of duty, as it concerns the cause "for God, Home and every Land." June the 21st I organized a W. C. T. U. at Vincennes with Mrs. Carrie Anthony as president. Address corner 14th and Hackman streets. Dear Mrs. Fields was at the meeting encouraging and helping in her inimitable way. June 7 found me in Terre Haute making great efforts to wage war against the demon rum. Succeeded in organizing a W. C. T. U., with Mrs. Dr. Bethea as president. Address 1206 South 13th street, Terre Haute.

From that city I went to Evansville. My! My! but the conditions are bad down there among all people. The liquor traffic seems to have many in its octopus-like clutches. While there I lectured, visited to some extent, secured several pledges. But found only four ladies ready to enter into an organization. Some time in the near future I am to return to them, spend much time in doing house-to-house visiting, and in that way secure the desired women, who will compose a mighty host in that awful city to pull down the strongholds of sin. Through Christ it can be done. From there I went to Mt. Vernon, and on July 11 organized a fine W. C. T. U. with Mrs. Grace Wesley as president. Address, 530 Pearl street, Mt. Vernon.

Returning northward, I stopped at Princeton. Held a meeting with the dear women of my race that compose the W. C. T. U. I organized them last November. I expect much of that union ere the year closes. July 17 I organized another fine W. C. T. U. at Washington, with Mrs. N. J. Hawkins as president. Address P. O. box 341, Washington, Ind. This union informed me that they would make efforts to secure, at the state convention, the pennant now in the hands of the McColl W. C. T. U.

From that point I touched at Crawfordsville, where I will organize (D. V.) before convention; also at Rockville.

July 23 found me at Lafayette. While there I did much to encourage the union I organized last November. I have reason to believe that this union will also come to the front ere our state convention.

The McColl union (colored) of this city hopes to stand second to none other W. C. T. U. (colored) at our convention at Fort Wayne.

Thus far during this year six W. C. T. Unions have been added to the eleven (colored) unions organized by your servant last year. Other cities will be visited ere state convention, and such work done as will promote the cause we love. —Yours in His name.—M. A. McCurdy, State Organizer W. C. T. U. Work Among Colored People, 225 South Tenth Street, Richmond, Ind., Aug. 7, 1910.

LETTER FROM NATIONAL L. T. L. SECRETARY, MAKING GOOD.

In the good old days of which grandmother tells us, there were not so many games, nor so many sports, but each had a part in the world's work, even the smallest child in the family having a task assigned him. The out-doors might call ever so loudly, sunshine and sky might lure to play, but "Have you finished your stint?" was the question to be answered ere play was indulged in. This was simply "making good." For three years the Loyal Temperance Legion has set its own stint—50,000 Crusader Monthly subscribers, 30,000 dues-paying L. T. L. members and 2,000 graduates. So excellent have these plans appeared that they have been enthusiastically ratified by three successive national L. T. L. conferences. Now every Legioner is asked to "make good." Shall we not by November first, and round out the first decade of the twentieth century by completing the task to which we have set ourselves? Accomplishment is possible or I would not ask it. Miss Willard has told us how her mother, blessed Saint Courageous, used to encourage the flagging zeal of her daughter with the epigram, "It's dogged as does it." That is all we need—doggedness, persistence from now on until November.

Can we secure those Crusader Monthly subscriptions? Yes, and come to Baltimore with the 50,000 so long promised. How? By a House-to-House Canvass for the Crusader Monthly. Will you help us "make good" by starting such a canvass in your Legion? That special Crusader Monthly club rate of Five for a dollar from August 1 to October 15 makes it an easy task. There is not a community in the United States in which ten subscribers cannot be gained by the Five for a Dollar plan, and there is not a Legion anywhere so weak that it need fail, but now is the time to begin.

When the Loyal Temperance Legion is a quarter of a million strong, ought we not to have 30,000 dues-paying L. T. L. members? Why we accomplished two-thirds of that stint in 1909, when dues were paid for over 20,000 Legioners. We can get the remaining third before the different state W. C. T. U. treasurer's books close if we try. One dues-paying member in eight will do it, and every dues-paying Legioner furnishes the music and helps on the chorus of dimes. Eight form an octave. To keep the music going we need

L. T. L. Octaves.

Thirty-seven hundred and fifty L. T. L. octaves or sets of Legioners, eight dues-paying Legioners in each group will keep the dimes chiming and give us the long desired 30,000 dues-paying L. T. L. members. How many octaves will your Legion furnish? Will you try the plan in your Legion? If your L. T. L. has never paid dues before, start the music and furnish an L. T. L. octave. Remember that eight dues-paying members in your Legion will count.

Dear Local Secretary, have you signed for a graduating class from your Legion? Do you know that if

Every L. T. L. Leader Would Complete the Study of the manuals she teaches, passing a satisfactory examination, we would have our 2,000 graduates? And each L. T. L. leader ought to set herself to that stint. Fancy a public school teacher who had never completed the study of common arithmetic teaching a class in mathematics! Yet that is what many L. T. L. leaders are doing when a few days' study would master the truths to be taught from our temperance manuals. I am asking every local L. T. L. secretary to "make good" by completing our L. T. L. course of study for diploma by November first. If you have not already done so, dear leader, will you not "finish your stint" by becoming one of our 1910 L. T. L. graduates? I am assured that if you do this and announce your intention in your Legion, some Legioner will enlist to study with you, and thus more than 2,000 graduates will be assured.

If you believe that the Loyal Temperance Legion should "make good," will you not work with us that we may "finish our stint" and enter upon 1911 with enlarged plans?—Margaret Wintringer.

CURRENT NEWS.

Brewer Pabst signed a petition to prohibit saloons from the street on which he lives in Milwaukee!!

A new fashion has been set by the mayor of Des Moines, who refused to deliver an address of welcome to the Iowa Retail Liquor Dealers' association at their recent convention.

The W. C. T. U. of Worcester, Mass., has persuaded the company in charge of street car advertising in that city to remove all liquor advertisements from the cars.

Denver, Colorado, has an organization known as the Church Federation Against the Saloon. Just what every city in "wet" territory needs.

Rock Creek, Tenn., saloon, once a famous rendezvous in Union county, Tennessee, has been dedicated as a Presbyterian church. The dedication exercises were attended by many men who formerly patronized the saloon bar.

Prohibition was indorsed by the state convention of the Christian church of Missouri last week. The adoption of the initiative amendment to the state constitution for state-wide prohibition was urged. There was not a dissenting vote.

No wine or liquor of any kind will be served at the annual banquet of the National Association of Live Stock Exchanges, to be held in East St. Louis, Ill., in September. This decision was reached in a recent meeting of the East St. Louis exchange, by a unanimous vote. About 350 delegates are expected.

A new law in Michigan makes it illegal to sell liquor to any student in any school in the state, of whatever age, and also forbids bartenders to permit any student in attendance at any public or private institution of learning in the state, or a minor, to play at cards, dice, billiards or any game of chance in any part of any building in which spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks are sold.

Kansas City, Kan., is the largest city in the world without a saloon, a gambling den or a disorderly house. The business of the Home City Bank has increased 46 per cent. as the result of the wiping out of the saloons, and the business of the City Savings Bank has increased 50 per cent. Three times as many workmen bought homes in the one year after rum was outlawed as in any of the years during saloon rule.

State Superintendent of Schools E. T. Fairchild of Kansas says: "Our statutes require the teaching of physiology in our schools, with emphasis to be laid upon the effects of alcohol and narcotics. That such instruction has borne fruit in formulating public sentiment in favor of prohibition and in instilling correct notions of the evils of intemperance I have no doubt. * * * Of the more than 500,000 boys and girls in Kansas, only the smallest fraction has ever seen an open saloon. Children are growing to manhood and womanhood without the temptations of the saloon, and are arriving at the point of fixed habits with no experiences and temptations relative to liquor such as present themselves to the young people of other than prohibition states."

BRIGHTWOOD (INDIANAPOLIS) W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. F. L. Drake. The subject of "Franchise" was discussed by the local superintendent, Mrs. Mae Cometz and Dr. Amelia Keller, president of the local Equal Suffrage Association. Mrs. Susan Miller, county superintendent of railroad work, also gave an interesting talk.

INDIANAPOLIS MOTHERS' DAY W. C. T. U. is actively interested in the work of the West Side W. C. T. U. mission and Sunday school and has its headquarters at the mission building, 1425 West Market street.

INDIANAPOLIS NORTH EAST UNION held a porch meeting with Mrs. Mary Manifold. "Slaughter of the Innocents" was the subject discussed.

THE INDIANAPOLIS SOUTH SIDE UNION met on the afternoon of April 5 at the home of Mrs. J. V. Bloom, 1506 Pleasant street. The attendance was large and the meeting throughout enthusiastic and interesting. Mrs. Miller Camden, of New Jersey, who has been visiting her daughter in this vicinity for the past three months, during which time she has given valuable aid to this new union, presided. Mrs. Miller informed those present that she was soon to return to her home. A rising vote of thanks was given to her for her good services. Reports were given by the officers of various departments of the society, and these, together with the treasurer's report showing a balance on hand, indicate the successful work being accomplished. In the regular order of the day Rev. J. V. Bloom outlined the subject of "Great Mothers of the Nineteenth Century." Among other things, he impressed upon those present the importance of the place held by those who might be called "Empress of the Home."

"If sometimes woman feels that home life and duties are hum-drum and commonplace, let her remind herself that so perhaps did the mothers of our Lincolns, Beechers, St. Gaudens and the host of those who are considered great mothers today.

"But commonplace as their lives seemed to them, they were rearing movements that will perpetuate their memory as long as gratitude pulsates in human hearts. Every mother may be building better than she knows.

"There are plenty of great careers open to women, but the best of them all is the old, sweet one of just being a woman, a tender, compassionate, Christian woman. This is what all the great mothers of all centuries have been."—Mrs. Hoover.

LA PORTE.—This union on August 10 had a house cleaning and right in the midst of it added a new member to their membership list. Work ceased for a bit and handshaking was in order.

SEYMOUR W. C. T. U. held a contest for a silver medal, in the M. E. church Aug. 4, which was a decided success. Every member of the class did unusually well. "A Drunkard's Blow," by Miss Harriette McAllister, won the medal. Miss Amyra Huckelberry sang a beautiful solo, and Mrs. Earl Cox delighted the audience with two recitations while waiting for the decision of the judges. Mrs. Ben Schneck, Ed Remey, Seba S. Barnsby kindly acted as judges. Rev. Huckelberry, Baptist minister, presented the medal.—L. C. Van Horn.

Van Buren.—The Van Buren W. C. T. U. had a very interesting meeting July 20, with Mrs. E. R. Kribs in a little country town about four miles away called Dillman. Mrs. Kribs is one of our most devoted members, and we were well entertained. Our program was very good. Our president, Mrs. Dimit, was in charge. The subject for the afternoon was "Christian Citizenship," which was interestingly discussed by the members. An enjoyable feature was a beautiful little song by Mrs. Kribs' two little girls, Lucile and Lovell, entitled "Little Sunbeams. It seems that the children are interested in this work, and that is just what we want—all the boys and girls help us put every saloon out of business. They can help. Our union is growing in strength as well as in numbers.—Mrs. L. F. Mathis, Press Supt.

MUNCIE—NORMAL CITY UNION.—On Friday evening, Aug 5, in the Normal City M. E. church, Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, our state president, gave a very interesting address to the women and girls of our city. A large and appreciative audience was in attendance. Miss Maida Alley sang the beautiful solo, "Thy Will Be Done."—Mrs. Herbert Wallace, Press Supt.

FORT WAYNE.—Fort Wayne Flower Mission work for the month of June is inspiring and interesting. There are ten on the Frances Willard Union Flower Mission committee. Each member has her territory assigned for the year's work. For June 9 the committee was arranged in four groups as far separated as advisable and other members of the union invited to assist, especially those who had conveyances.

A handsome bouquet was given to each of the thirty-five ministers, to the editors and police officers. The desire was to give one to each teacher of the grammar schools and high school, but as the hospitals, sick and "shut-ins" were visited first, there were not quite enough bouquets to go around. To every bouquet was attached a text card tied with white ribbon stamped with the Frances Willard union stamp. With each bouquet was sent a Flower Mission leaflet, explaining the origin and extension of the beautiful work. These leaflets were doubtless read by all the recipients. The teachers were requested to read the short leaflet to the pupils. In nearly every instance this was done. Mothers said that the children came home with more knowledge of the W. C. T. U. work and concerning the Flower Mission work than some of them, as W. C. T. U. members, had known.

Thus disseminating knowledge of the work must be beneficial. Editors and ministers are usually keen to read about and understand what is being done. Sending condensed information with flowers reaches many.

DR. VERNE BALDWIN, of Greentown, has delivered his excellent lecture on "Health and Heredity" at Jonesboro, Fairmount, North Marion, Oak Chapel, Oak Ridge and South Marion. These unions count themselves very fortunate in being able to secure such an able and convincing speaker on this important subject.

MRS. CULLA J. VAYHINGER gave a suffrage address before an open-air meeting near Marion on a Sunday afternoon recently. The speaker was at her best in producing unanswerable argument for her cause. The objection that is often raised to equal suffrage—that women cannot bear arms—was answered by the speaker in a quotation from Lady Henry Somerset: "Women bear soldiers; what need have they to bear arms?"

The Gas City W. C. T. U. quartet furnished excellent music.

THE DEER CREEK union, in the country, has a membership of 50 women and 8 honoraries. This union has the distinction of having had its president, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart, and its treasurer, Mrs. Susannah Ratliff, for nineteen consecutive years. In that time Mrs. Shugart has missed less than a half-dozen meetings. Her beautiful Christian influence, which is always felt the moment she enters the room, is largely responsible for the growth of this union. Mrs. Ratliff conducts the finances of the union in a business-like manner. Her husband says she has worn out three buggies in collecting dues. When a woman becomes delinquent she may expect a visit from the treasurer although she live ten miles away. Mrs. Ratliff's enthusiasm in keeping up the business side of the union is also largely responsible for the union's prosperity.—Sarah E. Thomas, Co. Press Supt.

ARBA.—The W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting recently. After a short study of parliamentary law, the subject of woman's enfranchisement was ably presented. Miss Bertha Bowen read a paper on "Woman's Battle" and Miss Dolie Jordan read a paper on "The Ballot for Women vs. The Drink Traffic," followed by general discussion. Mrs. Jane Moore, the newly elected superintendent of the Flower mission department, spoke interestingly of the work and her desires concerning its advancement.

After a short talk by Rev. Coppoe, "Let your Banner Fly" was sung in closing, led by Ruby Brown.

PLAINFIELD.—Our July W. C. T. U. meeting was especially interesting, as more members were in attendance than usual, two workers being present who had not been permitted to meet with us for many months. We also had a visitor from Carmel W. C. T. U., who gave use words of cheer and encouragement. Two of the papers prepared for the meeting were read and discussed, opening our eyes to facts hitherto unknown. A resident physician kindly met with us and gave us an interesting paper and talk on the subjects before the meeting. Ten members of our White Ribbon Glee club, composed of twenty little girls, were present to sing their temperance songs for us, with guitar accompaniment by their leader, adding much to the pleasure of the meeting. Each new member of the club has the privilege of selecting two other members, so they are continually increasing their membership. We are contemplating a contest in the near future.—Mrs. Cora Milhous, Pres. W. C. T. U.

MATHEWS.—The W. C. T. U. was entertained at the home of Mrs. Garretson. The reports from different superintendents were good. An original paper on "Social Purity" was read by Cora Osburn, which was very interesting and showed much thought in its composition. The following leaflets were read: "Substitute for Alcohol in Medicine," Margaret Trissel; "Why I Never Tasted Liquor," Florence Bartlett; "reading," "Farmer Dean's Conversion," Christina Davis, and "A Brave Boy," Charley Shaw. The union will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Lena Shaw in September.—Allie Garretson, Press Supt.

BENTON COUNTY.—The Oxford union made the annual visit to the county farm July 1. Although the day was extremely warm, about 50 of the members were in attendance.

We left home about 10 o'clock and after a delightful drive we reached our destination before noon.

We were cordially welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Everman, who received us on the front lawn. After a rest in the cool shade we spread our lunch on the grass and all enjoyed the social hour together. After dinner we were shown through the building, which is pleasant and commodious and has all the necessary conveniences for the comfort of the inmates, everywhere showing the care and thoughtfulness of the manager.

One of the things of which Benton county should be proud is that at present there are but thirteen in the home, and a part of these could not be cared for in their own homes.

After a short program, bouquets tied with white ribbon with a scripture verse attached, and bananas and oranges were left with the inmates.

We came away late in the afternoon, thankful that our county has provided such a home for the unfortunate or needy.

INDIANAPOLIS.—The South Side W. C. T. U. held their August 2 meeting at Beech Grove and were delightfully entertained as a porch party by Mrs. Edwin Bailey. About twenty of our ladies enjoyed a novel ride in an old-fashioned hack or carry-all that makes regular trips between Prospect street and the grove. Quite a number of ladies from the neighborhood were present as visitors. After the opening exercises of songs and prayers we listened to an address by Dr. Martha Keller, who talked to us in her own charming manner, especially to mothers, about the training of young children, also telling us of much charitable work being done in our city by other unions. Then our officers proceeded to organize a union among the Beech Grove ladies, after which all joined heartily in singing our White Ribbon song. Then our hostess and her helpers appeared with dainty, cooling refreshments and a social half hour was well spent. We are glad to report that our South side organization is just a year old. We started last July with 20 names and now have 44 enrolled. We have held successful and interesting meetings every month. A few deserve especial mention that have not been promptly reported. In April a meeting at the home of Rev. J. V. Bloom on Pleasant street; on Flower Mission day we met at Faith home on College avenue, and distributed many flowers and text cards to the inmates; last month we picnicked at Brookside park and held our regular meeting in the pavilion there with 22 members and several visitors present. Our latest and most interesting work is securing the names of the patrons in this vicinity who will protest against the grocers opening their stores and selling their goods on Sabbath morning. We are also closely watching a few notorious saloons that have been discovered selling beer to children. —Mrs. W. H. Hoover, Reporter.

GRAND GOLD MEDAL CONTEST.—The Montpelier union held an excellent contest for a grand gold medal. Mrs. Sam Wearly won the medal. The program consisted of musical selections and short readings between the speeches of the contestants. The musicians were Misses Bertha Miller, Lena Shannon, Ruby Riter and Dorothy Artain. The readers were Lester Henry, Guernsey Merri-man and Romalie Henry. The contestants were Mesdames Wearly, Henderson, Ritter, Shull and Ittel.—Mrs. Chas. S. Miller.

FAIRMOUNT.—Local W. C. T. U. held their annual rally at the Wesleyan camp grounds on 4th of July. The weather was ideal, the audience large and attentive, the speaking unusually good and the music excellent. The local president, Mr. Ed Hollingsworth, presided over the sessions, assisted by the county president, Mrs. Gullie Shugart, Miss Mattie Cammack Gibson, Eunice Wilson and Mrs. Daisy Barr. Dr. Verne Baldwin, of Greentown, delivered one of the best addresses in the morning ever heard in Fairmount on the line of temperance. His earnestness in expressing the interest he had in the cause and his love for humanity was much appreciated. He asked no compensation. The speaker of the afternoon was Clifford G. Roe, of Chicago, a man who is making a name for himself in his fight against evil. His subject was "The Conservation of the American Home." He made a plea for the sanctity of the home and the protection of the boys and girls. Mr. Roe was at one time assistant state's attorney of Chicago. He has made a special fight against the white slave traffic and knows weherof he speaks. Five new members were added to local union and some to other unions.

A WABASH newspaper publishes the following statement: "January 1, 1909, with 19 saloons doing business in Wabash the total deposits in the banks were $1,851,555.70.

On January 1, 1910, without a saloon and two months after the last saloon closed its doors, which was November 3, 1909, the bank deposits amounted to $2,111,377.99. For the six months from January 1 to July 1, 1909, with saloons, the total arrests in Wabash city for all causes were 126. In Wabash city for the same months of 1910, without saloons, the arrests were 68. For intoxications the number of arrests in the city of Wabash from January 1 to July 1, 1909, with saloons, was found to be 103. For the same months of 1910, without saloons, the number was 29, about one-fourth as many."

GOSHEN.—The Goshen W. C. T. U. was entertained by Mrs. J. D. Myers, 606 N. Main street. A titthing and systematic giving program in charge of Mrs. F. M. Hamman, was much enjoyed. It was as follows: After singing "Some Glad Day" the leader read the third chapter of Malachia, and there was prayer. Mrs. Bechtel gave a eulogy on the life of Frances Willard. Mrs. Cunningham spoke briefly on the W. C. T. U. work and was followed by a reading, "The Reason Why," by Gladys Cline. A class of boys sang "The Manly Boy Brigade." Tithe and systematic giving was the subject of a talk by Rev. G. W. Rench.

There were interesting readings by Miss Grace Smith, Miss Lottie Coulter, Mrs. B. F. Hammond and Mrs. F. M. Hamman. There were musical selections interspersed. A song by a quartette, a violin solo by Romaine Hess, a vocal solo by Virginia Cantwell and a piano solo by Miss Ester Cline. A splendid program was closed by all singing "Blest Be the Tie." The presence of Mrs. Wertz, the county president, was appreciated.

SHERIDAN.—Nineteen barrels of various kinds of beer were found as the result of a raid here late Saturday even when the temperance forces aroused by the continuous and flagrant violations of the liquor laws, made a search of the restaurants of Harry Calvest and William Franklin. Not that the alleged booze was found in their places. It was only resting serenely in a box car, where it had been taken a short time before the raid was made.

The search was made about 4:30 Saturday evening when Deputy Sheriff White and a deputy, accompanied by Marshal Baldwin, entered these places armed with the proper papers.

Prosecutor Gentry issued warrants Monday for the arrest of Calvert and Franklin. The search was made upon affidavits sworn to by ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which has labored faithfully in the cause. Rev. Brightmire was a leading spirit in the proceedings and took charge of the affair in a business-like manner. He had satisfied himself some time ago that there was too much drunkenness in Sheridan and had called attention to it to the church board and W. C. T. U. ladies.

ARBA.—The Arba W. C. T. U. held her regular July meeting at the home of Misses Dallie and Lizzie Jarden. Sixteen members answered the roll call while a goodly number of invited guests enjoyed the splendid program. Mrs. Gertrude Fulton, of Portland, was present and after the regular program was carried out she gave a splendid address on her line of the work—Christian citizenship, which was very much appreciated by all.

In the evening, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Fulton gave another good address in the Friends church, taking for her subject the W. C. T. U., and explaining the work of its different departments.

Miss Woodgie Elliot recited a poem, "The Comet," written by Ellen Hartley, of Fountain City. The meeting was very enjoyable to all present.—Miss Bertha Bowen, Press Supt. Fourth page, about the middle.

Local superintendents, please carefully count up all the work done by yourself and others in your department and report promptly.

THE STATE CONFERENCE OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS will be held at Marion Sept. 10-13.

Every one who is interested in the social welfare of the people of the state is invited to attend the conference.

The conference opens Saturday evening, Sept. 10, with a general session. On Sunday, visiting members will speak in the churches.

On Monday, Sept. 11, the subjects presented in the morning will be, state charities, county institutions, needy families and dependent children.

In the afternoon, county and township charities will be discussed. Mrs. Crane, of Kalamazoo, Mich., will speak on county poor asylums and deliver an address.

State charities will be the subject of a stereopticon lecture in the evening by Miss Mary T. Wilson, of Indianapolis. Tuesday will have a full, interesting program.

County superintendents, please be faithful to send in all reports on time.

Collect dues! Presidents, secure the cooperation of your membership in the collecting of dues. Sometimes treasurers need assistance.

LETTER FROM MRS. M. L. HOBBS, for many years Dubois County W. C. T. U. president, 5311 Figueroe street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear White Ribboners of Indiana.—I have just read the August number of the Message, and felt that I was bound to send you a few words. I enjoyed reading the reports of the unions and counties, but felt so sad to think there was none from my home county, Dubois. In days past we always did some work, in fact did all we could. But some of our members have passed on and some have moved away and are still in the work, and only a few are left that are getting old and feeble, but they are true, pay their dues and wear the badge. I have been in bad health for several years. The last convention I attended was at Brazil, and I was not able to attend all the meetings. Upon arrival at home I was ill and the doctor was called in. I recuperated a little and came to California, spent six months, then went home sick again, and have never been well since. My husband passed on and I was left all alone. My friends prevailed on me to come to California again, so last October I came back. My health did not improve and again I was very sick all winter, but now I am improving some, and when I read the Phalanx and the Message I feel like I would love to be at home to help in the fight for prohibition. I certainly could help in getting subscribers for the Union Signal and Phalanx. I notice the prize offer. I certainly would try for that prize if I were there, not that I cared so much for the ten dollars, but for the honor and for the good it would do. Perhaps some of the readers remember a few years since when a prize of $5 was offered to the one that answered best a certain number of questions in a certain number of the Signal. I thought I certainly could do it at least as good as some, but if you remember, I gained the first prize. Of course, I felt proud of that, but if I were at home I sure would do my best for a large club. I would not do without it if it were five times what it is. I sent my renewal last December and told them to credit it to Mrs. McWhirter, for I do love her so dearly. O how I do want to see you all! How I would enjoy being at the state convention, but the last one I was at had so many new faces and I missed so many of the old ones that it made me feel bad. I think if the good lord spares me I will go home next spring if not before. What I do dislike back there is the cold winter. Here we scarcely realize when it is winter.

I attended the California state convention last spring. Of course I did not enjoy it like our own. Almost all were strangers. Neither do I think that they have any smarter women than we have. I have met Mrs. Griffith, their state president. She is a sweet, intelligent and earnest woman, but not one whit more so than our own present president and ex-presidents.

INDIANAPOLIS GRAY union has just added the names of Lionel Edward De Loss Byfield Charles Howard Byfield to the cradle roll as members.

INDIANAPOLIS CENTRAL union elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. W. U. Norris, 719 King avenue; vice presidents, Mrs. E. G. Ritchie, 2535 Parke avenue; Mrs. Frances G. Boyer, 2058 Ruckle street; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. U. Bonham, Malott Park, R. F. D. No. 12; recording secretary, Mrs. Wilbur W. Gard, 2025 Ashland avenue; treasurers, Miss Carrie Styer, 1511 Park avenue, Mrs. George T. Breunig, 1219 Park avenue.

MARION COUNTY W. C. T. U. CONVENTION will be held at the Hall Place Methodist church, near corner of Illinois and Sixteenth streets, Indianapolis, on Sept. 20-21.

On the afternoon of the first day Judge George W. Stubbs, of the juvenile court, will deliver an address on "Child Conservation." In the evening there will be a gold medal contest. Rev. McKee, pastor of the North Park Christian church, will speak on "Legal Status of Woman in Indiana." A good program is prepared and every union is expected to send its full quota of delegates who will attend the entire convention. Invite friends and neighbors. Remember the dates. All W. C. T. U. members and their friends are cordially invited.

FLOWER MISSION DAY was appropriately observed by the Crown Point union at the home of Mrs. Cora Knight. About 200 bouquets were made and sent to the inmates of the county farm and the shut-ins of our town. At noon the ladies partook of an elaborate picnic dinner, and the afternoon was given over to a Flower Mission service.

ARBA.—Union met at 2:45 and was opened by singing a song entitled "On the Victory Side." Scripture read by the president, Dollie Jorden. Prayer by Jessie Hill. Ten minutes' study of parliamentary law, conducted by the president. First on program was a paper, "The Woman's Battle," by Bertha Bowen. Next was a paper, "The Ballot for Women vs. The Drink Traffic," by Dollie Jorden. Good discussion followed. Mrs. Jane Moore having been elected as Flower Mission superintendent, gave a splendid talk and read a short paper expressing her love for the work and her appreciation to the union for having been elected superintendent of this pleasant work. May God's richest blessings rest upon her as she goes forth to bless others, carrying the beautiful flowers, God's messages of love, to his sick, sorrowing and lonely children. Next was an encouraging talk by Brother Coppoe. Song, "Let Your Banner Fly," led by Ruby Brown. Closed by prayer by Allie Bowen. —Bertha Bowen, Press Supt.

GRANT COUNTY.

The edict has gone forth from county headquarters that Grant must register the names of 200 new members before the state convention. North Marion and Deer Creek unions are engaged in spirited membership contests and other unions in the county are making special efforts to increase their numbers.

White ribboners of Grant county were aroused to indignation by a recent announcement in the Marion papers that the Johnson-Jeffries prize fight would be reproduced by moving pictures at Goldthwaite park on the following Sunday. The Marion Central union started an agitation that caused the county sheriff to forbid the exhibition under penalty of arrest. The women had only a few hours in which to work, but there was a whirring of telephone messages and a hastily written protest, signed by prominent W. C. T. U. women and the pastors of the city, which brought the desired result.

MR. THOMAS B. ARTMAN, a college student of exceptional character and ability, the only child of Judge and Mrs. Samuel R. Artman of Indianapolis, died at their home on August 13 of typhoid fever. He was aged twenty years.

He was a graduate of the Lebanon High School and would have graduated from Wabash College with the present Senior Class of which he was President-elect.

In college he was a leader in music circles and had a voice of rare quality. Since childhood he had sung in church choirs.

After a short funeral service at the home he was taken to Lebanon, the former family home, for burial. There the funeral service was held in the M. E. Church where many friends from Indianapolis, Crawfordsville and elsewhere were present. After an impressive service by the Sigma Chi fraternity brothers, Dr. Tillotson, of LaFayette, a former pastor spoke with great earnestness of this ambitious, exemplary young man whose sympathy and interest were great in the reform in which his noted father and zealous mother have been so prominently identified.

The White Ribbon host of Indiana sympathize with the parents in this great bereavement.

Our Promoted Comrades

La Fayette Francis E. Willard Union mourns the loss of one of the oldest and most honored members, MRS. MARY JANE ROBERTSON, her bright eyes and sunny smile are greatly missed.

La Fayette Francis Willard also mourns the death of a dearly loved comrade, MRS. JOHN SAYLOR. She was a brave and patient sufferer. These have gone on to their heavenly home.

The Union of Sheridan has sustained a loss in the death of ROSSELLA GOODNIGHT, who departed this life July 1, 1910. She was one of our most ardent faithful workers but loss is her gain.

Signed
Mayed Redington
County Pres. Supt.

The Hebron W. C. T. U. suffers a great loss in the death of their President, MRS. ELIZABETH RICE, on March 28, 1910, at about 58 years of age. She was a charter member of the Hebron Union, always deeply interested in the work, she kept well informed and was a very willing, capable and efficient worker in the cause of Temperance. She was a good wife and mother and will be greatly missed by the husband and grown up son and daughters. The entire community mourn with the family. But our loss is her gain.

ANDERSON, IND., OCTOBER, 1910

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

AT STATE CONVENTION, TUESDAY, WILL BE RALLY DAY FOR NORTHERN INDIANA WHITE RIBBONERS AND THEIR HUSBANDS AND FRIENDS.

ON TO FT. WAYNE! Every State Officer, Branch Secretary, State Superintendent, County President, Local President and elected delegates have all names sent to Mrs. Bloom at once if entertainment is desired!! Plan to arrive in Ft. Wayne in time for the Friday forenoon meeting!!! The Ft. Wayne convention will be a great convention every union should send a full quota of delegates.

Visiting delegates can make arrangements for reasonable hotel and boarding rates by applying to Mrs. Joel Welty, 730 Columbia Ave., Ft. Wayne. Invite husbands, sons and daughters and friends to attend the convention if not all of the time to spend Saturday afternoon and Sunday at the convention.

Hon. Clinton Howard is the Sunday afternoon speaker. He will make a great speech.

By attending the convention you will get a spiritual uplift, an inspiration for nobler, better service—Go!

TO DELEGATES. Go to Ft. Wayne praying as never before for a state convention.

All year the unions have worked with this Harvest Home gathering in mind. What a keen sense of interest many members and delegates feel in anticipation of this convention.

Those of us who can attend will enjoy meeting our fellow workers, looking into the faces of those with whom we have been co-laborers, many of whom we would never have known except for the W. C. T. U. conventions. They inspire us with love for our common cause and enthusiasm for renewed activity."

It will be good to be there. To see the dear familiar faces, to hear their voices and to feel the inspiration that will surely come to us. Let no member who can attend fail to do so. The presence and prayers of every one will add to the success of the convention.

POINTERS FOR DELEGATES: Pray much! Be on time. Use Note Book!

Keep supply of well sharpened pencils. Keep smiling. Keep sweet. Be loving, not critical.

When a sister does well, tell her so.

When one of your county women has a duty to perform, encourage her and pray for her.

Try to win members for the Ft. Wayne unions.

Seek to win friends for our cause in the home where you are entertained—not by argument, never, but by eliciting interest in the purpose and plans and work of the great organization.

Invite everybody you meet while in Ft. Wayne to attend the convention. Do this in the homes, on the streets, in the business places and wherever possible. If four hundred delegates will keep inviting persons for four days to attend our convention there will be results.

Women who are active at home can not sit for five days consecutively in a convention and feel well unless they take exercise. Walk a mile in the morning, a mile at noon and a mile in the afternoon. When walking, much oxygen is taken into the lungs and the entire body is thereby exhilarated.

Drink not less than six glasses of water a day. At night go to your room as early as possible and do not talk. You need time for a "quiet hour" before God and your roommate does, too.

Don't talk in your room at night. If for any reason you can not sleep, relax and rest.

Immediately upon her return home from the convention every delegate should write a note of appreciation to her hostess—the same as she would do if she had been an invited guest. It is the little courtesies of life that indicate the culture of the individual.

DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION.

All officers and delegates are urged to send their names at once to Mrs. N. W. Bloom, 1125 Columbia Ave., Ft. Wayne, chairman of the entertainment committee, so that they can receive their cards of entertainment before they leave their homes.

Cards of entertainment will enable the delegates to go direct from the depots to their places of entertainment with their baggage. Promptness in this matter will be a convenience to delegates and to the entertainment committee.

FOR OLD COPIES OF THE MESSAGE.

Because so very many kind friends responded to my request for back numbers of the Message I desire, through these columns, to express my appreciation to every one who wrote to me.

Especially do I want to thank the dear sisters who wrote me such kind, generous letters. Some sent me papers without names or addresses, so I must in this way express to them my deep appreciation.—Luella F. McWhirter.

FROM MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters—Another year has gone into history. Our enemy is yet alive. Thus far we have only administered anaesthetics only to hinder him temporarily with no thought of killing him entirely. The people are learning slowly that this method only enrages him and can not save his victim. They will now either move on to Prohibition or get discouraged and call off the battle for any year. If we don't make gains this year it will be because "a wonderful and a horrible thing is committed in the land and my people love to have it .so" I have worked in all sections of the state this year, have been called by the church, the Sunday school, the public, the school teachers, the fraternities, the chautau-quas, the Prohibitionists and the W. C. T. U. and all seem to endorse our platform. How will it be in November? I hope to meet the dear loyal white ribbon army at Ft. Wayne October 14. Women send a delegation from each Union that will shake the throne of iniquity in that rum cursed city. Ft. Wayne must be redeemed. Our women there have held the fort against odds all these years. Let us send our home defenders to their relief—on to Ft. Wayne. Yours for state-wide, nation-wide Prohibition.

ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

TO STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

Dear Sisters—It has been decided by the Program Committee to ask one-half of the state superintendents to give their demonstrations this year at the state convention and the other half next year, as the time is so short for a full demonstration. So this is to inform you, who are named in the list of superintendents in the minutes of last year (from one to sixteen, beginning with "Work Among Colored People," and taking to and including "Anti-Narcotics,") to come prepared to give your demonstrations. I am sure if this plan is carried out it will be much better than the plan carried out last year. Hoping this will meet your approval, I am faithfully yours,

GERTRUDE FULTON,

Secretary Board of Superintendents.

OFFICIAL.

The election of officers will take place this year on Saturday morning instead of in the afternoon as heretofore, so that delegates who wish to vote must reach Ft. Wayne in time for the morning session. This change is made because our Saturday afternoon session has always been so long and tedious that every one is about worn out.

Hon. Charles Eckhart of Auburn, has recently presented that beautiful little city with a $30,000 public library which is one of the most beautiful public buildings in our state. Mr. Eckhart was at one time the Prohibition candidate for Governor of Indiana. He is a member of the Prohibition National Committee. The W. C. T. U. of Indiana has no better true friend than Mr. Eckhart. He and Mrs. Eckhart are greatly interested in the Prohibition college work. For several years they have given the fifty dollar prize for the Indiana Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest. It means much to so wonderfully help in the character building of young people.

Ohio is to have a Constitutional Convention.—Ohio W. C. T. U. will work hard for "Ohio Dry" in 1912. Their slogan is "50,000 members to make Ohio Dry in 1912." They now have more than half that many members.

CALL FOR STATE CONVENTION.

The W. C. T. U. of Indiana is called to meet in convention at Ft. Wayne, Ind., Oct. 14-18, 1910. The Trustees will meet Thursday, Oct. 13, at 11 a. m. The executive committee will meet at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. of the same day. Every member of the executive committee should be there. Each union is entitled to its president, one delegate at large and one delegate for each twenty paying members.

The convention will open at 9 o'clock on Friday morning. Ft. Wayne is making arrangements to entertain all duly elected delegates for lodging and breakfast. Restaurant service will be ample for dinner and supper and will be reasonable in price. Every day will be full of rich things and every union should send its full quota of delegates. The preliminary report of the credentials committee will be made on Friday afternoon and the election will occur on Saturday morning. Tuesday, Oct. 18, will be North Indiana Day. Many helpful things will be on the program at that time. Mrs. E. L. Calkins, president of Michigan, will be with us all day and give an address in the afternoon. North Indiana unions will have special recognition that day, so we trust large delegations may come in for the forenoon and afternoon programs. Ft. Wayne is centrally located, with excellent railroad and interurban service and the town should get a just conception of the magnitude of our organization and the importance of our cause by the number of white ribbons in evidence on that day. Bring your baskets and have a real profitable day at the convention.

Unions having pennants and banners which they won last year will please see that they are in the hands of the Secretary of Department Board, Mrs. Gertrude Fulton, before Oct. 14. Delegates, bring your local banners with you to use in decoration. Let each county come prepared to tell what you have done this year—your gain in membership and special work. Come prepared to stay through the convention. Bring your vote books, annual minutes, entertainment cards, sweetest disposition and brightest smile.

May our Great Leader help us make this the greatest convention in our history.

Yours for service,
CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

FOR SCHOOL SUFFRAGE

The Woman's School League of Indiana is organized to secure woman's voice on school matters in the state.

Already there are some women serving on school boards in Indiana towns by appointment. There are only two cities in the state where school commissioners are elected. These cities are Indianapolis and Terre Haute. At the last election, through the work and influence of the women of those cities, a woman was elected to each of their school boards. Upon investigation it has been found that in order for women to have a voice in the selection of school boards, as the laws now stand, it would be necessary for them to vote at municipal elections. This resolves itself into the necessity of women seeking municipal suffrage in order to secure the desired influence on school affairs. The Indiana School League will endeavor to enlist the interest and support of every earnest thinking woman in the state in a campaign for municipal suffrage. To secure the passage of such a law by our coming legislature will demand the aggressive active support of thousands of women.

Branch leagues will be formed wherever women are interested.

The women who conducted the campaign which resulted in the election of Miss Mary Nicholson to the Indianapolis school board have held meetings all summer and in September organized the Indiana School League. The officers are Indianapolis women. President, Dr. Amelia R. Keller; vice presidents, Dr. Rebecca R. George, 1205 Broadway; Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter; secretary, Mrs. Winfield Scott Johnson; treasurer, Miss Harriet Noble, 707 E. 20th st.

The membership fee will be 50 cents. The Indianapolis League will meet in the parlor of the Odd Fellows building.

All persons at all interested in this work are invited to call at the headquarters, room 1202 Odd Fellows building, corner Washington and Pennsylvania streets. Information and literature will be supplied gladly.

OCT. 18 EVERY UNION IN NORTHERN INDIANA ON DIRECT LINE TO FT. WAYNE IS URGED TO ATTEND THE STATE CONVENTION ALL DAY TUESDAY.

OCTOBER, 1910.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

There will be a meeting of the Board of State Superintendents Friday afternoon immediately at the close of the afternoon session of the convention; also another meeting on Monday at 1 o'clock to elect officers for the coming year. We would request that as far as possible every state superintendent be present at these meetings. Cordially yours,

MRS. KATHRYN WERT HOLLER,
Pres. Board State Superintendents.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

I would like to meet all superintendents of Sabbath Observance, both county and local, at our state convention on Friday, October 14th, at noon, we will meet immediately at the close of the morning session (place of meeting to be announced from the platform).

I have some plans and suggestions to present to you at that time which I hope will be for the advancement of our department.

We are pleased to note that so many unions are placing our little Sabbath Observance mottoes in the hands of the Sunday School children, much good will be accomplished in this way.

With the co-operation of the Chapin Park Union we have been enabled to place more than five hundred of these mottoes in South Bend homes during the past month.

Dear Sisters, your influence is far reaching, will you not use it in every way that you can for the preservation of our Holy Sabbath Day. Yours for a better observance of the Sabbath,

MRS. KATHRYN WERT HOLLER,
Pres. Board State Superintendents.

To County Superintendents of Peace:

Dear Sisters—I am now sending you the blanks for reports. Please make up the summary of the work of the year, and return to me, which, you will remember, is the time for the closing of books for this year's work. I am also sending to you, and to many County Presidents—where there is no Superintendent of Peace—some choice pieces of literature, which I hope you can use to advantage even yet before the convention. It would be my choice to have written to each a personal letter, but many unlooked-for duties have claimed my care. How often is it so with us all? And many plans have had to be laid aside. Let us press on, however, with the work on hand, and let us remember that an important part of our work is prayer.

We so need guidance and confidence in the gracious purposes of God toward His people. Another need in the promotion of the Peace movement is that we be informed. To know, at least in part, what has been done. What is being done, and what may yet be done, will be worth much to us as peace-workers. Much of this may be learned from the various bits of literature I am sending you. Study and circulate. Many copies of "The Messenger of Peace" are sent out this month; read, hand to your neighbor, and get as many subscribers as possible. In no way can you keep in touch with the various progressive lines of the work at so small expense.

In many cases where no County Superintendent of this department has been appointed, literature has been sent to County Presidents or Superintendents of Christian Citizenship; will not these co-operate in this work? Heartily yours,

H. LAVINA BAILEY,
Superintendent.

Richmond, Ind., August 18, 1910.

LAWS AND STATISTICS.

Dear Sisters of the State—I am sending out this day my cards and a copy of the "Reform Laws of the State."

Have you a Superintendent of Law and Statistics?

If not, will you answer the following questions by the 15th of September, prompt?

If your county has voted dry, what effect has it had as to crimes, drunkenness and arrests?

If your county is wet, what is the prospect of holding a Local Option election?

If your county is dry or wet, has your Tax Rate been raised or lowered?

Do you see any good or bad results of Local Option in your county?

How many arrests for drunkenness in your county the past year?

How many saloons and blind tigers in your county?

How will you keep your county dry in the future—by a revote or by a remonstrance?

MRS. ROWENA E. RANDLE,
Supt. of Law and Statistics, State W. C. T. U.

Will you please answer promptly so I can have my report in full for our state convention. Sign your name and county on each card. Yours in the work.

MRS. ROWENA E. RANDLE,

Mrs. Everlate really does not know how little respect the members of her union have for her. Mrs. Everlate is never on time at church or Sunday School or at the W. C. T. U. meetings. We all know her.

TEMPERANCE LITERATURE.

Dear Sisters and Co-Workers—There never was a time when good literature was in such demand, and when temperance literature had a greater influence upon the public mind.

The liquor interests are flooding the country with false statements, and the temperance people must offset this with the truth. Every local union should be continually at it, molding the public mind through the printed page.

As the literature department has to do with every other department, the local superintendent should keep a record of all literature distributed by the other departments workers, and should include it in her report.

Upon the local depends the entire showing of the state.

Earlier in the year I sent out blanks for local, also a return blank for county superintendent, plan of work, as suggested by our National Superintendent, and literature for help in our department, to all those whose name and address I could secure from the state report and otherwise. If there are others needing these, please write me immediately. Yours for service,

NETTIE D. WARE,
Fairmount, Ind., R. F. D. No. 21.

GREAT GAINS IN GRANT.

Influence Sufficient to Cause Action of Fair Board.

Grant county's coveted increase of 200 members before the state convention is well on the way. Marion Central union has made a gain of 25, bringing its membership up to the 100 mark. North Marion has closed its books after a lively membership contest with a gain of 41, making a total of 80 members. Deer Creek (country) has brought 36 into the fold, the result of a heated membership contest. This union now numbers 76. Other unions of the county are making gains, but are not yet prepared to hand in their reports.

Grant county has for seven years regularly kept a column once a week in one of the leading dailies of Marion. The editors are eager for the W. C. T. U. "stuff" and if it happens to be belated, they waste no time in calling the white ribbon press correspondent to trace up the missing copy.

This column consists of the local news of the 26 unions of the county, and also a few crisp "clippings" showing the advancement of the cause of prohibition.

Columns are also regularly kept up by the local unions of Swayzee and Upland in the newspapers of their towns.

Ten years ago it was hard to get even an announcement printed in Grant county, but things are wonderfully changed.

This county union, at the urgent request of the directors, had a rest room at the county fair last week. The booth was bountifully supplied with rocking chairs and contained a couch and a hammock, where the babies of tired mothers might sleep.

The place was decorated with flags, bunting, pennants and flowers.

A table was well loaded with literature.

The union protest by published resolutions against the indecent shows of last year's fair, so the management promised to clean it up this year, and asked the ladies to come and help them make a clean fair a success.

Fifty undesirable shows were this year refused admission. The directors of the fair were well pleased with the white ribbon booth, and expressed a desire that it be made a permanent feature of the fair.

Field News

VANDERBURG COUNTY convention was held in Evans hall, Evansville. From the Journal News we quote:

"Resolutions were adopted at the annual county convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Thursday condemning the destruction of the museum building, deploring the long imprisonment of Jennie Malar, and commending city officials for prohibiting the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures. The resolutions adopted were as follows:

"That we beseech the trustees and the city and county superintendents of our public schools to enforce the scientific temperance institution law more perfectly in letter and spirit, demanding for the pupils the same character of examinations in this science that is required in other studies in the school curriculum.

"That we deplore the thought of wrecking the museum building and urge our mayor, city council and park commissioners to use the $5,000 that has been appropriated and have the building repaired and beautified, thus making a benefit to the city.

"That we deplore the delay of the law which leaves prisoners to languish in prison through tedious months awaiting trial, as in the case of Mrs. Malar, arrested for murder.

"That we commend our city officials for prohibiting the exhibition of the prize fight at Reno, Nev.

"That, since the sale of strong drink affects the decency and honor as well as drains the life blood of our people, we petition our state government to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors."

"The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Belle Whitney; corresponding secretary, Mrs. N. C. Meadows; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Jenner; treasurer, Mrs. Virginia Read. The membership rolls of the county union have been increased 40 per cent. in the last year."

BENTON COUNTY W. C. T. U. convention was held in the Presbyterian church in Oxford Sept. 8 and 9. Delegates were present from Boswell, Otterbein, Earl Park and Oxford. The ladies of the Oxford union spared no pains in welcoming and providing entertainment for their guests. The Church was beautifully decorated in the national colors, plants and cut flowers, while in front was the lovely pictured face of Miss Willard. We were very fortunate in having with us Mrs. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, editor of the Message. Mrs. Amanda Smith, the county president, and Mrs. Hannah Cook, of Boswell, was appointed secretary. Thursday afternoon was devoted to reports of county officers and superintendents. Mrs. McWhirter made short talks on "Franchise and Social Purity," Thursday evening. Addresses of welcome were made in behalf of the churches by Rev. Stanforth, of the M. E. church and in behalf of the Oxford union by Mrs. Hallie Morse, our local president. Song of welcome by a class of little girls. An appropriate response by Miss Barr, of Earl Park. The main feature of the evening was the address by Mrs. McWhirter, who presented the cause of temperance in such a way that we realized as never before the need of women working that the home and our children be kept pure and the street and town be clean and free from temptation. Friday morning, devotionals by Rev. Haynes of the Free Methodist church. Mrs. McWhirter was to leave on the 11:15 train, so most of the time was given to her, and she surely gave us of her abundance of good thoughts. We were granted a short recess to bid her good-bye and god-speed, and she left us amid the waving of handkerchiefs and the song "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." One of the sad things, but very sweet to us, was the memorial service for our departed members, conducted by Mrs. Amanda Smith. Friday afternoon—County superintendents were appointed and reports finished. Mrs. Edith White read a most excellent paper on "Woman's Interest in All Reform Movements." "Mrs. Edna Sewall's "Plain Talk with Mothers" was another of the good things of which we had received so much. Friday evening—Instead of the usual medal contest an entertainment was given. Miss Nora Johnson favored us with a solo and Mrs. Etta Stengle and Miss Rowe gave readings. Uncle Sam's Party was a new feature that proved very entertaining. A flag drill by a class of girls closed one of the best W. C. T. U. conventions ever held in the county. Mrs. Amanda Smith, who has been our efficient president for the past ten years, was re-elected for the coming year.—Mrs. Laura B. Evans, Co. Press Supt.

SOUTH BEND.—The Pleasant View W. C. T. U. held the annual meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. T. Vanbuskirk, 1502 Michigan ave, with forty smiling faces present, willing to see death and burial to the liquor traffic. The meeting was opened with a song, led by Mrs. Hopkins and Lydia. After the devotional exercises by Mrs. Culop, the superintendents of different departments gave their annual reports. A gain over last year was reported in the work of each department. Twelve new members were reported by the secretary. Election of officers as follows: Mrs. J. C. Otice, president; Mrs. Van Buskirk, vice president; Mrs. H. L. Kellog, secretary; Mrs. C. W. Hopkins, treasurer; Mrs. Jacob Miller, corresponding secretary. Delegates to represent the union at the state convention at Fort Wayne were Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. E. L. Hull, Mrs. John Staples, Mrs. Van Buskirk. During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Plant, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Culop and the hostess. The union is to meet Oct 19 with Mrs. T. J. Rockhill, 1333 Michigan ave.—Mrs Jacob Miller.

BROAD RIPPLE.—Mrs. Culla Vayhinger gave an address Sunday evening, Aug. 28, at the M. E. church, which was very much appreciated by a well filled house. Her subject, "What Next for Indiana?" Rev. C. E. Flynn, pastor of the church, assisted in the services; also Rev. Daniels, of the Christian church, Rev. Criley, of Ebenezer Lutheran church, and Dr. Tracy, of Irvington. Sentence prayers were offered by the audience. Mrs. Vayhinger's address delivered here is just what is needed for the voters and shows how the abolition of the liquor traffic must be accomplished. Three new members were secured.

TIPPECANOE COUNTY FAIR AT LAFAYETTE.—The county W. C. T. U. was represented on the grounds the entire week by a large tent, with a good supply of literature, which was distributed during the week. We had to rent our tent, but got our space free of charge. A different union had charge each day, the "Frances Willard" taking charge Tuesday, the "Lafayette" Wednesday, the "Central" Thursday, the "Edgerton" Friday. A number of persons were approached upon the subject of temperance, and it is hoped much good will result. The tent was furnished with ample means for rest and comfort, such as chairs, wash stand, bowl and pitcher, plenty of water, a mirror and a cot, also carpet on the floor. Many tired mothers found it a source of great comfort as it afforded them a place to rest and put their babies to sleep. It seemed to be very much appreciated by them especially. In fact, it seemed to be a source of great blessing to all who stopped with us.—Lillian Hall, Press Supt.

THE MESSAGE

ROLL.—Purity union elected the following officers: President, Lizzie Likley; vice president, Sarah Harrold; recording secretary, Martha Palmer; corresponding secretary, Lena Palmer; treasurer, Myrta Palmer. Superintendents were appointed as follows: Sunday school, Mrs. Anna Albright, Montpelier, R. F. D. 10; Evangelistic, Mrs. Sabra Long, Rall, Ind.; Mothers, Mrs. Mollie Alexander; Press, Mrs. Sarah Harrold; Literature, Mrs. Rebecca Ittle; Flower Mission, Mrs. Sarah Adams; Contest, Mrs. Martha Cramers. The hostess served ice cream and cake.—Sarah Harrold.

INDIANAPOLIS-BRIGHTWOOD W. C. T. U.—Brightwood's retiring president Mrs. O. R. Rash, was very agreeably surprised Tuesday evening, Aug. 30, when 41 of the members and friends of the union gathered at her home. After a very interesting literary program, Mrs. Bolster, in behalf of the union, presented her with a beautiful book, "What Frances E. Willard Said," followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served by the committee.

LA PORTE.—Seth Rose, husband of our faithful secretary, Mrs. Rebecca Pease, departed this life Aug. 21 after two years of illness. He was a kind husband and father. The union sympathizes with our sister in her sorrow.—Mrs. L. E. Harmon, tha See.

BOONVILLE, IND.—The Women's Christian Temperance Union has held some very pleasant meetings this summer. Our June and July meetings were held with our sisters in the country, and we enjoyed the hospitality of their country homes very much. In August we met at our fair grounds and was assisted by some young girls who recited some fine selections. The September meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Wilkinson and the following officers elected President, Mrs. Sue K. Hart; vice president, Mrs. W. C. Hunton; secretary, Mrs. Robt. Wilkinson; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Peters. This is the third consecutive year that Mrs. Hart has been elected president, which speaks well for her as president. On next Tuesday we go to the home of Mrs. John Gray, who is an invalid, having been confined to her bed for ten years, and have an indoor picnic. Mrs. Gray has made the plans and we intend to carry them out just as she wishes, and try to bring a day of sunshine into her life. She is an interested member of our Union, and although confined to her bed all the time, has written some interesting papers for our meetings. Our members have kept a very good supply of enthusiasm through the heated summer and as autumn approaches we hope to do greater work.—Mrs. Robert Wilkinson, Press Cor.

LIBERTY CENTER W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting September 8 at the country home of Mrs. Ida Popejoy. The opening exercises of temperance songs, Scripture reading and sentence prayers were followed by the question-box which elicited a number of lively discussions. Delegates were chosen for the state convention and arrangements made for entertaining the county convention which meets at Liberty Center, September 28-29. The same officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. We have a most excellent treasurer, and our president, although a busy farmer's wife, is always ready to give abundantly of her time and energy to push the good work along. Our membership now numbers sixty-three. We had a social half hour during which our hostess served watermelon and fruit.

Everton W. C. T. U., Fayette Co., held the September meeting with Vice Pres. Mrs. Alma Lake, Wednesday afternoon, September 14, being day for election of officers, the former officers were retained, Mrs. Clara Lake, president; Mrs. Alma Lake vice president; Mrs. Mabel Myer; secretary, Mrs. Monta Floyd, treasurer. Interesting papers were read, "Needs of our community, and what we can do to meet them," by Mrs. Alma Lake, and "The relation of temperance to missions," by Mrs. Eva Piper; both were replete with food for thought and if carried out would prove, for local, state and National good. A general talk was engaged in, regarding Sunday observance which the W. C. T. U. strongly advocate and work for. The devotional exercises opening the meeting were led by Mrs. Lake, benediction by Mrs. Floyd. The next meeting, October 12, will be at "Valley Mound Farm," country home of Mrs. Brumfiel.—Annie Trusler Brumfiel, Press Supt.

The Marion County convention was held in Hall Place church with a very large attendance, splendid reports were given of the departments and of the local unions. The speakers were Judge George W. Stubbs of the Juvenile Court whose subject was "Dealing with Children," and Rev. W. W. McGee, pastor of the Earl Park Christian Church, who spoke most interestingly on Woman's Suffrage. There was a matrons' oratorical contest with six contestants. Mrs. Virginia Hadden won the medal. Over five hundred paid members were reported. Marion county will elect her own National delegate. On account of the serious illness of Judge Samuel R. Artman, Mrs. Artman, county president, was not present. Dr. Martha E. Keller, the county vice president, had charge of the convention which was the largest and best convention ever held by the Marion County Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Samuel R. Artman, 1933 N. New Jersey St.; Vice President, Dr. Martha E. Keller, N. Alabama St.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Bingham, 318 N. Rural St.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Colsea, 1228 Ashland Ave.; Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Heath, 312 E. Walnut St.

At the State Fair this year great work was done by the distribution of W. C. T. U. literature by our efficient and energetic state superintendent, Mrs. J. B. Heath, and her splendid co-workers. Many thousands of copies of a very practical leaflet, specially prepared by Mrs. Heath, were sent broadcast. This leaflet contains quotations from Miss Willard and the "Declaration of Principles of the W. C. T. U."

Anti Saloon League.—At the Michigan State Convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held in Port Huron, Mr. P. W. Marsh, state attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, appeared and asked one of the ladies to present to the executive board an invitation to elect two of their number on the Anti-Saloon League Advisory Board. The request was promptly turned down and a courteous letter written the League to this effect. The ladies agreed not to discuss the matter openly or to let it out to the press. True American.

LAPORTE.—A profitable conference was held at our rooms August 17 with Mrs. Retta Jones. Lunch was served at the rooms and a social time enjoyed until the evening hour, when we went to the Friends' church where Mrs. Jones gave a most excellent address full of good impressive truths and was appreciated by the audience. Two gave their names for membership.—Mrs. L. E. Harmon.

HOWARD COUNTY.—It is said, sometimes, "the deepest streams are silent." We are alive in old Howard. We have held our County Executive and Department meetings each quarter and the last was out in the country, at the beautiful spacious home of Mrs. Dora Johnson. A goodly number were present and a program for the coming convention was arranged and other business matters, closing a year of faithful work done in county.

KOKOMO UNION and L. T. L. and SOUTH KOKOMO went together and secured a tent and cots and had beautiful headquarters at Chautauqua. We had a prominent place in the grounds, and as we had two of our sisters on the board we were given two good numbers, Mrs. Leona Lake and Lincoln McConnell, counted the best numbers of Chautauqua, by many. Thanks to Mrs. Ida Mix and Miss Rebecca Trueblood, for their endeavors and success of day and also help of others in furnishing tent. We were at home at all hours, even to answering phone calls, as the headquarters of Chautauqua were at our side. This was one of the most pleasant places on the grounds and we were ever ready to welcome one and all, and we believe seed was sown that we will see the harvest. The other Unions of county are at work, and we hope to come up with a good report in all departments.—Mrs. Irene Gard, County Press Supt.

SOUTH BEND.—Mr. and Mrs. Tomis Jackson, as hostesses, entertained the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. at the Jackson home on the Michigan Ave. Road at an all day meeting Wednesday, the 10th; covers were laid for fifty. At which was enjoyed the bountiful supply of everything good. After dinner a business session was followed by a program of which Mrs. C. W. Hopkins had charge. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Austin. A very interesting paper on the life of Mrs. Mary H. Hont was given by Mrs. W. F. Donley; the Misses Aloa and Ethel Steel gave a piano duet; Mrs. Hopkins gave a talk on the Power of the Press, in which it was made very plain that good could be done through the press. Miss Marie Jackson closed the program with a piano solo. After a social hour which was very pleasantly spent the hostess was assisted in serving cream and cake by Mrs. John Shelley and Mrs. Hopkins. Through the columns of your paper we want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and children for their kind hospitality which will never be forgotten and may their children rise up and call them blessed in the temperance work.—Mrs. J. Milles, County Secretary.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.—On the evening of July 18, Madison Senior L. T. L. held an open meeting at the hall and gave a delightful program. Mrs. Vayhanger was present and gave an address. Mrs. Rev. Traum of Richmond, and Mrs. Callis of Milton, both charter members and officers of Madison's first Union, gave good talks. Mrs. Dr. Denny gave a social at her beautiful new home the following evening, July 19th. All were royally entertained. A dainty lunch was served after the program was rendered.—M. E. B., Press Supt.

RICHMOND.—The annual business meeting of the Frances E. Willard W. C. T. U. was held in Rhoda Temple. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. S. W. Traum; vice president, Miss Lavina Bailey; secretary, Mrs. Sadie Eves; treasurer, Mrs. R. R. Hopkins. Mrs.

Traum and Miss Martha Harris were chosen delegates to the state convention, which will be held in October at Ft. Wayne. The alternates chosen are Mrs. Hannah Graves and Mrs. R. R. Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins has served the Union as treasurer for the past eighteen years and has faithfully filled her position.

Mrs. Retta Jones writes: A new W. C. T. U. was organized at Ross Lake County August 22nd. The president is Mrs. Mamie Holmes; vice president, Mrs. Myrtle Hay; recording secretary, Miss Edna Dutton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bertha Holmes; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Watts. There are nine active and two honorary members.

Temperance Rally Day.—Mrs. G. L. Huxtable, President Fayette County, writes: The Union of Fayette County met at my home in August and arranged for a Rally Day to be held August 27th. It was our first effort and our women worked loyally putting forth every effort for success, as much depended on this first meeting if we could hope to make this a yearly event. The day was beautiful and early in the morning automobiles, trucks and carriages began to come from all parts of the county and continued until a great concourse of people was present. Rev. Burkhardt of Frankfort gave a most powerful lecture in behalf of our cause. He was followed by Claude A. Gunder, who spoke with great pathos of the terrible influence of drink over his life and his marvelous delivery from its curse. The silver medal was won by Mrs. Ernest Ward on "Yes, I'm Guilty"; Mrs. Ward is one of our most earnest workers in all lines and carries a very happy flower in her mission work. Our Rally Day was a great and complete success and we shall work to have it grow in strength and influence each year.

BARTHOLOMEW COUNTY convention was held in Hartsville September 13. The morning session was devoted to reports from county officers and superintendents. Work reported along the lines of education and prevention was encouraging. Election of county officers resulted as follows: County president, Miss Laura Simms; corresponding secretary, Miss Jennie Guffey; recording secretary, Miss Zelma Lawrence, Hartsville; treasurer, Mrs. Laura Patterson, Columbus. A parliamentary drill was given by county president. Rev. West Lafer read an excellent paper on "Systematic Giving." An address on Woman's Suffrage was given by Mrs. Alice Redman. Mrs. Effie Morrison read a leaflet and commented on the Department of Moral Education. Talks on Department Work were given by the different superintendents. One honorary member was secured. A silver medal contest was held at night in which Miss Maude White of Hartsville won the medal.—Mrs. Jenine Guffey, Co. Supt. Press Work.

KOKOMO.—Report of the South Kokomo W. C. T. U. for the year beginning September 15, 1909, and ending September 15, 1910. Number of meetings held during the year 24, number of new members 7, old members reinstated 3, membership lost during the year 3, money spent for National delegates expenses for 1908 and 1909, $5.80. For freight on box to Hadley Home, 28 cents, state model pro. 50 cents, Press Work 66 cents, Scripture cards 25 cents, flower mission work $11.52, literature $1.40, $2.00 for tent at Chautauqua, 30 cents for flowers to plant on graves of deceased members. Whole amount spent $22.71. Celebrated "Mothers' Day" in May. Appointed committee to wait on the mayor in behalf of Sabbath observance. Sent a box in the early spring to Hadley Home valued at $5.00. Distributed 828 pages of scientific temperance literature and 20 copies of "Scientific Temperance Law" of Indiana in the schools of South Kokomo. Held one market, proceeds $13.72. Held one meeting on medical temperance, one on Christian citizenship, one on soft drinks, one mothers' meeting, one Bible reading, one gospel temperance meeting, joined the North Union in holding memorial services at cemetery and decorated graves of deceased members with flags. President entertained the fourth quarterly meeting held in November. She has attended all the county quarterly meetings during the year. Pages of literature distributed 4,022. We have issued the model program.—A Member.

LINN GROVE UNION.—Mrs. S. M. Stahl of Hartford City held a Mothers' meeting on the afternoon of August 8, in the Evangelical church at Linn Grove. She gave a very interesting talk upon "Social Purity" which was well received. A public meeting was held in the evening and a program rendered in which Mrs. Stahl gave an inspiring address. Miss Ida Baumgartner sang a solo, "The White Ribbon," Miss Zoa French and Little Margaret Moran of Decatur recited, and four new members were gained (two honorary), for the Union and we expect to have twenty paid members before convention. The meetings were a source of inspiration to us and we are working with renewed energy. Your devoted co-worker, Winona Hoffmann Yager, Press Supt.

MADISON.—The elegant new home of Mrs. Dr. Denny was a bower of beauty Tuesday evening, August 23. The occasion being a "Due Social," given by the Madison W. C. T. U. The color scheme of green and white was carried out through reception hall, parlor and dining room in smilax and bows of white ribbon, a large bow of white crepe paper adorning the chandelier. As the guests arrived they were given a fourth fragment of a card tied with a white ribbon, on the card had been written a question, or statement pertaining to the use of strong drink. The matching of the cards produced an informal sociability at once and the privilege of the four whose cards matched to be served cake and grape juice in the dining room, Miss Leota and a bevy of Senior L. T. L. girls serving. The guests were delighted with readings by Mrs. Florence Demarce, who gave "The Second Trial" and "My Sister's trip," a whistling solo by Mr. Frank Vail, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Vail, and readings, "Mamma's Pickaninnie" and "Sisterly Love" in negro dialect, by Miss Sherlock. Much merriment was caused by the acting of individuals in response to written requests fished from cluster of white ribbon streamers. The charade like performance exhibited the Madison talent of impersonators and other stunts, both comical and pathetic. Mr. Frank Vail carried off the laurels. Much is "Due" Mrs. Denny for a delightful social time.—M. E. B.

THE MADISON W. C. T. U. held their regular monthly business meeting at Brigade hall Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. After singing "Christ for the World We Sing." Mrs. Denny at the piano, the devotionals were conducted by the president, Mrs. Jamison followed by singing "We'll Wind the Ribbon 'Round the Nation." After reports were given of Secretary Treasurer L. T. L. and the several departments which were all good, the election of the following officers took place: President, Mrs. Rosa Jamison; vice president, Mrs. Jenny Denny; recording secretary, Mrs. Vanter; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Andrews; treasurer, Mrs. Jenkins. Delegates to the state convention to be held at Ft. Wayne, by virtue of the office, are Mrs. Denny, state; Mrs. Augustin, county, and Mrs. Jamison, local president. Arrangements were made for the county convention to be held at the Brigade hall September 18, 19 and 20. A full and excellent program is being arranged for two evenings' entertainment. Mr. Shumaker is on for Monday night and the department demonstration Tuesday night. These demonstrations are acted and schrade-like, making the work of these departments of the W. C. T. U. very plain, instructive and convincing. Some of which are very pathetic, while others are amusing and comic.—May E. Bayless, Press Supt.

THE INDIANAPOLIS SOUTH SIDE UNION held their annual meeting September 6th, at the Hoyt Ave. M. P. Church. In the absence of the president the vice president, Mrs. G. A. Barkham, presided during the regular order of business. Mrs. Swain was invited to take the chair during the election of officers. The election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. G. A. Barkham; vice president, Mrs. S. A. Swain; recording secretary, Mrs. Wm. Anderson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wm. H. Hoover; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Sancer.

Mrs. O. R. Rash of Indianapolis Brightwood Union reports for year ending September, 1910. All regular meetings except three have been held, making twenty-one for the year. These three were not held on account of a revival meeting, "Husbands' Night" and a severe storm. Our membership totals 36. Have gained 8. Five moved away. We also have 11 honorary members, three of whom are ministers. We are carrying fourteen departments; twelve department meetings were held. The county president and six county superintendents encouraged us by visits and talks. We also had talks by Rev. J. B. Lutz, J. L. Stout, G. W. Grannis, A. E. Bolster and Mr. Horkey, a Bohemian, who is doing missionary work among the fourteen nationalities of our city, Mr. F. D. Loomis of the Children's Aid Association and Dr. Amelia Keller, President of Indianapolis Equal Suffrage Association, and President of Indianapolis Local Council of Women have given talks before our Union. We observed Madam Willard's Birthday, Frances E. Willard's Memorial, an open air meeting at Brookside Park, and Flower Mission Day. The latter at The Door of Hope. Have held three public meetings. The county president, Mrs. S. R. Artman, the county treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Heath, who is also State Superintendent of Fairs and Open Air Meetings and our Delegate to National Convention and State Vice President, Mrs. Stanley, respectively as speakers. Held three silver medal contests, one of which was for matrons. Fair Collections were taken at both the public meetings and contests. We gave a reception to the contestants not winning a medal. Three mothers' meetings have been held with the following speakers: Mrs. Luella McWhirter at Kindergarten hall, No. 13, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley at School No. 51, and Mrs. Martha Gipe at the home of our Mothers' meeting Supt, Mrs. Etta Cannaday. Have had temperance talks, recitations, and pledge signing in the Sunday Schools, beside helping support our Haughville and West Side W. C. T. U. Mission Sunday Schools. We paid toward the salary of a chief lady probation officer in Police Judge J. A. Collins' court. Two of our women were instrumental in helping break up two cases of immorality. As president of the Union I have visited four Unions of the county, attended State Convention, County Institute and superintendents' meeting. All meetings of the Executive Committee, and six meetings of Indianapolis Council of Women, our Union being affiliated with the latter organization. Yours for God and Home and Native Land.

LANDESVILLE.—Hanfield union met with Mrs. Emma Weesner one-half mile south of Landessville Sept. 1. Our beloved president, Mrs. Maria Campbell, had charge of the devotional service. Mrs. Lucy Pugh read a letter from the state president to the union. Marietta Pence gave a recitation. Miss Nellie Weesner acted as secretary. Number of members present, 12; visitor, 1. Officers elected: President, Mrs. Marie Campbell; vice president, Silvia Pence; secretary, Ada Knetzer; treasurer, Maggie McCracken. Misses Nellie Weesner and Mary Campbell were elected as delegates to state convention, with Mamie Hall and Anna Porter alternates. Number of new members gained during year, 11; honorary members, 11. Held one public meeting during the year. Mrs. Vayhinger was with us at that time. A penny collection at each meeting is used for literature. While our numbers are few we feel that we are helping some in the warfare against sin and Satan and expect to do more in the future than we have in the past.—S. B. P. Press Supt. pro tem.

INDIANAPOLIS CENTRAL W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting Sept. 8, at the home of Mrs. S. W. Lackey, east of Twelfth street. The attendance was universally large, and many things of importance discussed, among them being the subject of scientific temperance teaching in the public schools. While by state law such teaching is required, the Supts. of Public Schools do not urge the teachers to teach it, and only a few teachers in the city give any time to the subject. Superintendents for the different departments were appointed delegates to county and state conventions were elected.

The delegates to the state convention are: Mrs. George T. Breunig, Mrs. H. L. Sperry, Mrs. L. W. Lackey and Mrs. Wm. Perry.—Mary M. Perry.

THE WABASH CO. W. C. T. U. convention was held Sept. 16 in Friends' church, South Wabash. The convention was one of the best ever held in the county. The superintendents nearly all made good reports and nearly all had written reports. Election of officers: President, Mrs. L. A. Morgan, Wabash; vice president, Mrs. Ivy Flora, North Manchester; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lillian Harkness, Wabash; recording secretary, Mrs. Winesburg, North Manchester; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Bowman, North Manchester.

Six new members were secured at the convention. Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, state president, delivered the address in the evening. The address was good and well delivered. The house was full and she had the closest attention throughout the evening. We take up our work with renewed zeal and enthusiasm.—J. R. C.

THE BRIDGEPORT union held its meeting in September with Mrs. Maude Price in Bridgeport, with a good percent, of our members present. After the regular business our president gave a short talk on "Review of the Year's Work," and "Plans for the Coming Year," which was beneficial. We enjoyed a most helpful paper by Mrs. Anna Robinson on "Needs of Our Community and What We Can Do to Meet Them." It was a stirring appeal to each woman to be alive to evils in our midst and we felt very clearly that we as White Ribboners should be doing something to help our community. It was a very practical paper and just what we need. We appointed our full quota of delegates to both county and state conventions and we anticipate a good attendance. Our hostess served pleasing refreshments and we went to our homes feeling stirred to greater activity for the coming year.

SOUTH WABASH union has eight new members. The meetings are interesting and well attended.

LIBERTY union has nearly doubled the membership. Gains were made by a membership contest. Mrs. Thos. W. Records, the new president, is the wife of the High School superintendent.

LA PORTE.—At the annual meeting the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ella Canary; vice president, Mrs. William Robinson; corresponding and recording secretary, Mrs. Seth Pease; treasurer, Mrs. August Kregle; vice presidents from churches, Baptist, Mrs. Mary Bumgartner; Methodist, Mrs. J. N. Harmon; Friends, Mrs. Maribah Sellers.

LAFAYETTE MONON UNION.—At the annual meeting Mrs. Bradley reported one mothers' meeting. Mrs. Moore, superintendent of systematic giving, gave a short talk. A donation of $1 was made to the children's home. Treasurer reported June Flower Mission collection $3.20; in treasury, $3.80.

Election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. Bradley; vice president, Mrs. Shaffer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. Donoho; secretary, Mrs. Tuill; treasurer, Mrs. Parker.

POSEY CO W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Copeland, Poseyville, Sept. 13, for the purpose of electing county officers. Four delegates of the Mt. Vernon union were present. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lou Rogers, Poseyville; vice president, Mrs. Chas. Copeland, Poseyville; recording and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wm. Black, Mt. Vernon; treasurer, Mrs. May Cleveland, Poseyville. Good reports were given by the president of each union. Quite a number of new members have been added during the year.

After the business session refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed by those present.

MANVILLE W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon Sept. 13, at the home of Miss Lullie Salyers. Eleven members answered the roll call and enjoyed the splendid program, which was as follows: Scripture reading, Miss Lullie Salyers; prayer by Rev. J. W. Lanham; reading, "Temperance at Home and Abroad," Miss Anna Rea; paper, "Present Day Tendencies," Will Rogers; reading, "What Prohibition Has Done for Georgia," Miss May Rogers; paper, "The Needs of Our Community and How to Meet Them," Miss Lullie Salyers. Rev. Lanham gave an interesting talk, which was appreciated by all present.—Mabel Lanham.

DUNKIRK.—Dear White Ribboners, we greet you. Another year's work is done, and while we are thankful for what we have we are hoping for greater things next year. We have some very earnest workers and hope to double our number and so increase our capacity for good work. In the year just ending we made 200 calls on the sick, used 50 text cards, sent out 96 bouquets and 18 glasses of jelly, given oysters, eggs and game and magazines to the sick, two dress skirts, one boy's suit of clothes, two caps, one pair gloves, several pairs of hose, two dinners, held prayers in seven homes, spent for flowers $2.09; amount of money spent by this department, $11.64. Balance cash in floral fund, 95 cents. We purchased 400 pledges. Nearly all of these are signed. We purchased a strong box in which to drop the list of signers, the box to remain locked until 1920. It is the desire of this local to keep in touch with all those who have signed this pledge, and we are ready and willing to help them if need be. We have framed and presented Frances E. Willard's picture to the Dunkirk High School. World's Temperance Sunday was observed in four churches, Frances E. Willard's birthday observed, five honorary members secured, attended county institute. Press notices of twelve meetings, held one medal contest, assisted in two contests, miscellaneous bills allowed amounting to $7.90. Yours for victory.—Mrs. Martha Faulkner.

WABASH COUNTY.—Mrs. S. M. Stahl spent three days in our county visiting the unions, holding parlor meetings and calling upon the women in their homes. Her address in the Middle Street M. E. church, Wabash, was convincing and converting. We have eight new members as the result of her work, and we hope she will come again.—Sarah E. Morgan.

THE MADISON Woman's Christian Temperance union held the regular monthly business meeting at their hall on Mulberry street Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 9, with a good attendance of willing workers. The devotional was opened with song, "We Belong," followed with Scripture reading by Mrs. Johnson, the president, and prayer by Mrs. Denny. Then "We'll Wind the Ribbon 'Round the Nation" was sung. Mrs. Denny at the piano. After the treasurer's report, by Mrs. Jenkins, and the department superintendents' reports were given there was an informal discussion, which was very interesting and important.—M. E. B.

THE MATTHEWS W. C. T. U. held an all-day meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Lena Shaw, Sept. 8. The union reorganized and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lena Shaw; vice president, Mrs. Cora Osburn; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Frissel; treasurer, Mrs. Allie Garretson. Mrs. Emma Bell from Jonesboro was present and gave a very interesting talk on "Health and Heredity," followed by a recitation, "When I'm a Man," by Clide Boyer. Mrs. Carrie Mettack, Mrs. Margaret Carter and Charley Shaw became members of the union. Mrs. Lena Shaw, Mrs. Allie Garretson and Mrs. Eunice Bartlett were appointed delegates to the state convention at Ft. Wayne.

MORGANTOWN W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Loula Wemmer on Saturday, Aug. 13, with a good attendance. Mrs. Kate Teeters read a good paper on the "Woman's Battle," and Mrs. Loula Wemmer read a practical paper on "How May We Help in Elections and in Law Enforcements." Several current topics were read by the press superintendent. Saturday, Sept. 11, the union met at the home of Mrs. Bettie Adams with a large attendance. Mrs. Dora Collet read a leaflet on the needs of our community. All superintendents gave good reports. The elections of officers follows: Mrs. Florence Canesty, president; Mrs. Loula Wemmer, vice president; Mrs. Kate Teeters, treasurer; Mrs. Belle Williams, secretary; Mrs. Alice Parker, L. T. L. supt.—Mrs. Ber-

AUTOMOBILING to W. C. T. U. meetings is a plan of the Seymour union when the hostess lives in the country. On this occasion the hostess was Mrs. Oscar Carter. There was a delightful meeting. An unusually interesting paper on "Woman's Interest in Reform" was read by Mrs. M. E. Baker. Fine fruit from the Carter farm and sherbet was served by the hostess. At departure the guests were given fruit souvenirs.

TO COUNTY PRESIDENTS.

Dear Sisters:—Will you please send department penants awarded to your county last year to Mrs. Elsie Chapman, 520 Nuttman street, Ft. Wayne, chairman of the decoration committee. This is very important, as the work must be done before the convention opens.—Gertrude Fulton, Sec. Board of Supts.

Our Promoted Comrades

THE AARON WORTH UNION sustains great loss in the death of their secretary, Mrs. Eva Dare, of Fairmount, Ind. She had a deep love for our cause and was faithful in her attendance at the meetings. The husband and son, Russell, have our deepest sympathy.

ANN C. HODGIN.—On the evening of August 20th, Ann C. Hodgin a member of Westfield W. C. T. U., was promoted to the higher life. She was a faithful, earnest worker in the cause, serving the Union both as Vice-President and Superintendent of Flower Mission. Her pleasant smile and cheerful life were an inspiration to all. We feel that we sustain a vacancy that is difficult to fill.

THE BATH FRANCIS WILLARD UNION of Franklin County has sustained a loss in the death of Mrs. Una Doty. She was a brave and patient sufferer. For years she has labored with a frail body. "At rest" are sweet words when we think of the body, "At work" are sweeter words when we think of the soul that lives on.

THE MESSAGE.

ANDERSON, IND., NOVEMBER, 1910

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

FORT WAYNE CONVENTION

The Thirty Seventh Annual Convention of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana was Held at Fort Wayne, October 14-18, 1910.

This convention was by far the greatest convention W. C. T. U. women ever held in Indiana. There were nearly seven hundred delegates and out-of-town visitors in attendance.

The convention was held in the First M. E. church, which was centrally located and very appropriately and beautifully decorated.

The morning prayer meetings at 8:15 o'clock were held in the Grace Reformed church.

The weather was ideal, the Fort Wayne committees had their plans so well in hand and their work systematized so that everything went smoothly and pleasantly. There was not the least hitch anywhere.

The gentlemen assisted the committees in an unusual manner. Mr. Bloom personally took many delegates to their places of entertainment and he said that all delegates seem appreciative and pleased. Of course they did! Our W. C. T. U. women are the sweetest spirited women ever. Everything was propitious for a good and great convention, and such it proved to be.

President Vayhinger was at her best.

The general officers were all present, in fine spirits, and made excellent reports. The president's address was able—it was statesmanlike, and should be in the hands of every member.

The good cheer, and the splendid interest and enthusiasm of the entire delegations was most inspiring.

The report of Miss Mary Woodard, state corresponding secretary, was heard with profound interest.

The report of the treasurer, Miss Clara Sears, was of unusual interest. It showed a balance in banks of $3,083.89, which, with the money out on loans and other investments, aggregates $15,777.25. Receipts during the last year were $9,686.28 and expenditures $6,592.39. Membership 7,943, which is a gain of 310 over last year.

Miss Laura G. Cammack, Y. Secretary, made a full report of the year's work.

Mrs. Ida Mix made a detailed report of the Loyal Temperance Legion.

Board of State Trustees.

Three members were elected to serve for three years: Mrs. Ida Mix, of Kokomo; Mrs. Lida Outland, of Upland, and Mrs. Martha Ridenour, of Fort Wayne. Trustees whose terms will expire in October, 1911, are Miss Clara Sears, Mrs. Rose Pearce and Mrs. Mary Jenner. Those whose terms expire in October, 1912, are Mrs. Cella J. Vayhinger, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and Miss Mary Woodard. From the members of the Board of Trustees the state officers must be selected.

All the Officers Re-Elected.

There were 426 voting delegates. For president, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, Upland; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Liberty; Cor. Sec., Miss Mary Woodard, Fountain City; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Rose Pearce, Darlington; Treasurer, Miss Clara M. Sears, Anderson.

The president's address should be read in every W. C. T. U. home in Indiana.

The report of Miss Woodard should be read in every union in our state. The best informed men of Indiana will be interested in this report. Miss Woodard speaks definitely on some state and national questions.

Friday evening was "Welcome Night," and the welcomes on behalf of the W. C. T. U. by Mrs. Martha Ridenour, the churches by Rev. Cecil, for Public Instruction by Prof. J. N. Study, superintendent of schools, on behalf of the Federation of Women's Clubs by Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson, the Commercial Club by Mr. Chas. S. Bash, and the city by Hon. Jesse Grice, Mayor, were all hearty and appreciated.

The responses were by Mrs. McWhirter and Mrs. Stanley.

The music was of especial interest and much enjoyed.

By arrangement of Mrs. W. J. Hunter, chairman of city transportation for the convention the delegates were rested and entertained on Saturday afternoon by a visit to the Indiana State School for the Feeble Minded, where, through the courtesy of Supt. Carroll the delegates were shown over the buildings and grounds. The Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company furnished ten big summer cars for the delegates. These were all decorated with many American flags and many white pennants on which was "Welcome W. C. T. U." The cars were brought right to the church and happy, merry delegates to the number of more than 500 took the long beautiful ride out to the school. Promptly at the appointed time the cars all returned for the delegates.

The convention program contained some familiar temperance songs—in almost all of the cars, both going and returning the delegates sang these songs. Through the business streets many hundreds of men stopped and listened to the words of the refrain "Its Coming! Its Coming! The morn for which we pray; We'll take the world for Christ's own kingdom some glad day." This to the tune of "Old Black Joe."

To the tune of "Dixie" the delegates, returning, sang "We're Out for Prohibition" as the ten cars passed through the main streets. It was about five o'clock on Saturday afternoon and the streets were thronged with people who caught the spirit of the good cheer, heard the singing and saw the gayly decorated cars.

One saloon keeper said that he would rather than a $1,000 the convention had not been held in Fort Wayne.

Diamond Medal Contest.

In charge of Mrs. Julia Overman the greatest contest ever held in Indiana, if interest, enthusiasm and a packed house count.

Miss Virginia Smith, of Indianapolis, won the medal. Her subject was: "The Court of Last Appeal." The other contestants were Miss Blanche Albert, of Huntington; Miss Hazel Phares, of Greentown; Miss Carrie Horney, of Hortenville; Miss Fortney, of Monroeville; Cleo Myers, of Monroeville; Miss Emma McDonald, of Elwood.

Mrs. Overman and her contest superintendents are doing a great work, and are helping at a tremendous rate to bring Prohibition to Indiana. Long live Mrs. Overman!

On Sunday the W. C. T. U. speakers were in the pulpits of Fort Wayne with splendid results.

Mrs. E. L. Calkins, president of the Michigan W. C. T. U., made a fine address on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Calkins was a former vice president of Indiana W. C. T. U.

The demonstration on Monday night was fine, and was much enjoyed. The church was packed, as was the Majestic theater on Sabbath afternoon. Hundreds went away on Sabbath for want of room, and many stood throughout the service. The collection was $96. Hon. Clinton N. Harvard made a great speech, and left a fine impression. He said he always likes to speak for the Woman's Christian "Tremendous" Union.

On Monday afternoon, late, the delegates accepted an invitation to visit the "Perfection Biscuit Co." The distance not being great from the church, they formed a line of march, which was several squares in length, and surprised the people along the line who did not expect to see so many. Miss Woodard said: "Saloon keepers and all stood and stared." The visit to the Biscuit Co. proved to be very interesting, each guest was served to hot crackers and fig jam, and as they left each was given a sample package of crackers. They said they gave out 667 packages. By vote of the convention, flowers were sent to the president and manager, Mr. J. B. Franke.

The following letter was received from the Perfection Biscuit Company, of Fort Wayne:

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 19, 1910.

Mrs. W. J. Hunter, 522 W. Superior St., City.
Dear Mrs. Hunter:—While in my office today I was handed, by a messenger, a package from Miss Flick. I told the messenger it must be a mistake, as I did not know who in the world would send me flowers.

Upon investigating further, I found a card from the "W. C. T. U. convention," and then I understood its meaning. It was a pleasant surprise. More than the flowers I appreciate the spirit that thought of us that prompted the act.

We are no exception to the average human nature and enjoy the flowers, but coming to us unexpectedly during the busy hours from this source, is especially appreciated, and I want to thank someone, and assure them that the deed was well done, and has accomplished all that the sender could have desired.

It was a pleasure to us to entertain the "W. C. T. U. convention," and shall remember their visit a long time. Respectfully,—J. B. Franke.

Fraternal Delegates.

Mrs. Mary Emily Ellis, of Kokomo, from the Western yearly meeting of Friends, spoke briefly on the "Why and Wherefore of the Liquor Situation."

Mr. Edward Miller, from the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, spoke interestingly. "You women," he said, "are engaged in one of the most Godly works in the world today. The labor unions are trying to solve the woman question so far as the industrial phases are concerned. The labor unions believe in woman suffrage and it has in a way solved the question of woman's wages. There are many unions which pay the same wages to the women as they do to men."

The State Superintendents of Departments made reports of much work done. Some of the superintendents have been very active and very successful in their work this year.

In succeeding issues of THE MESSAGE the strong points reported by the superintendents will be given.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack Gibson was present, and when she began to speak the entire convention arose and gave her the Chautauqua salute in recognition of her return and long years of service.

A life-sized picture of Miss Frances Willard was presented to the Fort Wayne High school auditorium by the convention, and Mrs. Parsons, of Marion, and Mrs. Welty, of Fort Wayne, were appointed to make the presentation.

Mr. Henry M. Williams, of Fort Wayne, made a donation of $25 to the State W. C. T. U. through the executive committee. It was received with a hearty vote of appreciation.

Mrs. Stanley's address on the work of the state and of her experience during the year was of greatest interest to all.

Mrs. McWhirter spoke on "Legislation," saying that the State W. C. T. U. will this year work for state-wide prohibition by constitutional amendment, and for municipal suffrage for women. This by act of the Legislature.

Mr. N. W. Bloom, of Fort Wayne, who gave so much of his valuable time and services to the entertainment of the delegates, was sent for by President Vayhinger, that he might be introduced to the convention. Mr. Bloom graciously responded, and spoke most heartily and appreciatively of the W. C. T. U. and its influence.

When we heard the strong splendid words of encouragement from Mr. Bloom then we could better understand how such a stupendous work was being done by the entertainment committee of which Mrs. Bloom was chairman.

Delegates to the National W. C. T. U. convention, to be held November 12-17, in Baltimore, were appointed: Mrs. Martha Willard Ridenour, of this city, who was general chairman of the convention committee, was named as delegate-at-large. Others are as follows:

Mrs. Emily McIntosh, Fort Wayne; Mrs. O. V. Graham, Fremont; Mrs. Lizzie Grisse, Ballac; Mrs. Elizabeth Conklin, Liberty; Mrs. Rose Jamison, Madison; Mrs. Anna Wallace, Muncie; Mrs. H. C. Foote, Huntington; Mrs. Sarah Lenfesty, Marion; Mrs. Nettie Ware, Fairmont; Mrs. Anna Stockton, Kokomo; Mrs. Mary Jenner, Evansville; Mrs. Alice Redman, Columbus; Mrs. Anna Jones, New Albany; Mrs. Emma Garver, Goshen; Mrs. Isabella Budge, Lafayette; Mrs. Samuel R. Artman, Indianapolis.

Each delegate represents 500 paid members. Grant county, with over 1,000 members, sends Mrs. Lenfesty and Mrs. Ware. Marion county with over 500 members sends Mrs. Artman.

One hundred and thirty automobiles were promised for the use of the convention in seeing Fort Wayne, Tuesday, but the saloon men sent word to the garage men that their machines would be "fixed" if they took them out, so only eleven appeared at the church, so only a small part got the ride. After two machines had gone, some men came along and one threw a beer bottle right on the corner of the church door. Mr. Bloom scraped the broken glass into the gutter with his foot. Oh, how the saloon men hate us, and what would they not do against us if they dared.

Grant county, with twice as many delegates as any other county, was seated in the center of the church, and during the sessions were frequently heard from in a significant rally cry or encouraging slogan. With their valiant leader, Mrs. Gulia Shugart, the Grant county women are a mighty power in Indiana. No member of the Legislature from Grant county will refuse a request made by the Grant county W. C. T. U. The unions of that county have worked so hard that they have won nearly two-thirds of the pennants this year.

The Marion county younger women, headed by Mrs. Stella King, gave a rally cry with a prophesy quite to the point in answer to Grant, very much to the amusement of the delegations, with such a fine spirit of rivalry we will expect good results.

L. T. L. songs and drill by more than 100 children was an interesting feature of one session.

Carl and Ivan Welty sang a duet, piano accompaniment by Viola Welty, a young sister.

The Editor of The Message made a plea for a larger paper. This four-page sheet is too small for the work.

The report of Miss Woodard should be read in every union in our state. The best informed men of Indiana will be interested in this report. Miss Woodard speaks definitely on some state and national questions.

Mrs. Hannah Willenour of Pleasant Lake received the ten dollars in gold offered (as per March issue of The Message) to the person sending the greatest number of subscriptions to the Union Signal, that were credited to the state superintendent of National papers.

Never before have the newspaper people been so generous to our convention as at Fort Wayne. Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Kinsey for the press, great results will follow. Seldom has any convention at any time been more correctly and fairly reported than was our state convention by the representatives of the Fort Wayne press.

Contrary to usage, the National convention at Baltimore will begin on Saturday (November 12) instead of on Friday. This change was made necessary in order to avoid paying a large additional rental for the opera house. On the certificate plan, each person securing a certificate at the time of buying a ticket, the fare from Indianapolis will be fifteen dollars going and nine dollars for return. All delegates to the convention are to report to The Lyric upon arrival. The members of the executive committee are expected to report Thursday morning and the delegates on Friday evening, when places of entertainment will be assigned. The Lyric Theatre is but a few blocks from the Union station, (Pennsylvania railroad), and the Mount Royal station, (Baltimore & Ohio). Entertainment includes lodging and breakfast and meals on Sunday.

FORT WAYNE, WHAT NEXT?

We could not have had such a splendid convention without the ardent work of the unions in their county conventions. The ladies of Fort Wayne planned well, the officers did their best, but the credit of the enthusiasm and well ordered aggressiveness of the state is largely due to the great rank and file of women who were not at the convention.

Our work must continue. The convention at best can be only an incident in our onward march. We must set for our goal the complete extermination of the liquor traffic.

State wide prohibition will be our demand at the hands of the incoming legislature. A majority of more than 70,000 of the voters of the state are with us in heart, and have expressed themselves at local option elections as against the saloon. These brave men are no less opposed to the saloon now. They have been, some of them, confused by the political friends of the liquor traffic, but when once right on a moral issue, the stimulus to repeat a right action will be less difficult. The liquor traffic is a political issue, as it has not been within the history of our state. From the supreme bench to the legislative candidates the people are alert. Let us bend every energy in electing friends of temperance, regardless of party.

After the election the legislature must hear from the people. Ask largely, ask for state-wide prohibition. Press the issue strongly enough and the traffic will not have time or opportunity to ask for modification or repeal of the local option law. If we are not up and doing, a bold assault will be made on existing laws and the legislature will be in the hands, we fear, of such men as Fleming, Taggart, Crawford, Fairbanks, Lieber and the crowd of liquor lobbyists. Let us plan a strong determined fight for state-wide prohibition.

OBJECT PICTURES.

The Fort Wayne stores were generous in their decorations, setting out the character of the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Our departments were represented for illustration in one of the stores. "Anti-Cigarette" with skull and cross-bones, underneath which was the placard "Department W. C. T. U." Another window had a form lady with children about, receiving instructions in the "Loyal Temperance Legion."

While pennants with the words "Welcome, W. C. T. U." were profusely used in business places.

A photographer took photographs of ten of the store windows which represented our departments. This photographer has made card prints which may be secured at five cents each by addressing Mr. N. P. Standish, 828 Calhoun St., Fort Wayne, Ind., enclosing amount in postage stamps. Our secretary, Miss Woodard says the pictures are fine.

EARLY WORK.

If our local unions will begin now, the winter months will yield a large harvest of good results. Plan medal contests and public meetings; secure, if possible, at least two public meetings before the holidays. There are always bright young people who will be glad to join with song and recitation. A program should be soon well under way. This state ought to have 10,000 members by next convention date. Let us all pull for 10,000 by making an early start.

PERSONAL.

It was with doubt as to the safety of the trip that I was permitted to attend the state convention. Mr. McWhirter left about the same time for Chicago to attend a meeting of the National Prohibition Executive Committee. Saturday evening he felt uneasy and hastened to Fort Wayne.

Delay in returning seemed dangerous and Sunday morning he brought me and our daughter, Mrs. Wise, home. With the immediate conference of two physicians and prompt attention, I am now, after a week's severe suffering from congestion, just able to get out this issue of the Message. If important items of the convention have been overlooked or mention has not been made of incidents which should have been noted, I shall be thankful to any friend to write me, so that it shall appear in the next issue.—Luella McWhirter.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

The Sabbath Observance Department reports progress—some new features have been introduced and we believe that there is an increased interest. Many new ideas have been brought out this year by the different superintendents, and much practical work has been done.

At LaPorte a prize was offered to school children for writing the best composition on Sabbath Observance. This is said to have inspired much interest, and greatly improved Sabbath sentiment in that city. This union also had a specialist on the Sabbath question speak to the Sunday school children. Another good feature introduced by them was to place 300 pages of Sabbath literature in Italian homes. At South Bend we have put 550 little mottoes in the homes of the people and a number of offices. We have had 4,000 Sabbath Observation post cards printed, many of which are in circulation. We have been trying to get these mottoes, post cards, and literature into the homes of people who do not get this teaching in the church and Sunday school. Aside from the 300 pages of Sabbath literature already reported as having been placed in Italian homes, 570 pages were distributed among the Poles at South Bend and 20 pledges have been signed by them; 400 pages were distributed at St. Patrick's parochial school where the teachers are very friendly to our cause, and 1,162 pages were given out at the colored Sabbath schools.

We have made a gain of 39 superintendents above all losses, over last year and a letter received a few days since from my National superintendent tells me that we have again won the national pennant.

The itemized report is as follows:

Number of County and Local Superintendents	172
Number of Co. and local Supts.	172
Pages of Sabbath literature distributed	163,636
Sermons preached upon this subject	335
Signatures to Sabbath Observation pledge	730
Prayer meetings held	31
Copies of State Sabbath laws circulated	6,657
Public meetings held	78
Call to prayer leaflets circulated	3,200
S. S. and L. T. Ls. addressed	154
Talks given	43
Articles to the press	11
Sabbath Observation mottoes placed in homes and offices	550
Sabbath Observation post cards placed in circulation	2,500
My pennant goes to St. Joseph county.—Kathryn W. Holler, State Superintendent.

WIFE OF GOVERNOR MANN OF VIRGINIA
SERVES NO WINE.

To be a wife of the Governor of Virginia is an honor which appeals to every loyal daughter of the Old Dominion, and the present first lady of that historic territory prizes it above all the good things which have come into her rather happy life. Mrs. Mann may be classed among the truly womanly of her sex, but one who has always taken her obligations to her home and its environment as something which required conscientious thought. From her earliest girlhood she has been an uncompromising enemy of alcohol in all its forms, and her regime in the White House of Richmond marks an epoch as did the reign of Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes in the White House of Washington. She disclaims being hampered by tradition, and she believes that a more generous, elegant and adequate hospitality can be dispensed from the historic home of the chief executives of Old Virginia with all alcoholic beverages eliminated from the menu than with them.

Referring to the temperance reform Mrs. Mann said: "I am unalterably pledged to this propaganda, and I wish all the women who desire the good of their country and their immediate surroundings would look into the matter."

"Women have been the reformers in so many essentials that if they used a concerted effort in this, they could not fail of success. I am for prohibition, state-wide temperance, union-wide temperance, and that seems to me the only remedy. I rejoice that the South is so far in advance of other states in the Union in this respect. We have certainly struck the warning note, and the result is gradually permeating the land.—Indianapolis Star.

"BABY KILLERS."

Here is a list which the United States government chemists and experts designate as "Baby Killers."

Do not under any circumstances, if you value your child's life, use any of these preparations:

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Sirup (morphine sulphate.)

Children's Comfort (morphine sulphate.)

Dr. Fahey's Pepsin Anodyne Compound (morphine sulphate.)

Dr. Fahrney's Teething Syrup (morphine and chloroform.)

Dr. Fowler's Strawberry and Peppermint Mixture (morphine.)

Dr. Groves' Anodyne for Infants (morphine sulphate.)

Hooper's Anodyne, the Infant's Friend (morphine hydrochloride.)

Dr. James' Soothing Syrup (heroin.)

Jadway's Elixir for Infants (codein.)

Koepp's Baby Friend (morphine sulphate.)

Dr. Miller's Anodyne for Babies (morphine sulphate and chloral hydrate.)

Dr. Moffet's Teething Powders (powdered opium.)

Victor Infant Relief (chloroform and cannabis indica.)

Florida liquor sellers are badly scared. The state-wide Prohibition campaign is on in earnest. Tons of Prohibition literature are being distributed. Thousands of buttons advocating a "dry" vote are being worn by the boys and girls. Three-fourths of the state is already no-license, and the victory of Senator-elect Broward, himself a fearless champion of Prohibition, despite liquor and corporation slush funds in the cities, is considered a good omen.

Field News

SPENCER W. C. T. U. had a successful public represented the "Dry" and "Wet" counties by seven young ladies and four young men, with other readings and recitations by girls and boys, songs by little people. The program consisted of young people entirely, and was much appreciated by a very large and enthusiastic audience. Later this program was given by these same young people at a country church three miles away with good results.

LAWRENCE COUNTY.—The Oolitic W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Yaske, Tuesday afternoon, September 27th, and enjoyed a very enthusiastic parlor meeting. After the devotional, the business was taken up by the president. Mrs. Lizzie McClellan was selected as delegate to the state convention, with Mrs. O. W. Gobat alternate. Plans were discussed for a big Sunday school temperance day on the world's Temperance Sunday. A reception for our teachers was announced for October 11th at the home of Miss Grace Fanner.

Our treasurer reports a gain of eight new members in the last quarter.

Light refreshments were served by Mrs. Yaske, assisted by Mrs. G. W. Inman.—Mrs. C. L. Fish.

BRIGHT.—The September meeting of the W. C. T. U. of Bright was held in the Christian church. After the opening exercises the following officers were elected for the coming year: For president, Mrs. Tillie Heiskell; treasurer and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Flora Sykes; recording secretary, Miss Lulu Liddle; organist, Miss Alta Bonham. Miss Bonham was elected delegate to the state convention at Fort Wayne. Our former president, Mrs. Hattie McKinstry, of Cincinnati, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Temperance Work."—Mrs. Sadie Bonham, Harrison, Ohio, R. R. No. 6.

THE MESSAGE

THE BRAZIL W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Wm. Rush on Tuesday afternoon, when the following officers were installed for the year: Mrs. Lucretia Knight, president; Mrs. Anna Wilkins, vice president; Mrs. Ella Kessel, corresponding secretary; Mrs. May Hoffman, recording secretary; Mrs. Ella Falls, treasurer; Mrs. Jessie Robson, pianist.

The president then selected the church vice presidents, music committee, program committee, and superintendents of departments. The response at roll call brought forth many interesting "Temperance Echoes."—Mrs. Mary B. Krider, Press Superintendent.

THE SEYMORE W. C. T. U. met September 14th with Mrs. Frank Lockmeyer, and elected officers for the year as follows: President, Mrs. R. R. Short, Rockford; vice president-at-large, Mrs. M. E. Baker, Seymour; recording secretary, Mrs. Howard Brown; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. McKinney; treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Wylie. A good attendance.

CROWN POINT.—At the annual election of officers the following were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Marie Ross, president; Cora Knight, vice president; Frances Banks, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Glover, recording secretary, and Mrs. Frances Kilborn, treasurer.—Mrs. Cora Knight, Cor. Sec. pro tem.

THE ANNUAL CONVENTION of the Jay County Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at Portland, September 16th. The following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. Nettie Stovenour, Portland; recording secretary, Mrs. Hannah Andrews, Redkey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. T. Gilum, Redkey; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Snow, Dunkirk. The convention was well attended. The majority of the department superintendents showed excellent reports of work done. Many interesting and helpful points were brought out and enthusiasm for the coming year's work was gained.—G. Q. C. Press Supt.

LIBERTY.—Farewell Reception.—The members of the local W. C. T. U. tendered a reception August 22, at the home of Mrs. Miles Lafuze, to Mrs. Laura Eaton, who served so faithfully for so many years as secretary of the organization, and who goes to Lafayette to make her future home, and where her son, George, will enter Purdue University. As a token of the union's esteem, a beautiful white ribbon W. C. T. U. pin was presented Mrs. Eaton. Mrs. Elizabeth T. Stanley, in well-chosen words, presenting it, and was accepted in appropriate response by Mrs. Eaton.

Light refreshments were served.

The business feature of the meeting was the annual election of officers, which resulted in the election of the following named persons to serve for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. T. C. Records; vice president, Mrs. Scott Phenix; recording secretary, Mrs. C. W. Stivers; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clara Egan; treasurer, Mrs. C. P. Conklin.—Mrs. C. W. Stivers, Press. Supt.

THE VAN BUREN W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting September 21st at the home of Mrs. Van Shimps. Roll call and answers by scripture quotations. The subject for the afternoon was "Household Economy." There were a number of papers read on the subject, one by Mrs. Jones entitled "Food Evolution," another by Mrs. Lvtle, "The Household Economy." One by Mrs. Howard, "A Reasonable Cure." The subject is a good one, and the members lost no time in discussing it. We then had a beautiful solo by Mrs. Tony. The president and superintendent gave their reports for the past year. Officers were elected for the coming year, and delegates elected to the state convention. We have forty-two paid-up members.—Mrs. L. F. Mathis, Press Supt.

PRINCETON UNION elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Eva Carithers; vice president, Mrs. S. J. Simpson; recording secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Medcalf; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mollie Burchfield; treasurer, Mrs. Sadie McGregor.

GIBSON COUNTY met in convention at Princeton September 15th in the First Baptist church. Superintendents gave reports after which the following officers were elected: Mrs. Lizze Pfohl, president; Mrs. M. C. Stormont, recording secretary; Mrs. Clara Borah, correspondent secretary; Miss Mary Burchfield, treasurer.—Katherine Youngman, Co. Press Supt.

INDIANAPOLIS, NORTHEAST, W. C. T. U. held the annual election of officers September 9th, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Smith, 1605 Cornell avenue, with the following results: President, Mrs. Cora Harper; vice president, Mrs. Mary Ross; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Cora Patton; recording secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Hockett; treasurer, Mrs. Mace. The second September meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Virginia Hadden, 214 S. Sherman Drive. Number of members present, 19; visitors, 4. Mrs. Quinn gave a recitation. Mrs. Hale furnished the music. September 30th gave a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Sarah A'dridge, 1612 Cornell avenue. A fine program was rendered, consisting of music and recitations. On the evening of October 10, held a silver medal contest at the Hillside avenue Christian church. There was a class of seven, five boys and two girls. Mrs. Frank Lee's little son won the medal. The musical program, under direction of Mr. Gilmour, was a success.

STINESVILLE Union was pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Pugh, for the last business meeting of the year. The president, Mrs. Welch, in the chair. Song, "Bringing in the Sheaves." Prayer by the union. Review of the year's work by the president, followed by the election of officers, as follows: President, Mrs. Welch; vice president, Mrs. Stigleman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lillian Letten; recording secretary, Mrs. Greyn; treasurer, Mrs. Hoadley. Then followed election of delegates to the state convention, which were Mrs. Welch, Mrs. John Easton and Mrs. Florence Litten.

EVERTON W. C. T. U., Lafayette county, have been having a feast of good things, and are happy. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was with us Saturday night and Sunday, October 8-9, and gave three matchless temperance addresses, in her usual happy style. Sunday, October 9th was the 29th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Will Lake, (the latter is our vice president), which was observed by entertaining at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Stanley and a number of other friends. In behalf of the ladies present, Mrs. Stanley, in a few well-chosen words, presented Mrs. Lake with a gift, a token of appreciation for enjoyment of the occasion. All attended the afternoon meeting and ten new members were received. The October meeting was held on the afternoon of October 12th at Vallen Mound farm home of Mrs. Brumfiel, and was a reception to the new members. President Mrs. Clara Lake presided. The papers "Influence of a Christian Home" by Mrs. Brumfiel, and "What Does the Average Boy Demand of His Home" by Mrs. Sadie Neff, were interesting, instructive and well received. General discussion. One more new member added to our roll. Mrs. Cora Jerman read an account of "Life and Work of National President, Mrs. Lillian U. N. Stevens." Benediction. Refreshments of fruit, cake and coffee were served. The November meeting will be held the second Wednesday evening at Everton M. E. church.—Mrs. Annie Trusler Brumfiel, Press Supt., P. O. Box 49, Connersville, Ind.

BERNE, ADAMS COUNTY.—On the evening of September 19th the state organizer, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, met with us at the Evangelical church, for the purpose of organizing a local union at this place. We were led in prayer by Rev. C. P. Maas, pastor of the Evangelical church, after which a male quartette of the Menonite church favored us with a selection in song.

Mrs. Stahl then gave us a very able and inspiring address in which she depicted the needs of work to be done for the great temperance cause, and she showed us clearly the great good the unions all over the world have done.

We decided to organize a union in our town, and as we had eighty-nine names for active members, we felt we might go ahead. The election of officers was as follows: President, Mrs. L. Yager; vice president, Mrs. B. F. Sprunger; recording secretary, Flora Mae Neaderhauser; corresponding secretary, Inda Sprunger; treasurer, Martha Gilum. Since that time our union has increased to one hundred and two active members (all paid up), and fourteen honorary members. We are pleased with our union, and expect great good to result from it.—Yours in His name.—Ada Wittwer.

GRANT COUNTY'S thirtieth annual convention was held at Jonesboro, October 6-7. Despite a steady down-pour of rain the first forenoon, nineteen of the twenty-six unions were represented. The delegates came from all over the county, by buggy, by rail, and on foot. There were a few bedraggled skirts, but they were here. Everybody was jubilant over the fact that the coveted gain in membership had been reached, making the county's enrollment of paid-up members one thousand and thirty-six. That earnest, consecrated work had been done during the year was shown by the excellent reports read by the county superintendents.

Mrs. Viola McConnel, of Gas City, county superintendent of the Flower Mission, read a fine report, a part of which follows: Bouquets and other floral gifts, 2,324; text cards given out, 1,388; pages of Flower Mission literature distributed, 1,835; visits to sick, 4,146; drives and other outings, 64. Sixty-one bushels of fruit and vegetables were given to poor. Fourteen mission meetings were held, and $201.71 given out. The press department reported 263 feet of W. C. T. U. news published in the newspapers of the county during the year.

The officers were all re-elected. Under the same management and leadership that has brought success thus far, the workers start out for another thousand members. Our sainted leader's "do everything" policy will be the means used.

A W. C. T. U. headquarters was maintained at the county fair at Marion, which proved to be an effective way of getting our principles before the people. The board of directors of the Fair Association was so well pleased with the "Rest room" that they wish it to be made a permanent feature.

THE MANVILLE W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. Lanham, Tuesday, October 10th, with a good attendance of workers. After the superintendents of the several departments gave their reports, a very interesting program was carried out.—L. M. L., Press Supt.

MARION COUNTY.—The annual convention of the Marion county W. C. T. U. was held September 20th and 21st at Hall Place M. E. church.

Dr. Martha E. Keller, vice president in the chair. Mrs. Artman, county president, was unable to be with us because of the serious illness of her husband. After the regular order of business was disposed of the pastor of the church, Rev. John Ragle, gave the address of welcome. Response was made by Mrs. Dotia Daugherty.

Mrs. Luella McWhirter made an excellent address in the time allowed for annual address of county presidents. Her plea was well received, that practical, definite work be undertaken by each union and carried on to completion.

During the afternoon session, Dr. J. N. Hurty gave a very instructive talk on "Health and Temperance." He urged that children be instructed in all that pertains to their physical health before they are 9 years of age. Dr. Hurty also urged that children be supplied with plenty of fresh air, sunshine and plain, wholesome food. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. S. R. Artman; vice president, Dr. Martha E. Keller; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Nettie Cohea; recording secretary, Mrs. Nina Masters; treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Heath; L. T. L. secretary, Mrs. Mary McDermid.

Evening Session.—Marion's gold medal contest was as follows: Mrs. Louella McKain, subject, "United Action;" Mrs. Nina Burns, "A Plea for the Children;" Mrs. Cora Harper, "Baptized in Blood;" Mrs. Alice Boyd, "How We raised $10,000;" Mrs. Virginia Hadden, "The Resubmissionist Story." Mrs. Hadden won the medal. A pleasing feature of the program was special music arranged by Mrs. Coe Brennan.

Second Day.—The report by Mrs. Amanda Whitson of the World's W. C. T. U. held at Glasgow, Scotland, was so well given one could almost feel the enthusiasm and interest manifested in that great gathering. Dr. Martha Keller's paper "The Christ Christianity Exemplified in Daily Life" was crowded out for lack of time. An impressive memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Martha L. Gipe.

Judge George W. Stubbs of the Juvenile Court, gave a number of instances of neglect, brutal treatment and desertion, caused almost entirely by the use of intoxicants. Rev. Geo. B. McKee gave an address on "Equal Suffrage," which was well received. A pleasing incident was the presentation of the little granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. McWhirter, little Alma Jane McWhirter, whose name was placed on the cradle roll, and she consecrated to the temperance cause. Miss Pearl Dutch sang sweetly, "If I Only Had a Home, Sweet Home."

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The messenger boys of this city are compelled to go errands in the red-light districts and other places of immoral character; and

Whereas, Such influences are corrupting beyond doubt; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the W. C. T. U., co-operate with all forces for the better protection of the youth of our city.

Another resolution was that an appeal be made to the coming legislature that, in the interest of the general health of the state, the appropriation to the State Board of Health be increased. A resolution was also adopted opposing child labor.

There were ninety-eight delegates in attendance. This enthusiastic, successful convention was a fitting close to a year of faithful effort on the part of our county president and her co-workers.—Ella D. Oakes, Co. Press Supt.

WELLS COUNTY.—Convention was held in Liberty Center, September 28th and 29th. The convention opened with County President Willis in the chair. After impressive devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Josephine Merriman, president of the Liberty Center Union, there was an address by Rev. Barclay, of the Methodist church, and a response by Mrs. Willis.

Reports from county officers were read and accepted, also reports from the presidents of the different unions and from superintendents of the various departments. We find by these reports that Wells county W. C. T. U. workers are very much alive, making good progress, and doing faithful work along the many lines they have taken up. There are thirteen unions in Wells county, aggregating over 280 members. A newly organized union at Zanesville starts out with seventy-six members—the largest union in the county. We shall expect to hear of them accomplishing much, with such a good beginning.

Mrs. Vayhinger, state president, could not be with us until evening of the first day. A delegation of about seventy-five white ribboners met her at the 5:19 car, then marched through the principal streets of the town and back to the church, where supper was waiting.

At the evening session Mrs. Vayhinger delivered a most excellent illustrated lecture to an appreciative audience.

Thursday morning the state president led the devotionals. The business routine was enlivened occasionally by varied entertaining numbers on the program. We were favored with an address by Rev. Tidrick of the Baptist church. Readings were given by Mrs. D. T. Smith, Miss Mary Sliger and Mrs. Flo. Carroll. Mrs. Vayhinger gave a talk on the "White Slave Trade." There was a flag song by the school children, a solo by Center Ladies' quartette sang "The Prohibition Chariot" and were greeted with so much applause that they then sang "Keep the Ball a Rolling." The next day the state president asked that "The Prohibition Chariot" might roll by again, and also gave the quartette an invitation to sing at the state convention. Another de-

THE MESSAGE

Highful feature was a recitation and two songs by little Glenn Speece, who is only four years old.

A short memorial service for the departed sisters, who have gone to a higher and larger union, was conducted by Mrs. Jennie Bickel, and closed with prayer and singing softly one verse of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Also letters of condolence were voted to be sent to those whose homes were darkened by the terrible catastrophe which occurred near Kingsland, September 21st, and in which forty-one happy, joyous pleasure seekers lost their lives almost instantly in an interurban wreck.

Mrs. Vayhinger conducted the election of officers, eighty voting delegates being present, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. E. A. Willis; vice president, Mrs. O. E. Haegler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. A. Ellingham; recording secretary, Mrs. D. T. Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Garrett; L. T. L. secretary, Mrs. Ella Bennett.

Nearly all the little folks present were made members, decorated with the white ribbon and given the Chautauqua salute, during which the state president remarked that if Roosevelt were here he would not be alarmed about race suicide at Liberty Center. A rising vote of thanks was given to one of our loyal merchants, C. S. Hart, who so kindly donated a bolt of white ribbon and offered more, should we need it.

A sum of fifty dollars was voted to defray the expenses of the county president and her officers during the coming year.

The ladies of the local union did their utmost to welcome and entertain their guests during the two days' session.

Warm dinners and suppers were served in the basement of the church, with an abundance of good things to eat, and they were eaten.

The convention was very satisfactory, one of the best ever held in the county, fresh enthusiasm being awakened that will help us all during the coming year.

In fact we can say with Mrs. Willis, the county president, who, after making a visit to the dining room in the basement, remarked: "We are glad the convention came to Liberty Center for more reasons than one."—Tunie Noe, Reporter.

DEARBORN COUNTY.—The day of the W. C. T. U. county convention, which was held at Guilford, September 21st, dawned bright and beautiful. Twenty ladies of the Bright union attended. County president, Mrs. Maggie Gibson, presided. Mrs. Vest, of Laurenceburg conducted the devotional exercises, after which the reports from the various county officers were given. Moover Hill was the only union not represented. The result of the election of officers was as follows: President, Mrs. Maggie Gibson, of Bright; treasurer, Mrs. De la Williams, of Cold Springs; recording secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward, of Guilford; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hattie Jackson, of Bright; L. T. L. secretary, Mrs. Will Ward, of Guilford.

Mrs. Heiskell voiced the noon tide prayer, after which all repaired to the town hall with their lunch boxes. The ladies of Guilford had prepared a surprise of good things to eat, among which were coffee, ice cream and cake. The driver of the Bright wagon, Mr. Sam Young, furnished water melons.

A short program was given by the Guilford union. A song by Mr. and Mrs. Wil Ward and Miss Alta Hausell, recitations by Mrs. Winkley and Mrs. Dickson, after which Father Baron of Yorkville gave a very interesting and instructive address.

RICHMOND.—The Mary Hill W. C. T. U., in August, held an all-day meeting in our beautiful Glen Park, in honor of Mary Hill's birthday, for whom our union was named. We had a very helpful and inspiring meeting with a good attendance.

On the evening of September 9th we entertained our husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Norman. A short program was given. A social hour followed, during which refreshments were served. The motive was to interest the men in our great and glorious cause—the temperance work.

At our annual election of officers the result was as follows: President, Mrs. Ella Toule; vice president, Mrs. Mary Hill; secretary, Mrs. Rose Townsend; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Norman.

Delegates to state convention: Mrs. Ella Toule, Mrs. Martha Moyer and Mrs. Elizabeth Norman.

THE HUNTINGTON COUNTY W. C. T. U. convention was held in the W. C. T. U. room of and Friday, September 29th and 30th. The convention opened at 2:30 p. m. by County President Mrs. H. C. Foote. The recording secretary being absent, Miss Frances Blatchley, of Warren, was appointed secretary pro tem for the convention. Delegates were present from Huntington, Warren and Roanoke. Most of the afternoon session was devoted to the reports of the local presidents and appointments of committees. Miss Frances Blatchley was appointed to report the convention to The Message and the Union Signal.

Thursday evening's session was held in the Evangelical church, and a very interesting lecture was given by Rev. J. W. Metzner, of Huntington. He spoke nearly an hour on "Slay the Serpent and Free the Child." He compared the serpent to alcohol. He gave several reasons why alcohol is like the serpent and need be slain. He also said that we must stop making alcohol for drinking purposes and tobacco for chewing and smoking purposes. He also gave several points in favor of local option, mentioning the good it had done for Huntington county.

Friday morning was given over for the report of county officers and reports of committees. Friday afternoon was devoted to the reports of the county superintendents and election of officers. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. H. C. Foote, Huntington; vice president, Mrs. R. Rupert, Roanoke; treasurer, Mrs. O. W. Whitelock, Huntington; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rhinehart, Huntington; recording secretary, Miss Frances C. B. Blatchley, Warren; secretary of L. T. L. work, Mrs. Henry Roush, Warren; secretary of Young People's branch, Miss Frances Blatchley, Warren; reporter, Miss Frances Blatchley.

The BLACKFORD COUNTY convention convened at the Presbyterian church at Hartford City on Wednesday evening, September 21st. A grand gold medal contest conducted by Mrs. Birt Ritter, county superintendent of contest work, marked the opening of the convention. The contestants were Mrs. Virgil Alexander, of Roll; Mrs. Ritter and Mr. Day, of Hartford City, and Mrs. Myrtle Shull and Rev. Walker, of Montpelier. The medal was won by Rev. George Sheldon, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

The program was interspersed with fine music. Mrs. Bennett, supervisor of music in the Montpelier schools, sang two solos. The quartette of the United Brethren church sang, and the Hartford City Junior orchestra gave several selections.

Thursday morning the meeting was called to order by the county president, Mrs. S. M. Stahl. After the devotional services the secretary read the minutes of the last county meeting. This was followed by appointment of committees and reports of county officers.

After the noon-tide prayer the ladies were invited to the basement of the church, where an elegant dinner was served by the members of the Hartford City union. In the afternoon a very interesting meeting was held.

The following officers for the coming year were elected: President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl; vice president, Mrs. Dr. Harrold; recording secretary, Mrs. Eliza Bugh; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bessie Robbins; treasurer, Mrs. Rebecca Slater; secretary of L. T. L., Mrs. Mabel Wearly; secretary of Y., Mrs. Sabre Long.

Mrs. Stahl, who has served as county president for many years, then gave her annual address, which was very interesting. She spoke words of encouragement to the white ribboners of the county, and plead with them to push onward and do much work in the future in the great temperance fight for God and Home and Every Land. The convention voted to have a copy of this address published in the local papers.

Mrs. Elizaeth Stanley, our state vice president, gave a very helpful and interesting talk on "Helpful Suggestions to Superintendents of the Different Departments." While speaking on the department of purity she said that the W. C. T. U. was instrumental in bringing about the great work that has been done for the suppression of the White Slave traffic.

This closed the afternoon meeting. Supper was also served in the basement of the church. In the evening Mrs. Stanley delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture.—Forest Andrews, Press Reporter.

OWEN COUNTY.—The sixth annual and greatest convention was held at Gasport, September 30th, in the M. E. church, which was beautifully and artistically decorated. The president, Mrs. Strain, presided, and after devotional services a "Welcome" by Mrs. Notie Fox was responded to by Mrs. Baumgartner, of Spencer.

The department superintendents' reports all showed that aggressive, excellent work had been done during the year. The election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. Bessie Strain; vice president, Mrs. Anna McGlaren; recording secretary, Dora Haltom; corresponding secretary, Tattie Hyden; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Lawson, of Spencer.

A consecration service by Mrs. Alice Wampler was very helpful indeed. Mrs. Johnson, of Jordan Village union, read an interesting paper on the "L. T. L." "Christian Citizenship" was the subject of a good paper by Mrs. Rice. Mrs. Steele of the Carp union, read a helpful paper on "Health and Heredity." A paper on "The Needs of the W. C. T. U. Workers," by Mrs. Mary Wampler, was instructive and will be remembered. "The Mothers' Department" was the subject of a good paper by Mrs. Wall. A parliamentary drill by Mrs. Brice Hoadley was interesting and instructive. The talk on "Railroad Department," by Mrs. Brice Hoadley was interesting, and caused much discussion. Reading by Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Christy were much enjoyed. Especially good music was enjoyed during the convention. An instrumental duet by Mrs. Laymon and Mrs. Dunn of Spencer; an instrumental trio by Mrs. Nellie Wampler, Mrs. Sexson and Miss Sanders; a vocal solo by Mrs. Hyden; a vocal duet by Mrs. Haltom and Miss Teague, and the splendid Ladies quartette, of Gasport, were all much appreciated.

LAPORTE.—This union has had one or more items in each Message during the W. C. T. U. year which closed with the September number. The meetings have been interesting and the work done has been profitable. New members have been added. So it has been a pleasure to write items for our dear old state paper, which we all love so much. We anxiously await its coming at the beginning of each month.—Mrs. Seth Pease, Press Supt.

THE DELAWARE COUNTY W. C. T. U. convention was held at Eaton, Friday, September 23rd. The four unions were well represented and the reports showed a good financial condition and a constantly increasing membership. The convention was called to order by Mrs. Kate Waller, the president. Mrs. Bell Orr, of Eaton, conducted the devotional. Mrs. Emma Simmons welcomed the delegates, and Mrs. Ella Priddy gave the response. Two new departments were added to the list, physical culture and scientific temperance instruction.

Mrs. Waller gave a review of the work for the past year, and expressed her gratitude to those who co-operated with and assisted her in her work.

The officers elected are: Mrs. Ella Priddy, of Normal City, county president; Mrs. Kate Waller, of Albany, vice president; Mrs. Edith Nuzum, of Normal City, recording secretary; Stella Gissom, of Eaton, corresponding secretary and superintendent of the L. T. L.; treasurer, Mrs. E. E. Elliott.

A bountiful dinner and supper was served in the church by the women of the Eaton union.

The afternoon service began with devotional, by Mrs. Nettie Johnson, of Muncie. Mrs. Stafford of Albany, conducted a memorial in memory of Mrs. Sparr, and Mrs. Stevens of Muncie, sang "Face to Face." The ladies of Normal City gave a parliamentary drill under the leadership of Mrs. Edith Nuzum, superintendent of parliamentary usage.

A number of excellent talks were given. One of the best was by Mrs. Stanley to the school children and teachers, who came in a body.

The Misses Dowden and Reitenour of Albany, sang several duets.

In the evening, Prof. J. S. Rickard, superintendent of the Eaton schools, gave an excellent talk on scientific temperance instruction. Mrs. Stanley followed Prof. Rickard with a brief, but rousing talk such as she always gives.

Four cradle roll babies were presented and Mrs. Stanley tied the white ribbons on the wrist of the fourth.

A beautiful picture of Miss Frances Willard was presented to Mrs. Waller, the retiring president.

The Muncie union received the book of clippings for having the greatest number of feet and inches of clippings. The enrollment showed there were sixty-six members present.—Dora R. Nelson, Supt of Press work.

THE DECATUR county convention was held October 6th at the home of Mrs. Laura Thomson, president of the Greensburg union. On account of the weather the attendance was not large, but the meeting was very interesting and profitable. Good reports were read by the following county superintendents: Mrs. Minerva Galbraith, "Medical Temperance; Mrs. Julia Montgomery, "Temperance Literature;" Mrs. Sarah Hunter, "Sabbath Observance."

The following officers were chosen: President, Miss Mary Gray; vice president, Mrs. Nettie Parker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Cora McDowell; recording secretary, Mrs. Ella B. Wright; treasurer, Mrs. Ella Stevinson. Lunch and a social time occupied the noon hour.—Mrs. Nettie Parker.

BRIGHTWOOD W. C. T. U. met September 15th with Mrs. Warmick of Station street. It was the annual meeting, and new officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Rash, president; Mrs. Saylor, vice president; Mrs. Kirby, recording secretary; Mrs. Drake treasurer. The roll call shows we have forty-one members, of which twelve are honorary.

Rev. Grannis was with us and gave a talk on "The Education and Improvement of the Public Conscience."

Our next meeting was held at Mrs. Moffits, on Adams street, October 10th.

The delegates to the county convention from our union reported a very pleasant and profitable time. Mrs. Rash, our president, being at the Decatur hospital with typhoid fever, the union remembered her with a post card shower on her birthday, which we hope will be enjoyed.—Mrs. L. Parsley, Press Supt.

Our Promoted Comrades

THE NEWBURGH Union sustained a great loss in the death of Mrs. Mary Effie Vonderscher. She had a deep love for our cause and was a faithful member.

She was promoted to the higher life early Sunday morning, the 9th of October. She was a brave and patient sufferer. "At rest" are sweet words when we think of the body. She was a kind and affectionate mother and true companion. Her pleasant smile and cheerful life were an inspiration to all.

The husband and children have our deepest sympathy. Their loss is her gain. We are mourners with them and a great host of friends. She was laid to rest in beautiful Rose Hill cemetery, Rev. Potter officiating.

Mrs. J. E. FETZER.

STAR CITY Union mourns the loss of one of its most faithful and honored members, Mrs. Sarah M. Dunn.

She was in the crusade at Logansport, Ind., and was a charter member of Star City Union. She had served as treasurer for the last ten years, and a part of that time served as County Treasurer also. She was a faithful willing worker, always interested in the temperance cause, and anxious to see its advancement. She said she wanted the knot of white ribbon pinned on her when she was laid away, and white ribbon twined around her casket. Her daughters and the W. C. T. U. were pleased to follow her directions, and the W. C. T. U. furnished a beautiful floral piece for her funeral and grave. The entire community mourn with her family and the W. C. T. U. We shall miss her, oh so much. But our loss is her gain.

ECHOES FORT WAYNE CONVENTION.

Mrs. Ella Kroft, state evangelist was in charge of Evangelists' Hour.

Mrs. Carrie Brinkhoff served as assistant Recording Secretary.

Credentials Committee reported 459 voting delegates.

The following resolution was passed and is important:

Resolved:—That we denounce the infamous practice of medical inspection of women in brothels, and appeal to our municipal governments to enforce our state law, and forever stamp out this abomination in Indiana.

A paper known as "The People's Press" of Chicago, was brought to the notice of the convention by Mrs. G. W. Augustine. The following resolution was passed:

Resolved:—That we appeal through our governor, Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, to the post office department at Washington, for the suppression from the United States mails, the publication known as "The People's Press," of Chicago, which we consider a flagrant insult to Christianity everywhere. Moved and carried that a marked copy of this publication, with a letter signed by the president and secretary of the Indiana W. C. T. U. accompany this appeal.

Mrs. Mary A. Moody, presented the following resolution, which was adopted

Whereas, The American Health Association is making an effort to prevail on the United States government for the appointment of a secretary for the conservation of public health;—

Therefore, Be it resolved that we, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana, in convention assembled, do most heartily offer our endorsement and co-operation.

The following resolutions were offered by Mrs. Perkins: "Resolved, that we petition the various fair associations in our state, to permit only those attractions which are clean and wholesome."

"Resolved: That this convention recognizes the growing need of a more careful study of Home Economics, and urge the different unions to study the science of home making, whereby human life can be made happier and better in every way."

A beautiful quilt was presented to the president, Mrs. Vayhinger. Mrs. Van Camp, president of the Ladies' Aid Society of the convention church, was introduced and presented Mrs. Vayhinger with a beautiful bouquet.

Mrs. J. F. Kinsey, chairman of the convention press committee, introduced representatives of the city papers that had been untiring in the efforts to fully report the convention. The Sentinel of Fort Wayne does not publish a liquor ad.

Legislation and Petition—

General Officers—

The Message wishes for all of its readers a Happy, Jovous Christmas season. The aggressive active Flower Mission workers will send thousands of greetings by card or letter and many substantial remembrances to the aged, the sick and the lonely.

The written letter or note, bears the "personal touch" which means much to a "hungry heart." May God use our nearly eight thousand Indiana White Ribboners as His message bearers this year, as never before.

GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS AND OTHER POLITICAL EVENTS.

The Record of the States on November 8, and Since on the Issue of Prohibition and the Liquor Question.

(Associate dProhibition Press.)

Where the liquor question figured.
Florida—Constitution Prohibition defeated by about 4,000 majority, largely by coerced vote of purchasable negroes at Jacksonville and other points. Hillsboro county, including Tampa, now the largest city of Florida, voted for a dry state by a large margin.

Missouri—Constitutional Prohibition voted down by at least 150,000 majority, more than half of this given by St. Louis, the rest partly by li-cense cities and partly by the vote of locally "dry" counties. One million dollars spent by brewers decided the election.

Oklahoma—Local option and high license substitute for State Prohibition buried by 30,000 ma-jority. Negroes not allowed to vote.

Oregon—Constitutional Prohibition lost by about 15,000, due in large measure to failure of locally "dry" counties to support referendum. Powerful anti-prohibition influence of daily press, led by notorious, but influential Portland Oregon-ian, revealed chief strategy of liquor interests, intimidation.

Utah—State Prohibition, leading issue of the campaign, indefinitely postponed by defeat of friendly candidates. Curious situation—Demo-crats in 1908 opposing Prohibition, this year sup-ported it, while Republicans pledged to Prohibi-tion in 1908, this year fought it with all the treacherous energy at their disposal.

Kansas—Governor Stubbs re-elected by largely reduced vote, due to bitter opposition of liquor dealers in his own party, backed by big brewers of Kansas City, Mo.

Tennessee—Violent Anti-Prohibitionist Patter-son (present governor) Democratic machine, smashed by voters, with the election of a man who is at least pledged to enforce the present state-wide Prohibition law. But the new admin-istration is backed only by a fusion movement, hastily organized, with no intent of permanent ex-istence, which leaves the future of Prohibition very much in doubt beyond the term of the ad-ministration-elect.

County and Local Prohibition and Option Contests
..Arizona—State Prohibition and woman suffrage both defeated in Constitutional convention.

California—Half of remaining license precincts of Los Angeles reported as voting no license.

Delaware—Rural New Castle county, only li-cense territory in State outside of Wilmington, voted to remain wet.

Idaho—Gov. Grady (Rep.) who had declared for state prohibition, defeated for re-election by 1,000 majority, while license vote increased in practically every county of state except Ada.

Illinois—"United Societies" (backed by Chica-go brewers) claimed election of 90 per cent of their endorsed candidates, while attitude of new legislature toward a county Prohibition bill is not yet certain.

Indiana—Democrats, victorious, announce re-peal of county option law at once, which became a political orphan when the Republicans threw overboard all reference to it in their 1910 plat-form.

Iowa—Cummins' Republican crowd wins out, insuring perpetuation of "mulct" infamy for an-other term.

Minnesota—Prospect for passage of county Prohibition law is not bright.

Nebraska—Dahlman, Democratic candidate for governor, and backed by Omaha brewers, decis-ively beaten. Bryan fought him hard. County option said to be certain.

New Mexico—Prohibition defeated in Constitu-tional convention.

North Dakota—Governor John Burke, reputed to be sincere administrator of state prohibition laws, re-elected for third time.

Ohio—Big Democratic victory bodes ill to county-unit law.

Pennsylvania—Anti-Saloon League again fails completely in attempt to secure legislature favor-able to county option law.

Rhode Island—Four more cities vote "wet," leaving only 7 out of 38 which retain no license.

South Carolina—Greenville and county of same name vote out dispensary, and for no license, leaving only four license or dispensary counties out of 42 in the state.

South Dakota—Defeated county-option state law and woman suffrage referendums by large majorities.

Washington Adopted woman suffrage by big vote. Cities of Bellingham and Everett and other smaller towns voted no license. No hope from new legislation of any prohibition legislation.

Wisconsin—Outlook for "county option" ex-ceedingly poor.

DECEMBER, 1910.

Arrange for a "State-Wide Prohibition" meeting to be held soon.

Christmas letters written by boys and girls to their elder friends and to their relatives will be the very best Christmas gift.

Municipal Suffrage will be secured this winter for Indiana women if every woman interested will do all that she can to help.

Municipal Suffrage is a good subject for an open meeting of an afternoon or a big evening meeting. A suffrage oratorical contest would be interesting and a great help in many places.

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevenson, was, re-elected president of the National W. C. T. U. and she immediately selected Miss Anna Gordan for her vice president. The other officers were all re-elected.

The Golden Rule applied to every day life—W. C. T. U. members write your name and address on an envelope and place in it your membership fee—one dollar—and take it to your union meeting for your treasurer. Why not do this and help to make her work easy.

Public Meetings—In no other way is our work so well considered by the people as by public meetings. Some unions faithfully plan for and arrange public meetings as often as once a quarter, some oftener. Such unions are wielding an influence in their communities.

Practical gifts are always appreciated. It is estimated that last year there were more than fifty per cent more household and wearing apparel gifts than the previous year.

Good books, good pictures, educational games and magazines are inexpensive and have real and lasting value.

Help now to make your union's membership one more than it was this quarter last year. Treasurers look up the number who paid this quarter last year and be sure to tell the union at the December meeting; then do not fail to arrange for the collection of dues so you will make a gain of one new paid member this quarter.

Treasurers collect dues faithfully this quarter. Be sure that the number of paid members is increased at least one this quarter.

Wise presidents will ask for the treasurer's report in detail at the first December meeting; then all loyal members present will help the treasurer collect dues if absolutely necessary.

If State-Wide Prohibition is sufficiently urged by its friends this winter, the incoming legislature will be afraid to take any backward steps concerning temperance.

At the December meetings of the unions consider these legislative matters and please be ready to respond to the appeals made by the state superintendent of legislation and general officers.

The local union treasurer who is efficient and wise will have her list of paid members and the unpaid members with her at every union meeting.

At the December meeting of her union every treasurer should have membership list with her and be an early arrival at the meeting, so that she can collect dues or arrange with a neighbor for the collection of some members who live at a distance.

Christian women can not afford to set the example of late Christmas shopping. Children should be urged to make their lists and do their buying on or before the first ten days in December. Night shopping is done at the expense of physical endurance of the clerks.

How silly, how foolish for sensible people to buy useless "gee-gaws and traps" for holiday gifts or to allow their children to do so. In most homes there comes a time when the accumulation of such stuff is annoying and the thrifty housewife is tired of dusting it and giving it room, so it goes into the fire. Good books, good pictures, educational games and mechanical toys, and magazines are inexpensive and have real value.

OFFICIAL.

The following recommendations from the executive committee were adopted by the convention: Moved by Mrs. Mix that any deceased member of the W. C. T. U., active or honorary, may be made a memorial member of the state by payment of ten dollars, the same to be used in organization.

Letters of sympathy were sent to Mrs. Stahl and Judge and Mrs. Artman.

Grant county reported a gain of 236 members for the year, making the county membership 1,036.

Interest on the money received from the sale of Hadley school, to be used during the coming year to keep two Field Secretaries constantly at work in Indiana. Details of this plan to be left to the plan of Work Committee. The plan for electing and paying the railway expenses of the National delegates was discussed and the following adopted:

I.—Each local union to pay through the regular channel to the state treasurer on or before the 15th of September a sum equal to ten cents per member, which shall constitute a fund for traveling expenses of elected delegates to the National Convention and of ex-officio delegates not otherwise provided for.

II.—In the election of delegates, preference shall be given to those who are subscribers to the Union Signal.

III.—Elected delegates whose expenses are thus paid shall be subject to the call of local unions for a report of the convention upon the payment of traveling expenses and entertainment.

A copy of the life of Frances E. Willard was presented to the public library of the city.

A picture of Francis E. Willard was presented to the high school of Ft. Wayne.

Credentials Committee reported 459 voting delegates present.

Memorial service led by Mrs. Nettie Traum of Richmond.

A beautiful little booklet was presented to each delegate by the ladies of Ft. Wayne W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Harriet Steckel made her mother a Memorial member of the state W. C. T. U. by payment of ten dollars. The first member.

Mrs. Laura Thompson sent ten dollars which she wished to be added to the appropriation of the State Superintendent of Franchise.

SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Qualifications necessary for an L. T. L. leader? Fifty per cent love, equal parts patience, enthusiasm, persistence and knowledge of L. T. L. methods. Mixed thoroughly with a never failing faith in the boys and girls.

How and when to sign the pledge? How? Reverently, publicly and with some fitting exercise. When? Not until it has been memorized and after three months' probationary teaching in the L. T. L. Make the signing of the pledge a religious ceremony.

How to win and hold the boys? Don't preach. Tell them what the railroads, business houses, insurance companies and athletes say about drinking employees. Hang up a punching bag and give the boys a chance at it. Let them practice emergency aids to wounded, drowning and fire-endangered. Keep them busy every moment of the L. T. L. hour.

How interest the parents? Talk to them of their children and the L. T. L. If Johnny gave a bright answer at the L. T. L. tell his mother about it. If Delia is a sweet little singer, tell the father. Prepare special programs and invite the parents.

How secure dues? Make it plain that the membership dues support the work. Tell how the government is supported by the tax payer. L. T. L. dues paying members are tax payers. Make them feel it honorable to "pay their way."

How interest the public? Keep the L. T. L. before the public, through marches, parades, public entertainments, participation in all public holidays and on all public occasions.

How secure a leader? Pray for one, set the children after her, help her to fit herself for the work by giving her one dollar to join the L. T. L. Correspondence Training School, and then help her in the Legion.

INSTITUTES.

Dear Sisters and Co-Workers:—

The year 1910 will soon close and with the opening of 1911 our attention must be given to the making of the plans for the spring institutes. Last year with 47 organized counties we held 43 institutes. This was a good showing, but in the coming year why cannot we have as many institutes as we have organized counties and also enter unorganized counties? We can if all work to this end. Do you ask "What can I do?" My reply is: See that your county falls in line. If all will do this we shall have the best institute season Indiana has ever known. Let me hear from every county president during the month of December telling me that you are planning for an institute, and that you will accept the leader scheduled and will help her in every way. Next month I will write you a longer letter. Wishing you all a very Happy Christmas, I am, lovingly yours—Rose Pearce, State Superintendent Institutes, Darlington, Indiana.

MRS. STANLEY'S NOTE BOOK.

Dear Sisters:—We had a great convention at Ft. Wayne. Let no one try to rival the Ft. Wayne Union as entertainers—if you do, we will never get another invitation—yet Ft. Wayne says, "come again." I went from Ft. Wayne to DeKalb county for four days. Our loyal workers there began to hustle at the beginning instead of the end of the year. I inspected the magnificent library donated to the city of Auburn by our good brother, Hon. Chas. Eckhart. He watches every stone that goes into the building and has a prohibition clause in the deed. He has special provision made for a meeting place for the W. C. T. U. Oh, that God would spare him to us until victory comes, and give us another like him in every county of the state. I next visited my good friend, Mrs. Josephine Walmer of Bluffton and heard her charming story of the "World's Convention" at Glasgow, Scotland. Spent the Sabbath in Blackford county at Millgrove; we have a fine Union there and officers are all young ladies. I went to Howard county the following week and added 11 more new members to Hemlock and Kokomo Unions. Thence I was called to Indianapolis by the local Council of Women; had a fine meeting and felt much encouraged to find the "four hundred" in that great city out for municipal suffrage; took dinner with our Major General, Dear Luella F. McWhirter and her family. I came to Connersville on call of our good Prohibition brothers for a Prohibition rally in the Christian church; spent a few days at home with loved ones and went to Hamilton county for two days, and to Spencer, Warrick, Vanderburg and Posey counties for a campaign closing on election day. All this means 47 new members first quarter. Yours for victory.—E. T. S.

FROM THE STATE SECRETARY.

Dear White Ribboners of Indiana:—

When this reaches you the first quarter of 1910-1911 will be well nigh past. Our state convention came unusually late, which gives us a late start for the new year's work, but judging from the many letters that come to my desk, a splendid start has been made. The enthusiasm engendered by our great state convention seems to have spread all over the state, for from every quarter comes the news that "we are starting the year with new interest," or "we already have some new members. Our delegates gave a fine report and we will try to do more active work this year, etc." Yes, dear sisters, we are all going to try to do more active work this year, even those who tried to do all they could last year. We are all going to try to bring our membership up to 10,000 before our next state convention. We can do it, but it will take a steady pull altogether until the 25th of next September, when our year closes. Many unions have already laid plans to increase their membership. The mothers of Indiana must be aroused and brought into our organization. Many have never thought much on this great reform, and are ignorant of the need. Others are busy about things of more or less importance; others are wholly indifferent. These must all be brought to see how the morals of every boy and girl in the state are imperiled by the liquor traffic, and the very life of the nation is threatened by the demon of rum. This is woman's battle for her home and loved ones, and we must bring them into the ranks. When women take the stand they should, men will see their duty more clearly.

Some may feel discouraged over the results of the recent election, but there is no cause for discouragement. Read the story of the abolition movement which finally overthrew slavery, and you will see that history is but repeating itself in the prohibition movement. We are steadily gaining ground although we may seem to be making losses. Our part is to stand for the truth, "and having done all, to stand."

Mrs. Amanda Shedd, president of Marshall county is the first to report a new union. Since state convention she has organized a fine "Y" in her county at Pleasant View.

The new unions organized at Berne September 19 by Mrs. Stahl, has increased to a membership of 122. It has far outgrown its baby clothes and is setting a pace for the older unions that will test their wind. They are getting their work well organized and are brim full of enthusiasm. Several other new unions are in sight, and with the help of the county officers, we will make this a great year in organization.

At the state convention I learned of some new unions that had not been reported to me. I hope this year to have a report of every union organized that I may send them state helps, and in other ways be helpful to them. When anyone organizes a union she should report it to me at once.

Orders for "The Temperance Educational Quarterly," should be sent to Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, Hartford, Wis.

Greetings and congratulations to our enfranchised sisters in the state of Washington. This victory speaks volumes for the chivalry and fair mindedness of the men of that state. We will get the same privilege in Indiana when we women ask for it as though we mean it. Let us do it this coming winter. Yours for 10,000 members.—Mary E. Woodard.

Nashville, Tenn.—(Special)—Wholesale arrests of violators of the liquor laws have been made and there are indications that many joint keepers will shortly be "doing time." Under the decision of the Supreme Court the possession of a federal license is made prima facie evidence of guilt, and this decision is proving an effective weapon in the hands of Davidson county officials.

PLAN OF WORK 1910-1911.

We urge our unions to make a greater effort to raise our active membership this year to 10,000 and to secure such number of honorary members as will equal at least one-fourth of the active membership. Let a campaign for membership be begun at once and continued throughout the year.

Public Meetings.

Every union in the state should hold at least one public meeting per quarter, either contest, mass meetings or lecture, using local talent, as well as employing public speakers.

We also urge local unions to prepare interesting programs or medal contests to be given in unorganized neighborhoods or towns, and at the meeting to distribute literature, and thus prepare the way for organization.

Visiting Committee.

We recommend that unions appoint a visiting committee, to be changed each quarter, whose duty it shall be to do house work, distributing literature, and inviting women to become members of our organization.

Reception to Teachers.

We recommend that each local union give a reception in honor of their teachers, and if possible, to secure their subscriptions to the "Scientific Temperance Quarterly," and "The Crusader Monthly."

Obscene Pictures.

We recommend local unions to co-operate with postal authorities in suppressing obscene pictures on postal cards.

Essay Contest.

We urge local unions to see whether or not the requirements of the Scientific Instruction law are met in our schools, and to arrange at once for essay contests in the high schools, to be governed by the rules given in the plan of work sent out by our national superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction.

Suffrage and Prohibition.

We urge local unions to bring every possible influence to bear on our coming legislature in the interest of state wide prohibition and municipal suffrage for women. Let the legislature be flooded with telegrams, letters and petitions for these measures.

FLOWER MISSION.

Dear Sisters:—It has been an inspiration and a benediction to me to meet face to face with so many of our dear Flower Mission superintendents at Ft. Wayne, who are doing such noble work for the Master in this mission of love. This is certainly a blessed work. To bring hope, comfort and happiness to those in poverty, disease and distress. While we know that a very large per cent comes from the drink curse, let us consecrate ourselves anew to fight this deadly enemy of the home. The Flower Mission embraces many lines of work and there is no community but has work for us to do along some line. This department belongs to all who wear the white ribbon, and superintendents of every other department can use flowers with text cards to some extent, and when all our members appreciate this fact, our whole work will be beautified. The Flower Mission readily adjusts itself to almost every department and often makes possible other lines of work. Let all in this line of work be promptly reported to your local superintendent. There is an old saying that "there are sermons in flowers."

"Your voiceless lips of flowers are living preachers; Each cup a pulpit; every leaf a book."

Let us use every opportunity to bring the uplifting influence of the flowers into all our white ribbon work.

The things you'd say above my bier,
To try to make death seem less drear,
My living soul would best sustain,
Make less its sorrow, and it's pain.

The carriage hired at fancy fee,
Tomorrow morning send to me.
'Twould shorten much the weary way,
My feet must travel every day.

To sum it up: Don't wait till night,
Has lifted, ere you burn a light;
Don't wait for death to crown my brow—
Weep with me, love me, here and now.
Tenderly yours, Viola R. Harvey, State Superintendent, P. O. Box 239, Mooresville, Ind.

HUNDREDS OF WHITE RIBBON ENTHUSIASTS DESCEND UPON BALTIMORE FOR ANNUAL COUNCIL.

Vanguard of Woman's Anti-Drink Army Gathers in City by the Chesapeake and Strongly Urges Co-Ordination of All Temperance Forces for Nation-Wide and World-Wide Advance in Great Reform.

Baltimore, Md.,—(Special Correspondence to the Associated Prohibition Press.)—Hundreds of women gathered in Baltimore on November 12 from every quarter of Columbia's dominions, Canada and British Columbia to represent 300,000 of the rank and file of the W. C. T. U. army. Three thousand Baltimore citizens gathered before a stage filled with white-robed leaders of the "dry reform" to hear Mayor Mahool welcome the visiting hosts in these words:

"I hold the highest respect for dreamers—men and women who have faith enough to go out and work on theory. But you women, who are not working on theories, but know what you are about and see daily the result of your work, should be admired, and I do so with all my heart."

Co-Ordination of Forces the Keynote For Further Work.

Co-ordination of all the temperance forces of the civilized world, a knitting together of the individual units into one great effort having for its purpose the elimination of alcohol from the face of the earth and a unanimous spirit of enthusiasm was the background which was revealed in the elaborate program outlined for future work. Mighty Business Forces Ally Themselves with Temperance Movement.

Mrs. Stevens in a ringing speech, commented upon the revolution in business sentiment toward the use of alcoholic beverages.

"Mighty forces are contributing to our success. Each day the cable, telegraph, telephone, up-to-date daily newspaper, friendly cartoonist, magazine writer, sermonizer, thoughtful educator, medical expert, scientist, railroad magnate, factory owner, athlete, autoist, and even the aviator, are pointing out total abstinence as the way to health and prosperity. In every civilized land there is an increasing interest in the subject of total abstinence. This sentiment is aroused by those who believe in conservation of the life, health and happiness of the people; by those who are not only interested in the poisonous mosquito and fly, bad water, bad food and bad air, but who likewise believe that alcohol is a poison and its victims more numerous than those of any pestilence.

"Forty-one railroad companies, considering intoxicants a menace to life and property, have officially condemned their use. Among other great business corporations which discriminate against those who use alcoholic beverages are 72 per cent of agriculturists, 79 per cent of manufacturers, and 80 per cent of tradesmen.

W. C. T. U. Spreads Its White Wings Over Many Many Lands.

In far-away India these white ribboners are as busy as they are in England, Canada, or the United States. In Germany they have induced the government to direct the giving of temperance lectures to the sailors aboard the ships of the imperial navy. This was the first time in the history of the navy that any such attempt has been made to reach the jackies in the interest of temperance, and it is claimed that increased sobriety bears witness to the success of the undertaking.

Strikingly typical of this far-reaching influence of the woman's movement, a score of children dressed in costumes of all nations, which had been contributed by the countries which they represented, showed the work that the world movement is accomplishing, and this idea was further carried out by a band of young girls, who took part in the drill, in which Uncle Sam and John Bull held up the world, from the center of which radiated long white ribbons. The girls carried the ribbons representing other nations in which the auxiliaries were established.

Great Growth of This Youthful Organization.

Although only thirtysix years in the fight against King Alcohol, the W. C. T. U. movement has grown into one of the leading factors of temperance reform. It was the W. C. T. U. which induced the authorities to teach in the public schools the harmful influence of alcohol upon the human body and secured the incorporation of temperance lessons in the International Sunday School Series. Shrewd and well-qualified students of reform attribute no small part of the great temperance wave now sweeping the United States to the education of children to the baneful effects of alcoholic drinks. According to its leaders, the W. C. T. U. has, during the last eight years been the determining influence in securing the passage of more than fifty laws of public interest. More than 20,000,000 persons have attached their signatures to W. C. T. U. petitions and this ancient right has been proved by this organization to be a weapon as potent as the ballot in the hands of their brothers. Polygamy, cigarettes and many other kindred evils of the day have been powerfully assailed by this militant host of motherhood during this generation of conflict.

Auxiliary Merger Retained by Decisive Vote.

At the last national convention at Omaha, a resolution was passed merging the Senior Loyal Temperance Legion and the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union into one organization, in order that young men might be invited to join the movement as well as young women. Although 1,700 members of auxiliaries have petitioned for the repeal of this resolution the Baltimore convention decided that the merger should be retained by the decisive vote of 400 to 43. Noticeable was the complete control of the whirlwind debate on this proposition by the chairman, Miss Gordoa.

One Million Essays from Young People.

An interesting feature of the convention was the awarding of prizes to the winners in a contest in which more than one million young people participated. The winning essays were submitted by John D. Howser of California, H. F. Johnson of Minnesota and Miss Hattie Mayberry of Tennessee.

Mrs. Stevens Defends Her Sex.

Mrs. Stevens said: "We are sometimes told that drinking among women is on the increase and we are likewise told that there is much cigarette smoking among women. In the course of my travels in America, I have never seen a woman with a cigarette in her mouth, except in certain localities in New Mexico, where the surroundings were not at all pleasant to contemplate. I am happy in believing that the women who smoke tobacco in any form are very few in this country."

One Climax of Convention.

The convention struck a powerful chord of inspiration on Demonstration night when twenty Union and Confederate veterans of the Civil War marched out upon the big stage, with a trio of marines bearing Old Glory over the blue and the gray alike. Three thousand good Americans stood reverently while the aged soldiers marched to the tune of "The Star Spangled Banner," their quivering voices thrilling the great crowd until at length patriotic hearts and voices could stand no more and all joined in upon the chorus of America's battle hymn, with a renewed purpose to fight for the day when the flag should cover not a single legalized saloon.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN POLITICS THIS FALL.

As proof of the close alliance of both "stand-patters" and "insurgents," and of Republicans and Democrats alike with the liquor traffic the Prohibitionists point to current events, some of the striking developments of recent date including these items:

In Pennsylvania both Democratic and Republican candidates for governor are openly strong liquor men.

In Texas, despite a big majority asking for the submission of Prohibition, the Democratic state machine have forced through the nomination for governor of a rabid friend of the saloon.

In Minnesota the Republicans defeated even a plank favoring a county-option law and nominated an anti-Prohibitionist for Governor.

In Alabama the Democratic politicians have joined hands with the exiled liquor men and declared for the repudiation of Prohibition.

In Florida leading politicians of both parties are opposing the Prohibition referendum.

In New York, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska and California, the liquor traffic has shown its control of both parties in the fall nominations.

For instance in St. Louis, Otto Stifel, a wealthy brewer, is the acknowledged head and dictator of the Republican party, and Tony Stuever, another brewer, has exactly the same relation to the Democratic party in that city.

The situation in Chicago, Cincinnati, New York, Boston, and every other license city is very similar.

The Maine Republican nullification of Prohibition was at the bottom of their astonishing defeat September 12.

In Oklahoma, Tennessee and Arkansas the Democratic officials are nullifying Prohibition at the dictation of the liquor interests.

In Iowa the Democrats are opposed to Prohibition and the dominant "insurgent" Republicans have as their leader ex-Governor Cummins, the man who invented the infamous mullet law that has nullified the Prohibition law for eighteen years.

In Nebraska the dominant Democratic party machine has just defeated the present Governor Shallenberger for renomination, and put in the field the man picked out by the beer-makers of Omaha.

And what is true in these states reflects similar conditions in almost every other state in the Union.

It is because of these facts that the Prohibition party is this fall making a more aggressive fight in every state than in any other campaign of recent years and confidently expects a large gain in its vote in nearly every case.

THE MADISON W. C. T. U. held a convention echo meeting at their hall on Mulberry street from 8 to 10 p. m. Delegates reporting from the state convention held at Fort Wayne, Mesdames Geo. E. Denny, Rosa Jamison and George Augustine gave their reports. A delightful program was rendered and refreshments of cocoa and cake were served at the close of the meeting. Jefferson county won two pennants, that of Christian Citizenship and Health Heredity and Physical Culture.

Mrs. Jamison, Madison local president, was selected delegate for the national convention at Baltimore.

November 4th and 5th Madison union held a rummage sale, the results of which increased the treasury somewhat.

The result of the election Tuesday, November 8, was what they call a land slide for the democrats and law enforcement men. Votes were cast throughout the county for the man and not the party.

The union held the regular business meeting at the hall on Mulberry street, Tuesday afternoon, November 8, 1910, at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Jamison in the chair. After devotions, "All Around the World" was sung with Mrs. Denny at the piano. "We're Out For Prohibition," was also sung. Report of rummage sale and appointment of vacancies for several department superintendents followed. The L. T. L. and W. C. T. U. are arranging for a lecture course for the winter, the outcome of which is hoped to be good work. The meeting closed with a prayer service for benefit of the election being carried out on that day.—Mary E. Bayless, Press Supt.

JEFFERSON COUNTY—The sixth annual convention of Jefferson county W. C. T. U. was held at Madison at Brigade hall on Mulberry street, with a full program. Rev. E. S. Schumaker of Indianapolis spoke Monday night to an appreciative audience. Subject, "Law Enforcement and Needs in Jefferson County."

Dinner and supper were served each day to delegates and visitors at the hall by the local ladies. Tuesday evening was department demonstration night, which was both instructive and entertaining. Tuesday afternoon the election of county officers took place, but few changes were made, most of them were re-elected.

The city papers were very liberal with their time and space to publish the proceedings of the convention. For which a vote of thanks was extended to each one.—M. E. Bayless, Press Supt.

GRANT COUNTY—White Ribboners are being treated to an elaborate report of the Fort Wayne convention by the fifty-five delegates who attended that great meeting. They brought back an inspiration which is showing itself in renewed efforts for new members and in a determination to do more thorough systematic work this year than ever before.

MRS. GULIE E. SHUGART—County president, called the county executive committee together a few days after the state convention to make plans and to appropriate money for the year's work. Another meeting will be held soon to complete the plans.

MRS. JULIA OVERMAN—County and state superintendent of Medal Contests, has accepted an invitation to take her grand diamond medal contest class to New Castle the first week in September. The class is composed of Grant county young people.

The class held a very successful contest in the First M. E. church in Marion a short time ago. Mr. Ernest Holsinger won the prize.

MRS. EDITH BURRIER, County L. T. L. secretary, is pushing her work in the county. A large senior legion has been organized in North Marion; students of the Normal College are forming another, and two junior legions will be organized in a short time.

Here is a list of some of the work done by Grant county's evangelist, Mrs. Sarah E. Stout, last year. She visited two hundred families, gave thirty Bible readings, led twenty prayer meetings, visited seven unions, distributed 8,379 pages of literature, gave seven bouquets, ten meals to needy, four drives to invalids, fifty garments to poor, ten visits to sick; she wrote fifty letters and forty cards, and took fifty subscriptions for the American Motherhood. She also sold fourteen dollars worth of tags, and she and her worthy husband donated $65.00 to the work. The goal Mrs. Stout has in view is state and nation wide prohibition.—S. E. Thomas, County Press Supt.

MILL GROVE—Dear Readers of The Message: In a little village called Mill Grove, in old wet

Blackford County, is a band of white ribboners numbering some thirty odd. We can not do very much for this great cause for which we are pledged, but we are doing what we can. We have a few that work, more that do not, and so as to arouse our sleepy ones we had our dear Elizabeth Stanley with us the 22nd and 23rd inst. On Saturday night she gave us that splendid reading, "At the Mercy of the State."

It never fails to sway her audiences. On Sunday morning she occupied the pulpit in the M. E. church, and gave a fine discourse on the same subject. On Sunday afternoon we had a mass meeting at the U. B. church where Mrs. Stanley gave such convincing argument, that all who heard her had to admit she was right.

Oh, dear sisters of the Millgrove Union who shall read this, I take this method to urge you all to attend our meetings better this year than you did in the past year, for "in unity there is strength and we need your help and presence. Yours for success.—Bessie Robbins.

THE EARL PARK UNION is taking up the year's work with much enthusiasm and have added the feature of a social hour with refreshments, to the second meeting of each month. The first social meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mae Yeager, October 21, and was much enjoyed by the members present. The following officers have been elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Minnie Barr; 1st vice president, Miss Estella Washburn; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Jessie Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. Mamie Barr; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Elmira Hitze; recording secretary Miss Pearle McKinney.

The work of the fourteen departments has been taken up.

Mrs. Rose Washburn and Mrs. Jessie Wilson were delegates to the state convention at Fort Wayne. Benton county won the pennant for good work in the department of Social and Red Letter Day, of which Mrs. Jessie Wilson is both county and local superintendent.—Mrs. Erma McMahan, Press Superintendent.

ARBA—Resume of the year's work—Meetings held regularly; some have been seasons of blessing and refreshing from the presence of the Lord. Many interesting papers have been read and discussed; some have been published.

The first meeting was given over to reports of the state convention and was inspiring and helpful during the entire year.

Mrs. Mary Sibbitts of Kansas made three excellent addresses; two able addresses by Mrs. Vayhinger, state president. Mrs. Gertrude Fulton held a series of most helpful meetings.

Work for Petitions and Medical Temperance has been fought with good results. The subject of the White Slave Trade has demanded unusual attention by the union.

The Flower Mission work of the union is helpful in many ways. During the year the Male Quartette has ably assisted in the public meetings and many young people have contributed much to the interest of the meetings by readings and music.

The Noblesville W. C. T. U. and the Ministerial Association combined forces and observed Temperance Day, November 13. A ladies' meeting was held in the afternoon and was addressed by Mrs. Retta Jones; music was furnished by six young ladies. Mrs. Jones secured seven new members at this meeting. At the same hour at the First M. E. church a "men's meeting" was held, addressed by Attorney Carl Minton. The music being furnished by the Business Men's Bible Class. At six in the evening a Young People's Union meeting held in the Sunday School room of the Christian church. At 7 the large auditorium was filled ready to greet the large chorus, made up of the choirs of the various churches, as they marched in. The first half of the meeting being in charge of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Carrie Henderson, president, with a few well chosen words introduced Mrs. Jones.

In her sweet, winsome way, Mrs. Jones soon captured her audience and held their attention while she spoke on the great question of today, "The Liquor Traffic."

Miss Wambaugh, director of music in the schools of this place, sang a beautiful solo, which was highly appreciated.

Rev. Cooper, pastor of the U. B. church, and chairman of the Ministerial Association, introduced Mr. Minton, who spoke on License, and State Wide Prohibition. As Rev. Edwin Gibson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, dismissed the meeting with prayer, we all felt that our work had not been in vain, and with such soldiers in the fight as our noble W. C. T. U. women, and the grand, good men that have stepped over on the side of Right, it will not be long until we shall all attend another mass meeting, not to enlist workers to fight, but to attend the funeral of the "Liquor Traffic."—Lucile Harvey Tutt, Press Supt.

MRS. VANDOIS RASH, the loved president of Brightwood union died recently at the Methodist hospital, of typhoid fever.

The death of Mrs. Rash is a great and serious blow to Marion county. She was an earnest, efficient, persistent and winsome worker in the W. C. T. U. Her comrades were inspired and encouraged by her—she was a woman of rare quality of heart and mind—a natural leader.

Mr. Rash appreciated her ability and sympathized and encouraged her in all her work.

Marion county can ill afford to lose such a woman. The last time she met with her comrades was at the county convention. There she gave a splendid report of the work done by her union and received the applause of the convention. Little was her illness then suspected, so brave and faithful was she. Within the next two days she became very ill and so soon went home to Heaven.

The Van Buren W. C. T. U. held a special meeting with Mrs. William Doyle. The delegates gave reports of the state convention. As it was impossible for them to give all the good things they heard, they just gave us the cream. Our program for the afternoon was on the Sunday School work. There were several good talks which were very helpful. Mrs. E. B. Scott read a paper on Purity in Literature and Art. There was also a paper by Mrs. J. H. Sullivan on "How to Make Temperance Teaching in the Sunday School Helpful and Interesting." Essay by Mrs. L. F. Mathis on the "Duty of the Mother to the Child and to the Sunday School." Mrs. Williams was received into our union as a transferred member. Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Doyle served a nice two-course luncheon.—Mrs. L. F. Mathis.

THE ARGOS W. C. T. U. has elected Miss Gladys Hittle, general secretary of the Young People's Branch.

THE NEW CASTLE UNION held a very interesting Mothers' Meeting Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. Josephine and Ella Richards. Devotional exercises followed by a season of prayer. Mrs. Wenke read a very interesting article, "The Ideal Mother." Mrs. Fisher recited a very touching little poem entitled, "Is There Room for Mary There?" Miss Vogel sang a beautiful solo; also piano solos by Miss Napp and little Edith Richards finished a good program, after which the hostesses served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed by all.—E. R., Press Supt.

HOWARD COUNTY W. C. T. U. is in the cause to win. In the county convention the reports of the business of the county and department work was one of the best; we are surely starting out for a good year's work. The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Irene Gard; plans for the year's work were made; to visit all unorganized territory, also all unions; our president will take two or more, as she sees best, and arrange public meetings, taking an offering, and if this does not pay car fare or traveling expenses, to draw on the county treasurer for the deficit; this way all will be helpers in the just cause.

Our departments of Sunday School Work, Press' Juvenile Court, Scientific Temperance Instruction, were brought before the session and great good derived from same.

Committees to investigate the work of Juvenile Court, and also the sanitary conditions of all depots, were appointed.

Our new union from Taylor township was well represented and showed a great interest in the work. Greentown, New London, Sycamore, South Kokomo and Kokomo unions were there with great enthusiasm. At the noontide prayer, our president, Mrs. Mix, and our delegate to the National, Mrs. Stockton, were remembered, and a petition most earnest in their behalf, showing Howard county loyalty and love for one another.—Mrs. Irene Gard, County President.

THE TOCSIN W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting on Thursday, November 10 at the home of Mrs. Louis Frink. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Engle. Five new members were added to the union. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

POSEYVILLE W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Emma Fletcher on Thursday, November 3. The echoes from the state convention were given by the county president. Several visitors were present after instrumental music by Miss Myrtle Fletchall. Dainty refreshments were served.

SOUTH BEND—The ladies of the Pleasant View W. C. T. U. attended a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. A. L. Dalrymple, 137 Dimond ave.; the hostess had charge of the devotional exercises, after which followed the appointment of superintendents of different departments of work. Flower Mission, Mrs. VanBuskirk, 1502 Michigan ave.; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Uel, Van Buren St.; Sabbath School, Mrs. Webster, East Navar St.; Medical Temperance, Mrs. D. Augustine, Michigan ave.; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Webster, East Navar St.; Medical Temperance, Mrs. D. Augustine, Michigan ave.; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. L. A. Lydic, Dimond ave.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jacob Miller 2304 Michigan ave. Then came the report from the state convention by Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. Van Buskirk, delegates to the convention.

SEYMOUR—W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Frank Teckemeyer. A good attendance, important business and a very able report of state convention by Mrs. R. R. Short, delegate. The usual social half hour, always a pleasant feature of our W. C. T. U. meetings.

COLD SPRINGS union met at the church, November 2. Interesting reports were given from county and state conventions by Mrs. Della Williams for the county convention at Guilford and Mrs. Flora Walker for the state convention. These reports were very inspiring and most encouraging.

LA PORTE—The delegates to the state convention returned with such full great reports that they could not give all at one meeting. They are much enthused and speak very highly of the convention and of Ft. Wayne hospitality; as one expressed it, "they just did themselves proud," and so they did. This union at its last meeting voted to have a calendar printed for 1910-11.—Mrs. Seth Pease.

EVANSVILLE—The November meeting of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. was held November 2 at the rest rooms of the union. Our president, Mrs. Davidson being absent, Vice President Mrs. Viet, presided. Mrs. Jenner gave a most interesting account of the state convention. Mrs. Jenner is the state delegate to the national convention and we are expecting inspiring accounts on her return. No doubt many of you heard the paper called the "Peoples' Poiss," or perhaps attended the state convention and heard the discussion there. The Francis Willard union of Evansville is very glad to know that the ladies took action against it and we hope and pray their plan to stop it may meet with glorious success.

THE MULBERRY union observed World's Temperance Sunday, by having the five Sunday Schools of the township furnish some part of the program, and two of our home ministers made short talks on temperance.

An offering was taken at the door, amounting to $5.93. We are having these meetings every year and every one takes great interest in them.—Mrs. Dana Hoch, Supt. S. S. Work.

ROLL PURITY UNION met at the home of Mrs. Martha Palmer and entertained their husbands and the teachers of the public schools at Roll with about fifty present and a full program was given.

The state convention delegates gave reports of the convention. Lizzie Likley reported the business part of the convention, which was very instructive. Martha Palmer read sketches from the president's address, which were very interesting; the Misses Lelie Kiterman and Haney sang a duet entitled, "Father Knows It All" which was very beautiful and touching. Professor Peterson of the Roll school gave a fine talk on Scientific Temperance, and how it was taught in the public schools; he also paid a very high tribute to the work of the W. C. T. U. by saying that no organization was doing as much to raise the standard for a pure life among the boys and girls as the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Medical Temperance was the subject of an instructive talk by Dr. Harroll. He appealed to the mothers to stop doping their babies with the various proprietary opiates, as it was destructive to both mind and body.

Miss Steven gave a reading, entitled, "A Message from Heaven."

Sarah Harroll then gave her part of the report. She tried to tell how well we were entertained at the convention and said we were so royally entertained that the half can never be told. She spoke of the way the delegates were sent to visit the school for the feeble minded, which brought a smile over the audience. . .

Refreshments were served.—Sarah Harroll, President.

TIPPECANOE COUNTY—Central Union met at the home of Mrs. Lillian Hall, October 26. A large attendance of members and several visitors. Plans were discussed for the winter work and some benevolent work will be done in connection with the temperance work. A very interesting report of the state convention was given by Mrs. Ella Sweeney which seemed complete. Mrs. R. P. Cole gave the resolutions adopted by the state convention. A social hour was then enjoyed by all.

THE LAFAYETTE UNION held the regular meeting at the home of Miss May Mulford, with President Mrs. A. L. Green in the chair. After the business session, Mrs. May Williams gave a full report of the state convention which was most interesting and of much information to all present.

Mrs. H. H. Budge gave the outlook, gleaned from the state convention. During the social hour three new members were secured.

THE EDGERTON UNION met in the parlors of West Side Baptist church for its annual rally day exercises and the attendance was large. Each member brought one guest. The president, Mrs. J. H. Marquis, and Mrs. Ed Arnett, gave reports from the state convention and an able address was given by Mrs. Allen, matron of the Martha Home. Several musical numbers were given and a social hour enjoyed.

CHRYSOLITE UNION met in regular session Nov. 8, with president, Mrs. W. H. Stinespring at her home on State street, West Lafayette. Preceding a delightful program of musical numbers and a reading by Mrs. A. M. King, a business session was held. A report of the state convention was listened to with much interest, as given by Mrs. J. M. Strate. The most important parts of the business of the convention were brought out. In response to the roll call the members gave quotations from the life of Miss Willard. A social hour followed.

THE MONON UNION held a very excellent Mothers' Meeting at the home of Mrs. Ella Bouyer, Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings. Business pertaining to the temperance and benevolent work was discussed, followed by a number of select readings pertaining to motherhood and children. Mrs. R. P. Cole was present in the interest of the Railroad department. A social hour was spent and one new member was secured. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. Bradley.

THE FRANCES WILLIARD UNION enjoyed a ride to the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, where they were royally entertained. An interesting business session was held and reports from the state convention were given by Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Turkington. The reports were full of good cheer and information from the convention. Several visitors were present and during the social hour two new members were secured. The afternoon was most thoroughly enjoyable to all.—Mrs. R. P. Cole, Press Supt.

MONROE COUNTY—The W. C. T. U. convention was held at the beautiful new M. E. church at Bloomington, September 22, with large attendance. Delegates from Smithville, Ellettsville and Stinesville. Welcome address by Mrs. Rev. Kroft. Response by Mrs. Lillian Litten. Then followed reports of county superintendents which showed a successful year. Stinesville delegates were surprised to know that they carried off most of the banner, as follows: Flower Mission, Mrs. Dunn; Evangelistic, Mrs. Hoadley; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Litten; Literature, Mrs. Miller. The Bloomington Union served an elegant dinner in the basement of the church. Officers elected as follows: President, Mrs. Ella Kroft; vice president, Mrs. Lillian Litten; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Russell; recording secretary, Mrs. Vonvaren; treasurer, Mrs. Sandys; superintendent of departments: Flower Mission, Mrs. Dunn; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Hoadley; Evangelistic, Mrs. Stigleman; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Fife.

An excellent address given by Mrs. A. D. Leach of Sullivan on "Franchise." Mrs. Leach was the first female lawyer of the state, and is a candidate for legislature. This was followed by short talks by different speakers of the city. After a solo by Mr. Templeton the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Russell.—Mrs. Stigleman, Press Supt.

STINESVILLE W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Ray Dunn with a good attendance. President Mrs. Welch in the chair. Rev. Moss of Martinsville was an invited guest. Report of the state convention at Ft. Wayne by Delegates Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Easton were enjoyed by all. The hostess served dainty refreshments.—Mrs. Stigleman.

MARSHALL COUNTY—A very promising Y. was organized at Santa Anna school house in Marshall county November 6, with sixteen members and good prospects for many more. Officers elected were, president, Miss Lois Shaw; vice president, Miss Mary Irwin; corresponding secretary, Mr. Beryl Shaw; recording secretary, Miss Letty Savage; treasurer, Miss Edna Cooper, P. O., Argus R. D.

When you read this, please ask God's blessing upon these young people.—Amanda R. Shedd.

THE OWEN COUNTY W. C. T. U. met in convention September 30th in the M. E. church at Gosport. The morning service was given mostly to the election of officers, appointment of committees and report of committees and local unions. A parliamentary drill was given by Mrs. McClaren of the Spencer Union.

The afternoon session was opened by a consecration service by Mrs. Alice Wampler, president of the Gosport union, followed by an instrumental trio. Mrs. Johnson of the Spencer union read an excellent paper on L. T. L. work which inspired us all with a greater desire to establish the work in each local union.

Mrs. Wall of the Gosport union read a most excellent paper on the Mothers' department. She being a true, devoted mother, could well write on this subject. As she read one could not help praising the thousands of mothers who have the spiritual welfare of their children before them and their responsibility in rearing them for God. Our hearts went out in sympathy for the dear little ones who have mothers who are careless and thoughtless of their training.

Mrs. Alice Wampler, county superintendents of Mothers' department, asked the mothers who were desirous of consecrating their babies to a life of purity to bring them to the front.

Little Robert Asahel Wampler, aged two months, Lawrence Lee Wall, age three years, Paul Alexander Sexson, age 3, and Edith Elizabeth Sexson, age five years, were presented and the white ribbon tied on them; thus becoming members of the W. R. C. R. of the Gosport W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Mary Wampler read a paper on "Our Needs as a W. C. T. U."

There were other papers, readings, duetts, etc., all of which were splendid.

The convention closed to meet with the Carp Union next year.—Lulu S. Wampler, Press Supt. of Gosport Union.

Department Superintendents of Jay County—Christian Citizenship, Millie Leavell, Redkey; Flower Mission, Mrs. Kate Keesair, Redkey; Moral Education and White Ribbon Recruits, Lucy Hiatt, Portland; Mercy, Libbie Edmundson, Balbec; Medical Temperance, Mrs. J. G. Bennett, Bellfontain; Press, Gertrude Campbell, Redkey; Systematic Giving, Minnie Brotherton, Dunkirk; Sabbath Observance, Jennie Harris, Balbec; Franchise, Maggie Williamson, Redkey; Jail and Prison, Mrs. L. C. Boer, Portland; Scientific Temperance, Maud Hooper, Pennville; Temperance Literature, Mrs. J. T. Gilum, Redkey; Contest, Martha Faulkner, Dunkirk; Evangelistic, Minnie Miller, Dunkirk; Parliamentary, Gertrude Fulton, Portland; Anti-Nicorotics, Nettie Stouvenour, Portland.

The Rockport W. C. T. U. has not been idle during the past year. We had a tent at our fair, maintained a rest room and distributed about 1200 pages of literature and about the same amount at other times and places during the year. We hold our meetings every two weeks. For the last eight months we have been paying five dollars a month rent on a building that was formerly occupied by a saloon, but now by a Mission Sunday School. We have also purchased an organ to be used in the school. We have interesting meetings with good programs and have gained a number of new members during the year. Observed Flower Mission Day and have distributed more than one hundred bouquets. Have an L. T. L. of boys only and want to do some work this winter along the line of essay work in the public schools.—M. R. H. Press. Supt.

BOONE COUNTY—Convention was held at Lebanon, Zionsville and Thorntown represented. Very interesting reports were given and plans made for the year's work. Officers elected: Pres., Mrs. Mary D. Hendricks, of Lebanon; Vice Pres., Mrs. Foreman of Zionsville; Cor Sec., Mrs. Viola Carson; Rec Sec., Mrs. Gurtha Stevenson; Treas., Mrs. Emma Stevenson.

The appointment of superintendents were as follows: Flower mission, Mrs. W. Loughlin, of Thorntown; medal contest, Mrs. Hendricks, with Mrs. Wall, assistant, of Lebanon; legislation, Mrs. Foreman, of Zionsville; mother's meetings, Mrs. Frank Anderson, of Zionsville; press, Mrs. Ida Grove; Sunday School, Mrs. Faucett, of Thorntown; summer assemblies, Mrs. Kate Foreman; scientific temperance, Mrs. Mattie Peery, Thorntown; temperance literature, Mrs. Emma Stephenson; evangelistic, Mrs. Ayres; Franchise, Mrs. Mary D. Hendricks; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Mary H. Smith, Zionsville; Purity, Mrs. Leista, of Thorntown.

MARION COUNTY—The Indianapolis Frances Willard Union was well represented at the county convention. The newly elected officers are: Pres., Mrs. George B. McKee, 2911 N. Capitol Ave; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Dr. Jordan, 929 W. 27th St.; Rec. Sec., Mrs. E. A. Kemp, 1039 W. 27th St.; Treas., Mrs. A. K. Guyer, 2917 N. Capitol Ave.

The Union is doing good work, much inspiration was gained by the splendid report and addresses at the county convention. The suffering and wretchedness among our people of Indianapolis as portrayed by Judge Stubbs of the Juvenile Court, the result of the drink curse could not but nerve each heart to greater effort for its banishment.

Rev. George B. McKees' warm attitude in acknowledging woman's equality and his vigorous insistence of her right to suffrage were indeed encouraging toward greater advancement.

A good meeting was recently held with Mrs. Wood, 214 S. East Street, where the State Convention reports were made by the delegates, Mrs. G. B. McKee, Mrs. L. E. Scott and Mrs. E. A. Kemp. All spoke enthusiastically of the splendid work of the great Fort Wayne convention.

Mrs. Kemp, Flower Mission Superintendent, received seven large boxes of cut flowers from Mrs. Strunger of Berne. These were made into about 200 bouquets and distributed among the sick, the poor, the aged and some special friends. Those who assisted in distributing the flowers said they never had seen so many flowers in a private collection. They brought much joy and happiness to many people.

The Union arranged for and furnished the funds with which to start an L. T. L. class. Mrs. Mary McDermid, Souty Supt., takes charge until some permanent local leader is found. It was decided to hold these meetings at different homes each week, in order to reach more children, also with the hope that more mothers would become interested.

One social meeting has been held since the convention and a Christmas Handkerchief Bazaar will be held early in December at the home of Mrs. A. R. Gray, College Ave. The many dainty kerchiefs are now being made for this bazaar. Watch the newspaper announcements.—Mrs. Mary McDermid.

Field Notes—The Brightwood W. C. T. U. met October 20 at Mrs. Werner's on Wheeler street and our first meeting of this month was held with Mrs. Roy Jordan. The afternoon was spent in a business way. The loss of our President, Mrs. Rash, made it necessary to elect a new one, Mrs. Kirby being chosen. The program for the coming year were received which we hope to carry out to the best of our ability.—Mrs. L. Parsley.

Indianapolis Central Union held a very interesting meeting recently with the president, Mrs. W. N. Norris, 716 King Ave. There was a good attendance and a program of unusual interest. Dr. C. S. Woods, secretary of the city Board of health was the speaker and in a very clear and practical manner he spoke of the vital conditions concerning the child, the home and the school.

Marion County L. T. L. Work—Since the first of last April Mrs. Mary McDermid, County Superintendent L. T. L. conducted a class averaging twenty pupils, for fourteen weeks, assisted by Mrs. Saucer and Mrs. Kelly of the South Side union. Meetings were held in Emanuel Baptist church, corner of Laurel St. and Woodlawn ave. Taught effect of alcohol on the "body" and on the "mind".
